SUBMITS PLAN TO CURB STRIKE ILLS AT SOURCE

Commission Reports to President.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., March 20.—[Special.]—A detailed plan, designed to minimize the danger of strikes and lockouts in all industries, to develop cooperation in management between employers and employés, and generally to improve the relations of capital and labor, is presented in the final report of the second industrial commission submitted to President Wilson today.

Retaining with modifications the scheme of national and regional tribunals for the settlement of labor disputes suggested in the preliminary report last December, the commission founds its entire plan of conciliation upon an extension of the principle of shop councils of employers and employés, which are said to be operating successfully in about 300 plants.

Settle "at Source."

Applying impartially to union and nonunion labor, the plan does not prohibit strikes or lockouts, does not provide for compulsory arbitration, which organized labor opposes, does not enforce collective bargaining or acceptance of arbitral awards by either party, and avoids compulsion in any form.

The plan, however, is ingeniously contrived to invoke the force of public opinion to induce the arbitration of disputes and the acceptance of awards and to discourage strikes and lockouts. The theory of the proposals is that disputes shall be settled, if possible, "at the source" in the shop councils, but, failing that, shall go to the system of investigation and arbitration tribunals. Agreement of both sides to arbitration carries with it the obligation to desist from strikes or lockouts pending decision.

System of Settlement.

The system of settlement to be created by federal legislation is thus described by the commission:

"1. The parties to the dispute may voluntarily submit their differences for settlement to a board, known as a regional adjustment conference. This board consists of four representatives, elected by the parties and four others in their industry chosen by them and familiar with their problems. The board is presided over by a trained government official, the regional chairman, who acts as a conciliator. If a unanimous agreement is reached, it results in a collective bargain having the same effect as if reached by joint organization in the shops.

"2. If the regional conference fails to agree unanimously, the matter, with certain restrictions, goes, under the agreement of submission, to the national industrial board, unless the parties prefer the decision of an umpire selected by them.

"3. The voluntary submission to a regional adjustment conference carries with it an agreement by both parties that there shall be no interference with production pending the processes of adjustment.

Inquiry Board Formed.

"4. If the parties, or either of them refuse voluntarily to submit the dispute to the processes of the plan of adjustment a regional board of inquiry is formed by the regional chairman, of two employers and two employés from the industry, and not parties to the dispute. This board has the right, under proper safeguards, to subpoena witnesses and records and the duty to publish its findings as a guide to public opinion. Either of the parties at conflict may join the board of inquiry on such an undertaking that, so far as the latter is concerned, it will agree to submit its contention to a regional adjustment conference, and if both join, a regional adjustment conference is automatically created.

The national industrial board in Washington has general oversight of the working of the plan.

Touches Public Utilities.

The plan is applicable also to public utilities, but in such cases the government agency, having power to regulate the service has two representatives in the adjustment conference. Provision is made for prompt report of findings to the rate regulating body. The conference makes no recommendation of a plan to cover steam railroads and other carriers, for which legislation has recently been enacted by congress.

The plan provides machinery for the application and fair adjustment of

LITTLE MOTHER KEEPS THE FAITH AT LIFE'S PERIL

Fights Flames to Save Wee Brood; Burned.

Thelma Renshaw may be only 10 years old, but she had the cares of a mother and she felt her responsibilities. There was 8 year old Bill, and Norman, who is 6, and Dorothy, the youngest of them all.

Thelma's mother when she was dying made the little girl promise to take care of her tiny sister and brothers—and Thelma never forgot. Of course, she didn't have to look out for Jim. Jim is 11, and she could rely on him, and ask his advice at times.

Even after the children's father, James Renshaw Sr., had brought Mrs. Mary Magrane to his home at 1805 Sedgwick street as housekeeper, Thelma felt she was still the custodian of the brood—and she was very serious despite her funny "pig tail."

Thelma Keeps Watch.

A few days ago Mr. Renshaw, who is an organizer for the lithographers' union, had to leave town on business. He whispered to Thelma that he relied on her to help take care of the littler ones—on her and Jimmy Jr.

Yesterday Mrs. Magrane felt the need of taking a walk. It was such a fine day. She went downstairs to the second floor and asked Mrs. Mary Pepperdine to accompany her. Mrs. Pepperdine has two children, Mary, 6 years old, and Dorothy, 2.

"Thelma will take care of your children," said Mrs. Magrane. "Let's leave them all here."

And so it was arranged. Thelma rounded up her little flock—all except Jimmy, who was too big to play with the "babies"—and marched them into the Pepperdine flat.

Perils Life for Others.

Somehow—none of the children can tell just how—a can of gasoline was knocked over in the kitchen. It was near the oil stove. The gasoline ignited. The children were in danger.

Bill ran up the stairs shouting for Jim to call the fire department.

But Thelma remained and tried to beat out the flames. When she had almost accomplished her task, she realized that she herself was burning. Her clothes were on fire. She ran.

Jimmy found the two Pepperdine children and his sister Dorothy safe and only a shred of flame on the floor. He put it out with his coat, then asked where Thelma was.

He found her in the cobbler shop of Benjamin Rosy, across the street. Rosy had seen the child stumble out of the doorway, her clothes in flames, her very funny and very girly "pig tail" eaten off by fire.

Faithful Unto Death.

He beat out the flames with his hands, badly burning himself. Then he ran, carrying her, to the drug store of C. H. Schwern at 1801 Sedgwick street.

The little body was bathed in olive oil and Thelma was taken to the Children's Memorial hospital—and they found room there for the little burned girl. But the doctors shook their heads.

"Her burns are extensive and she may not live," they said. "Tomorrow will tell the story."

MEXICANS CHOP YANK TO PIECES, HIS BODY SHOWS

Washington, D. C., March 20.—Details of the killing of Daniel S. Foley, an American, at Los Naranjos, Mexico, were received today in a report from Consul Dawson at Tampico, where the body, showing sixty-three machete wounds, was brought for burial.

Foley was employed as an oil well driller by an American oil company. He had trouble with a Mexican employé, who attacked him with a knife, the report said, and Foley shot and killed his assailant.

The Mexican's friends then attacked Foley, who was surrounded and hacked to death. His family lives in Houston, Tex., where the first word of the incident was received.

MAN SLAIN; PAL TELLS STORY OF HOLDUPS; HELD

John Sweeney, 40 years old, 1343 Washington boulevard, was shot and fatally wounded under mysterious circumstances early this morning.

Sweeney and Jesse Dillon, 2818 Monroe street, were held up by robbers under the viaduct of the Northwestern railroad at Austin and Racine avenues, according to Dillon.

Sweeney was taken to the County hospital, where he died.

Dillon was questioned at the West Chicago avenue station by Lieut. Jack Hartford. He said he and Sweeney were held up, but the police were inclined not to believe his story. He is held.

GIRL BUYS BACK HER LETTERS AT PUBLIC AUCTION

New York, March 20.—[Special.]—Hortense Smithson, 17, of Passaic, N. J., one of scores of persons attracted to the barge office today by the annual sale of the effects of deceased, deserting and absent sailors of the United States navy and merchant marine, paid little attention to the chase for bargain until Supt. Asa Mitchell handed up a suitcase to Deputy United States Commissioner Price, and the latter asked: "How much am I offered?"

"That's it," said the young man who accompanied Hortense and her mother, Mrs. Edward P. Smithson, and the girl carried the bidding along until the suitcase was knocked down to her at $9.75.

She carried her purchase into a far corner, opened it, drew forth a package of letters, stuffed them into a case she had brought with her, and threw the suitcase to the floor.

"O, there really isn't anything to say," Miss Smithson said, "except that I wrote every one of these letters. I'm not going to say whom I wrote them to, except that he deserted his ship and—it's all over."

TREATY IS WAIF AT WHITE HOUSE

No Greeting Given Child Spurned by Senate.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., March 20.—[Special.]—The greeting which George H. Sanderson, secretary of the senate, received at the White House executive offices when he delivered the peace treaty there early today could hardly be called cordial. Mr. Sanderson inquired politely for Mr. Tumulty, the president's secretary, and was informed that he was busy.

Mr. Sanderson took a seat and waited. After Mr. Tumulty got through giving the newspaper men "the inside" of the president's mind, he leisurely devoted himself to other tasks more important than the reception of the senate's representative.

Mr. Sanderson cooled his heels in Mr. Tumulty's outer office for an hour and a quarter. Then an attendant appeared and ushered him into the presence of Mr. Tumulty. The greeting scarcely exceeded a curt nod.

"Put It Down," Tumulty Says.

"I have with me," said Mr. Sanderson, "the treaty of peace which the senate has directed me to return to the president. Here it is."

"All right," said Mr. Tumulty gruffly, "put it down."

Mr. Sanderson deposited it on Mr. Tumulty's desk.

"And this accompanies it," Mr. Sanderson continued, placing before Mr. Tumulty a copy of the senate's resolution formally notifying the president that the treaty had been rejected.

Demands a Receipt.

"I should like a receipt," said Mr. Sanderson. Mr. Tumulty signed his name to a scrap of paper which read as follows:

"Receipt is acknowledged of the treaty of peace with Germany signed at Versailles on June 28, 1919. Time 11:45 a. m."

The two secretaries bowed stiffly and Mr. Sanderson and his receipt returned to the senate. One of the first persons he met as he entered the capitol was Senator Borah of Idaho, leader of the "irreconcilables." Mr. Sanderson showed him the receipt and the senator's face beamed.

TALK OF N. Y. LAW DISFRANCHISING SOCIALIST PARTY

Albany, N. Y., March 20.—[Special.]—It is believed that at least eight out of thirteen members of the assembly judiciary committee, after deliberation on the evidence taken at the proceeding to unseat the five Socialist assemblymen, will join in a recommendation to the assembly for the enactment of measures to outlaw the Socialist party at the polls, as well as to oust the five members, unless drastic changes are made in its constitution and by-laws.

A member of the committee said today that in all probability such a recommendation would be embodied in the report on the Socialist trial, which the committee will submit to the assembly late next week or early in the week following.

Assemblyman Louis M. Martin of Oneida, chairman of the judiciary committee, has been at work on a report which it is hoped will prove acceptable to a majority of the committee members, who only a week ago were inclined to submit four different reports. This report will recommend the expulsion of all five Socialist assemblymen.

HURLS TILE INTO MARCUSE FLAT; FIRES REVOLVER

An unidentified man in an automobile without lights last night tossed a segment of tiling through the sun parlor window of the apartment at 618 Waveland place, occupied by Benjamin Marcuse, the commission broker at 122 South La Salle street, now involved in bankruptcy proceedings.

The man then fired a revolver, the bullet entering the sun parlor of the flat above that of Marcuse, occupied by Robert L. France, secretary of the Puritan Coal company. No one was injured.

Mr. Marcuse was out walking with his wife at the time. He was asked later about the attack, but refused to comment. Erich Ebelmann, the owner, who lives in the building, was not home, but tenants said there had been no labor trouble.

Frank Neurdelt, a chauffeur, living at 3864 Sheridan road, heard the shot and saw the automobile drive away.

Gibson Will Be Owner and Publisher of Life

New York, March 20.—[Special.]—Charles Dana Gibson, the artist, has become the proprietor of Life.

It was said today that Mr. Gibson had paid $500,000 for the property.

DEATH CURFEW, MARTIAL LAW, TO TAME CITY

Many Towns Fall to Red Avalanche.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]

BERLIN, March 20.—Berlin is under rigid martial law and the troops are preventing a renewal of the last few day's battles, but there is much fighting in other places in Germany. It is reported that the Communists hold Essen, Dortmund, Duesberg, Muehlcheim, Dusseldorf, Gotha, and Cottbas.

Severe measures, amounting to a state of siege, were placed in effect today by President Ebert for Berlin.

All persons are ordered off the streets after sundown, and anyone carrying arms will be shot without further parley.

All Schwerin is torn by a general strike and plundering.

In the Vogtland coal district the Communists are gaining the upper hand. The miners threaten to destroy the mines if the Communists are defeated.

All Thuringia is reported in control of the soviets, except the Weimar district.

The total dead in Dresden to date is sixty-eight. There is a general strike in Pomerania.

Much Firing in Stuttgart.

In the suburbs of Stuttgart the crowds are parading and firing revolvers indiscriminately.

After serious fighting Kiel again is in the hands of the government.

At Kassel a crowd tried to storm the military headquarters. Seventeen were killed and eighty-four wounded.

Gotha is in the power of the radicals.

The general strike is practically over at Hanover. Work has been resumed.

The rebel troops left Breslau yesterday, flying flags of the old colors. A great crowd jeered and hooted and general shooting followed. It was not ordered, even the troops firing on each other. Many people and soldiers were killed or wounded.

Berlin Strike Called Off.

The general strike in Berlin has been ended with the granting of the workers' terms. The unions' demands follow:

First—Disarmament and punishment of the Kappist troops.

Second—Push the punishment of the government officials who recognized the Kappist authority.

Third—The dissolution of all counter revolutionary organizations and the creation of a defense force composed exclusively of union workmen.

Fourth—Immediate legislation on the rights of employés to coöperate with employers in the management of enterprises.

Fifth—Socialization of the mines, potash industry, and electrical industry.

Sixth—Enlargement of the program of social legislation.

Seventh—The retirement of Minister of Defense Noske.

MARTIAL LAW IN BERLIN

BERLIN, March 20.—[By Associated Press.]—A decree by President Ebert issued today proclaims Berlin and the mark of Brandenburg in an intensified state of siege. The regular troops and the security police are empowered to search motor cars for arms.

If occupants of these cars are found carrying arms without permits they are to be shot on the spot, the decree orders.

The decree also warns the population of Greater Berlin against being in the streets after nightfall.

Extraordinary courts-martial are established, including drumhead courts-martial.

Capital Quieting Down.

Something of its normal aspect returned to Berlin late today and the only reports of a disturbing nature came from cities and towns outside the capital, principally those in the Rhine industrial centers, where local soviet governments and Communist regimes are declared to have been set up.

To what extent the reds are in control is not definitely known, but that there are serious disorders of all kinds among the laboring elements in these places is generally accepted.

British Take Sinn Feiners on Warship

DUBLIN, March 20.—There was a roundup of prominent Sinn Feiners throughout Kerry early this morning. A number of them were put aboard a destroyer by military authorities, their destination presumably being an English prison.

The conditions under which Justice Moore and Justice Gordon are holding court at Roscommon are considered indicative of the precautions being made to protect some of the public men.

Six armed policemen guard their lodgings at night; others follow their carriage when they drive to the court, and while they are presiding at sessions the court room is guarded by plain clothes men.

Discredit Easter Revolt.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]

LONDON, March 20.—Sensational rumors here of a plot for an Irish rebellion on Easter Monday are discredited in official circles, where it is pointed out that the British military force in Ireland is so strong as to make any effort to rebel a foredoomed failure. No doubt there are some stupid Dublin castle officials who would like to provoke a rising in order to kill the home rule bill and some Sinn Fein extremists who take the same view, but it is believed neither are strong enough to prevail. It is possible, however, that there may be rioting in Dublin, Belfast and some other Irish towns.

MacCurtain Murder a Mystery.

CORK, Ireland, March 20.—The sensational murder this morning of Lord Mayor MacCurtain has not yet been solved, but it has become known that two days ago he received a threatening letter which he regarded as a joke. The letter directed the lord mayor to prepare for death, as he had been doomed.

Two hours before the lord mayor was murdered Constable Murtag of the royal Irish constabulary was shot dead in the street. His body was riddled with bullets.

Body Draped in Sinn Fein Uniform.

When the police visited MacCurtain's house to make inquiries for inquest purposes they were refused admission. The lord mayor's body, draped in the Sinn Fein volunteer uniform, lies in his residence, which is guarded by volunteers. The body will lie in state in the city hall from tonight until Monday, when a public funeral will be held.

CRITIC OF SENATE ACTION.

LIVERPOOL, March 20.—The Daily Post, commenting editorially on the action of the United States senate in adopting a new treaty reservation expressing sympathy for the aspirations of the Irish people and declaring the hope that Ireland would have a government of its own choosing in the near future, says:

"The American senate has surely overstepped the bounds of good sense, to say nothing of good taste, in adopting a reservation to the peace treaty on Ireland. Its action is an example of the kind of international meddling which the senate professes to condemn in the covenant of the league of nations."

Seize 100 in South Side Raids; Garrity's Men Aid

Gambling houses and disorderly resorts in the Cottage Grove avenue district were raided last night by detectives and policemen acting under orders of Capt. Thomas Caughlin and more than 100 men and women, black and white, were seized. Detectives from Chief Garrity's office invaded Capt. Caughlin's district and raided an alleged gambling resort at 63 East Twenty-second street, twenty-eight white men being seized.

Notice To Help Wanted Advertisers

Only agate type will be permitted—no slugs or indentations.

2 YEAR TERM IN PRISON FOR T. H. NEWBERRY

Brother and 15 Aids Also Convicted.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 20.—Truman H. Newberry, junior United States senator from Michigan, today was convicted by a jury of having conspired criminally in 1918 to violate the election laws. He was sentenced by Judge Clarence W. Sessions to two years' imprisonment and fined $10,000 and released on bond pending an appeal. He at once issued a statement declaring he would retain his seat in the upper house unless that body decides otherwise or the Supreme court upholds his conviction.

Convicted with the senator were his brother, John S. Newberry, and fifteen campaign managers, including Frederick Cody, New York, and Paul H. King, Detroit. Cody and King received the same sentence as their chief.

Brother Escapes with Fine.

Charles A. Floyd, Detroit, also was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, but he was fined only half as much as Newberry. John S. Newberry was fined $10,000, but was one of four who were not sentenced to Leavenworth. The lightest sentence went to George S. Ladd of Sturbridge, Mass. He was fined $1,000.

Others sentenced were:

William J. Mickel, two years.

Allan A. Templeton, one year and six months.

Roger M. Andrews, one year and six months.

Milton Oakman, one year and six months.

Richard H. Fletcher, one year and three months.

James F. McGregor, one year and three months.

Fred Henry, one year and three months.

Hannibal Hopkins, one year and one day.

E. V. Chilson, one year and one day.

Harry O. Turner, $2,000 fine.

B. Frank Emery, $2,000 fine.

Trial Closes Quickly.

The trial passed into history with great velocity today. The jury was ready with its verdict at 11:12 a. m. Less than half an hour later they had been discharged by the court after freeing sixty-eight of the eighty-five defendants. There was a brief respite for luncheon and then the senator and his sixteen associates were brought into court. News of the convictions had been spread around the city and the courtroom was crowded.

Face Court for Sentence.

Ordered to stand before the bar, the men ranged themselves in a semi-circle, the senator on the left and his brother next. Then came Allan A. Templeton, president of the Detroit board of commerce; Milton Oakman, a Detroit political leader of years' standing; E. V. Chilson, head of Newberry's speakers' bureau and recently attached to national Republican headquarters; George S. Ladd, Sturbridge, Mass., good roads advocate and 63 years old today; Roger M. Andrews, Menominee publisher and one of the leading figures of the upper peninsula of Michigan; Richard H. Fletcher, state labor commissioner; William J. Mickel of Oshkosh, Wis., who was manager of James W. Helme, opponent of Henry Ford in the 1918 Democratic primary; Fred Henry of Flint, one of Fletcher's subordinates; Hannibal A. Hopkins, St. Clair, director of publicity in the Newberry campaign; B. Frank Emery, Detroit, office manager at campaign headquarters, and Harry O. Turner and James F. McGregor, Detroit men and field agents of the Newberry organization.

Two Years in Prison.

The stir of ranging the men before the bar died away to absolute stillness. Judge Sessions asked if any of the men wished to say anything before sentence was pronounced. They stood mute. Then the court, in even voice, read the formula of sentence.

"Truman H. Newberry, in your case it is the judgment of the court that you be confined in the penitentiary at Leavenworth for the full time and period of two years and be fined $10,000," said the judge.

Judge Gives Newberry Limit.

No one stirred as the audience caught the words that showed the judge had addressed against the principal defendant the heaviest sentence allowed by law. There was a deep breath or two audible as the same sentence was meted out to King and Cody. One or two of the defendants stirred a bit when Floyd was given a slightly less severe penalty, but each succeeding sentence to prison or heavy fine was received in stoical silence.

Immediately after the sentences had been passed Frank C. Dailey of Indianapolis, special assistant attorney general and chief prosecutor, wiped the slate clean by moving the dismissal of ten of the 135 respondents to the indictment who had pleaded "no contest." He also moved the discharge of Elmer E. White of Traverse City, who was given a severance because of illness, and of James Dailey, a Muskegon contractor, who went to South America on business before government officials could serve him with a warrant.

Ninety days were granted the attorneys for the convicted men in which to perfect an appeal. Then court adjourned.

Defense Cause of Conviction!

While the jurors said they had agreed not to discuss their deliberations, the rule did not hold good after they had been released from service. Several said that the defense testimony itself was largely responsible for the adverse verdict, particularly King's statement on the stand that he had warned Newberry in New York that the campaign would cost at least $50,000.

"Without Paul King's testimony that he told Senator Newberry the campaign would cost $50,000, the government had a weak case and without the King-Newberry letters no case at all," said one of the jurors. "We could find no other way, however, after the defense itself had supplemented the scanty government proof that Newberry had taken an active part in the campaign and shown by his own writings that he directed almost every important move."

One Ballot on Newberry.

It was also learned that in view of this testimony and the numerous letters between King and Newberry introduced by the defense to show patriotic motive and innocent intent in the campaign, the jurors had no difficulty in agreeing yesterday that a conspiracy had existed.

With this as a basis they started to ballot on whether all the eighty-five defendants were guilty, and stood at 9 to 3 all day Friday on this proposition. Early today this vote was changed to 10 to 2, but when a deadlock loomed as a possibility, the majority agreed not to attempt to convict the minor defendants. One vote only was taken on Newberry. It was 12 to 0 for guilt.

SERVED IN TWO WARS.

Senator Newberry is a member of one of the "old" families of Detroit, having been born there in 1864. His father was John S. Newberry and his brother is a namesake of the father. Truman Newberry was graduated at Yale university in 1885 and was given the honorary degree of master of arts by Yale in 1910. He was married in 1888 to Harriet Barnes of Brooklyn. The family had wealth and Truman has been interested in various Detroit industrial concerns and banks for years.

In his earlier years the senator was interested in the state naval brigade and served during the Spanish-American war as a junior lieutenant on the U. S. S. Yosemite. He was secretary of the navy under Roosevelt in 1908.

In 1917 he was a lieutenant commander U. S. N. fleet reserve and later was attached to the naval district of New York.

He is president of Grace hospital, Detroit, and is a member of the Union and University clubs of New York; the Chicago club, the Detroit club; the New York Yacht and various other clubs.

His home is Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan—near Detroit.

FORD TO SERVE IF U. S. DRAFTS HIM FOR WHITE HOUSE

New York, March 20.—[Special.]—Henry Ford has followed the example of William J. Bryan. If the people insist on drafting him for president, he will claim no exemption. He'll bow to their will. The announcement was contained in a letter to Vincent Farley, a nephew of the late Cardinal Farley, who recently wrote, asking Mr. Ford to become a candidate on behalf of those who wanted a business man for president. The letter, signed by F. R. Dolsen, Mr. Ford's assistant secretary, said:

"Mr. Ford, of course, is not a politician, and consequently could not be induced to seek any kind of office whatever. If Mr. Ford's service to the people has been such as to merit higher consideration, there is nothing to prevent them from asserting their wishes.

"In other words, if the people desire him to be our next president, it is a matter entirely within the jurisdiction of the people."

SILENT ON NEWBERRY.

Detroit, Mich., March 20.—Henry Ford, Democratic opponent of Truman H. Newberry in the 1918 senatorial campaign, tonight, when asked for a statement on the conviction of Newberry and his associates, said he had nothing to say.

SEE BIG SAVING IN COST OF NEW COUNTY ROADS

Cook county drew some of the sting from the high coast of road building yesterday, when 150 contractors and material men met in the board rooms of the county commissioners. The net result will be a saving of from $5,000 to $8,000 a mile to cover the expense of construction work. This is a saving under state highway work, as figured by Commissioner Frank J. Wilson, chairman of the county roads and bridges committee.

Cook county has appropriated by bond issue $5,000,000 for good roads. Present prospects are that fifty miles will be completed within the confines of the county in the current year.

An important question before Commissioner Wilson's committee was wear and tear of road pavement. It was insisted by the chairman that a system of roads be built to last "for keeps," and with that the material men promised a square deal to Cook county. Work on the county roads probably will begin April 1.

Indiana Boy Killed Diving in Y.M.C.A. Building Tank

Anderson, Ind., March 20.—[Special.]—Merril Shimer, 15, was drowned this afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool here. He failed to rise after making a long dive.

NEWBERRY RACE COST $176,000, DEFENSE ADMITS

Patriotic Film Expense Helps Boost Total.

Detroit, Mich., March 20.—[Special.]—The admitted amount of money spent in the Newberry senatorial campaign, according to the sworn statements filed within the lawful time after election day, was $176,000, although a bare amount over $3,750 was held to be sufficient to violate the law. Mr. Newberry became a candidate, and, according to Assistant Attorney General Dailey, knew that a much greater amount than the law named would be spent to elect him. It was shown in the trial that Paul King, chairman of the campaign committee, had spent $5,000 before the fight was fairly started. The filming of Mr. Newberry on the bridge of the warship Recruit in a New York park cost approximately $7,000.

Knowledge of Cost a "Crime."

Under the ruling of the court on the law, it was not necessary to show that these great sums spent in the campaign was money that belonged personally to Mr. Newberry. His knowledge in itself that money in excess of the lawful amount was being or had been spent was held by the court to be sufficient to convict the senator.

Many trips by various Newberry workers to New York, where their bills were paid by Newberry, and a dozen trips by Frederick Cody from his home in New York City to Detroit cost tidy sums. It was brought out in the trial that newspaper advertising in practically every daily and weekly paper in the state ran into thousands of dollars; clipping bureaus, church donations, the purchase of a block of church stock for the sum of $500, elaborate offices maintained in Detroit with an expert office force, and other various ways in which money can be spent in such a bitter fight as was waged during the campaign of 1918 soon mounted well over the $100,000 mark.

King's Pay Roll in Evidence.

Among other specific "overt acts" charged were that King had hired Roman F. Glocheski and Rolla E. Prescott of Detroit, at $150 a month each, to work in the campaign; that he gave A. K. Moore of Detroit $100, hired E. O. MacLane of Detroit at $200 a month for four months' campaign work, gave Charles Tufts of Detroit $400, hired Terry T. Corliss at $75 a week for five months, and employed Thomas Phillips at $100 a week to write propaganda.

Whether the real amount was in excess of the $176,000 admitted was not brought out during the trial. The prosecution claimed a much greater sum was spent by Mr. Newberry and his campaign organization.

"Twere Folly to Be Wise."

Henry Ford, on the other hand, solemnly swore the senatorial campaign cost him personally less than the lawful amount of $3,750. The nomination cost him practically nothing, the only expense being the campaign after the primaries. But during that campaign a booklet, a work of art in every way, got out and paid for, it is claimed, by the Democratic central committee, is understood to have cost in itself nearly the lawful amount a senatorial candidate is allowed to spend.

It is understood that the Ford Nonpartisan club financed much of the Ford campaign, outside of the personal knowledge of Mr. Ford.

The department of justice at Washington made a point of the prosecution of Newberry and lent all it forces to that end.

CRIME DRIVE TO BE PERPETUAL, GARRITY SAYS

Denying that he has any intention of resigning, Chief of Police Garrity, at a meeting of the police captains yesterday, took the first step toward "making good" under the recently enacted police reorganization ordinance.

The captains were told the power is now entirely in the hands of the chief and the order holding them responsible for their own districts is to take on a new significance. A continuous crime drive, instead of intermittent attempts to run the criminals out of the city, was recommended as the best way for the captains to evade trial board proceedings.

As to the report that he is considering relinquishing his $8,000 job for a business venture, Chief Garrity said:

"Several weeks ago some friends of mine talked of consolidating several auditing firms into one corporation. They asked me to put some money into the corporation with a view to becoming president when my work in the police department is done. I investigated the proposition, but decided to take no part in it. I am not considering resigning. I intend to stay here and give the city the best police protection within my power."

FLEES 900 MILES ONLY TO FALL IN TRAP AS SLAYER

Louis Kampa fled 900 miles to escape the voice of conscience—but in vain. He was arrested yesterday in Milwaukee as the slayer of Joseph Benz, a drifter, at 23 South Sangamon street, Chicago. Kampa had been unable to resist the temptation to appear at his old haunts.

The body of Benz, a former convict, was found in the room of Phillip Kolnick at 23 North Sangamon street last Tuesday, his throat cut. Kolnick told a story of drinking and card playing, of animosity between Benz and Kampa.

Detective Sergeant Patrick J. Carmody learned Kampa "hung out" in Milwaukee and the watch was set.

"I killed him in self-defense," asserted Kampa.

NEWBERRY TRIAL HISTORY STARTS WITH N. Y. PROBE

High Cost of Running for Office Shown.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 20.—[Special.]—Government investigation of the campaign expenditures and methods of Truman H. Newberry and his campaign committee began early in the spring of 1919.

The first publicity given the Newberry campaign expenditures came through Luren D. Dickinson, lieutenant governor, following a report to Chase S. Osborn by Henry A. Montgomery, divorce proctor of Wayne county, of conditions in Detroit. This was before the primaries of 1918. In the spring of 1919 a New York federal grand jury took up the inquiry and there ensued a legal battle in the New York federal court over the question of whether certain of those who were among the principals in the present case were guilty of contempt for refusal to testify. The New York grand jury failed to return indictments.

Federal Agents Scour State.

Myron H. Walker, district attorney in Grand Rapids, conducted an informal investigation which was purely local in character. The real investigation by department of justice agents began in August, 1919. A host of department special agents scoured all of the Michigan counties.

On Nov. 29, 1919, the grand jury indicted Newberry and 134 others on charges of conspiracy in the campaign of 1918 under one indictment and Newberry and seventeen of the principals in the campaign separately charged under the second indictment.

The first indictment was in six counts, charging conspiracy to aid and abet Newberry in violating the corrupt practices act and the postal fraud law. The second contained four counts, charging conspiracy to aid and abet Newberry in making false statements of expenditures in the campaign.

Jan. 12, 1920, Judge Sessions overruled the demurrers of the defense setting up the insufficiency of the first indictment, and instructed counsel that the second indictment would not be considered.

The trial began on Jan. 27, 1920 The jury was sworn in on Jan. 31, 1920. The opening statement for the prosecution was begun by Frank C. Dailey on Feb. 2. Opening statements of defense were made by James O. Murfin, James W. Helme, and Colin P. Campbell on Feb. 3. The first witness for the prosecution was sworn the same day. The last witness was sworn by the prosecution on March 2.

38 Discharged by Court.

Twenty-three of the respondents were dismissed by Judge Sessions and verdicts of not guilty entered on motion of Mr. Dailey on March 2. Fifteen more respondents were dismissed by the court on his own motion and verdicts of not guilty entered in their behalf on March 3. The fifth count in the indictment was stricken out at the same time.

The court denied a motion to dismiss the remaining defendants and the first witness for the defense was sworn on March 4. The last witness for the defense testified on March 15.

The court then ruled out the second and third counts of the first indictment, leaving the sixth count, which charges conspiracy to violate the postal fraud law, and he combined the first and fourth, which charged conspiracy to violate the corrupt practices act as applied to the primary and election. Arguments were begun on March 15 and concluded on March 18. The judge charged the jury on March 18.

Newberry's senate candidacy was first broached in the latter part of 1917. The trial testimony showed that Cody and Newberry conferred regarding Newberry's candidacy, and that Cody acted as Newberry's emissary in an effort to induce Jay G. Hayden, Washington correspondent of the Detroit News, to become campaign manager for Mr. Newberry.

Evidence produced by the government that Michigan Republican leaders visiting New York for conferences with Newberry early in 1918 charged their hotel bills to Newberry. King's testimony was that he conferred with Mr. Newberry before accepting the campaign management and that Newberry inquired as to the cost of the campaign.

Evidence showed that Newberry posed for the film "Our Navy" to be used in his campaign; that he conferred frequently with political leaders, and that he gave $1,500 to the Republican state central committee in the general election campaign.

The government charged that subscriptions totaling $99,900, credited to John S. Newberry, were made by Truman Newberry and that the defense claims that the prime motive of large expenditures was to defeat Henry Ford, because he was a pacifist, were false.

The Newberry organization reach into every county, city and village in the state. The spending of $178,000 was admitted. The government attorneys claimed $225,000 was spent to "purchase a seat in the senate" for Newberry. At the trial witnesses said one defendant had declared $800,000 was spent.

Paul H. King, the government claimed, was brought to New York by Newberry and Frederick Cody and made manager of the campaign after the hatching of a plot to corrupt the 1918 elections in Michigan. Correspondence between King and Newberry presented in the trial by the defense which passed showed that King wrote as many as eight letters a day to his chief.

Ignorance of Acts, Defense.

The case hinged on whether Senator Newberry "caused to be expended" an amount in excess of the sum allowed by the Michigan statutes in procuring his election—$3,750.

The defense declared Newberry had nothing to do with the spending of money, that he did not contribute a cent to the campaign fund and was not informed of the amounts spent in his behalf.

The investigation and trial cost the government and the defense a huge sum, estimated by court attaches at approximately, $1,500,000. The defense alone cost nearly $1,000,000, they estimated.

NEWBERRY SEAT, IF VACANT, NOT FOR EDSEL'S DAD

Recount Ordered; Ford, Winner, Faces Probe.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 20.—[Special.]—Conviction of Senator Truman H. Newberry in the Michigan election fraud case today was a shock to his colleagues in the senate, who had expected that the jury would acquit or disagree, at least so far as Newberry, the principal defendant, was concerned.

Soon after news of the verdict had been received Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican, chairman of the subcommittee of the senate election committee, which has been investigating the Ford-Newberry election, announced that the subcommittee would meet on Tuesday to begin a recount of the ballots.

Senate to Order Recount.

The subcommittee will appoint deputies to make the recount, and representatives of both Ford and Newberry will be present. The recount has been delayed because Mr. Newberry's counsel was engaged in the trial at Lansing.

The recount is to be made under the senate's authority to determine whether Ford or Newberry was elected. Should it show that Newberry was elected, as the Michigan election authorities certified, the subcommittee's action may be delayed pending decision on his appeal. Some senators said they believed that Newberry would relieve the committee of any embarrassment by resigning his seat.

Ford May Be Under Fire.

If the recount should show Ford was elected, the committee would have no choice but to unseat Newberry, senators said. However, it would not follow, they pointed out, Ford would be seated. Charges of fraud and illegal expenditure of money filed by Ford against Newberry, were virtually duplicated in Newberry's counter charges filed with the committee. Therefore it was pointed out, even though the recount should show that Ford got the most votes, there would be a question as to whether his election had been accomplished without violation of law.

May Declare Vacancy.

The most the committee would do, senators said, would be to report in favor of declaring a vacancy in the senate, in which event the governor of Michigan, a Republican, could appoint some one to fill it until an election.

The possibility of a change in senate organization as a result of the Ford-Newberry contest was again being discussed as a result of the trial. Should Mr. Newberry's seat be declared vacant Gov. Sleeper doubtless would appoint a Republican to fill the place until an election. That would leave the senate as now constituted 49 Republicans to 47 Democrats.

If Mr. Ford were declared elected and then seated, that would make the senate a tie, 48 to 48, with the deciding vote on close questions in the hands of Vice President Marshall. Should that occur the Democrats might make a fight for senate reorganization, including larger membership on committees.

I'LL SIT IN CONGRESS DESPITE VERDICT, NEWBERRY ASSERTS

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 20.—Commenting on his conviction today, Senator Newberry said:

"I am proud that the record in this case contains nothing of which I need be ashamed.

"No proof of fraud, bribery, or other despicable crime was produced, and I was convicted under a law that is not thoroughly understood and whose interpretation by the court is open to further adjudication. Under the charge I was made a conspirator if I had knowledge that my campaign was going to cost others than myself more than $3,750. That, to my mind, is the nub of the whole thing.

"Being conscious of no criminal conduct, unless after conference with my senatorial associates they deem it inadvisable, I will continue to represent in the United States senate, the people who elected me. I have no personal wish to crowd myself into the senate, but I will continue to hold my membership until the senate itself or the highest court in the land decides otherwise. Whether I shall continue to exercise my functions as a senator pending these determinations depends upon the advice of other senators, as I have stated."

NO HINT FROM WILSON OF NEXT TREATY MOVE

Senate Now to Turn to Peace Resolution.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 20.—[Special.]—President Wilson now has possession of the Versailles treaty of peace and league of nations covenant which the senate of the United States failed yesterday to ratify a second time.

What the president proposes to do with the treaty now no one knows. Administration senators do not believe that he will send it back to the senate for some time, at least, leaving the issue to the country at the polls, but if it should by any chance get back to the senate the treaty opponents are prepared for it.

Senator Lodge declared today that if the president resubmits the treaty at any time the foreign relations committee will reopen its investigations into the formulation of the pact and will insist upon production of the minutes of the peace conference, which are now known to be in existence. They were demanded before, but President Wilson said that they could not be produced.

Three Courses Open to President.

Three courses, it is declared, are open to the president now that the senate has rejected the treaty and is preparing to adopt a peace resolution, consideration of which will be undertaken next week, with every prospect of success. A resolution similar to the Knox peace resolution also was introduced in the house today by Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts.

The president can send the treaty back to the senate; he can stand by and do nothing, or he can negotiate a separate peace with Germany. No action can be taken by congress, even by concurrent resolution, without approval of the president.

If it should be decided to negotiate a separate treaty of peace with Germany, the opinion is expressed here that it would be essential to establish also a modus vivendi with the allies defining the position of the United States with respect to the peace of Versailles, existing between them and the German government, and coördinating conflicting relationships arising from the establishment of separate peace, particularly with regard to matters of reparation and adjustment. A treaty with Germany alone, it is said, would be of no value.

No Representation in Germany.

At the present time the United States has no consuls or other accredited representatives in Germany, and there can be none sent uptil after the settlement of peace. The United States commissioner now in Berlin has no diplomatic quality whatever and all diplomatic interchange is still carried on through the Spanish ambassador at Berlin, who is charged with the care of American interests in Germany.

It is stated that the fact that until the settlement of peace there can be no considerable reëstablishment of trade relations between this country and Germany will prove more embarrassing to the latter country than to America, despite the fact that allied commerce will have opportunity to establish connections in Germany before such action can be taken by American business interests.

German Interests Most Affected.

Germany, it is said, must look to this country and not to Europe for her essential needs both in raw materials and in financial assistance. The continuance of a state of war will obstruct steps being taken to fulfill German needs along these lines not only because of the difficulties involved in trading under the present abnormal conditions but also because German capitalistic interests will remain timid and not desirous of risking the disposition of available capital in America under the existing unsettled conditions with their resultant atmosphere of suspense.

Administration senators understood that President Wilson would keep the treaty at the White House for some time at least, and that he has no immediate intention of sending it back to the senate. So far as they were concerned, they said, they were content to leave it in the president's hands and await his next move.

Senator Hitchcock, the administration leader, left Washington today for a vacation at Augusta, Ga. Before leaving he said the Democrats had no intention of trying to reconsider the vote by which the treaty had been rejected. Upon further reflection, he said, the thought that the senate had taken the proper action in sending the treaty back to the president.

Turn to Knox Resolution.

The senate's attention is now turned to the Knox resolution declaring the war at an end and restoring the status of peace with Germany. If the Republican "mild reservationists" do not balk, the resolution will be passed within the next week or so, it is believed. Senator Lodge, the Republican leader, thought it would have a large majority.

The "mild reservationists" believe that such a measure as the Knox resolution must ultimately be passed, but they are not sure whether they will be ready to support it until they are convinced that the treaty is gone beyond recall.

The Knox resolution probably will not be called up in the senate before the end of next week. It has already been recommended by the foreign relations committee and has a place on the calendar, so that no delay is likely after it is brought before the senate.

Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts introduced the Knox resolution in the house today. "The present anomalous position of the United States being neither at peace nor war with Germany is marked neither by dignity nor common sense," said Mr. Tinkham. "For America not to declare peace until the next president is inaugurated can recommend itself only to unbalanced, impractical, and visionary doctrinaires."

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Washington Bureau of The Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.

THE rejected treaty is in the hands of the president. No one is informed what the president's next move may be. He can send it back to the senate, leave it alone, or negotiate a separate peace with Germany. The senate is prepared to take up the Knox peace resolution and a similar resolution was introduced in the house by Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts.

GOV. LOWDEN of Illinois is coming to Washington April 1 to look over his presidential prospects from a capital viewpoint. While here he will be the guest of Senator Medill McCormick. Gen. Wood's managers announced today that Col. Theodore Roosevelt is going to make speeches in Gen. Wood's behalf.

THE Anti-Saloon league is after the scalp of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska for championing the cause of light wine and beer, and declares he should be defeated for senate minority leader and also for the Democratic presidential nomination because of his stand.

DESPITE the resignation of Maj. A. A. Sprague and others from the Chicago fair price committee, the department of justice says the campaign in Chicago to boost consumption of cheaper cuts of meat will be carried on with vigor.

BRYAN ADVISES SENATE TO VOTE U. S. IN LEAGUE

New Haven, Conn., March 20.—William Jennings Bryan, who was on his way to Boston from New York today, in an interview on the rejection of the treaty, given here, declared:

"The defeat of the treaty is a colossal crime against our own country and the world. If we allow a minority of the senate to dictate the policy of the senate on this momentous question we betray democracy and turn our faces backward toward arbitrary power.

"But the action of the senate should not be allowed to stand as the verdict of the nation. The majority in congress should assert itself at once, first: By declaring the war at an end. Second: By declaring in favor of the nation's participation in the league of nations on such terms as the majority shall agree upon. Third: By proposing an amendment to the constitution permitting a majority of the senate and house to ratify a treaty by joint resolution and in the same way define the nation's foreign policy, thus making it as easy to end a war as to begin it."

PARIS BLAMES PRESIDENT FOR LOSS OF TREATY

France and England Ready to Yield.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

PARIS, March 20.—The definite defeat of the treaty in the United States senate has caused a pall of gloom over French officialdom.

Mr. Wilson's "stubborn attitude" in refusing to compromise on the Lodge reservations is blamed by the French for the situation. These reservations were satisfactory and acceptable to both France and England. Mr. Wilson was advised of this and urged by these governments to drop his opposition in order that the treaty could be ratified immediately.

The French complain that his refusal to pursue this course outlined by allied governments had had its disastrous results in the senate yesterday and on Mr. Wilson's head alone rests the responsibility for the continuance of the chaotic state of world affairs.

Opposed to Long Wait.

The French declare they expected this defeat following the action of Mr. Wilson in resenting the efforts of Ambassadors Jusserand and Grey in Washington to put the treaty through the senate with reservations.

The indications are that France does not fear Mr. Wilson's intention to take the treaty before the American people in the next presidential campaign because it is believed the American electorate will place its stamp of approval on the Versailles document with reservations.

But what France does object to is the delay of probably a year which this course will necessitate, thus keeping America out of praticipation in the enforcement of the treaty terms and preventing her necessary aid in the general work of reconstruction throughout wartorn Europe.

Might Go Over Head.

France and England are so desirous of getting the treaty ratified immediately that they would go over the head of the president if possible to do so, but it is not likely that any steps will be taken in this direction for the simple reason that Jusserand and Grey already have tried this line of procedure and got their fingers burned.

The opinion here now is that the allies will have to sit back and wait, meanwhile hoping and working for as much American participation in European affairs as is possible under the circumstances.

Countess to Speak Here for Vienna Relief Work

Mrs. Jerome Stoneborough, who, prior to her marriage, was Countess Wittgenstein, one of the wealthiest women in Vienna, is coming to Chicago Tuesday to speak in behalf of the American Vienna relief committee. She is married to an American.

A meeting of the Chicago Mercantile exchange to aid the Vienna relief committee is to be held at 136 West Lake street on Tuesday morning.

Parks Are Crowded

Spring arrived officially yesterday—that is to say, the inaugural date of the vernal equinox. The sun shone, the weather was mild, and hundreds of children and grownups visited the parks and public playgrounds. Some of the more daring of the Huckleberry Finn tribe even went barefoot. The Lincoln park benches were well filled, a sure augury of winter's demise. Still, there was a sharp, though light wind and the temperature did not go higher than 44. The prophecy is for fair and somewhat warmer today.

U. S. EMPLOYES WILL SING PLEA FOR MORE WAGES

Won't you give us better pay,
Uncle Sam, Uncle Sam?
So that we can pay our way,
Uncle Sam, Uncle Sam;
Ev'ry day the prices soar,
Baby's shoes are costing more,
And the wolf is at the door,
Uncle Sam, Uncle Sam;
The wolf is at the door,
Uncle Sam.

We ask only what is due,
Uncle Sam, Uncle Sam;
And we leave it all to you,
Uncle Sam, Uncle Sam,
And we know you will not fail
To come forward with the kale,
To help the boys who work your mail,
Uncle Sam, Uncle Sam,
To help the boys who work your mail,
Uncle Sam.

Hundreds of federal employés will sing the above song this afternoon. It will be part of their first concerted blow against high prices and low pay at a massmeeting at the Cort theater. The song was written by S. J. Arnold, a postal clerk.

Judge Landis will speak.

ST. PAUL GROWS 19,851 SINCE THE 1910 CENSUS

Washington, D. C., March 20.—Population statistics for 1920 announced tonight by the census bureau included:

2 VIEWS OF NIGHT LIFE: ARTS CLUB AND DILL PICKLES

Gentle Poetry, Hard Boiled Stuff, Two Miles Apart.

There were two entertainments in Chicago last night. Some poets and lovers of poetry entertained at the Arts club. The Dill Pickle club held a ball. Two sides of life. Two points of view. Two pictures of Chicago.

You walk into the lobby at 608 South Michigan avenue and wait impatiently for the ivory colored elevator door to open. You step off on the fourth floor and into the Arts club. Your coat and hat are handled in the check room.

In the dinner room you find a hundred men and women, all in evening clothes, lingering over their coffee cups.

Then Alfred MacArthur—a real MacArthur—rises. The room becomes silent.

Four Aces.

"We have four aces with us this evening," he says after telling a little joke. "They are poets. Real poets. When I think of the modern poets I sometimes wonder—but no matter.

"It gives me great pleasure to present Eunice Tietjens, whose little book of verse on the almond eyed people of China and Japan is lifting her name to the hall of fame."

Eunice Tietjens reads poem about the various "selfs" who go to make up Eunice Tietjens. It is honest, delicate, lovely. She wins much applause.

"Now, then," said Mr. MacArthur after a better story, "I want to present a mighty good poet—Miss Harriet Monroe, editor of Poetry."

Sunsets and Falling Waters.

Miss Monroe reads gentle poems about the red roads of Carolina and the spring time as it comes in that state. Her pictures of nature win encores. She sings of mountains, of sunsets, of falling waters.

The slangy Mr. MacArthur then introduces Edgar Lee Masters. Who has not read his poems? Is an introduction or report of what he reads necessary? His quiet interview with Col. Roosevelt three days before Quentin died was recorded with a tranquil country air and the listeners dropped under the spell.

Then comes Carl Sandberg, of the vigorous adjectives and the straight shooting verse. He reads a poem, recently written, on "The Lawyers Know Too Much," each verse of which ends with the line "the hearse horse snickers when he hauls a lawyer away."

The party breaks up and the limousines on the boulevard roll up and carry the hundred people home.

And then . . . .

The Scene Shifts.

Turner hall on North Clark, famed for fights and "keg dances," is ablaze with lights. The Dill Pickle club is holding an "affinity ball." There is not a set of soup and fish in the crowd.

The costumes vary. There are the hard boiled boy and the harem girl. There are the hard boiled girl and the harem boy. Most of the characters circulating about have an air of the Turk about them.

"We'll now raffle seats on the stage for the boxing contest and the dancing," says a low voiced man. The seats are raffled. One brings a dollar.

A puny boy and a husky pug dance through three rounds of boxing that would draw a tear from old John L.

Then comes the dancing. Harem dancing it is—dancing by men in girls' costumes.

"My Lord—ain't that terrible!" says Policewoman Theresa Johnson to Policewoman Agnes Walsh.

"Yeah—I'm goin' to stop it," says Policewoman Walsh. She does.

" . . . And if you don't beat it quick I'll call the wagon and give you some police station blues. Where do you get that stuff, anyhow?"

The harem queens fade.

The jazz music starts. . . .

The Dill Picklers are having the time of their lives.

FIGHT ON LIQUOR BEGUN IN PARIS BY "PUSSYFOOT"

PARIS, March 20.—William E. ("Pussyfoot") Johnson has inaugurated a prohibition campaign in this country. He addressed a Paris audience for the first time on prohibition this evening, under the auspices of the "Blue Cross society."

This society advocates absolute prohibition, as compared with the Anti-Alcoholic League of France, and a newly organized group of sixty deputies of the French chamber, who repudiate the "heavier" alcoholic drinks, but advoate wines and beer.

"Prohibition in America," Mr. Johnson said, "is the most beneficial measure ever adopted. The jails are emptied, the banks are full of money and the people are happy. I have no advice to give to France, but if the country wants to achieve real liberty, let it adopt total and absolute prohibition."

SUIT ATTACKS AMENDMENT.

St. Louis, Mo., March 20.—The constitutionality of the eighteenth amendment, the Volstead enforcement act, and the action of the Missouri legislature in ratifying the amendment was attacked in four suits filed in the United States District court here today.

'WET' MANNERS OF 'DRY' AGENTS STIR PROTEST

Protest against the administration of Maj. A. V. Dalrymple's prohibition establishment in Chicago were augmented yesterday by a demand of the Civil Service Reform association for compulsory examination and civil service tests in the selection of dry agents.

"We believe it was a grave error to leave prohibition enforcement agents exempt from civil service laws," said Russell Whitman, president of the Chicago association. "We importuned congress to put strict civil service regulations in the dry enforcement act. It was not done. What happened?

"A government prohibition agent in New York, referred to in press dispatches as 'Stewart N. McMillin, alias John Conway,' is indicted for murder. Circumstances unfavorable to him are supported by the charge that he is an ex-convict.

"Fred W. Klenzle, a government agent in Chicago, plays the role of buffoon in a farce staged in a saloon. Other incidents might be mentioned."

WHY LET TURKEY ESCAPE? PREMIER ASKS MOSLEMS

War Penalty Not Due to Religion, He Says.

LONDON, March 20.—Premier Lloyd George yesterday discussed the Turkish question with the Indian caliphate delegation headed by Mohamed Ali, who declared that Turkey should have all her pre-war territory restored. The premier replied:

"I do not understand Mr. Mohamed Ali to claim indulgence for Turkey; he claims justice, and justice she will get. Austria has had justice; Germany has had justice—pretty terrible justice. Why should Turkey escape?

"Why Did Turkey Stab Us?"

"Turkey thought she had a feud with us. Why did she come in and try to stab us and destroy liberty throughout the world while we were engaged in this life and death struggle?

"Is there any reason why we should apply a different measure to Turkey than we have meted out to the Christian communities of Germany and Austria?

"I want the Mohammedans in India to get it well into their minds that we are not treating Turkey severely because she is Mohammedan. We are applying equally the same principle to her as to Austria, a Christian community."

Referring to the temporal power of the caliphate, the premier said he could not interfere in a religious question in which Mohammedans themselves differed.

For Armenian Commission.

The delegation requested that the Armenian massacres be investigated by an international commission on which the Moslems were represented.

Regarding the Armenian massacres the premier said the allies were bound in the interests of civilization to exercise control of some sort, since the Turkish government was incapable of protecting its own subjects.

"I want to give this feeling to the Mussulmans of India, who stood loyally by the throne and the empire," the premier said. "We recognize that they have the right to be heard in a matter which especially affects Islam. We have largely deferred to their wishes in the matter. The settlement was very largely affected by the opinion of the Mussulmans of India."

ANDERSON TALKS ON BOOBS, BOOZE, AND NEWSPAPERS

Philadelphia, Pa., March 20.—Speaking at the Philadelphia annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, at the temperance anniversary today, State Superintendent Anderson of the Anti-Saloon League of New York assailed the New York City newspapers.

"Any person unfortunate enough to have to rely for information upon the papers of New York City would believe that New YoYrk is the greatest 'boob' town in America where the chief end of man is booze and where the people are web footed or evolving in that direction," he said.

"I renew my offer to these New York papers, and in fact dare each of them to get the whole editorial staff together when there is plenty of time, and allow me to make a brief statement and then answer their questions and objections. The Bible contains the explanation of why New York newspapers do not want the light, but they will never know it unless some reader tells them."

A STORY OF "NO MAN'S LAND" IN HEART OF BERLIN

Correspondent Sees Battle of Unter den Linden.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1920: By the Tribune Company.]

BERLIN, March 18.—[Via Paris, March 20.]—The broad boulevard of the Unter den Linden was a sanguinary battlefield four times today.

During the evacuation of the Baltic forces toward the west Brandenburg gate, a vast throng, tightly packed before the Hotel Adlon began to jeer and revile the departing troops.

Suddenly a marine detachment whirled about and opened fire with rifle and pistol. The crowd broke panic stricken, but was unable to escape the volleys poured into it at point blank range; and more than a dozen lifeless bodies were picked up when the marines resumed their march. At least fifty men and women were wounded.

Crowd Gets It Again.

Notwithstanding this example of the mood of the evacuating soldiers a half hour later the crowd repeated its curses and cries of derision, and another squad of Baltic infantrymen opened fired into the people on the curb. This time, ten were killed and many wounded.

The rebel forces are continuing their evacuation by many suburbs, and more are expected to leave.

Sparticist leaders today swore they would "turn hell loose" tonight after the regular forces have departed. The militarized police are trying to calm the populace and maintain order.

Only the rear guard was left in the avenue late this evening, the infantry, artillery, machine gun and searchlight sections having withdrawn through the Brandenburg gate.

While these covering squads were slowly retiring a few moments ago, some hot head in the crowd near the gate threw a missile at a private soldier.

The soldiers were wheeled about, a fusillade was fired into the air, and a command to disperse was shouted at the throngs.

As the front ranks of the mob began to waver and push back, some one in the Adlon's windows waved a scarf at the troops. This movement caught the crowd's eye, and a bellow of anger went up. The men and women in the street suddenly darted across the street toward the hotel entrance.

Batter Hotel Barrier.

They reached the heavy iron grating provided by the hotel management, and heavy blows were directed against it in an effort to reach the lobby.

A number of soldiers fixed bayonets and hurled themselves toward the knot struggling at the door. Two men were collared and jerked off their feet. The mob leaders attempted to rescue their comrades, and the troops knelt in the street and began to fire into the group at the hotel entrance.

While they were reloading their rifles a machine gun was run into the center of the street, a soldier crouched over it, and a belt of cartridges was inserted.

Guests Rush to Safety.

The people screamed and trampled upon each other in frantic efforts to get away. Windows were slammed down in the upper stories and the allied and German guests fled to their rooms, where they barred their doors.

The machine gun suddenly began its deadly rata-tat-tat, and men and women began to fall all along the sidewalk as the stream of lead was played back and forth along the entire front of the hotel.

In the twinkling of an eye the thoroughfare was emptied except for the dead and dying.

The soldier at the machine gun straightened up, glanced at the bodies, knocked down his weapon, and placed it upon his shoulder. He and his companions strolled after the retreating rear guard, while the crowd ventured back into the street, silent and fearful.

Wounded Lie in Lobby.

The manager of the hotel unlocked the iron barrier and the wounded were brought in and placed on couches and about the floor. More than thirty were instantly killed, their bodies riddled with bullets, and nearly a hundred wounded are receiving attention all about me as I write this cable.

At noon today a committee of workers followed by a large throng of laboring men, approached the remaining Baltic guards stationed in front of the Adlon, in Unter den Linden, and attempted to fraternize with them.

While they were talking, a movement on the part of the crowd was interpreted by the soldiers as an effort to surround and disarm them, and they fired a couple of shots into the air.

Seeing that the workers made no effort to halt their encircling movement, a lieutenant suddenly gave an order, and a machine gun inside a large tank near the Brandenburg gate began its deadly volleys against the crowd.

More of Mob Cut Down.

When the men had scattered, three bodies were left lying in the street. Some of the members of the mob ran back to pick them up, and the machine gun spoke again.

Eight workers dropped over the three bodies and did not move again.

They were still there at 1 o'clock, and the troops are lounging about the sidewalk in the sun, smoking cigarets and making no effort to remove the dead or mop up the red splotches.

John T. McCutcheon Is Proud Father of a Girl

The celebrated doggie in the John T. McCutcheon cartoons is due to wag his tail with inordinate vigor in the next few days. He was sitting on his master's drawing board, lapping up the India ink, when the phone rang yesterday afternoon.

"Hello! That you, Rags?" came a jubilant voice. "This is John. Got great news for you, old fellow. Little playmate arrived a while ago. Yes, a little girl."

"Hurray!" barked the dog. "That's the best news I've heard this spring. Hurry over with the cigars, John. J. Raglan Patchmore is just dying for a smoke."

THE UPHEAVAL IN GERMANY

1—Berlin has been declared in an intensified state of siege by President Ebert. Motor cars will be searched and occupants found carrying arms without permits will be shot on the spot. The general strike has been ended.

2—Essen, headquarters of the great Krupp munition works, has been captured by an army of Spartacists estimated at 100,000 men. Duesseldorf, Oberhausen, Elberfeld, and Kettwig, industrial towns in the same region, also are reported to have been taken by the Spartacists.

3—The entire Ebert government, including Minister of Defense Noske, left for Berlin last night by special train. Premier Bauer, Foreign Minister Mueller, and Herr Giesberts, minister of posts and telegraphs, reached Berlin Saturday morning.

4—Special train sent from Coblenz to Leipzig to bring out 200 American and entente business men who had been attending the Leipzig fair and were stranded by the revolution.

5—Allies reported to be preparing to advance their troop concentrations at Strasbourg and Metz further into Germany if the country does not quiet down soon.

TRAIN RACES TO SAVE AMERICANS IN LEIPSIC RIOTS

COBLENZ, March 20.—[By the Associated Press.]—A special train made up by local German authorities at the direction of American army officers left this city at 2:15 o'clock this morning for Leipsic to bring out 200 American and allied business men who are stranded there and reported in danger.

The train will return tomorrow night. It carried 1,250 rations, enough for a five day journey.

The train crew is in charge of Lieut. Hans Frischmann, the adjutant of the German military mission with the allied army of occupation. The train comprises three coaches, two extra cars of coal, and two tanks of water. By skipping way stations it would be possible to make the run to Leipsic and return in twelve hours.

Latest reports say that the allied and American business men who have been attending the Leipsic fair have kept to their hotels because of the disturbances in the city, but that every provision had been made to care for them and transfer them to the train as soon as it reaches Leipsic.

Brewer Lemp's Daughter, Takes Own Life, as He Did

BERLIN UNDER LAW OF SIEGE; CHAOS OUTSIDE

Many Cities Overwhelmed by Red Avalanche.

who yesterday were reported to be marching on Berlin, has caused great tension among the police and military, who have taken all precautions.

A double row of barbed wire entanglements at all the cross streets runs from the northwestern part of the city at Moabit in a semi-circle round the inner city as far as Schoenenberg. This is reinforced with machine guns and manned by strong bodies of troops.

Cabinet Chiefs Returning.

Chancellor Bauer, Foreign Minister Mueller, and Herr Giesberts, minister of posts and telegraphs, are in Berlin having arrived from Stuttgart this morning. These ministers participated in the negotiations, which culminated in the settlement of the labor difficulties.

No momentous decision relative to the future conduct of affairs in Germany is looked for before the arrival of President Ebert and the other members of the ministry. Various quarters predict changes in the makeup of the government. Word comes from Stuttgart that the national assembly meeting called for Tuesday in Berlin has been postponed to Thursday.

The bourse will reopen on Tuesday. Money exchange quotations will be made on Monday in the chamber of commerce.

Talks with people of various occupations revealed ignorance even among the most intelligent of the latest political developments. Some of the Berliners, it was found, were just learning that the Kapp régime had existed.

NEWS ALARMS LONDON

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Copyright: 1920: By the Tribune Company.]

LONDON, March 20.—Prominent Germans here have received alarming news of serious conditions in Germany.

The whole of Rhenish Westphalia is in the hands of the Reds and absolute anarchy prevails.

Civil war is imminent, as it is feared the Sparticists are using the captured Westphalian towns as a base on which to organize a Red army along the Russian lines, in which case the rest of Germany will have to fight to restore order.

So far there is no indication that the troops have become disloyal, and it is hoped that the government may be able to get affairs in hand after some fighting.

The neutral zone is causing trouble, as neither the German government nor the allies may, under the treaty terms, send in troops to end the chaotic situation, and this gives the Reds an opportunity to consolidate their power.

The British government is confident that the Ebert government will be able to restore order and control the situation.

A Copenhagen dispatch says that Dr. Wolfgang Kapp is reported to be at Hamburg.

Amsterdam reports that allied troops may cross into Germany if the trouble doesn't stop.

KAISER SAWS, DRINKS; SAWS, DRINKS; SAWS, DRINKS; SAWS, DRINKS

AMERONGEN, March 20.—[By the Associated Press.]—The week of strain following the events in Germany has apparently made a great impression upon the mental and physical condition of the former German emperor. His nervousness and sleeplessness are increasing, and in trying to conceal his emotions the ex-kaiser behaves in a manner which seems utterly strange to the servants who have cared for his wants since he became an exile here.

Where formerly he drank only light wines at mealtime, the former monarch now calls for wine during the intervals of his woodsawing.

His nervous habit of straddling chairs has increased.

The exile's anxiety is heightened by the illness of his wife, who for a long time has been a sufferer with mild attacks of heart disease. These attacks recurred frequently this week.

The only outings of the former kaiserin from the castle walls are spent in a reclining chair in the sunshine in the garden. She is under the almost constant care of Dr. Foerstner, for a long time her personal physician.

GERMAN REVOLTS DELAY PEACE ON RUSSIAN BORDER

New Nations Hindered in Pact with Reds.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

WARSAW, March 16, via Paris, March 20.—Peace on the eastern fronts again is postponed. Three events have complicated the delayed negotiations between Poland, Letvia, Finland, and Roumania, so it will be a month or two before the conference with the Russians is possible. The Lettish delegation departed for Riga to obtain fuller powers.

Delayed by German Revolt.

The German counter revolution and the fall of the Roumanian ministry were two other delaying events. But as far as possible to learn from official sources considerable progress was made this week, and the unity of aim and action toward the soviets remains unbroken.

The Lettish ministry informed me this morning that the country is ready to make peace with Russia, and the conferences with Poland are uninterrupted. The Lettish delegates who were here misunderstood the complete nature of the conferences and returned to Riga, but another delegation will come to Warsaw soon, empowered to go as far as Poland desires.

States Finland's Case.

Minister Erick Ehrstrom, Finland's plenipotentiary, says the treaties are progressing and there is no hitch, but it must not be forgotten that making peace isn't all.

"We have," he said, "the whole future relations to consider, because the bolsheviki always will remain just across the frontier. We have not received the bolshevik offer and will not join Poland in its answer. We have not asked Russia's terms, preferring to state our terms to them when ready. In addition, when discussing peace we will be arranging boundaries, economic problems—everything—so let's settle once for all and resume peaceful enterprises."

EBERT BEGS FOR ARMED FORCE TO CURB RED PERIL

British and Italians Favor It, but Not France.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]

PARIS, March 20.—The council of ambassadors today considered the formal reques from the Ebert government for a modification of the treaty terms.

The British and Italian representatives favored acceding to the German request for delay in the disarmament of the German military forces because of the Spartacist menace. But the French stood firm for the strict application of the treaty without further modifications. Because of this stand no definite decision was reached.

Warns of Soviet Peril.

The Ebert government in its plea warned the allies that the Spartacist menace is getting dangerous in east Germany and that bolshevism may sweep the country, with repercussions in France and the rest of Europe, unless the Ebert régime is permitted to maintain adequate forces to cope with the situation.

The Germans also "wished to bring it to the attention" of the supreme allied council that the Ruhr basin is in the hands of extremists and that they cannot live up to the treaty terms on the delivery of coal unless the Spartacists there are overthrown.

The French steadfastly contended that the Ebert government is exaggerating the Spartacist danger in order to get the sympathy of the allies and to evade the treaty. The French admit that a few German towns are now in the control of Spartacists, but they argue that the desire of Britain and Italy to permit Germany a large army would merely place it in the hands of the Hindenburg-Ludendorff party, creating a menace much more dangerous than that of bolsevism.

Foch Wants to Mop Up.

Both Millerand and Foch want authority to advance the allied armies further into Germany and clean up the Ruhr basin if necessary, to get German coal. This proposal has met with stiff opposition from the American, British, and Italian governments.

The council decided today to call the attention of the Polish government to the German complaint that Poland is interfering with train traffic between Germany and East Prussia.

JURY DISAGREES IN LAKE FOREST RUM THEFT TRIAL

The jury disagreed yesterday, after sixteen hours' deliberation, and was discharged, but Edward Atteridge, alleged head of the liquor thieves that have taken $100,000 in booze from Lake Forrest cellars, will be prosecuted again, according to State's Attorney James G. Welch of Lake county.

Atteridge was tried on the specific charge of burglary in connection with the theft of liquor from the home of Hugh McBirney. The jury stood five for acquittal and seven for conviction.

"I'll get a jury that will convict this man and Frank Steele and their accomplices," Mr. Welch said. "And Atteridge will be prosecuted again on the same charge, and on charges of burglary and larceny in the Charles H. Ackert and C. Morse Ely robberies."

Three Girl Employes of Loop Concerns Who Were Given Banquet on Eve of Their Departure to Wyoming to Take Up and Farm Government Claims of a Square Mile Each.

GIRLS QUIT LOOP CLAMOR TO SEEK FORTUNE IN WEST

Leave to Till Wyoming Government Lands.

No more smoky atmosphere for Mary and Norah and Florence. No more arising by alarm clocks and choking down a quick cup of coffee and running for the car. No more crowded trolleys and "L" cars for them. No more clamorous loop. No more the dodging of taxis and limousines. No more movies, delicatessens, ice cream parlors, candy shops, and skating rinks. No more State street shopping.

Off to the Golden West.

Mary and Norah and Florence have bidden adieu to Chicago and turned their faces toward the setting sun. They left last night for Gillette, Wyo.—Mary Russell, 19, of 4742 North Winchester avenue, comptometer operator for the Commercial Union Assurance association; Norah, her sister, a milliner, and Florence Blake of 4229 Kenmore avenue, 19 years old, a clerk for the Federal Reserve bank.

They left with an assortment of death dealing weapons, agricultural implements, books on chicken raising, old and serviceable clothing, and household goods. Portable houses have gone on ahead of them.

Look, Boys! 640 Acres Each!

Each of the girls has a 640 acre government claim fifty miles from Gillette, and they mean to work them. So the three girls, two of them still in their 'teens, have turned pioneers.

Mary's friends in the insurance company gave her and Norah and Florence a banquet at the Hotel La Salle last night and ornamented the tables with toy chickens, hoes, rakes, spades, axes, sheds, stables, and rail fences.

And everybody went to the train with the three and shouted good luck after them.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Today's Question.

What will result from the present situation in Germany?

The Answers.

JAMES J. CHERRY, 350 West Kinzie street, an attorney—Germany will have to go through the crucible to burn out militarism and the results of past mistakes. That is going on now. Germany will rise strong and better.

MAJ. EDWARD H. WHITE, 7th Illinois infantry—The German people are educated; they are thrifty; they have a love of country. The present revolution is a minute disturbance. There may be other small revolutions, but in one year the German people will have a stable government and will in a generation be one of the leading nations.

ANDREW C. METZGER, 7444 Blackstone avenue, real estate dealer—There are so many different factions, so many different minds, and so many different agencies working in Germany that no one can tell what will result.

P. J. McGARRY, 1535 Addison street, packer—In a couple of years all the troubles of Germany will be ironed out by the German people themselves. The love of peace, the love of home, and the love of labor will settle all strifes, and Germany will start building again.

JAMES F. BISHOP, 139 North Clark street, an attorney—Whether or not the people of Germany were under restraint so long that they may not quickly appreciate liberty under the form of government will be determined by the present riots. If the infatuation for liberty is overstrong it may be necessary to settle the question with a civil war. Only time will answer.

BAGGAGE CHECK NUMBER UNITES WAR PARTED PAIR

Hero Finds His Bride Working as Model.

For two months she had been referred to by other residents of the Eleanor club, 4948 Indiana avenue, as "Marie, the beautiful blonde," "Marie, the model," and "the woman of sorrow." She was reticent, moved with an air of mystery and smiled only when her duties as a model at Field's demanded it. Supt. Kate Ziets of the club often wondered what story lay behind her sadness, but the French girl never volunteered to speak of it.

Last night Marie—Mrs. Marie Bordeaux Gudenkauf—smilingly told the story at a farewell dinner given by her friends at the club. And, listening happily to the tale, was her husband, Capt. Pierre Gudenkauf, of 328 West Fifty-sixth street, New York.

This Is the Story.

When America entered the war, Gudenkauf, then employed as an appraiser for the Garford Motor Truck company in New York, helped organize the 3rd motor transport corps, was given a captaincy in it, kissed Marie goodby and sailed for his native country, France. He was wounded at Amiens and returned to New York with a medal pinned on his breast by Marshal Foch.

Then Pierre kissed Marie goodby again and left for Coblenz to look after some affairs for his company and Uncle Sam. Marie's letters came regularly until early this year. Then they stopped. Pierre was alarmed. He cabled. No reply. He hurriedly left Coblenz on Feb. 1 and reached New York on March 1.

Baggage Check Number Clew.

Marie was gone! He learned she had come to Chicago. He rushed here and enlisted the aid of Detective Sergeants William E. O'Connor and Thomas E. Burke. The only clew he had was the number of a baggage check obtained in New York. The detectives went to the Parmelee company and checked over 200,000 pieces of baggage that passed through Chicago in the last three months. Finally they found the one. The trunk had gone to the Eleanor club.

The captain, accompanied by the detectives, went there Friday night and waited. A blonde stepped through the door, gasped, and rushed into her husband's arms.

"Pierre!"

"Marie!"

The detectives were no longer needed.

LAKE, SHOOTING VICTIM, BETTER; REJOINS WIFE

James J. Lake, manager of the Reo Motor company, who was lured to a prairie at Western avenue and Irving Park boulevard last January, and wounded, left the Swedish Covenant hospital late yesterday afternoon to rejoin his wife in their home at 4222 North Laramie avenue.

Lake was happy as he walked out of the hospital into a machine.

"I am delighted to be able to go home," he remarked. "Those stories about my wife during her trip on the houseboat I believe are false. I love my wife and I am going home to forget the past and live happy from now on."

Mother, 102, Only Son, 70, Celebrate Birthday Fete

Mrs. Abbie B. Hall had a birthday cake yesterday, with 102 candles gracing the frosting.

It was a happy day for her, for her only living son, who is 70 years old, came from Cedar Rapids to visit her. He other boy was killed at Murfreesboro during the civil war.

Mrs. Hall is living with one of her daughters, Mrs. S. M. Barth of 9531 Winchester avenue, Beverly Hills. She has four living children, twelve grand children, twenty-six great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild. She was born in Holden, Mass., the same year that Illinois became a state—1818.

STRIKE CLOUDS HOVER ABOUT CITY BUDGET

Clerks and Teamsters Plan to Quit.

Strikes and rumors of strikes filled the city hall yesterday as the city council prepared to begin consideration of the $126,000,000 appropriation bill tomorrow.

At a meeting the clerk's union—Office Employés' association No. 12,655—at Colonial hall, the clerks voted unanimously to strike in three days unless the city council grants their demands—a flat increase of $25 a month for all grades.

The union has about 900 members and 650 of them are city or board of education employés. James J. Flynn, president, was authorized to serve notice of the strike on the mayor and city council tomorrow, the strike to follow on Thursday morning, unless the conditions are met. The clerks' union threw the city hall in an uproar a year ago when its members struck for thirty-six hours. The council at that time granted a $5 a month increase.

Teamsters Ask $2 Raise.

Business agents representing chauffeurs and teamsters employed by the city announced that their men will strike tomorrow for a $2 a day increase. The chauffeurs are getting $6 and the teamsters are paid $9 for the services of themselves and their teams.

If their threat is carried out, the street and sewer bureaus will be hard hit. About 400 members of the two unions are employed by the city and a prolonged strike might result in garbage accumulations menacing to health. Health Commissioner Robertson announced that ambulance chauffeurs have promised not to join the strike.

In addition, forty-two business agents representing almost every variety of union labor employed by the city and headed by Simon O'Donnell, president of the building trades council, served the finance committee with their demands, for three hours yesterday.

The word "strike" was not used, but the business agents "demanded" and "insisted" in a way which left no doubt as to the union intentions if the council does not 'come through."

Policemen and firemen are restless over the refusal of their request for a raise of $300 a year.

Some of the Demands.

Here are some of the union demands:

ELECTICAL WORKERS—that ten new positions be created.

PLUMBERS—that 100 men be increased on an average of $320 a year.

DRAINLAYERS—that twelve men be increased from $1,800 to $2,400.

SEWER CLEANERS—getting $4.45 a day; want $8. If they get it the man who cleans a sewer will be paid the same wages as the man who builds it.

TECHNICAL ENGINEERS—want a $700 a year increase for forty-five men.

STEAM ROLLER ENGINEERS—want work the year around at $8 a day.

CABLE SPLICERS—getting $8 and want $9. Also demand that the city employ three times as many splicers as now appropriated for.

MOLDERS—want increase from $6.50 to $8.

Want New Scale May 1.

Carpenters, cement finishers, elevator constructors, pumping station auxiliary engineers and bricklayers also demanded increases or changed conditions. All want the increases granted as of Jan. 1, 1920, and reserve the right to change their scale again May 1.

Aldermanic pockets were bulging yesterday with amendments to the budget which will be introduced in the council tomorrow morning. It is probable that so many changes will be insisted upon that it will be sent back to the finance committee.

SEIZE BUSINESS MEN AS SUSPECTS IN BIG CAR LOOT

11 in Toils; One Said to Have Confessed.

Aaron Adler, of Adler Bros., dress trimmings, 3322 Roosevelt road, and Jacob Bass, of the Bass Camera company, 109 North Dearborn street, were arrested last night as suspects in connection with robberies of freight cars and stores in the outskirts, of silks, linens, lingerie, woolens, etc., amounting to many thousand dollars.

Nine other men are under arrest along with Adler and Bass. Adler is accused of being the fence, and Bass the go-between. Both deny the accusation.

Overhears Suspects.

Among those arrested since last Friday are Joseph Guardino, 824 West Austin avenue; Robert Manta, 623 Milwaukee avenue; Samuel Mercubino, 1024 Lawler avenue, and Max Rovich, alleged fixer of the Maxwell police district. Guardino and Manta and Mercubino were arrested at the Polk street station by Sergts. William Cusack and Charles Gratton and Railroad Detective W. F. Kelly, after Kelly heard the men talking in the washroom of the depot. One of the three is said to have confessed.

Chief of Detectives Mooney says part of the loot obtained by burglars from the store of Edward Weinberg, 9049 Commercial avenue, on March 11, was found in Alder Bros. basement. The Weinberg store was robbed of $26,000 worth of stock.

Recalls Storen Trial.

The eleven suspects were still being quizzed at the detective bureau at an early hour this morning. Among those in the toils are said to be four other merchants. Rovich, it was recalled, was a witness for Capt. Storen during his trial in connection with the "million dollar burglar trust" several years ago.

'U. S. AGENT' WHO ROBBED WOMEN TAKEN BY CHANCE

Railroad to Call Victims Here to Prosecute.

Within ten minutes the Overland Limited of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad would depart and Mrs. James Savoy and Mrs. Dollie Murphy would be on their way to Portland, Ore. They were happy and excited. That was their home town.

There was a tap at the door of their compartment. A man of military mien entered. He was polite but firm. He was a government agent. He must inspect their baggage. They opened their suitcases and handbags. It didn't take him long. Pretty soon the train started.

They forgot about the incident until they were a few hundred miles out when they discovered they had lost between them jewelry valued at $2,500. They reported the matter to the railroad company. That was in May, 1919.

Yesterday Lieut. Michael Hughes of the bureau observed a familiar face. With Detective Sergeants Carter, Tagscott, Roche, and Gasperik he was touring the south side. He questioned the man and then took him to the bureau. He said he was John J. Coughlin of 2310 Indiana avenue.

Later Conghlin admitted he was the one who had victimized Mrs. Savoy and Mrs. Murphy and that he had operated the same game in all large cities of the middle west and east. The railroad company will bring the two women back here to prosecute Coughlin.

TWO MEN ADMIT KILLING WOMAN IN AUTO FLIGHT

Confess Theft of Car and Revolver Battle.

Two men arrested by Detective John Bullard of the New City station confessed last night that they were the men who had engaged in a revolver battle with the police early in the morning after fleeing in a stolen automobile which had run down and killed Mrs. Lottie Stranc of 4757 South Paulina street.

MRS. LOTTIE STRANC.

The men are Samuel Johnowski of 1330 West Forty-sixth street, driver of the car, and Leo Skora of 1804 West Forty-sixth street, a companion.

The police believe the prisoners and a third man were fleeing after robbing the safe of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company at 2201 Marshall boulevard of $1,800, when the Stranc accident occurred.

Fight Battle with Police.

The police of the New City station later saw the car about to enter a garage at 1543 West Forty-ninth street. Two men had left the car and a third was turning it around.

The men leaped back in and opened fire on the police.

The latter fired more than twenty shots at the car, but the men escaped.

The machine, it was learned, had been stolen from P. J. Costello of 7952 South Elizabeth street.

Woman Fights Robber.

"Revolvers? I care so much for revolvers!"

Mrs. Jennie Waldman, secretary of the Waldman Construction company, snapped her fingers. She was explaining last night at her home, 2125 Alice place, how she received a bump on her head and an abrasion on her right elbow earlier in the day.

MRS. JENNIE WALDMAN.

"I had gone to pay off the men working on the factory we're putting up for the Legendorf Clothing company at 1725 North avenue," she said. "I had a little over $2,000 in my handbag. There was nobody in the little shack except me and my father, David Pasthoff, when a man jumped inside and shut the door.

"He pointed a revolver at me and said: 'Give me the money!' 'No,' I shouted and grabbed him.

"When he saw my father coming him he knocked me over a chair.

Regains Cash; Robber Nabbed.

"Then he hit my father over the left temple with the gun and knocked him down.

"I was weak and dazed when the robber came at me the second time. I was just getting up and he didn't have much trouble getting the handbag, but I made for him and he dropped his hat while getting out of the door."

Mrs. Waldman, screaming for help, chased the man for four blocks. Others joined in the pursuit. The robber finally turned and threw the handbag and money at her. She picked them up and kept after him. She saw him throw his revolver under a porch and then run into the arms of several policemen.

The man gave his name as Ben Bendino of 130 East Twenty-ninth street.

LABOR NOTES

A summary of the referendum conducted during January by the International Association of Machinists shows that the locals are in favor of the creation of an insurance department, paying strike benefits, and holding a convention during September, but they are opposed to granting an increase in pay of 20 per cent to their general officers.

Local unions of the International Molders' Union of North America are voting on the question of giving a 25 per cent raise in pay, dating from Jan. 1, to President Joseph F. Valentine, Secretary-Treasurer Victor Kleiber, and other general officers.

G. T. Fraenckel, president of the machinists' district council and organizer for lodge No. 113, says that the lodge has nearly 6,000 members now and the present quarters, in the old Illinois club, at 113 South Ashland boulevard, will be enlarged by another story to the building.

Henry Miller, business agent and organizer of the Retail Furniture Salesmen's association, said yesterday that the salesmen are not contemplating a strike at this time, despite contrary reports.

The express handlers and clerks, who are on a strike for an increase in pay of $35 a month, are going to stay out until they get it, according to Robert E. Shepherd, chief striker.

The band of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America gave a concert last night in the 11th Infantry armory, 2653 West Madison street.

The Chicago Federation of Labor will hold its regular semi-monthly meeting this afternoon in Musicians' hall, 175 West Washington street.

A number of the employés of Bunte Bros., confectioners, 730 West Monroe street, are on a strike for higher wages.

MAN CONVICTED OF VOTE FRAUDS CHARGES PLOT

"Political Tool" Says He Was Pledged Immunity.

Politics has played an important part in the case of Joseph Gordon, convicted in 1914 of altering ballots in the election of Nov. 5, 1912, by placing marks before the names of Maclay Hoyne, Peter Bartzen, and Leland Rapp, it was asserted yesterday before Judge Joseph B. David in the Superior court when an effort was made to obtain his release on a habeas corpus writ.

After a losing fight to have his conviction set aside, which went to the United States Supreme court and which cost him $15,000, Gordon, a jeweler at 114 South Canal street, was to have been taken yesterday to the Joliet penitentiary, when habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Attorney Robert E. Cantwell interfered.

Declares He was "Tool."

Gordon, who was for years a Democratic precinct captain in the Sixteenth precinct of the Eighteenth ward, declared in court that he had been "a political tool," that as long as he was "regular" he had been told he was safe from the penitentiary, but that when he "stepped out of line" proceedings were begun to send him to Joliet.

The records of the criminal court clerk's office, as shown to the court by James M. Quinlan, a deputy clerk, show that following Gordon's conviction an appeal was carried to the state Supreme court, where the conviction and sentence was affirmed in October, 1916. The case was taken to the United States Supreme court on a writ of error, and a supersedeas stayed the mandate of the state court.

Loses Case Feb. 20.

The next information received by the clerk of the Criminal court was a certificate from Charles W. Vail, clerk of the state Supreme court, that the case had been dismissed in the United States Supreme court and that that court's supersedeas was released. This certificate was dated Feb. 20 last. Two days ago Gordon was seized on the original mittimus and preparations were made to send him to Joliet.

"My arrest was a complete surprise to me," Gordon told the court. "I had supposed that the case against me had been dropped; at least I was led to believe so by certain persons. They told me that as long as I stayed regular I was safe from the penitentiary, but when I didn't line up with the right faction in the latest aldermanic election in the Eighteenth ward they got even by having me arrested on this old conviction."

The identities of "they" and "certain persons" were not revealed by Gordon.

"If this man's story is true," said Judge David, "this case is a public scandal, and some one should be made to suffer for it. This is a remarkable thing, that a man should be protected for this length of time and then, when he has stepped on somebody's political corns, is seized and started on his way to the penitentiary."

ROBBERS OFFER A NEW CLEW IN HUNT FOR MILES

Dixon, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—Clews which may shed new light on the mysterious disappearance of James M. Miles, absconding cashier of the Standard Trust and Savings bank of Chicago, are being probed by local police as the result of the robbery of Benjamin Smudki, cement plant laborer, here last night.

Detectives from the offices of State's Attorney Hoyne of Chicago trailed Miles to Dixon. From there the fleeing banker was said to have taken a taxi to Peoria, Ill. But when the taxi arrived at Peoria it was found to contain only the driver, Watts, and Smudki, the laborer.

Neither would talk, but later investigations disclosed that at Chillicothe, Ill., on the road to Peoria, a man answering Miles' description and identified as Miles from photographs, had appeared at the depot the night Watts' car passed through and had purchased a ticket for Galesburg, Ill. From there, however, the trail was lost.

Yesterday evening two men entered Smudki's house here, stood him and his wife against the wall, flourished a couple of guns, and demanded $10,000. When told they did not have that much money the men poured oil on Mrs. Smudki's clothes and started to ignite the garments. The couple gave up $480 they had in a trunk. The men then searched the house and left.

Police now would like to know why two strangers or any Dixonites who might be the robbers should think Smudki, a laborer, had $10,000 in his home. They are also wondering just how much money Miles possessed when he arrived here. Smudki is being questioned tonight.

DETECTIVE AGENCY ROBBED.

Some one stole a typewriter from the office of the Nichols Investigating agency, 17 North La Salle street. The head of the detective agency called the police.

DE VALERA HERE, ALL SMILES AT GAINS OF CAUSE

Erin's Leader Is Jubilant Over Senate Action.

Once again the "president of the republic of Ireland" has been welcomed within our gates. Eamonn De Valera arrived last night from New York, too late to attend a big banquet arranged in his honor at the Congress hotel. When it was learned that the Irish leader, who was expected in the afternoon, had been delayed by an important conference, the dinner was canceled.

De Valera's second arrival was regarded by him as a triumphal entry. Popular response to his appeals in behalf of Irish independence and the senate's recent action expressing sympathy for Erin's cause have brought a smile to his face that the weariness of travel failed to erase.

Ten months ago he came to the United States to seek recognition for the "republic of Ireland," to expose what he terms the injustice which the proposed league of nations covenant would work on the Irish people, to foster closer trade relations between his country and America, and to appeal for aid for the first national loan of the "republic."

Calls Mission Success.

"Tonight I feel that our mission has been a wonderful success," he said. "It was undertaken because of our faith in the honesty of the American people and our conviction that they would never become participators in any imperial combine intended to crush liberty. We felt that all Americans who knew their own history would recognize that Ireland's cause was identical with the cause of the colonies at the time of the revolution.

"Last June your senate gave it as its judgment that Ireland's cause was a proper one to be heard at the peace conference. But the crowning act of the senate was the reservation just recently inserted in the peace treaty whereby America's recognition of the principle of self-determination for Ireland was explicitly attested.

"The value of this act was heightened by America's resolve that this recognition would have to be concurred in before there could be any league of nations which would include the United States."

Seeks Wilson's Recognition.

According to Mr. De Valera but one thing remains—to get the formal recognition of President Wilson. He feels certain this will be forthcoming.

In Judge Marcus Kavanagh's recognition of the Irish republic during a recent naturalization ceremony the Irish leader found further justification for his smile.

The De Valera delegation was met at the station by a committee of welcome, among whose members were Hugh O'Neill, the Rev. William J. McNamee, Dr. John E. Murphy, Capt. William J. Grace, the Rev. John P. Brushingham, and T. A. Gannon.

Protestant Erin was represented in the party by the Rev. J. A. R. Irwin, who has come to America to dispel the belief that there is any religious issue in the Irish question. While De Valera is attending mass at St. Patrick's at 10:45 o'clock this morning, Mr. Irwin will address the congregation of the Central Park Avenue Methodist church at Central Park avenue and Huron street.

Hold Big Meeting Tonight.

A massmeeting at the Auditorium theater tonight is to be the feature of De Valera's sojourn. Mayor Thompson will deliver an address of welcome, and speeches will also be made by De Valera, Dr. Irwin, and Congressman William E. Mason. St. Patrick's mixed choir will sing.

Tomorrow the party leaves for Toledo to take part in a demonstration there. A delegation of ten men will come here tonight to form the escort of honor for the journey into Ohio.

LAKE YIELDS UP MYSTERY VICTIM, BUT NOT JEANNE

Girl's Body Found Frozen in Sands of Beach.

A woman's hand reaching from the frozen sand of the Oak street bathing beach was thought for a while yesterday to hold the solution of the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Jeanne Anna De Kay, the protégé of Jane Addams, who dropped from sight at Hull house on the night of Dec. 30.

But last night, after checking over all possible points of identification, the police restored the name of Jeanne De Kay to the list of the missing and started out to solve a new problem. It is that of establishing the identity of the young woman found on the beach, whose body evidently had been tossed about in the icy waters of Lake Michigan for two months or more.

Description of Girl.

It was Michael Rice, a Lincoln park policeman, walking along the water's edge at the foot of Bellevue place, who first saw the hand and kicked the ice away from a frozen arm. He notified the police.

A description of the victim follows:
Age—about 25 or 27 years.
Height—5 feet 5 inches.
Weight—about 130 pounds.
Hair—brownish black.
Eyes—dark brown.
Teeth—regular, with the exception of one protruding tooth in the lower jaw.
Clothes—one-piece heliotrope worsted dress, with buttons down the back; dark blue serge coat, with black plush collar and belt with celluloid buckle; cotton union suit and white cotton stockings.
Shoes—black leather with French heels, size 6.

Not Jeanne De Kay.

The body was removed to undertaking rooms at 859 North Clark street, where an examination was made by Dr. William H. Burmeister, coroner's physician. A reddish scar over the left eye caused the police to suspect that the body was that of Miss De Kay, who left her father's home in Switzerland and came to Hull House about Christmas time to do settlement work. Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton was summoned to view the body.

She declared it was not the missing protege of Jane Addams. She pointed out that Jeanne's hair was auburn, while that of the victim is dark.

"There is not the slightest resemblance," said Mrs. Britton, "except for the scar on the forehead, and that could have been caused by the body tossing about in the water. This girl wore shoes made by the W. L. Douglas company, and I am sure Jeanne did not wear that make.

"The most convincing fact to me, though, is that Jeanne's eyes were blue and this girl's eyes are brown."

Two Theories on Identity.

It is thought the body may be that of Miss Alice Johnson, who leaped into the lake off Van Buren street about two months ago, or of an unidentified girl seen to commit suicide near North avenue on Dec. 20.

TRIM THE LAMPS, TONE THE VOICE; LOVETIME HERE

Professor Gives Handy Advice for Spring.

Yes, sir; yesterday was the beginning of spring. Those who attended the weekly luncheon of the Irish Fellowship club had no doubt of that fact. How could they when Prof. R. E. Pattison Kline, declaiming on the elements of effective spechifying, broke out with such an impassioned stanza as this:

"When do I want you most?
Why, dear, at morn,
When first I wake and realize
That another day is born."

The professor recited it twice—first to show how comical it would sound when spoken in an "intellectual" pitch, the second time in the manner of a lovelorn swain. Thus he illustrated the qualities of voice used to express different types of thought.

Love by the Book.

"If you will have your lady love listen to your protestations, you must proceed along well defined principles," he said.

"Your voice must be pitched to the proper inflection and there must be no harshness. Women generally appreciate your thoughts according to the intensity with which you utter them, and unless you speak in soft, flexible tones, and carry a world of feeling in your remarks, no woman is going to listen to you."

And that isn't all, fellow Apollos. There's that little matter of the eye—that optical beacon in which the soul doth shine. Be it violet, cerulean, brown, or hazel, you must have a care how you maneuver it, for, in the language of Prof. Kline, the eye is charged with the duty of "carrying the mute message of your feeling for her."

Trim Up Your Lamps.

Thus endeth the first lesson. Spring is here, and it is time to get larynx and lamps in trim again.

And, when that is done, you can begin on the second lesson, for the professor opines that "everything about the carriage of your body must denote tenderness of disposition and sincerity."

CHICAGO FLU VICTIM 'AWAKES' IN MUSKEGON

"Say, what town is this; I don't know where I'm at?"

"Why, this is Muskegon, Mich.," said a Muskegon policeman.

"Well, I'll be darned. My name's Milton Chorley, and I live in Chicago. I don't see how I got here. You say this is Friday? I remember I was home in bed last Thursday with the influenza and I got up to take a walk. I better wire my folks. I haven't any money."

Last night Milton Chorley was found at his home, 9619 Exchange avenue. He verified the Muskegon story.

A doctor said Chorley was none the worse for his trip. He is 29 years old and a patternmaker.

THE DEFEAT OF THE TREATY.

The defeat of treaty ratification in the senate was virtually certain the moment it became clear that the president would not accept reservations. Democratic party regularity is a powerful tie and there was little chance of its being broken. As for ratification without reservations, there was never any chance of that. If there had been it would have disappeared before now, as the viciousness of the treaty and the character of the peace imposed by the powers at Paris were examined and more fully comprehended.

So Mr. Wilson himself sealed the fate of the covenant. The event makes sardonic comment on his statecraft. At Paris he made repeated sacrifice of principle to save the covenant. But at Washington he would make no concession to the demand for safeguards in his country's interest. There is a consistency of egotistic purpose in this which must be recognized, but we do not think history will write it down as admirable.

Mr. Wilson told congress he was going to Paris to defend the principles of international accord he had enunciated, the principles for which he assured the world America had fought, for the first time in a European war. But it is clear now and it was discerned at once by the shrewd statesmen with whom he purposed, as he said with gusto, "to match his mind," that his dominant purpose was to return to America with a covenant for a league of nations. With that knowledge the key of the situation was in their hands. Throughout the conference they used it. To get the covenant Mr. Wilson paid any price demanded. The first of his vaunted fourteen points, freedom of the seas, went overboard, to begin with. That great keystone of future peace and justice among nations, "self-determination," was ruthlessly sacrificed whenever the interest of the great powers dictated. Mr. Lansing told the senate foreign affairs committee that the fourteen points were never discussed by the conference. His testimony is not necessary. The treaty of Versailles has as little relation to the fourteen points as the rule of three has to the Sermon on the Mount.

Mr. Wilson also was determined to bind the covenant inextricably with the peace terms. This he announced and this he accomplished. As a result not only was peace long delayed, to the peril of civilization, but it became impossible to consider the covenant apart from the whole treaty. As the injustice and unwisdom and impossibility of the peace imposed by the powers have become clear to the conscience of the world, the credit of the covenant has steadily declined, and in America the determination not to become entangled in the meshes of European intrigue and selfish interest has grown.

At this time the peace of Versailles is known to be impossible. Its revision is a certainty. The "peace" imposed on Austria and on the lesser countries was dictated by forces which cannot sustain it, and it ought not to be sustained. Europe, instead of finding peace, is rocked by war and civil strife, and no American with common sense or care for his country's security will consent that our government shall consent to underwrite a contract already discredited abroad.

With explicit reservations, we believe it would have been safe and might have been desirable for us to enter the arrangement for an international league. We recognize that our coöperation is necessary for the reconstruction of Europe and the establishment of a durable peace. Our own safety and interests are involved. But the treaty of Versailles, with which Mr. Wilson succeeded in inextricably tying up his covenant, as well as the related treaties, will produce wars and are producing them. Mr. Wilson helped to make them by the sacrifice of principle for the sake of his covenant, which means nothing without principle. America will consent to no such bargain.

LAKES TO THE SEA, A JUST PLEA.

On a balance of interests between the coastwise and the interior sections of the United States there is a valid reason for a deep waterway to the Atlantic.

The offset against the lakes to the Atlantic waterway is the Panama canal. The Panama canal was the special interest of the coast states. It brought San Francisco nearer to New York, but no nearer to the Mississippi river. Coastwise traffic was greatly accelerated, but there was no acceleration of traffic from the central states to the coasts.

But even if the central states lacked a direct interest in the Panama canal they supported it with eagerness because it was a general benefit to the nation. And now the central states ask the support of the coastwise states for a lakes to the Atlantic waterway, which, while it may not be a direct coastwise benefit, must in time yield a general national advantage.

Congressman A. P. Nelson of Wisconsin, speaking in the house, said: "The project is one of international importance. It has two important phases—transportation and water power. . . . The world is pleading for food. . . . America must do her share in supplying it."

Contact with the world markets has long been denied the Mississippi valley. Only recently there appeared the probability of shipping to the gulf. A deep waterway south is enormously desirable as a route to the Caribbean and South America. It lacks feasibility as a route to Europe.

Trade with Europe can be fostered by direct shipping from the lakes. The transportation facilities of the nation can be increased by canals. Whatever augments the movement of central western products aids the distribution of world goods.

The lake region has a distinct right to an outlet to the ocean. That right is as well established as the right of the coast states to the Panama canal. Both projects are in keeping with the national tendency toward better production and distribution.

The central west is at the mercy of railroads. Railroads may always be essential, but they should not be our sole dependence.

INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES AND THE CONSTITUTION.

So far as the strike in general industry is concerned there is general concession that it is a legitimate and, within bounds of moderation, even an essential instrument of self-defense and advancement under the competitive system of private industry.

But in another field the strike takes on a darker coloring. In public service and in industries the continuous operation of which is essential to public safety, the strike becomes a form of action with which the public must concern itself for self-preservation. Democracy cannot survive if it is to be constantly at the mercy of a small minority. It ceases to be a democracy under such conditions and falls prey to a new form of autocracy or oligarchy. Our political liberty becomes as nothing if it cannot protect society from this.

So we have the problem of how to protect the public from the abrupt shutting off of some necessity of life while at the same time insuring justice to those who serve the public in this special field. It is not an easy problem, but we think it is far from being an insoluble one. The Kansas law setting up an industrial court is worth study, and other experiments doubtless will be forthcoming. We ought at least to set about seriously dealing with a difficulty so perilous to our social and economic welfare. We hope all interests will try to approach the problem from the point of view not merely of self-interest but of the common public good. We know there is in labor a faction which does not want to see industrial peace, but is bent upon class war for the purpose of destroying our existing system of democracy. But this faction, though noisy, is in the minority. What the majority seeks is adequate protection from exploitation and adequate assurance of sane progress. It should therefore be the foremost effort of legislators and of private employers likewise to coöperate with loyal labor in producing peaceful and impartial methods of adjusting disputes and liberal conditions for the division of profits, for self-government, for provision in case of accident or illness, and for retirement.

These constructive measures of justice to the workers must be the base for measures of public protection.

Whether it is necessary or proper to lay foundations for these reforms in the fundamental law of the state is a question to be carefully considered. But at any rate the convention will do well to consider it, and also the general problem of ameliorating industrial relations, for it is the most pressing and vital question of the day.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

In a letter addressed to Senator Townsend, chairman of the committee on interstate commerce, Mr. Henry A. Wise, attorney for news print manufacturers, makes the following statement:

"After many months, the investigation (by the federal trade commission of the news print paper industry) terminated and the commission made its findings in which it determined that the fair maximum price for news print paper as of April 1, 1918, was $3.10 per cwt. f. o. b. mills for news print paper in rolls in carload lots. The three members of the federal trade commission who made this report were all either personally interest in the publication of newspapers or had previously been the owners or managers of papers.

"The decision of the federal trade commission was brought up for review before the United States Circuit Judges for the Second circuit, and these judges found that the price fixed by the federal trade commission was not just and reasonable, and increased the price from $3.10 to $3.50 per cwt. On the evidence as submitted to the federal trade commission it will be seen that a maximum price of $3.10 for news print paper in rolls in carload lots, as of April 1, 1918, would not have allowed the manufacturers any return upon their investment."

This is a grave charge from all points of view. Neither the commission nor the newspapers can afford to rest quietly under it. Newspapers which are constantly required to comment upon politics and public affairs and are vested with a heavy responsibility for public leadership, must keep their skirts clear of any just suspicion of manipulation of public agencies. Mr. Wise's charge puts newspaper men in the position virtually of controlling a public body for their own profit, an offense against public justice, public policy, and their own good faith.

Mr. Wise has offered to appear before the senate for examination. His charge, if true, presents a public scandal, and the newspapers should be the first to demand a thorough airing.

Editorial of the Day

THE PAPER SHORTAGE.

[From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

The question of shortage of print paper is something not generally understood outside the publishing and printing business. People wonder why there should be a shortage and why increased production has not kept pace with increased consumption as in other lines. Here are some of the elements of the problem. The manufacture of paper from wood fiber has developed within the last fifty years, but with accelerated speed during the last decade. The use of news print alone has increased more than 200 per cent in twenty years, although the newspapers use but 22 per cent of the total of wood pulp paper produced. In six years the price in large quantities has advanced from 2 cents a pound to 5 cents. Ten years ago the United States produced its entire supply of pulp wood, but now it imports two-thirds its consumption. This means added cost of production. We bought from Canada last year 1,400,000 tons of pulp and prices advanced from $10 a cord to as high as $25. Canada has increased the number of her pulp mills 57 per cent in ten years, while only one news print plant has been constructed in the United States since 1909. Paper mills cannot follow the receding timber supply into the forests as do the saw mills. Much pulpwood is now freighted 500 miles.

There is much criticism of the newspapers for waste of paper, but the above statistics show that it is not newspaper consumption which is making the wood pulp supply inadequate to the demand. The newspapers only consume 22 per cent. The newspaper publishers are themselves suffering from the high prices and the difficulty of keeping supplied with stock as a result of the tremendous increase in paper consumption in a multitude of other forms than publishing papers. Seventy-eight per cent of all the paper is consumed in some other way. No possible economy and restriction of use on the part of newspaper publishers can put an end to either the shortage or the high prices, else they would have been ended before now. The matter is deeper than that. The American Forestry association suggests several remedies, such as the development of the pulp industry in the great forests of the northwest and Alaska, the promotion of reforestation in cutover areas, by perpetuating forest areas, and by more care in collecting and using old newspapers, magazines, and paper scraps of all kinds in the making of new paper. The latter is an important contribution that could be made by every household and at a profit. There is no reason why millions of dollars should go up in smoke every year through the burning of waste paper.

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

"ALMOST everything that we see around us and that we ordinarily have to deal with is a chemical compound," writes Garrett Serviss. True enough. And what makes the world interesting, even in these days, is that so many people insist on treating chemical reactions as moral questions.

A TIMELY PROTEST.

Sir: Permit me to protest against the extravagance in dress displayed by our working girls. A Minstrel Troupe, Perhaps.

[From the Waterloo Courier.]

The snow was badly drifted and we fear it will be several days before the railroad is opened from Waterloo westward. The train from the east arrived several hours late Tuesday, but did not venture any farther west. The Central house is full of Chicago dandies, who sport plug hats, tight pants, bobtail coats, short vests, boxtoed boots and colored moustaches. They fling a small stick, with a brass knob. It's the fashion, y' know!

AN artist friend, back from the Land of Taos, brings word of another artist who is achieving affluence by raising hogs—or "picture buyers," as he sardonically calls them. This set us to wondering what had become of Arthur Dove, one of the first of the Einstein school to exhibit in this town. Despairing of the public intelligence, Mr. Dove took up the raising of chickens, and very old readers of this column may recall the verses in which we celebrated his withdrawal from art:

The Brooding Dove.

Arthur Dove is raising chickens,
He has put his paints away:
Tell me, Chronos, where the dickens
Are the Cubes of yesterday!

Dove was real, Dove was earnest,
But his efforts came to nix.
Bowing to decree the sternest,
He has gone to raising chicks.

There's a strong demand for broilers,
There's a call for chicken pie;
Dove declined to paint pot-boilers,
So he put his brushes by.

Luck attend his every setting!
May his inspirations hatch!
And, whatever price he's getting,
May he market every batch.

Whene'er along the ivory disks are seen
The filthy footsteps of the dark gangrene;
Brook no delay, ye trembling, suffering fair,
But fly for refuge to the dentist's care.
His practiced hand, obedient to his will,
Employs the slender file with nicest skill;
Just sweeps the germin of disease away,
And stops the fearful progress of decay.

And yet of all the evils that accrue
From loss of teeth, though neither small nor few,
The chief is this:—'tis nature's general plan,
That all the solid aliments of man,
Before admission to the secret shrine,
Where vital chemistry, with skill divine,
Transforms the cruder mass to milky chyme,
By nature's metamorphosis sublime,—
Should suffer comminution;—hence we find
The dental organs formed to cut, and grind,
And masticate the food:—this rightly done,
The process of digestion, well begun,
Results in health to each dependent part,
That feels the living impulse of the heart.

WHEN EPIDEMICS REST.

IN the sixteenth century a very peculiar disease swept over England and Wales. It was known as the sweating sickness, and killed many thousands, taking its place in history as one of the most fearful of all the aftermaths of war.

The disease was then unheard of until 1840, when it reappeared in Picardy. It came again in 1880. In 1906 there was a very severe local epidemic. In all these epidemics it appeared to be contagious. In Picardy it came to be known as the fair disease, since local epidemics broke out succeeding "fair weeks."

Where was the seed of sweating sickness between the sixteenth century and 1840? Also between 1840 and 1880, 1880 and 1906, and after 1906? Dr. Michael Foster answers the question for us. He says the British surgeons in France saw a few cases in Picardy. It was not very important, it did not spread, and appeared not to be contagious. Nevertheless they regarded the cases as true sweating sickness of 1485 or the Picardy sweat of 1840. Between epidemics the disease holds out in its reservoir unfeared, unnoted, unfought, and generally unrecognized.

There is a very violent disease known as typhus fever or prison fever. Occasionally it causes awful epidemics. There is a mild fever known as Brill's disease in this country. It is unnoted, unfeared, unfought, and generally unrecognized. Yet Brill's disease is recognized as being a domesticated form of typhus.

Twenty years ago there was an outbreak of plague in California. For almost ten years no plague was found among men and for several years more none among animals. In August, 1919, there was a small outbreak of plague among human beings in Oakland, Cal. Where was the seed during the interval?

In November last there was the first case of yellow fever seen in this country in a generation. Where had the seed been in the interval? The answer is: In Ecuador and other countries where the disease is mild, unfeared, unfought, and frequently unrecognized.

Influenza disappeared from this country last spring and reappeared in January last in Kansas. Where was it in the interval? Probably in human beings, unrecognized, and maybe causing no symptoms. It did not go away; it merely went into a resting stage.

The great epidemics come at intervals of about thirty years. Where are they in the intervals? What are their reservoirs? Wherever the reservoirs may be it is altogether probable that in the intervals it is a mild disease, unfeared, unreported at health departments, disregarded as a source of infection by both individuals and the public authorities. There is every reason to think that when it is resting wherever it is it passes as common coryzas and common bronchitises. The time to kill it is in its time of weakness—the time of "the truce of the bear."

It would be rather easy to wipe out sweating sickness by paying some attention to the mild disease at present in Picardy. Right now an effort is being made to free Ecuador of yellow fever and thus destroy a reservoir. What are we going to do about coryza—the common cold, bronchitis, and ordinary pneumonia?

FOOD GIVEN IS TOO RICH.

Mrs. H. C. writes: "1. My baby boy is 11 months old. His diapers smell strongly of ammonia. How can this be remedied?

"2. His urine seems to blister him. What is the cause and cure for this?

"3. He eats cereals, vegetables, soups, and fruit juices. He drinks a quart of milk a day. I get certified milk for him. Should I give him top milk? He weighed 5 pounds 13½ ounces at birth and now weighs 19½ pounds. He is a breast fed baby and I weaned him at 9 months."

REPLY.

The principal cause of ammoniacal urine is too much food or food that is too rich. You are giving him too much milk and probably the milk is too rich as well. Limit him to a pint of skim milk a day for two weeks. Then increase the quantity by about 50 per cent, giving whole milk diluted with one-fourth water. See that all soap is rinsed from his diapers. It is better to rinse them in rain water or to use a very good grade of soap or both.

NOT RINGWORMS' WAY.

Mrs. C. K. S. writes: "Will you advise me as to what ringworm really is. I have had for several years what I think is ringworm. Every few months there will appear on the thigh a bunch of little hard lumps which become much inflamed and sore and itch badly, but hurt when scratched. They grow nearer the surface and more inflamed and annoying for two or three days. Then they come to the surface in blisters and suddenly the inflammation and soreness leave, the blisters break and leave a scaly surface which disappears in a few days. This has occurred from three to five or six times a year for several years and is very annoying. Have tried several things recommended but to no avail. Is this ringworm or what? And what can I do for it?"

REPLY.

This is not a history of ringworm. When it appears next have a physician see the eruption.

FEAR AND MILK SUPPLY.

Mrs. L. B. writes: "How does a nursing mother's disposition affect the baby's milk, and is it true that the mother's anger or nervousness has a very detrimental effect upon the baby's condition?"

REPLY.

Emotion has much to do with the quantity of milk and something with its quality. Profound emotions, such as anger and fear, decrease the quantity. Dairymen have learned that fright, irritation over flies, etc., will lessen a cow's milk. When it comes to quality, the evidence is not so good. Some claim that the milk of a mother under the influence of profound emotions contains toxic substances. However, proof is wanting.

The above coupon is to be filled out and mailed to the neighborhood post of the American Legion, by any ex-service man released from duty in the world war. Upon receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope the Friend of the Soldier, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will mail the American Legion booklet.

Arthur Woods, chairman of the national Americanism commission of the American Legion, issues the following statement from national headquarters of the American Legion at Indianapolis:

"It has been brought to my attention that a plan has been adopted by the 'Reds' to acquire membership in the American Legion for the purpose of finding out what we are doing against them.

"We welcome into the legion all sorts and conditions of men; the only belief we insist upon is the belief in Americanism. The legion has no concern with political parties or with industrial, economic, or social theories so long as they are consistent with the principles of Americanism. . . .

"We welcome in the legion any person who has acquired eligibility by reason of his service in the great war and who subscribes to the constitution, which specifies in the preamble the purpose of the legion:

"'To uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the great war; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state, and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom, and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.'"

GREAT OPPORTUNITIES IN MERCHANT MARINE.

The merchant marine affords its men the most attractive opportunities for travel without the rigid discipline and regulations of any military or naval organization. It is probably this fact that has enabled the local recruiting office of the merchant marine to enroll 1,100 ex-service men in this branch during the last year. Men are given six weeks' training with pay of $1 per day and room and board. After completing the training they are placed on cargo ships, freight and passenger ships that take them to all parts of the world. The minimum pay of the trained man is $65 per month. Twenty-five hundred men are wanted for training now, 1,500 for firemen and 1,000 for seamen. Those interested should go to the United States shipping board agents, now located at 116 North Dearborn street, Chicago.

JOINED SERVICE AT 16.

Chicago, March 15.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—My son joined the service last September at the age of 16, and told the recruiting officer he was 18. I should like to get him out of the service, as I need him. Will the military authorities punish him for telling a falsehood about his age? Would he be given a dishonorable discharge? Do you think they would discharge him at all if I should apply for it, giving my reasons? F. R. T.

If you will request his discharge on the above mentioned grounds he will be discharged for fraudulent enlistment.

He will not be punished.

You will have to furnish convincing evidence of his age. To send his birth certificate, if practicable, would be advisable.

OVER THERE, TOO!

[From the London Sketch.]

The Mistress (to the new maid): "I'm sorry you can't get on with the other maids."

The New Maid: "Nobody couldn't, mum—frightful dull frumps; not one of 'em been in more nor five places this year."

WITNESSES FOR CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, March 18.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Please state through your Friend of the People department in regard to final citizen paper (immigrant). A claims the witness for said immigrant has to know him at least seven years. B claims only five years. M. K.

The naturalization law requires that a petition for naturalization must be verified at the time it is filed by the affidavits of two witnesses, citizens of the United States, each of whom can testify from personal knowledge to residence and character of the petitioner for a period of five years at least, continuously, next preceding the date of the petition. FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
Chief Naturalization Examiner.

BROKEN WATER PIPES.

Chicago, March 17.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—About a month ago I let my fire in the furnace go out. The last zero spell the water pipes in basement froze up and those in the furnace busted. This was pure accident on my part, but my landlord, who lives on the second floor, was expecting it, but says it was my lookout. 1. Can they compel me to fix those pipes with a broken window light out, about twelve feet from furnace? 2. Can a party who has a lease, and is leaving the city sublet their flat, for the same price they are paying? R. C.

1. Unless the lease provides otherwise, tenants are usually obliged to repair breakages to parts of the premises that are under their control.

2. In general, yes, unless the lease provides otherwise. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TITLE CLEAR ENOUGH.

Decatur, Ill., March 17.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A piece of property (house and lot) was left by parents six years ago without a will and there was no administrator appointed. There are seven heirs and all are willing to deed same to one of the seven. Taxes are paid up to date and there are no debts against same.

Can same be handled and sold by heir appointed without going through the courts? G. R. H.

If the property is in an old settled community, where the family history is well known you could probably find a purchaser who would not insist on probate. There is no other necessity for the proceedings. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SONS CARE FOR FATHERS.

Chicago, March 17.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Will you kindly tell me if there is a law in this state that compels a married man that has a wife and two children to support and help his father?

2. There are two daughters who are also married. Can they be compelled to help keep and support? R. W.

1. Yes, if the son is of sufficient ability and the father is unable to support himself.

2. Not unless they have property of their own. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

POSSESSION NINE POINTS.

Chicago, March 17.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A purchased a home of B. By agreement B was to give possession of premises within ninety days. 1. At the expiration of the ninety days can A take possession without further notice? 2. If B required further time, what would A have to do to get possession? F. B.

1. Not if B is in possession.

2. Institute forcible detainer proceedings. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ABOUT JOHNSON.

Washington, D. C., March 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I just want to scrap with you over your editorial "Hiram Johnson," March 4. When Johnson said he had no powerful financial support he told the truth—why shouldn't he?

And if he implies he is the only candidate today independent of party organization and Wall street, why not? It's true.

Hiram Johnson drove through every town and cross roads village of California in a little Ford car, and he spoke straight to the people and told them what he intended to do. He had neither party machine nor money back of him then, nor previous political experience. But he got himself elected governor twice and then to the United States senate. So you see he is engaged in no new enterprise, only he has chosen this time a rather larger field.

You say "Johnson is remembered as the man who interposed his self-will when Roosevelt was trying to beat the old guard."

Who remembers him as this self-willed man? I've asked lots and lots of people, and honestly no one knows what you are talking about. Roosevelt's own celebrated memory would seem to fail him here. "Hughes was defeated in California and Johnson swept the state." True. Six months ago California could have been "swept" both for Johnson and for the "league of nations." California is a bright independent little state.

You say "a great many Republicans still hold Johnson responsible for Hughes' defeat." I think that's nasty, like two women gossiping. "My dear, I don't believe it myself, but"—and the but implies "but I hope you will."

Yes, it's a safe bet. Lots of people think Johnson's a wreck. Boss "Ruef" and his friends think Johnson's a wrecker. Is Ruef still in the pen?

Johnson put him there.

Johnson is pretty good at train wrecking, too. He wrecked the whole Southern Pacific railroad and kicked it out of politics. That's one of the things he said he'd do when he stood up to speak in his little Ford car, and he kept his word.

The "great many Republicans" you mention fear he's a wrecker because they have a vast and delicate machine to guard, and they are afraid some day he may come within reaching distance of it.

Don't you know anything of Johnson as a constructor? What surprises me most is that you come out against a man who thinks as you do—there's no use talking universal service today; you can't even get it as a plank in the Republican or any other party.

But Johnson had the vision and the courage to come out against his state from the beginning on the league of nations issue. He had the leadership to bring California finally 'round to his way of thinking, and he did this because he is honestly and passionately for America first and "for" no country second.

On the subject of the relations between labor and capital, Johnson has already the finest kind of record made during his governorship of California. His labor laws, standing today, are fair to both sides and reasonable. I don't know who THE TRIBUNE is "for." But I hope to persuade you to be fair to Johnson, that's all. E. G.

I forgot, the paragraph next to the last of your editorial sounds as if Harding had written the answer to it.

No—Hiram Johnson doesn't intend to make himself impossible as a candidate by fighting the machine. He intends to get himself elected.

"TIPS."

Chicago, March 17.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Will you indulge the old-time sporting editor of THE TRIBUNE in expressing his pleasure at seeing the editorial against racing tips from THE TRIBUNE'S child in New York.

Tips were one of my "pet aversions" in those sport editing days, and not a few animosities did I arouse by such flings as I was able to take at "tipsters" in general, and the ethics of newspaper tips incidentally.

I write this, however, chiefly because of my appreciation of the intelligent reasons which the New York writer gives for rejecting tips (which were my chief motives for opposing them) the asininity of supposing that tips were intrinsically worth while, and the doubtful policy of deluding readers in order to sell papers to them—and also because of his characterization of horse racing as a "luxury," which was the chief argument I always advanced in trying to save it in those days of its decline hereabouts and in urging that it be placed in better hands. E. C. SHERIDAN.

A LITTLE LATE BUT VERY FERVID.

Chicago, March 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Defeat woman's suffrage, by all means. If woman's suffrage is added to the constitution of the United States of America it will destroy the aim and object for which the government was founded, i. e., to give an ideal man to the world to rule the people, as the people learned long ago that kings' rule was a failure. Woman has never yet learned her place in society or the debt she owes to the world. P. E. S.

VIVE THE COW.

Moline, Ill., March 11.—[Editor of the Tribune.]—I notice that R. J. Huffman says the "tax on oleo is a vicious piece of class legislation in favor of the dairy interests." If Mr. Huffman had a baby that was starving, his viewpoint would be different. The cow is the foster mother of the human race, and it is up to the American people to protect her. FRANK BYRNE.

TABLOID BOOK REVIEW

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Last week's best sellers in a leading Chicago bookstore were:

FICTION.

"September" [Doran], by Frank Swinnerton.
"The House of Baltazar" [John Lane], by William J. Locke.
"The Romantic Woman" [Knopf], by Mary Borden Turner.
"Isn't That Just Like a Man?" and "O, Well, You Know What Women Are" [Doran], by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Irvin Cobb.
(They listed that as fiction. It is, on Mrs. Rinehart's part, cold fact, though Mr. Cobb did a lot of imagining.)
"Sheila Intervenes" [Doran], by Stephen McKenna.
"The Swing of the Pendulum" [Boni & Liveright], by Adriana Spadoni.

NONFICTION.

"The Economic Consequences of the Peace" [Harcourt, Brace & Howe], by John Maynard Keynes.
"South!" [Macmillan], by Ernest Shackleton.
"The Life of John Marshall" [Houghton-Mifflin], by Albert J. Beveridge.

THE March bulletin of the Chicago public library has a useful list of Easter music. You can get the bulletin at the library. The demand for the February bulletin, which contained the list of the year's books most in demand, has entirely exhausted the supply. I suggested your getting in last week, and evidently many of you took my advice. You'd better do your Easter bulletin shopping early.

"A Place in the World," by John Hastings Turner, is one of those delightfully delicate bits of writing that seem either tremendously important, if one sees a vision of a deft charm in the novels of the future, or tremendously trifling if one hopes that the fiction of the future will grow more and more mazed by the mingling of a realistic psychologizing and a romantic philosophizing. Mr. Turner turns a happy phrase with the same ease that a skilled carver in wood shaves the petals of a delicate flower from a block. When he has finished his bit of art he has done a delicate, delightful little thing, but something that for the lover of the refectory table type of carving seems rather fiddlin' business, as the little boy said about the God who made mosquitoes when he might be making elephants. A willful, beautiful girl, who is child enough still to revel in shocking everybody within sound or sight, who goes to live in a garden suburb to wait until the scandal of her having stuck a knife into her "pin cushion" husband has calmed enough for her to go back to Petrograd to marry the man she loves—it is a situation! Mr. Turner handles it with sophistication and insouciance, and makes of "A Place in the World" one of the really delightful slight things which lighten a dour horizon.

"Psychoanalysis, Its History, Theory, and Practice" [Huebsch], by Andre Tridon, is not just another book on psychoanalysis, and therefore only to be read by advanced students of the subject. It is a simple—though not infantile—statement of the established facts of psychoanalysis, a history of the science and a record of some of the simpler cures which have been effected. Psychoanalysis is not a subject for a subnormal mind to study, but granted an intelligence a little above normal, Mr. Tridon's exposition is perfectly intelligible. It is certainly the only volume on the subject thus far which has been easily intelligible to the person without special guidance. If for nothing more than the complete bibliography, Mr. Tridon's book is worth the price of admission. Whenever the subject of psychoanalysis comes up one can't help recalling that amusing song refrain, "Don't tell me what you dreamed last night, for I've been reading Freud."

G. A. Birmingham dedicates his latest bit of fiction, "Up the Rebels!" [Doran], "To any friends I have left in Ireland after the publication of this book." And that's exactly the kind of a book it is—a poking of a friendly but jovial finger into the ribs of an Irish (near) rebellion. It has something of Mr. Birmingham's old humorous charm and it makes a most amusing tale. His "An Irishman Looks at His World" is probably not going to make him any more popular with some of his countrymen than "Up the Rebels," though it is a serious book, sincerely stating the facts about Ireland's past and her hopes for the future. He judges them as facts and as hopes, and as nothing more. That is, he doesn't prescribe a political nostrum. "If I had, or could, compound a solution of the Irish problem I should how gladly," he says, "roll it into a pill, easy to take at bedtime with a glass of water, and present it to the plain man, or to our ministers of state, or to the American public, or to any one else whose stomach is sick with undigested Ireland."

Gilbert K. Chesterton does not compound such a pill, but he diagnoses the condition of the patient and of the disease in his "Irish Impressions" [John Lane], a series of papers which recorded his visit to Ireland in 1918 in the hope of making two nations which he loves love one another—a task which usually ends in making both of them hate their intermediator. It is "Irish Impressions" for which Bernard Shaw so continuously beats the tom-tom.

"Russia as an American Problem" [Harper's] is John Spargo's latest word on the subject of bolshevism. He believes, violently, that unless America takes the leadership in Russia Japan will—probably with the aid of Germany—for the present Russian régime is doomed to failure.

"Current Social and Industrial Forces" [Boni & Liveright] is a collection of excerpts from articles and speeches of the most forward looking of the economists of today, conservative as well as radical, edited by Lionel D. Edie of Colgate university. It is a sort of symposium, even more valuable in its result than a foreplanned symposium would be, for it gathers the sublimated thoughts of men who are authorities on many subjects, and who have written with more than the definite subject in mind. The book was, immediately upon its publication, seized upon as an invaluable reference book by the national parties as well as by industrial potentates.

"The Spirit of Selective Service" [Century], by Maj. Gen. E. H. Crowder, U. S. A., is an earnest plea for the preservation of the selective service machinery created during the war, based on the comparative efficacy of foreign systems of compulsory military training and on the increase in national unity which was achieved during the war. It is at the same time a sword and a buckler for those who believe in universal military training and a spotlighted target for those who do not.

Yearners after the joys of Walter de la Mare's "Peacock Pie," which has been out of print for the last seven months—while the importers and the custom house were having a further prolonged chat—will be glad to know that the Holts are bringing out Mr. de la Mare's "Collected Poems" in two volumes, which will contain "Peacock Pie," "Motley," and other delights.

In answer to countless inquiries, Mrs. Reginald De Koven's "A Cloud of Witnesses" [Dutton] has not come off the presses yet. Mrs. De Koven is in New York—her publishers say—waiting to get into communication with the spirit of her husband. She had, rumor has it, a message from him while his body was waiting at the station to be taken to New York. He told her to look in a certain drawer where there were notes for a composition. She found them and passed them on to his musical executor. That is, I again declare, merely a rumor, and may not really have happened.

And that reminds me that three of Sir Oliver Lodge's early books have been brought out by George H. Doran in a new edition to celebrate his American tour—"The Survival of Man," originally published in 1909, which contains a history of the first three decades of the existence of the London Society for Psychical Research, with records of famous cases, "Man and the Universe," and "Reason and Belief." "Raymond" has also gone through another edition.

And now "The Young Visiters" is setting London to chuckling all over again. It has been made into a play, with quaint early Victorian music, and London has hung another laurel wreath about Daisy Ashford's brow.

WILSON'S BOARD TO SIFT UNREST ROUSES GOMPERS

Findings Ineffective, Says Labor Unions' Chief.

Washington, D. C., March 20.—[By the Associated Press.]—Recommendations by President Wilson's conference for the settlement of industrial unrest were attacked today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

In a prepared statement the labor leader said the machinery for adjusting disputes between employés and employers "which has for years been in existence in practically every organized industry in the United States is superior to the machinery now suggested by the industrial conference both in point of simplicity and in point of effectiveness."

"The conference," Mr. Gompers said, "has devised a mass of machinery to be made effective by law, composed of a national industrial board and local and regional conferences and boards of inquiry. The whole situation in this respect may be summed up as follows:

"Tried and tested machinery for conciliation and arbitration between employers and employés exist wherever employés are organized.

Machinery Now O. K.

"This machinery functions perfectly wherever employers forsake the spirit of dominance and the attitude of autocracy.

"Through the use of this machinery it has been found possible to maintain industrial peace with no stoppage of work of any kind for periods ranging from ten to forty years. No machinery devised by the government or its agencies or supervised by the government or any of its agencies could achieve results superior to the results achieved by machinery which has long been in operation in our industrial life.

"In industries where the employés are not organized, no machinery of any kind, whether supervised by governmental agencies or otherwise, can produce industrial justice.

Men Must Be Organized.

"Surely no intelligent agency can hope to achieve progress in American industry without organization of the workers. With organization of workers, no structure of machinery need be thrust upon it from the outside. Organization brings with it machinery which is both adequate and practical, the result of experience shorn of any of the fantasies of pure theory.

"The report of the industrial conference merits criticism of a very serious nature in connection with the emphasis which it places on what it terms 'employé representation,' under which generic term it groups those distinctly local shop organizatoins known as shop committees, shop councils, work councils, and representative government in industry.

"It is to be feared that the commission views industry from the viewpoint of the single shop and builds its machinery on the theory that disputes are to be settled shop by shop. If such a viewpoint is to be actually carried into operation it will be most disastrous.

Shop Units Called Menace.

"Unavoidably an organization with independent shop units of the employés is a menace to the workers for the reason that it organizes them away from teach other and puts them in a position where shop may be played against shop. Not only the welfare of the workers, but the best economy for the nation demands that industry, in for far as possible, be viewed in a national light and that the workers be united into organizations covering whole industries as is now the case with the 120 national and international trade unions.
trade unions."

A LETTER

From an Austrian Colonel to Two Little American Girls.

My Dear Little Ladies:

Perhaps you will remember Capt. ——, if you bring to your mind the time, when you in the year 1912, in company of your governess, were living in the "Pension Braune" in Berlin, where my wife and I had taken up our residence, too. Nearly every day we conversed there with each other and have always felt the greatest pleasure in your society. The inclosed little picture may remind you of our many walks through the "Grunewald."

Evil days passed away since. The horrible war is over, but our circumstances here are not to be described. We suffer from cold and hunger, and can't expect that it will soon turn better. We suffer greatly at the present time. We are in want of common necessaries and comforts.

Now the kind hearted people of America are endeavoring to send us some food. On the inclosed card you will find the details described.

As we know only you in America and we have had so merry hours together we believe, now, when want is so keenly felt here, we can take the liberty to ask you to be so kind to dedicate us a "food draft" by the American relief administration.

I will write you again, because it is uncertain if the letter arrives. Trusting that our great calamity will be best excuse for troubling you with it, we would be very happy to receive glad tidings from you.

With kindest compliments to your parents and many thanks beforehand, believe us, to remain, dear ladies,

Yours truly,

——, Colonel.

Dr. C. W. Eliot at 86 Still in Excellent Health

Cambridge, Mass., March 20.—[Special.]—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, celebrated the 86th anniversary of his birth today. There was no deviation from his customary program of writing and reading, his secretary said. Dr. Eliot has been in retirement for ten years. He is in excellent health.

SUBMITS PLAN TO CURB STRIKE ILLS AT SOURCE

Labor Commission Reports to the President.

wages and working conditions of government employés. It is especially necessary for this class of employés, who should not be permitted to strike.

"8. The plan involves no penalties other than those imposed by public opinion. It does not impose compulsory arbitration. It does not deny the right to strike. It does not submit to arbitration the policy of the 'closed' or 'open' shop."

Of Permanent Value.

A plea for the democratization of industry along the lines of the proposed plan is made by the commission in conclusion of its report:

"In presenting these recommendations the conference desires to emphasize that they are not merely designed to tide over a troublesome period of economic readjustment. Many of the evils which we have pointed out were in existence before the war and will remain in existence, if steps are not taken to remedy them. The machinery of coöperation and adjustment which we recommend we believe to have permanent value as an agency of industrial progress.

"At the same time it should be borne in mind that today, when the sense of the magnitude and danger of social unrest is still acutely upon us, when we have not yet reverted to settled habits of thought and action, when our economic life is still in a state of readjustment, it may be possible to establish ideals and set up machinery which the inertia of a later day may defeat."

Largely Work of Hoover.

The settlement and coöperation plan evolved is largely the work of Herbert Hoover, who is being widely discussed as a possible nominee for president by either the Republican or Democratic party. Mr. Hoover believes the commission has presented an original plan, distinctly American and distinctly practical, which if adopted will pave the way to industrial peace in this country.

OPERATOR UNDER ARREST WARNS OF COAL TIEUP

Lever Act Prosecution to Cause Strike?

Indianapolis, Ind., March 20.—Possibility of another tieup of the nation's coal industry, beginning April 1, was asserted as a result of the government's prosecution of operators and miners for alleged violation of the Lever fuel control act in a statement issued tonight by E. D. Logsdon of Indianapolis. Mr. Logsdon is one of the five coal operators arrested today by federal officials and one of the 125 men, operators or miners, indicted by a federal grand jury here for alleged conspiracy to enhance the price of coal.

Mr. Logsdon's statement declares that the government is proceeding on the hypothesis that joint wage conferences are and have been illegal. If this is true, he said, it is possible conferences to establish a new wage scale effective April 1 will be postponed indefinitely and that miners will refuse to work after April 1, when the present contract expires.

Disagrees with Wilson Plan?

The statement asserts that the government's action is inconsistent with the statement given out by President Wilson yesterday wherein he urged operators and miners to get together under the majority report of the commission which investigated the coal situation and in effect gave sanction to the idea of collective bargaining in the coal industry.

Besides Mr. Logsdon, those arrested today were George A. Vandyke, B. E. Neal, and W. H. Tobin of Indianapolis, and William Zeller of Brazil, Ind. Carl J. Fletcher of Indianapolis surrendered to the United States marshal yesterday.

Capiases for men in Illinois, Ohio, and western Pennsylvania who are involved in the charges will be mailed to those states.

Illinois Men Aid Kansas Fight.

Peoria, Ill., March 20.—Ninety thousand Illinois miners, through representatives in session here today, gave unqualified support to State President Alexander Howat of Kansas when he announced a program for the launching of a general miners' strike in Kansas in defiance of state laws there, which are declared to prohibit strikes of any nature.

Anthracite Men Decide Tuesday.

New York, March 20.—The anthracite mine operators were notified today that the general scale committee, representing the mine workers of the hard coal region, will decide next Tuesday whether there shall be a suspension of work April 1, pending the outcome of the negotiations for a new wage agreement.

"We are going to wait until Tuesday for the bituminous award," Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers, said tonight. "If nothing comes out of Washington by that time, it will be up to us to make our own contract and forget about the soft coal situation."

SCHWEPPE AND FENTON DIFFER ON BOND PLANS

Opposing Views as to Liberty Issues Given.

Should the United States government adopt some course of action to restore the par value of Liberty bonds, which now are selling at a discount of from 2 to 10 per cent?

Suggestions that the government should refund the issues, or exchange the present bonds for new securities, bearing higher interest rates, have caused widespread discussion.

In line with THE TRIBUNE'S presentation of the views of Chicago bankers on this general subject is the following:

BY HOWARD W. FENTON,
Vice President Harris Trust and Savings Bank.

I believe it would be a great mistake for the government to exchange the present issues of Liberty bonds for a new issue at a higher rate of interest.

There are several factors which have served to depress the price, but the principal one is that such a large amount of bonds had to be placed in such a short time. This resulted in forcing the bonds into the hands of individuals and corporations to a greater extent than they had funds for investment, but the situation was such that it could not be avoided.

Those people and corporations which cannot or will not save money to take up and pay for their government bonds have dumped them on the market, with the result that the price is depressed. This would have been true even if the bonds had borne a higher rate of interest.

Urges Sinking Fund.

I believe the government should adopt a definite program to restore the market value to around par and interest, but the way to do it is by a sinking fund operation, which will absorb the bonds now being forced on the market by unwilling holders.

This may seem a penalty against the tax payers, because funds would have to be raised to provide such a sinking fund, but the effect within a short time would be beneficial to the tax payers. The increase in the value of government bonds held by tax payers would more than make up the tax necessary.

Referring again to the issuance of high rate bonds to refund those now outstanding, it seems to me that this would only result in depressing the price of all other investment securities, and would not relieve the forced sale of bonds by holders desiring cash. This again would mean a depression in the price of government bonds, and the only solution of the problem that I can see is a sinking fund operation by the government.

BY CHARLES H. SCHWEPPE,
President Partner, Lee, Higginson & Co.

It is my opinion that the position of the Liberty bond issues could be improved by refunding them, especially the short term issues, into a long term government issue. It might not be advisable to do this immediately, but it could be done within the next two years or so, when conditions approach normal.

A long term issue would hold the promise of a steady return for many years, and at a rate that would be attractive in normal times. It also would have the advantage of spreading the cost of the war over the next generation as well as the present one. This is as it should be, for the next generation should meet a share of the cost, just as it will participate in the benefits of this government.

Opposes Immediate Exchange.

It seems to me that it would be folly immediately to exchange the present Liberty bonds for new bonds bearing higher interest rates. I doubt if it would lead more people to hold their bonds than already are doing so. But such a course would result in a depression amounting to many millions of dollars in the value of other securities. Perhaps the interest rate on the bonds should have been made higher. But this question was difficult to determine at the time the bonds were issued.

Our people should be shown how excellent an investment these bonds really are. Millions of persons should be in a position to buy the Liberties, especially now that they are selling on a basis to yield 5¼ to 5½ per cent. Naturally and normally these bonds will be worth par and more. They are the best security in the world, and in due time investors in them will reap their reward.

Medical Missionary to Labrador and Wife Here to Help Orphanage.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred T. Grenfell.

ARTIFICIAL LIFE BASIS OF UNREST, SAYS GRENFELL

Labrador Doctor Cites the Merits of Outland.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, a medical missionary to Labrador for the last twenty-five years, yesterday discussed prohibition in America and England, unrest, and the joys of life in the arctic regions. He spoke at a tea given for him by Miss Dorothy Stirling.

"People in Labrador cannot go to town and buy what they need," said Dr. Grenfell. "They have to make all they use by manual labor. That helps to make and keep people contented. Our forefathers built our country in that way—by their own hard work. We are too much inclined to avoid the hard things.

"People who live in cities grow more and more away from life. Spending money seems to be the sole occupation. There is bound to be unrest in cities as they grow more artificialized.

Consider Work as Slavery.

"Workingmen grow to think that work is a form of slavery and that freedom consists in being able not to work. This attitude is given them by watching their so-called betters who make life a quest for comfort which they do not produce and for pleasures that they do not create."

Dr. Grenfell is here in the interests of the orphanage he founded a few years ago. It started with five children. It now numbers fifty. The buildings are so old they are falling apart, and it will require $80,000 to replace them. He has already received half of the fund.

Prohibition Question.

"The average English audience is simply aghast when you tell it that America is really dry," said Dr. Grenfell. "The English can't grasp it at all. They still think of America in terms of cowboys and pioneers.

"Prohibition is bound to come in England. English workingmen will, of course, fight against it. But it will win out. I made a tour with 'Pussyfoot' Johnson, and was able to gather the sentiment of thousands.

"Prohibition has been a wonderful step forward for America."

Dr. Grenfell will speak this morning at St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, 1424 North Dearborn street; tonight he will give a stereopticon lecture at the community house in Winnetka.

RENEW SEARCH FOR GEM THIEVES

Miss Grace De Buler, owner of a rooming house at 849 Cass street, was robbed by two men of a $1,000 diamond ring Feb. 19. She reported to Policeman Michael Bergin, then of the Chicago avenue station. No action was ever taken.

Yesterday she visited the station and learned Bergin had been transferred to the Summerdale station, later to the West Chicago avenue station. The report is supposed to have been mislaid. Detective Sergeants O'Connell and Magner were assigned to the case yesterday.

The two men were playing cards at her house, Miss De Buler said. She knew one of them as Walter Rogers, who told her he lived on the west side. The other man was a friend of his. They seized her, took the rink from her finger, bound her with towels, and left, she said.

EDISON STRIKE GOES IN EFFECT WITHOUT EFFECT

Frank Ragen's "general strike" of Commonwealth Edison company employés went into effect yesterday.

Just how many employés want out is a matter of a dispute between Ragen and officials of the company. Ragen declared last night that 1,400 meter readers, billers, collectors, testers, firemen, water tenders, turbine operators and others are on strike, and more are expected to join.

W. L. Abbott, chief operating engineer for the company, said as far as the company could ascertain about 140 employés are out and their places are being filled. He said no interruption of the service was expected.

Pickets were posted at the company's three generating plants, the Northwest station at California avenue and Roscoe street, Fiske station, Twenty-second and Fiske street, and Quarry station, Quarry street near Archer avenue.

The company retaliated by summoning a police detail and five of the pickets were arrested near the Northwest station.

Police were detailed at all fifty-three substations of the company in various parts of the city and at the general offices in the Edison building, 72 West Adams street.

LETTER FROM HERMANN GENTSH.

A letter addressed to Hermann Gentsh is held at The Tribune office. It was sent from Madreburg, Germany, by Paul Kettig, and the address was very indefinite. The letter was dropped into the mail box by Arnold J. Marks, who lives at Eastwood and Clarendon. Mr. Marks forwarded it to The Tribune, with the suggestion that an item be placed in the paper in the hope of locating Mr. Gentsh.

DONT CLEAN THE PORTER KEEPSKLEEN PLUG

STOP RANSOMS; START RESCUES, WOOD'S POLICY

Soldier Gives His Views on U. S. Duty.

Pierre, S. D., March 20.—More cash for rescues and none for ransoms—this virtually was the keynote of Maj. Gen. Wood's foreign policy given tonight in what some called a "joint debate" with Senator Miles Poindexter, another aspirant for the Republican nomination for president. Gen. Wood has the Republican state convention's indorsement for the nomination. Senator Poindexter's name comes up at the Republican primaries on Tuesday.

Says Gulf Exists.

Senator Poindexter said there was an abyss between him and Maj. Gen. Wood on the "closed shop" issue and the league of nations. Gen. Wood said there was no such gulf.

Gen. Wood said of the league of nations: "When we turn our people to war it is going to be done under the mandate of the American people and not under the mandate of any group of foreign nations."

"Americanism" as Bridge.

Senator Poindexter said: "It is easier to get money for Europe than to get money for American progress, and more time is put in trying to settle European disorders."

Gen. Wood said: "It was a frightful mistake to attempt to take a post in fixing European boundaries, but it would have been a crime to refuse to feed the starving peoples of Europe."

The senator said he opposed the closed shop as "closing opportunity." Gen. Wood said "no one should be forced to work and no willing person should be kept from working.

PARTY LEADERS CENTER EFFORTS ON REGISTRATION

Efforts of political headquarters, both local and national, are directed now at registration next Tuesday, the day when Chicagoans not on the books now must register in order to vote at the supplemental aldermanic election on April 6 and the primary for ward committeemen, national convention delegates, and preference on president on April 13.

Gov. Lowden's workers are out in the city seeking unregistered voters to get them to enroll. The governor is seeking a solid delegation from Illinois to the national Republican convention. Gen. Wood's managers are also seeking a preferential vote.

Nathan William MacChesney, chairman of the Wood Illinois committee, said yesterday:

"The Republicans of Illinois have two candidates before them—Frank O. Lowden and Leonard Wood. The people of the whole country are looking to Illinois for an expression on these candidates. If only a small percentage of the Republicans of the state cast their votes at the primaries, the result is hardly likely to be a true expression of the sentiment of the state."

HIT BY TAXI; DIES.

Hammond, Ind., March 20.—[Special.]—Frank McLaughlin, athletic director of the East Chicago High school, died at St. Margaret's hospital here today as the result of a fractured skull sustained in an auto accident. McLaughlin was crossing an East Chicago street when he was hit by a taxi driven by W. B. Harper of Indiana Harbor. Harper fled after the accident and was later picked up, dazed, by the police. Manslaughter charges were preferred against him. McLaughlin was a native of Columbus, Ind.

LOWDEN'S CHIEF, CLAIMING GAINS, KNOCKS WOOD!

Uses a Rubber Stamp, Frank Smith Says.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 20.—[Special.]—Gov. Lowden, Illinois, is coming to Washington April 1 to look over his Republican nomination prospects from a capital viewpoint, to confer with political leaders from various parts of the country, and to rest from recent campaign exertions. While here Gov. Lowden will be the guest of Senator Medill McCormick.

"Gov. Lowden's recent victory in Virginia was clean cut and decisive," Representative Frank L. Smith, chairman of the Washington Lowden committee, said today. "The Wood managers, after the Virginia convention had instructed for Lowden, immediately came to the front with their rubber stamp statement, used on all occasions, that after the first ballot at Chicago the Lowden delegates from Virginia would vote for Gen. Wood, etc.

Shows Lowden's Strength.

"But the fact that the instructions were carried by a vote of 314 to 194 indicates that the preference of the Virginia Republicans for Gov. Lowden is definite and permanent. In the Ninth, the only district represented in congress by a Republican, the two delegates to Chicago were instructed for Lowden by 170 to 30."

The latest recruit from organized railroad employés is W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Likes Wood's Gary Tactics.

"I will support Wood as the friend of labor much more so than Harding," said Mr. Lee in a statement telegraphed to Wood headquarters here. "I consider him a much better friend to labor than Harding. I will vote for Wood at the Republican primaries April 27. I admire him for the way he handled the Gary situation as reported to me."

DRYS SHOCKED AT HITCHCOCK'S VIEWS ON BEER

Washington, D. C., March 20.—[Special.]—The Anti-Saloon league wants to drive Senator Hitchcock, Democrat of Nebraska, out of public life because he recently said he favored a constitutional way to restore the legal use of light wines and beer.

Wayne B. Wheeler, chief counsel of the league, said today:

"This beer and wine movement is the entering wedge to destroy prohibition. This attitude of Senator Hitchcock should defeat him not only as a candidate for senate leadership but as a candidate at the Democratic convention."

"The American people," Senator Hitchcock said in reply, "cannot be denied the right to change their laws within constitutional limits, and the Volstead act, like any other law, can be changed within those limits."

South Haven Boat Service Faces Total Suspension

South Haven, Mich., March 20.—[Special.]—South Haven, one of the chief summer resorts and fruit ports in Michigan, may be without steamship service this season. Following the refusal of the city council to submit a $50,000 bonding proposition to the voters to extend financial assistance to the South Haven and Chicago Transportation company, the company announced it would not run a freight or passenger boat during the year. The company, however, declared its willingness to rent its port facilities to any outside company.

Foot Troubles

affect the body in many different ways. The feet SWELL, BURN, ACHE and have SHARP PAINS under the HEELS. The BALL of the FOOT is SORE and FEELS AS IF WALKING on MARBLES. ANKLES become WEAK and SWOLLEN, LEGS CRAMP, KNEES STIFFEN. PAINS are produced in HIPS, SMALL OF BACK, SHOULDERS and NECK. Poor CIRCULATION and EXTREME NERVOUSNESS. DR. PINKSTON can absolutely RELIEVE you of all your FOOT troubles and CURE 90 per cent of them regardless of the nature or condition of the ailments. DR. PINKSTON also has an EXCLUSIVE SHOE SHOP OF READY TO WEAR COMBINATION LAST SHOES, Oxfords and Pumps for PERFECT and IMPERFECT feet, for street and dress wear, FOR MEN, WOMEN AND GROWING GIRLS, in connection with his foot specialty work.

THERE IS A DR. PINKSTON COMBINATION LAST SHOE FOR EVERY FOOT AND FOR ALL OCCASIONS

These shoes are better than the standard shoes because they are TWO WIDTHS NARROWER IN THE HEEL, ONE WIDTH NARROWER IN THE ARCH, AND TWO WIDTHS WIDER THROUGH THE BALL OF THE FOOT than any shoe that has ever been made. The narrow heel PREVENTS THE SHOE FROM SLIPPING UP AND DOWN. The narrow arch KEEPS THE FOOT FROM SLIDING FORWARD. The broad ball gives PERFECT FREEDOM OF THE TOES. The entire comfort and grace of walking depend entirely upon the proper articulation of the ball of the foot.

Republican presidential politics in the Chicago sector—meaning nearly everything between the Appalachians and the Rocky mountains—is in a "trembly" condition. Primary results of the week just ended and the nervous apprehension with which all of the announced candidates await next Tuesday's result in South Dakota is accountable for the strained state of affairs.

Minnesota primary results—hailed with unsuppressed glee by Gen. Wood's managers on Monday night—don't look so sweet to them now, after a real diagnosis is available of what happened. The Wood camp gets some satisfaction, from its own point of view, in the fact that Gov. Lowden was forced to run fourth. It is deeply worried, however, if the truth were admitted, by the showing made by Herbert Hoover.

May Center on Hoover.

A reasonable forecast of the course that will be taken now by the Wood management is that it will prepare to open up on Hoover, on the theory that Gov. Lowden is through. The Wood campaign up to this point, evidently, has been handled on the theory that the Illinois governor was the only candidate in the going that Maj. Gen. Wood had to defeat.

Gov. Lowden's management does not worry over the position taken by the Wood people. The managers point with pride to the result in Virginia on Wednesday, when Gov. Lowden safely corralled thirteen of the fifteen delegates.

The future of the Wood-Lowden duel hinges materially upon the South Dakota final figures of Tuesday. The Wood claim is a plurality for the major general of not less than 30,000.

It is admitted on the inside of the Wood camp that a cleanup of the state by Johnson, which is a distinct possibility, would be a most serious blow to Wood and might put him out of commission as a candidate.

Result in North Dakota.

North Dakota, at its primaries last Tuesday, was no surprise. Senator Johnson, having been the only candidate on the ballots, gets credit for having swept the state.

The Virginia convention Wednesday was a distinct Lowden victory, and so accepted by the party leaders. Gen. Wood picked up one instructed delegate in Georgia and two in Tennessee during the week.

Complete delegations will be sent to the [illegible] convention [illegible] four states [illegible]. South Dakota heads the list Tuesday with ten, to be bound by the primary vote. The Connecticut state convention at Hartford Tuesday is scheduled to send an uninstructed delegation.

The Maine state convention on Thursday is likely to send an uninstructed delegation. The Wood eastern management is fighting for instructions there. New Mexico elects six delegates Friday.

The Circus Is Comin'!

Elephants, Clowns, and All Will Be Here Soon.

MISS BLANCHE WELLS AND SNYDER.

The elephants, the clowns, the jungle beasts, and the bespangled folks are coming to town. Sells-Floto circus—"the second largest show on earth"—opens at the Coliseum on Saturday, April 3, for a sixteen day engagement.

The show trains will roll into Chicago several days before the opening in order that the people and animals may rehearse and adjust rigging and properties.

The Sells-Floto circus has long been known as a show of features, and this season its array of talent will be augmented by a number of headline aerial and novelty acts from the Olympia in London and the Sarassini circus of the continent. The performances will be opened by "The Birth of the Rainbow," spectacular extravaganza, in which 1,000 people and animals take part.

For the children some fifty clowns, headed by Le Grohs, the French movie droll, will caper, assisted by an unusually large number of animal comics, including Joker, the equestrian chimpanzee; Snyder, the elephant who walks on his hind legs, and is trained by Blanche Wells.

Hitchcock and Underwood Agree to an Armistice

Washington, D. C., March 20.—No effort to break the deadlock between Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska and Senator Underwood of Alabama for the Democratic leadership of the senate is expected for another two weeks, the two candidates having agreed to abandon their plan for a Democratic caucus as soon as the treaty debate was ended. The change is understood to have been made to permit Senator Hitchcock to go away for a rest.

MINNESOTA G.O.P. FAILS TO INDORSE LEONARD WOOD

Delegates at Large Are Uninstructed.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

St. Paul, Minn., March 20.—[Special.]—By a vote of 595 to 498 the Minnesota Republican convention refused to instruct the four delegates at large to the Chicago convention for Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, but no effort was made to instruct them for any other candidate. The Wood indorsement had been reported from the resolutions committee by a 5 to 4 vote.

Ten of the twenty district delegates are definitely instructed for Gen. Wood, one of the districts, the Tenth, which will send two sets of delegates, being in contest. In view of the state convention action, the belief is expressed that Gen. Wood can rely upon ten of the twenty-four and that Gov. Lowden is likely to have fourteen votes on the decisive ballot next June.

The Delegates at Large.

The four delegates at large, elected after an all afternoon battle, are as follows: Mrs. Manley N. Fossen, Minneapolis; Alvah Eastman, St. Cloud; R. H. Bach, Owatonna; Millie Bunnell, Duluth.

Mrs. Fossen broke the Wood slate and was elected by acclamation. She is chairman of the Republican woman's organization in the state. She has been neutral as to presidential candidates.

The convention refused almost unanimously to adopt an amendment to the resolutions report that would have condemned universal military training "in time of peace." This was offered on behalf of certain labor organizations in Minneapolis.

Features of Platform.

Among the state pla..ks adopted were "law and order" as the paramount issue; return to the convention system of party nominations; speedy ratification of the federal suffrage amendment; national budget; condemnation of profiteering and socialism; support of the prohibition amendment; labor court of conciliation; collective bargaining; equal pay for women and men for equal work; national department of education with cabinet member as head.

Wood Led in Primary.

Figures available tonight show approximately one-tenth of the total Republican vote in the state was cast in the Monday night primaries, during the two hours that the polls were open. Of the one-tenth, Gen. Wood led the field with about one-third, with the other two-thirds distributed between Lowden, Johnson, and Hoover.

No attempt has made to get a correct total of the primary vote.

POLITICAL NOTES

Charles F. Hurburgh of Galesburg, one of the best known progressive Republican leaders in the state, has accepted a place on the Leonard Wood Illinois campaign committee. Two other names were added to the roster of the state committee during the day. They were those of Charles H. Schweppe, local partner and manager of the Chicago office of Lee, Higginson & Co., and Charles Fernald, vice president of the Fort Dearborn National bank of Chicago.

Gov. Cox of Ohio, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, will be the guest of the Iroquois club at dinner, Thursday, March 25.

Gov. Lowden is touring Michigan under the auspices of the Young Men's Lowden league. He spoke at Ann Arbor Friday and was a luncheon guest at the Michigan Union. Last night he spoke in Detroit.

Col. Samuel Harden Church, president of the Carnegie institute and president of the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh, is being boomed for a presidential nomination by his home town paper in Hamilton, Caldwell county, Mo.

Gov. Lowden will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the American Unity Club of Chicago in the Hotel La Salle next Thursday evening.

Seventeen business men of the Twenty-seventh ward, members of the Irving Park Boulevard and Kedzie Avenue Business Men's association, are pledged to work for the election of William C. Eggert for Republican ward committeeman. A. C. Bay is president of the Eggert organization.

The Illinois Equal Suffrage association yesterday adopted resolutions praising Gov. Lowden's record on the suffrage question and pointing out that it was largely as a result of his efforts that Illinois was the first state to adopt the Anthony amendment to the constitution.

New York, March 20.—[Special.]—Among the letters received today at the headquarters of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood indorsing his candidacy for the Republican nomination for president was one from Mary Roberts Rinehart, the novelist.

RUDE MR. DUNN STILL NEGLECTS HIS LITTLE CALL

And Slighted Officials Report Watchful Waiting.

For a month and five days William Cholmondeley Dunn (more widely known as "Slippery Sonny") has exhibited to the law a clean pair of heels.

Efforts to learn at the state's attorney's and the north side branch of the sheriff's office yesterday what steps the law was taking to apprehend the fugitive elicited the information that he was "still being sought." Mourners at the funeral of his "pal," Joseph ("Jobie") Hurley, who was shot to death in the saloon of "Stubby" McQuade at Thirty-fifth and Wallace streets Wednesday morning, were scrutinized, but Mr. Dunn was not among them.

"Tip" Over Wire Fails.

Detective Sergeants William E. O'Connor and Thomas E. Burke went to Mount Olivet cemetery to attend the Hurley burial as a result of an anonymous phone tip that "Sonny" would be there. It was the same voice that routed O'Connor out of bed Thursday morning at 1:30 o'clock and told him that "Sonny" had dropped into town from Cleveland, had slipped in the back door of the Hurley flat at 3534 Wallace street, and was attending the wake. O'Connor and Burke reached the Hurley flat at 3 a. m., but "Sonny" had slipped on his way again.

Here's His Calendar.

Important events in "Sonny's" intriguing game of "hide and go seek," in which the law plays the part of "it," include the following:

FEB. 16—Dunn fails to appear before Judge Anton T. Zeman in the Criminal court to stand trial for the theft of an automobile, but so does the state's principal witness, H. R. Andrews of Lamont. Case stricken from calendar and Dunn's bondsmen released from liability.

FEB. 17—Dunn accused of murder by Detective Sergeant Richard Burke of "Smiling Jack" O'Brien, who had been convicted of the crime and a week later was hanged.

FEB. 18—State's Attorney Hoyne orders case before Judge Zeman reinstated and Dunn's arrest ordered.

FEB. 20—"Sonny" fails to appear in Judge Joseph Sabath's court to stand trial for the theft of another automobile; bond forfeited and second order for his arrest issued.

FEB. 22—Dunn's surrender promised for the following day by his attorney and friends.

FEB. 23—Dunn's promise is not kept, but he permits newspaper reporters to interview him.

FEB. 24—Andrews, the state's "missing" witness, found by a TRIBUNE reporter at his home.

FEB. 27—Suit for Dunn's forfeited bail started against his bondsman, James Connell of 1113 Albion avenue.

MARCH 1—Mr. Hoyne assigns his best detectives to catch "Slippery Sonny."

MARCH 3—Bond given by Dunn before Judge Sabath found to be irregular.

MARCH 4—Bondsman Connell arrested.

MARCH 6—Home of the late "Moss" Enright raided in effort to catch Dunn, who isn't there.

MARCH 17—Dunn reported as present at the wake of Joseph Hurley, a former "pal," who was killed in a saloon brawl.

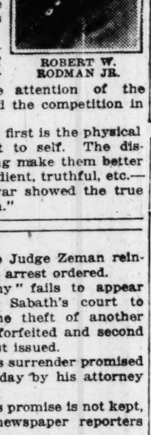
ROGERS PARK BOY, TWELVE, WINS FIRST PRIZE WITH ESSAY

Twelve year old Robert W. Rodman Jr. hopes some day to be writing best sellers. He has started auspiciously. Yesterday he was awarded first prize in an essay competition among pupils of Rogers Park grammar schools on the theme, "What Are the Advantages of Training in the United States Army?"



ROBERT W. RODMAN JR.

It was the opening paragraph of Robert's essay that arrested the attention of the judges and decided the competition in his favor.

but, in my opinion, first is the physical and moral benefit to self. The discipline and training make them better men—prompt, obedient, truthful, etc.—and in times of war showed the true caliber of the man."

REALTY BOARD CLAIMS SOLUTION OF RENT PUZZLE

Plans Zone Committees to Bring Peace.

Establishment of communal committees in each neighborhood, composed of tenants, landlords, and real estate men, as the immediate temporary solution of the high rent problem, is the plan offered by the Cook county real estate board, according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon by A. C. Stanmeyer, president.

Declaring that a special committee of his board has just completed an exhaustive investigation, Mr. Stanmeyer announces that these committees, with the coöperation of the tenants' organizations, can eliminate the difficulties.

George F. Nixon, a director of the board, is chairman of the board's committee assigned to clear up the chaotic rent conditions.

Will Proceed at Once.

"We shall be ready to proceed with our plans within a day or two," said Mr. Nixon.

"The scarcity of homes is not so great that the problem cannot be handled.

"Our plan calls for the zoning of the city. In each neighborhood there will be a committee of tenants, landlords and real estate men. There will be a central board at the rooms of our organization to direct the work.

"If this plan is followed it will be a matter of only a few weeks before every landlord will have a fair return on his investment and every tenant a fair rent. There need be no litigation, no evictions."

Tenants' Representative Approves.

The communal committee plan was approved last night by Maj. H. S. Standish, one of the incorporators of the Chicago Tenants' Protective league and a leader in the fight against exorbitant rent increases.

"Nothing could be better," he said. "If the landlords fall into line now, settlement of the difficulties ought to be easy."

Efforts to compile a list of all vacant lots with water and sewer connections outside the fire limits of the city as sites for ready made houses are being made by Bartholomew O'Toole.

PROFESSOR WHO WROTE "BOOK OF CHAOS" RESIGNS

Beloit College Head Denies Censorship.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Beloit, Wis., March 20.—M. H. Hedges, professor of literature at Beloit college, has resigned. President M. A. Brannon admitted that yesterday and said the resignation would be accepted at the end of the school year.

"But," he added, "this resignation is connected in no way with the fact that he has written a book."

The professor has written a book—"Iron City," a book of chaos, a story of socialism, new thought, industrial unrests, reaction, conservatism, fast roadster, austere tradition, church altars, strikes, bloody conflict, moonlit nights, airplanes, and love.

It is a book that Beloit discusses day and night, in which it finds strange parallels, familiar persons, and institutions.

"Horrible!" says the Ladies' Aid.

"Great!" says the campus.

The students held a popularity contest, the faculty members being the candidates. And the author of "Iron City" got 70 per cent of the votes.

Mothers told their daughters not to read it. But the city's two book stores were rushed and the publishers forced to print a second edition to supply the demand.

The resignation of the author was summarily demanded. The president of the college declared in favor of academic freedom of thought and expression and presented his own resignation with that of the offending professor, and those of a number of other faculty members who are likewise outspoken. Two professors were given a year's leave of absence.

WOMAN DIES OF BURNS.

Mrs. Katie Wazniak, 60, 2311 West Eighteenth street, a widow, who was burned on Feb. 29, died at the County hospital yesterday. Her clothing caught fire when the kerosene she was pouring over a fire exploded.

UNITED STATES GET TOGETHER AT I. A. C. DINNER

Members from almost every state met last night at the third "States Dinner" to be given by the Illinois Athletic club.

To the accompaniment of a concert orchestra, a "mysterious stranger from Missouri" stalked through the hall, while pickaninnies from Alabama, a plantation quartet from Kentucky, and a corn-fed farmer from Indiana added a home touch to their respective delegations. Miniature flivvers were presented to the gathering with the compliments of Michigan.

Informal talks were made on the question of industrial unrest, and the need for unity among all Americans to overcome the bolshevist menrace.

Among the speakers were Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, Attorney General Brundage, former Senator Lewis, and Ex-Gov. Deneen.

BELOIT WOMAN BURNED.

Beloit, Wis., March 20.—(Special.)—Mrs. C. L. Taylor, 28, used kerosene on her kitchen fire tday. She was burned fatally.

CALLS CITY'S WAY WITH PRISONERS CRUEL, COSTLY

Faherty Urges Moving the Courts Outside Loop.

BY EYEWITNESS.

"I'm a rough man," said Michael J. Faherty, "but that's a sight that always sickens me. I don't know another American city that would tolerate it."

A patrol wagon had drawn up within four or five feet of the curb in front of the La Salle street entrance of the city hall. A woman was half helped, half hauled from the wagon by a policeman. Between the wagon steps and the sidewalk was a pool of slush. The woman waded through it.

She did not seem a disreputable type. She was hatless, and clad all in white—even to white shoes. The fabric of the dress was cotton. She might have been a waitress in a second or third class restaurant.

Reaching the sidewalk, the policeman, his hand grasping the woman's arm, paused to say his good-bys to two or three men in civilian clothes who had ridden to the hall with him.

Crowd Scrutinizes Woman.

During that pause of perhaps twenty seconds the streams of citizens entering and leaving the city hall by the four doors of the La Salle street entrance halted, and the woman was subjected to the scrutiny of scores of eyes. It was not a pleasant sight and it made the far from morbidly sensitive president of the board of local improvements fairly wriggle with disfavor as he sat in his car waiting for the chauffeur to extricate him from a traffic jam.

Then the officer and his prisoner disappeared through the big doors. But her purgatory—if she was not too hardened to feel it as a purgatory—was not over. She was to be led along hundreds of yards of crowded corridors and taken up in more crowded elevators to stand before the judge who should pass upon her case.

Faherty's Views.

Michael J. resumed:

"Now that kind of thing goes on day in and day out. Sometimes the women are about half clad. Sometimes a prisoner will be all bloody. I guess you might say that even the most hardened of 'em are always distressed. Anyway, it's a system that's bad for the public and bad for the police and bad for the prisoners. It ain't decent—and that's the long and short of it.

"I could forgive it if it were necessary. It is not, and it's very expensive. We are paying out $40,000 a year for extra space outside the city hall in order to take care of department work that ought to be all concentrated in the city hall. That breaking up of a department's office room means waste of time and money and efficiency. Courts that ought to be housed in a separate building of their own are occupying thousands of square feet of floor space in the city hall which could be used to better advantage by the administrative departments of the city.

Would Avoid Loop Traffic.

Such a building could be outside the zone of downtown traffic. It would be quieter for the courts and it would save this hauling of prisoners from the lockups down into the center of town and then off again to the county jail. As it is now you might as well lead 'em into a Michigan avenue hotel or through a department store. Those unfortunate people have a right to be protected from being made a show of. Some of 'em, you know, ain't guilty. That's an awful thought.

"Nobody gains by the present arrangement. Time and again when we want to try a real estate valuation case we have to take the office of an official in some other department when he's on vacation, or else bluff him out of it for days at a time. It's all uneconomic, to say nothing of the cruel part of it we just saw."

Job for Women's Clubs.

Women's clubs in this town do a great deal of useful work or amelioration along just such lines as the spectacle that disgusted Michael J., and he thinks they could soon get the present unfeeling system of handling municipal prisoners corrected.

If Michael were mayor it would not continue long, he thinks.

SUCCESSOR TO SPRAGUE WILL BE APPOINTED

Washington, D. C., March 20.—[Special.]—Howard Figg, in charge of the department of justice fair price and economy campaign, has received the resignations of Maj. A. A. Sprague II as fair price commissioner for Illinois and Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, chairman of the women's organization.

It was stated at the department, however, that another commissioner for Illinois will be appointed to replace Maj. Sprague, whose resignation will take effect April 1. In the meantime the educational campaign in Illinois will be carried on "vigorously," the department announced, under the direction of Maj. Sprague until he drops the work.

In regard to Mrs. Bowen's refusal to support the plan to urge the public to buy and use cheap cuts of meat, it was stated that the campaign might result in a slight increase of price on inferior cuts in response to the increased demand. It was argued, however, that there would be a corresponding falling off in price on the more expensive cuts and above all an equalization in distribution that would result in saving for use as food thousands of pounds of meat now diverted to other uses or thrown away outright.

R. H. REID WEDS MARIE CRERAR IN ARCH OF ROSES

Younger Set Leads at 'Bud's' Marriage.

The first fashionable spring wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Crerar of 1901 Prairie avenue, when their daughter, Marie, became the bride of Robert Henry Reid, son of Mrs. Morris S. Rosenfield of 2807 Prairie avenue.

The house was decorated with spring flowers and the gowns of the bride's attendants were in pastel shades, carrying out the spring color scheme.

Bride a Thanksgiving "Bud."

Only a few older people were present, as the invitation list had been limited almost exclusively to the young people of society, with whom both the bride and bridegroom are favorites, the former having made her debut last Thanksgiving at a reception at her parents' residence.

Mrs. Reid's gown was of white chiffon, with lace and silver trimmings and a court train of white satin which was worn by her mother when she was married. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids and her tulle veil was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms.

Her younger sister, Katherine, who attended her as maid of honor, wore a charming frock of flesh color chiffon and a Dutch lace cap. She carried Cecil Brunner roses and forget-me-nots.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of chiffon and hats of the same shade, trimmed with rambler roses and forget-me-nots. Miss Harmon Bailey's gown was of light pink, Miss Lila Hotz's of apricot, Miss Caryl Dunham's of mauve, and Miss Edith Rosenfield's of light blue.

Beneath Arch of Roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid stood beneath an arch of rambler roses banked with ferns during the service, which was read by the Rev. Dr. James S. Stone.

Mark Walton acted as best man for his brother-in-law and the ushers were Lyman Warren ,Waldo Logan, Ogden Ketting, and Frederick Bailey. After a months' wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Reid will be at home at 25 Scott street.

JUDGE'S CLEANUP DAY SPEEDS TEN TOWARD PRISONS

High Class Jury Aids Zeman in Work.

Judge Anton T. Zeman did some early spring cleaning in the Criminal court yesterday, and Illinois' prison population was augmented by ten.

By and large, it was the most unpleasant day Chicago undesirables have experienced in many months. The judge stayed his judicial brow only long enough to scan his law books for the appropriate sentences, and for the bailiffs to lead the somewhat bewildered malefactors away.

Assistant State's Attorney William S. Stewart's contribution to the success of the occasion was 100 per cent score in convictions, which had been made possible, he said, by the exceptional high quality of the jurors.

One Case Example.

For example:

In its efforts to prove Ralph Madia, a youthful member of the local Camorra, guilty of assault with intent to kill, the state was able to trace his movements only to within three miles of where Bartholomew Murphy of Hillsdale, was shot while escaping from bandits with several hundred dollars.

Madia was found guilty, nevertheless, when he was identified as one of two men who watched Murphy draw the money from the Citizens' bank of Melrose Park a short while before the holdup, and who then drove away in an automobile which was observed later near the scene of the crime.

He was sentenced to serve one to fourteen years in the Pontiac reformatory.

Others Who Are Convicted.

The other evildoers brought to brook follow:

LEO BLOOTIAUX, a garage repair man of 3219 Archer avenue, convicted of stealing eight automobiles and of teaching two boys to steal; one to ten years in Joliet.

OTTO BRAUER, a paroled inmate of Pontiac, convicted of shooting Thaddeaus Chrzanowski, druggist, during an attempted holdup; one to fourteen years in Joliet. Brauer was shot by the druggist.

ELWYN BARRON, a paroled inmate of Pontiac, convicted of robbing the residence of Charles L. Harder, and of paying for his honeymoon with the loot; one to twenty years in Joliet.

BERNARD O'BRIEN, who robbed Paul Batt of 409 Oakwood boulevard, with a revolver; one year to life in Pontiac.

CLARK HILL, convicted of improprieties against the daughter of Dr. E. S. Miller, 4418 Champlain avenue; one to twenty years in Joliet.

Bigamist Is Sentenced.

CARL MAIER, who married Miss Ohms three days after they met through a flirtation in Lincoln park, notwithstanding he already had a wife; one to five years in Joliet.

SAM CATANZARA and SALVATORE TOMASO, found guilty of burglary; three to twenty years in Pontiac. They turned state's evidence against Fred McKinney, a receiver of stolen property, who fled last Monday while at liberty on bond. He has since been convicted and will be sentenced when he is apprehended.

JOE CARRAO, convicted of receiving stolen property worth less than $15, got the limit—a year in the house of correction.

OTTO GLOCKER and LOUIS LIERMAN, boys of reputable parents, who testified against Bliottiaux, were placed on probation.

Judge Praises Jury.

"Chicago is no place for a man with a record," said the judge. "If the police suspect him and keep arresting him in connection with various offenses, he has only his previous misconduct to blame.

"The present venire of jurors in my judgment made only one mistake. The verdict against Carrao was a compromise. He should have been dealt with as harshly at Catanzara, Tomaso, and McKinney, who were his associates in crime."

LAUNCH BIGGEST BATTLESHIP AT NEWPORT NEWS

Newport News, Va., March 20.—The superdreadnaught Maryland, designed as the most powerful battleship in the world, was launched here today with Mrs. E. Brooke Lee, wife of the controller of the state of Maryland, as sponsor.

The Maryland is the first of four ships of its class to be launched, and is one of the ten superdreadnaughts authorized in the first three year building program adopted in 1916. With a length of 624 feet over all, a beam of 97 feet, and a full load displacement of 32,950 tons, it is the largest fighting craft built for the American navy, and when commissioned will be one of the most powerful battleships in the world.

Originally designed to carry twelve 14-inch rifles, the plans for the ship were so changed during the war that it will have instead eight 16-inch guns—the first of this size ever mounted on a ship.

C. M. ATWELL, 74, RETIRED BROKER, TAKES OWN LIFE

Charles M. Atwell, 74 years old, 6217 Ellis avenue, was found dead in the kitchen of his home about 10 o'clock yesterday with the gas turned on. It is thought that Mr. Atwell, who was a retired dry goods merchant and former member of the Board of Trade, became despondent over illness of long standing.

Mrs. Atwell had left her husband alone in the house. Neighbors in the flat above smelled gas and notified the police. Patrolman William Tallon called the pulmotor squad. Attempts to revive the man failed.

Mr. Atwell has been in poor health for the last ten years.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ELIZABETH A. KELLY. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Elizabeth A. Kelly, 86 years old, who died at her home, 308 North Lorel avenue, Austin, on Saturday. Mrs. Kelly was the widow of Dr. F. W. Kelly. She is survived by two children, Mrs. Frances A. Horton and Leslie P. Kelly. Burial at Graceland.

LORENZ S. STOEHR, vice president and general manager of the American Bottle company, will be buried tomorrow in Massillon, O. He was a resident of Evanston.

A New Idea in Boys' Clothes

Lytton Jr. (Two-Pants) Suits

THESE are not Suits that just happen. They were made after specifications more exacting than ever dictated in the history of Boys' Clothing. First, we studiously planned the construction; chose the fabrics for their durability and appearance; then injected up-to-the-minute style into them—just what all boys want.

As a result we are able to present a Suit intelligently constructed and built along the standards of dad's clothes. Smart appearance, wear-resisting materials and service-giving economy are the three uncommon things in these Suits. At $25 these Suits offer truly the best value obtainable anywhere in America today.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

MARCH 21, 1920.

SOX SHOW PACE IN FIRST GAME; CLOUT 9-4 WIN

Faber and Williams Hold Dallas to a Whisper.

Dallas, Tex., March 20.—[Special.]—The White Sox played their first exhibition game of the spring training trip today and romped over the Dallas Texas league team, 9 to 4. It wasn't much of a ball game, but it gave the Sox plenty of opportunity to exercise their legs. Incidentally it proved Manager Gleason's contention concerning the fitness of Faber and Williams.

The Sox compiled thirteen hits and Buck Weaver pulled a stone bruise on his right heel, so the day was not without incident. Faber pitched four scoreless innings, while Williams was bumped for one run in the three he toiled.

War Hero Bumps Williams.

The run made off "Lefty" was featured by a three base hit swatted by Arthur J. Forrest of Hannibal, Mo. Forrest was one of the heroes in the late world war and acquired several medals from a grateful government for capturing many Huns. He learned to catch in the army. Gene Dale, a pitcher, helped him over the plate with a single on a fly ball so high that neither Murphy nor Leibold could decide which should get under it.

The three runs off Tabor, who performed a part of the last two innings, were due to wildness. The young man from Dubuque college plunged one enemy, let out a wild pitch, and walked four. He was still wild when Manager Gleason had to take him out so the athletes coud get home in time for supper.

Play Fort Worth Today.

The town is full of baseball people, the Giants stopping at the same hotel as the Sox, while the Red Sox are stabled across the street. These clubs are touring the provinces together. The Sox play at Fort Worth tomorrow and then go to Waco again for five days of practice.

Notes of the Sox

Dallas, Texas, March 20.—Manager Gleason expected to greet Ted Jourdan, first baseman, and Eddie Collins here, but they did not put in an appearance. In consequence Byrd Lynn took out his big mitt to do some first basing.

Joe Jackson, with only one day's practice, proved today that he has not forgotten how to hit. He smashed out two singles and a double, all three being sharp drives.

Buck Weaver had a tough day at short. He booted two grounders, kicking one in his anxiety to start a double play. Buck is sore, especially in the feet. He played golf all winter but finds that game does not especially fit one for baseball.

"Red" Faber showed the natives a swell curve ball. He used it often and seemed to pitch without effort. Only one hit was made off him in four innings. Slattery got that to start the fourth, but Faber tightened up and no scoring resulted.

Eddie Cicotte will start tomorrow in Fort Worth, it being Manager Gleason's intention to use his regulars as soon as they can stand the pace.

Sox Goofs Lace Belton in Game of Features, 13-6

Belton, Tex., March 20.—[Special.]—The White Sox Goofs laced the Belton team 13 to 6, this afternoon. John Collins and Spencer Heath led at bat with two clouts each. Outfielder Dockery of Belton, in chasing one of Collins' doubles, ran squarely through the fence, carrying two boards with him. A pair of difficult catches by Johnny Mostil featured. Ludzke was the only Chicagoan to go hitless. Score:

MOHA MAY BE FIRST OPPONENT OF GEORGES

CANTON, O., March 20.—That Bob Moha, Milwaukee, will be the first opponent on American soil of Georges Carpentier, Frenchman, who holds the European heavyweight championship, was the statement made here today by Vincent Moha, brother and manager of Bob.

The match is tentatively set for Benton Harbor, Mich., on the afternoon of July 5, according to Moha, who stopped here en route from New York to his home in Milwaukee. While in New York he conferred with a representative of the French fighter.

WEBER SHINING STAR OF 25 TO 1 VICTORY BY MITCHELL'S MEN

Los Angeles, Cal., March 20.—The Cubs slaughtered the Angels to the tune of 25 to 1 today. Rudy Weber was the feature of the scrap. This protégé of Bill Killefer pitched five innings and held the enemy hitless. Carter finished and was touched for four safeties. Weber hails from Covert, Mich., and his professional experience has been confined to Benton Harbor. Score:

YAWKEY SHARES IN TIGERS SOLD TO DETROITERS

Detroit, Mich., March 20.—Ownership of the Detroit Tigers will in a few days rest entirely with Detroiters, it became known here today with the announcement that John Kelsey and Walter Briggs, Detroit manufacturers, were to acquire the interest in the Tigers held by the Yawkey estate of New York. One thousand shares are involved at a price said to be in excess of $500,000.

Frank J. Navin will continue as president and as a part of the pending deal will acquire fifteen shares, bringing his holdings to a half interest, or 1,000 shares.

Messrs. Kelsey and Briggs secure, besides a half interest in the franchise and players, an equal holding in the Tiger park.

TENDLER OUTBOXES MARTIN.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 20.—Lew Tendler, Philadelphia lightweight, defeated Johnny Martin, New York, in six rounds tonight, the latter managing to stay the limit by clinching throughout the last four rounds.

DEMPSEY PLEADS NOT GUILTY ON SLACKER CHARGE

Preliminary Hearing Set for April 3.

San Francisco, March 20.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and his manager, Jack Kearns, pleaded not guilty today before Judge Robert S. Bean in the United States District court when arraigned on charges of conspiracy to evade the selective draft act. Their preliminary hearing was set for April 3.

The two appeared later before Francis Krull, United States commissioner, and furnished bonds; Dempsey for $2,000 and Kearns for $1,000.

Two Charges Against Dempsey.

They were indicted by the federal grand jury Feb. 27. One indictment accused them of conspiracy in preparing a false claim of dependency for Dempsey, and a second charged Dempsey with evasion of the draft act.

Both declined to make any statement regarding the charges against them, referring questions to their counsel. Dempsey said he expected to return to Los Angeles immediately, but Kearns stated that he planned to remain here a few days.

Maxine in U. S. Custody.

Maxine Dempsey, divorced wife of Jack, and star witness against the fighter, was hid away today by government agents. Close friends who tried to reach her were informed that Maxine was "not in."

"I am not worried at all," Dempsey said later. "I haven't had time to worry. The only time I ever worried was four or five years ago when I didn't know whether I was going to get three squares a day."

Gavin McNab, an attorney, has been retained by an eastern client, it was learned, to make a thorough investigation of charges against the two men. McNab refused to say who employed him.

CARPENTIER TO LAND TOMORROW; TRIP ROUGH ONE

New York, March 20.—All full of the disturbances of the waist that go to make up sea sickness, Georges Carpentier, best fighter and poorest sailor of Europe, probably will be dragged between the ropes of the Savoie to the deck here Monday.

Groggy from an eight day battle with the knock out king of the deep, the idol of France very likely will stagger into the arms of the reception committee with the attitude of not caring "whether school keeps or not."

Francois Descamps was no softer for the sea-demon than for the promoters who have been chasing him for the last six months. He and he alone of the party is not sick, according to radios from the "ill fated liner."

Carpentier, probably, will start on his movie contracts soon after his arrival. Some of the scenes are to be filmed around New York, and he may be in this vicinity several weeks before going to California. Following the completiton of his motion picture work he is to start a ten weeks vaudeville tour.

"GRID" COACHES IN POLICE NET; THEN RELEASED

Coach Howard Jones, of Iowa, former all American quarterback, and Coach Robert Zuppke of Illinois, were taken into custody by the Evanston police yesterday as burglar suspects. They were strolling along the fashionable lake shore drive in Evanston talking over the conference track meet when three detectives leaped from an auto and ordered them to halt and submit to a search.

The police explained that all strangers were being questioned to locate a band of second story men who have been operating in the north shore community the last two weeks. Upon identifying themselves as honest and hard working college coaches they were released. They immediately returned to Patten gymnasium.

Purple Students Petition to Keep Varsity Coaches

A petition signed by practically all the students at Northwestern university asking that Football Coach Charles Bachman and Track Coach Willie McGill be retained for another year will soon be presented to the faculty, it was learned yesterday. The students have heard rumors that the coaches were to be asked to resign at the end of the present year.

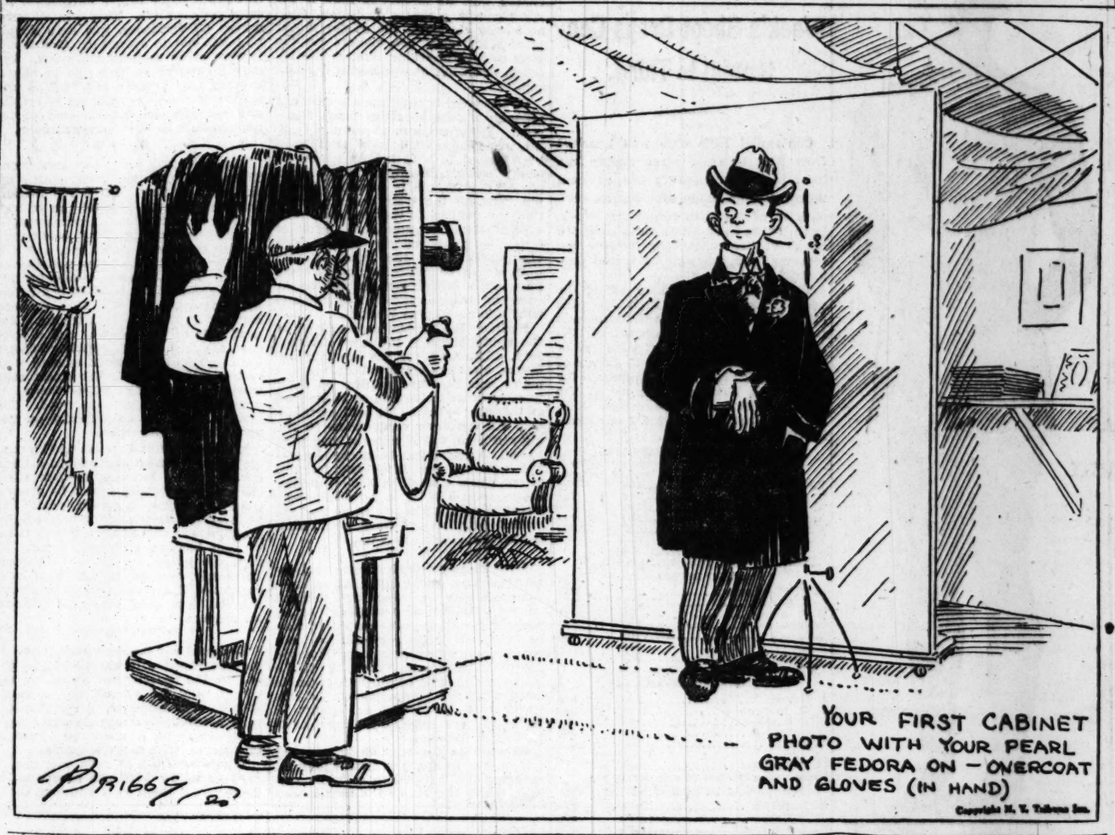
Eastern Swimming Title Captured by Yale Team

New Haven, Conn., March 20.—Yale won the eastern inter-collegiate swimming meet tonight with a total of 34 points. Pennsylvania was second with 8, Princeton third with 6, and Amherst fourth with 3. Edwin Binney Jr. of Sound Beach, Conn., a member of the Yale team, broke the intercollegiate record for the 50 yard event when he did the distance in 24 2-5 seconds.

Charlotte Boyle Swims to a New Plunge Record

Detroit, Mich., March 20.—Charlotte Boyle of the New York Swimming association set a new record in the women's plunge for distance event in an exhibition swimming meet here with a plunge of 66 feet. The old record established a year ago by Miss Boyle was 64 feet.

THE DAYS OF REAL SPORT



CHICAGO PAIR ROLLS TO LEAD IN PEORIA MEET

Peoria, Ill., March 20.—The lead changed in the two man event of the American Bowling congress today, when J. Nevaril and A. Hartman of Chicago, rolled into first place with a score of 1,268. They replaced O. Whitehead and E. Grubb, St. Louis, and A. Schultz and F. Haack, Sheboygan, tied for the honors for several days with 1,257.

Leaders in other events failed to appear despite the presence of many sectional and state champions. Teams from Chicago, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Flint, Mich., Milwaukee, and Beloit shot on late shifts tonight.

Sallee Tenth in Singles.

While the scores in the singles as a whole were unusually high, F. W. Sallee of Columbus, with a 651, was the only man to land among the big prize winners, going into tenth place. E. Helen Baker Wins from Eleanor Goss in 3 Sets

Berkeley, Cal., March 20.—Miss Helen Baker, representing the west, defeated Miss Eleanor Goss of the eastern team today in the first intersectional tennis competition for women ever held in the country. The score was 3—6, 6—2, 6—3.

In the second match Mrs. George Wightman, east, defeated Mrs. Ethel Bruce of Los Angeles. The first set score was 6—4, the second 2—0 when called on account of rain.

Stevens Beats Robinson in Five Sets at Racquets

Arthur Stevens of the University club defeated Jimmy Robinson of the C. A. A. in a racquets match at the University club's courts yesterday, three games out of five. Stevens, although an older player, showed unexpected endurance and won his games by well placed returns. The scores were 5—15; 17—16; 5—15, 15—0, and 15—4.

In the Wake of the News

THE MOANER.

I love to sit in when the fellers begin
To riffle the papers elusive;
It's the pastime supreme; of the sports
it's the cream,
And it fills me with rapture conclusive;
But I nurse no illusion—no rosy delusion
Of a clean-up entrances me, Steven,
For I play the first fling for the fun of the thing,
And all of the rest to get even.

Aces up is a whale, and it garners the kale
For every one else but yours truly;
Three monarchs become like the kats,
on the bum,
Whenever I back them unduly;

A full is a bear, but if I seek to tear
The roof off with it, it's deceivin'—
I play the first fling for the fun of the thing,
And it takes all the rest to get even.

If I'm fixed for a slam with a set of fours, damn!
The gang's looking out of the win-
ders;
Some kahoona of gloom ambles into the room
And knocks my last chances to flinders;
I seldom get lucky (no matter how plucky
My bluff) till the burglars are leavin'—
I play the first fling for the fun of the thing,
And I never, NO NEVER, get even!

The old timers of the sports world never permit themselves to admit the present day athletes have anything on those of the past, records notwithstanding. The latest to join this class is Joe Kelley, now a scout, but in his day one of baseball's greatest outfielders and batters. Recently Kelley was engaged in a fan fest with members of the Yankees at Jacksonville, Fla.

"Tell me, Mr. Kelley," spoke one rook who bore the marks of a campus hero, "is there any department in which the modern player has it on the old timer?"

"Only one," responded Kelley.

"And what is that?"

"Playing golf," was the answer.

The mere mention of Tyrus Cobb causes one to reflect. The fleet-footed Georgian has been with us now going on sixteen summers. Almost since the day he came up unheralded from Augusta, Ga., he has been baseball's superman. In his long stretch under the big top his laurels have been challenged at various times, but the challenger usually proved only a flash—leading for a season and then dropping back, to let Ty set the pace again.

One wonders: How much longer can Tyrus keep it up? During recent seasons one heard remarks that the great Tiger star was beginning to show the signs of wear and tear. He's losing that extra step getting to first base—the step that gave him infield hits where other batters got nothing, one heard.

It may be that Ty will not beat out as many scratch hits this season as of yore. His batting average may suffer slightly. However, the time is many moons away when Cobb will no longer be feared at bat or when his slashing, dashing base running ceases to worry the men opposing him.

Meanwhile one might ponder over the question: Will there ever be another like him?

Popularity.

Peter Piper was a pug;
Loved to jab and slam and slug;
Had an awful ugly mug,
Peter Piper did.
But the draft board did him dirt
And, not wishing to be hurt,
Peter seized his wifey's skirt
And behind it hid.

Joseph Bush, the king of cheeses,
Had a dad as rich as Croesus;
Got it selling people leases
Where there was no oil.
When the draft came, Joe, the divil,

Joined the army branch called swivel,
Filled the newspapers with drivel
Of his warlike toil.

Jones was just one of the mob;
Went and got himself a job
As an unseagoing gob
For the war's duration.
Joe and Jones and Pete, all three,
Did the same thing, don't you see?
Ducked the war—but now, O gee,
The differentiation.

Pete is resting on the grid
Roasting Brown for what he did;
Deeply scorned because he hid
When the draft arm fell.
Peter didn't have much sense,
He was wild for prominence.
No one minds the other gents,
But Pete is catching an awful lot of rough language and treatment.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 20.—Ralph De Palma broke the record for the Los Angeles speedway today for the third successive time when practicing for the automobile races to be held tomorrow. He made the mile and a quarter in 38 2-5 seconds, or at a speed of 117.19 miles an ho—

Frank Birch to Referee Maroon-Penn Contest

Frank Birch, one of the best known football and basketball officials in the western conference, has been chosen to referee the first game of the national intercollegiate basketball championship series between the University of Chicago and the University of Pennsylvania teams here tomorrow night.

INDIANA PREPS TO PLAY FINAL IN MIDWAY MEET

Two Hoosier high schools, Crawfordsville and Wingate, will battle for the title of midwest "prep" school basketball champions as curtain raiser to the Chicago-Pennsylvania game for the national intercollegiate laurels tomorrow night in Bartlett gymnasium. The Crawfordsville and Wingate teams qualified by disposing of the last opponents in the second annual University of Chicago interscholastic tournament in spirited battles yesterday afternoon and last night.

Crawfordsville entered the final round by defeating Central High of Minneapolis, 21 to 16, but escaped defeat by a close margin. The Hoosier boys, who had been favorites through early rounds of the tourney, hit a slump, and the smaller fellows from Minnesota seemed to have them in a tight place until the closing minutes. Shelton of Crawfordsville then led in a final effort which was enough to win.

Rally Was at Finish.

Free throws were all that the Minnesota boys could score in the first half, but their defense was good enough to hold the count to 9 to 5 at the intermission. Two long baskets tied the score for Central in the second half, but Shelton put Crawfordsville ahead at the finish.

Wingate had to conquer two foes during the day, and close followers of the tourney were inclined to favor this team's chances for the title on the respective showings yesterday. Wingate disposed of Macomb, Ill., 34 to 19, in the afternoon. At night, the Indiana five ran away from Stivers High of Dayton, O., 33 to 19, after the first half was an even battle, 13 all.

Dayton in Third Place.

The Dayton team took third place in the tournament on the basis of its progression to the final round, while Central High of Minneapolis and Boone, Ia., played off for fourth place, and the Minnesota team won, 12 to 9. A forty-six foot basket by Norton of Central cracked the Boone team.

Dayton qualified in an earlier game by beating Boone, 20 to 15, in a rapid fire contest, in which the lead changed five times in the second half.

Purdue Wrestlers Take Meet from Maroon Team

Lafayette, Ind., March 20.—Purdue university won its second wrestling meet of the season, 55 to 33, from University of Chicago, when Capt. E. J. M. Alcorn and J. C. Kepple of the old Gold and Black grapplers took the only two falls that were registered in a closely contested battle. M. J. Hatowski, 125 pound class, and D. J. Munroe, 135 pound class, were the stars for Chicago, winning one decision apiece in their three bout matches. Coach S. P. Spade, of the Maroons, forfeited the 175 pound and the heavyweight classes.

Local Oarsmen to Open Practice This Morning

RECORDS CRACK AS ILLINI TAKE BIG TEN GAMES

Johnson Sets Mark in 60 Yard Hurdles.

TABLE OF POINTS

Illinois	31⅛	Northwestern	6¼
Michigan	27½	Ohio State	5½
Wisconsin	10¼	Purdue	5
Minnesota	10¼	Iowa	4½
Chicago	10

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

In a meet featured by three record breaking performances, Illinois won the tenth and indoor conference track and field championships last night at Patten gymnasium with 31⅛ points. Michigan, which was the only team to dispute Illinois' claim to the title, was second with 27½ points and Wisconsin third with 10¼.

Only a point separated the two teams before the relay, but Illinois won the event handily, which was a fitting climax to the night's games.

The first record to go was in the sixty yard high hurdles. Capt. Carl Johnson of Michigan took the event easily and hung up a new conference mark of 7 3-5. D. E. Brown of Illinois shattered the half mile mark by stepping the distance in 1:59. The Illinois relay team them hung up a new mile mark of 3:29.

Johnson Individual Star.

Capt. Carl Johnson of Michigan was the individual star with 11½ points. He won the fifty yard dash, sixty yard high hurdles, and tied for third in the high jump. Robert Strawn of Northwestern collapsed after the final of the dash and was unable to give Johnson the competition expected.

The one mile resulted in a well earned victory for Yates of Illinois, who came from behind and caught the leaders at the tape. Otis of Chicago set the pace for the first half mile. Ferguson of Ohio State then took up the going, but weakened just before the finish. He collapsed at the line, but managed to win fourth place. Wharton of Illinois was second, inches behind his teammate.

Quarter Finish Close.

Butler of Michigan nipped Capt. Bob Emery of Illinois at the tape in the final of the quarter mile. The Wolverine allowed Emery to set the pace until they rounded the turn into the stretch. Both tired badly, but Butler had the most in reserve.

In the sixty yard high hurdles, where Johnson of Michigan established a conference record of 7 3-5, the other three starters were set back a yard because of false start. Despite the lack of competition Johnson cleared the timbers in faultless style. The former record was 7 4-5, made by Waldo Ames of Illinois in 1917 and tied last year by Johnson.

Furnac of Purdue and De Swarte of Northwestern hooked up in an interesting duel in the two mile run. The pair outdistanced the field at the end of one mile and one-half. From this point until the finish it was a real race, but the Boilermaker won by five yards. Summaries:

1 mile run—Won by Yates, Illinois; Wharton, Illinois second; Otis, Chicago, third; Ferguson, Ohio, fourth. Time, 4:30 2-5.

50 yard dash—Won by Johnson, Michigan; Kelly, Minnesota, second; Pollak, Northwestern, third; Strawn, Northwestern, fourth. Time, :5 3-5.

440 yard dash—Won by Butler, Michigan; Emery, Illinois, second; Kayser, Wisconsin, third; Donahoe, Illinois, fourth. Time, :52 2-5.

Half mile run—Won by D. E. Brown, Illinois; Spink, Illinois second; Schuh, Illinois, third; Burkholder, Michigan, fourth. Time, 1:59. [Conference record.]

Two mile run—Won by Furnas, Purdue; De Swarte, Northwestern, second; Crump, Wisconsin, third; Naughton, Illinois, fourth. Time, 9:55 4-5.

Pole vault—Won by Hawker, Minnesota [height 11 feet 9 inches]; Cross, Michigan, and Westbrook, Michigan, tied for second; Devine, Iowa, Buchanan, Illinois; Hill, Ohio; Davis, Northwestern; Townley, Northwestern; Endres, Wisconsin; Wilder, Wisconsin, and Ueland, Minnesota, tied for fourth.

Running high jump—Moorehead, Ohio, and Hoffman, Iowa, tied for first [height, 6 feet]; Johnson, Michigan, and Osborn, Illinois, tied for third and fourth.

One mile relay—Won by Illinois [Donahoe, Prescott, Spink, and Emery]; Chicago, second; Michigan, third; Minnesota, fourth. Time, 3:29. [Conference record].

Shotput—Won by Biggins, Chicago. Distance, 42 feet 10 inches; Baker, Michigan, second; Weiss, Illinois, third; Sundt, Wisconsin, fourth.

60 yard hurdles—Won by Johnson, Michigan; Andrews, Wisconsin, second; Spafford, Wisconsin, third; Anderson, Minnesota, fourth. Time, :07 3-5. [Conference record.]

PENN FIVE ON WAY TO CHICAGO FOR GAME ON MIDWAY

Philadelphia, Pa., March 20.—[Special.]—Penn's championship basketball players, minus one of their stars, left this afternoon for Chicago, where the first game for the collegiate title of America will be played Monday against the University of Chicago.

Bill Grave, who played such a splendid game at center all season, is confined to the University hospital with measles and will be unable to play in any of the championship games.

Those in the party were Ralph Morgan, chairman of the basketball committee; Maj. Maylin J. Pickering, graduate manager of athletics; John Kunz, manager of the team; Dr. Walter Hancock, team physician; Coach Lon Jourdet, Assistant Coach Eddie McNichol, Capt. Dutch Peck, Dan McNichol, Mike Sweeney, Rosenast, Huntsinger, Yates, Ramonat, Zuker, and Boyle.

Lutheran League Title to Presbyterian Five

Fourth Presbyterians won the championship of the Lutheran Basketball league last night, downing Adelpheus, 17 to 8, at Central Y. M. C. A. The Fourth church played a dashing floor game, with Rapp doing sturdy work at guard.

CARNEY LEADER OF BASKET MEN IN CONFERENCE

Illinois Player Scores 189 Points in 12 Games.

BY ALBON HOLDEN.

Carney of Illinois led the Big Ten conference basketball players in point of scoring for the season of 1920, piling up 189, probably the biggest total ever made by a western player in twelve games. Seven other players passed the hundred mark.

The change in rules, moving the end out of bounds line back two feet from the basket, aided the men in running up their high counts.

Sixty Baskets by Carney.

Carney leads all other conference tossers with sixty baskets. Vollmer of Chicago is second with fifty, Knapp of Wisconsin third with forty-seven, and White and Tilson of Purdue tied for fourth with forty-five. Birkhoff of Chicago made the great free throw total of ninety-two penalty tosses, beating Francis of Ohio, who was second with 89. Shimek of Iowa was third with seventy-four.

White of Purdue led the guards in baskets, but he played forward part of the season. Hinkle of Chicago is the next highest scoring guard with Weston of Wisconsin, Walquist of Illinois, and Kaufman of Iowa next in line. Oss of Minnesota, the 1919 point leader, was out of so many games with the influenza that he is well down the list.

THE AMATEUR ROD DOCTOR.

GREAT activity on the part of the angler; the fishing season is almost here now. Now is the time to go over the pet rods and get them in fighting trim for the big day. Those who prefer to send their sick rods to the professional rod doctors should wait no longer; in fact, if the rod requires a major operation, such as a new tip joint, the angler is out of luck, for most rod makers are too busy to give anything like service between now and the opening of the season.

Under present conditions minor rod ailments should be given home treatment. Perhaps the most common trouble, especially with rods that have been stored in well-heated homes, is shaky ferrules. Easily remedied. First, see if the ferrule is pinned. If the pin runs all the way through, as is likely in well made modern rods, take a pointed tool of some kind and drive it out, so that you can pull it with the pliers. Heat the ferrule gently until it can be pulled off, apply some heat to the ferrule cement, and smear it on the wood, replace the ferrule and heat a little as you reset it.

Perhaps the ferrule cement sold at the tackle shops is the most satisfactory, all around, for the amateur rod doctor, although some rod makers and many amateurs are putting on their ferrules with white lead or white lead and damar varnish. It will certainly hold till the cows come home to the big red barn, but it takes a long time to set. A friend has been experimenting with it, but after the ferrules are on about a week he has an itching desire to see if it is hardening—restrain thyself if you use white lead for setting ferrules and keep restraining thyself for at least two weeks!

A rod that saw much service last season probably needs other attention—windings may be frayed and varnish needed. Adding new windings to replace a few that look unsightly may be done, but a real artistic job may require complete overhauling. Remove the old windings and then all of the old varnish. The commercial varnish remover is not recommended for this work. Cal McCarthy, an expert in tackle matters, uses the back of a knife blade and patience.

As soon as the varnish is removed put on the guides and new windings, covering the latter with celluloid varnish, white shellac, or the tackle shop color preservative. This prevents discoloring when the rod varnish is applied and also acts as a filler. Examine carefully any bargain counter silk to be used for rod winding. Often it is rough and makes an unsightly job. It is not a bad idea to run the windings through a flame before putting on the color preservative. This treatment removes all fuzziness, but care should be taken not to scorch it. Size A silk is most often used for rod work. You may go as far as you like in colors. For my part I like a rod "dolled up" a little if the color scheme is artistic and not like the famous coat of the gentleman who first cornered corn.

Never varnish a rod in a cool room. The warmer the room the smoother the varnish will flow. Some rod makers will not attempt a good job of varnishing except in bright, sunny weather. The best varnish for rods is a good quality of spar or aeroplane, and it is usually applied with a fine camel's hair brush. The first coat should be thin and it should be allowed to dry before applying another. Be sure no dust can get at it while it is drying. The next coat can be heavier and a third coat, also heavy, is advisable. The latter can be worked down smooth with rotten stone and oil, the finest steel wool, or fine emery paper tacked to a small piece of smooth wood. The last, or finishing, coat should be thin and applied with care.

Whether or not a rod should be completely overhauled depends on a number of things, but one, two, or three coats of new varnish should be given a rod every season on general principles. Nothing will keep a rod in better fighting trim, and this applies to both those of split bamboo and solid wood. In fact, the latter are likely to become hopelessly warped if not kept well varnished. Spare the varnish and spoil the rod is a good perverted proverb for anglers.

The steel rod requires little care. It may be wiped with an oily rag at the end of the season, put away for the winter, and be all set to do battle with fightin' fishes when opening day rolls around. For appearance's sake bare spots on a steel rod may be touched up with bicycle enamel.

Whatever kind of rods you use, it pays to follow Walton's advice as to frogs—treat them as if you love them.

Four Trophies Awarded in Lincoln Park Shoot

Over forty shooters took part in the annual spring tournament at the Lincoln park traps. The contestants were divided into teams named after the seasons, and a trophy given for the high gun of each team. Dr. Belknap won the spring trophy with 45; C. C. Burmeister, the summer, 48; J. J. Healy, the fall, 48, and F. F. Mueller, the winter, 48.

Browne and Wallen Enter for National 500 Swim

Entries for the 500 yard National A. A. U. swimming championship at Great Lakes Wednesday night closed yesterday with Clement Browne of Chicago A. A. and Capt. Buddy Wallen of Illinois A. C. among the starters. Other entries are Pickel, C. A. A.; Postel, University of Illinois, and Bolden, Great Lakes.

Augustus Takes Belleair Golf Title by 13 and 12

Belleair Heights, Fla., March 20.—[Special.] — Ellsworth Augustus of Cleveland won the Belleair championship today when he defeated George Morse of Rutland, Vt., 13 and 12. Augustus played fine golf throughout, covering the twenty-five holes played in even fours. He stood 12 up on the morning round, and in the afternoon his birdie 3 on the seventh won the hole and the match.

N. B. Beecher of Hillsboro won the second sixteen, defeating W. A. Smith Jr. of Grand Rapids. The third sixteen was won by Dr. T. W. Proctor of Boston, who defeated P. F. Stone of Rockford, Ill., 6 and 5.

VARDON AND RAY ONLY INVADERS FOR OUR EVENTS

Bigger Delegation Will Represent U. S. Abroad.

BY JOE DAVIS.

Prospective invasion by British professional golfers, which afforded a lot of winter gossip, has simmered down to a visit from Harry Vardon, six times winner of the British open championship, and Ted Ray.

It is a matter of regret that Abe Mitchell, generally conceded to be the best performer in Great Britain last season, will not come over. A generous offer from Lord Northcliffe caused him to abandon the trip, and it is reported that George Duncan could not get leave of absence from his club.

To Invade British Open.

As against the visit of Vardon and Ray, it seems assured that Walter Hagen of Detroit, Jim Barnes of Sunset Hills, and Mike Brady of Detroit will go across for the British open championship. Jock Hutchinson of Glen View has been mentioned as a member of the party. He applied for leave of his absence, but the decision of the Glen View officials has not been announced.

American women players are sending the strongest contingent that ever has crossed the water. Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, the U. S. G. A. titleholder, is unquestionably the strongest player this country has produced.

Several Sterling Players.

Others in the party will be Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, Miss Mildred Caverly, and Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, who won the national championship at the Onwentsia club. Miss Marion Hollins, one of the strongest of the Metropolitan district players, will join this party and it also is reported that Mrs. William A. Gavin will compete at Newcastle, Ireland.

Miss Cecil Leitch appears to be in a class by herself in Great Britain, but the American players are strong enough to make a fine showing, and should Miss Leitch be eliminated Miss Sterling must be conceded a chance.

Draw Schedule for Cook Co. A. A. F. Basket Tourney

Drawings for the 125 pound basketball tourney of the Cook County A. A. F. were made yesterday, the pairings for the sixteen teams for the preliminary round at Division Street Y. M. C. A. next Wednesday, being as follows:

Sheridan Imps vs. Welles Arrows, Eckhart Flivvers vs. Armour Square Palms, Lake Shore Maroons vs. Dvorak Midgets, Wabash Y. M. C. A. vs. Christopher Claws, West Side Y. M. C. A. vs. Hebrew institute, Hamilton Bullets vs. Stanford Babes, Evanston Y. M. C. A. vs. Division Clippers, Seward Rockaways vs. Crane Triangles.

The semi-finals and finals will be played Friday night at West Side Y. M. C. A.

TALES of a TEE-BOX TOURIST

JOHN T. LING, champion of the Skokie club, and Burt C. Hardenbrook, a fellow clubman, are neighbors at Wilmette. When John reached the final for the championship he carried the psychological support of the Hardenbrooks.

Burt was playing a round when John was battling in the final. They came within speaking range at the seventh hole, where John in mournful tones said he had been unable to find his mashie and was 2 down.

Mrs. Hardenbrook, who was at the ninth tee when her husband arrived, was told of the missing mashie, and with womanly intuition suspected that one of the little Lings must have taken the club out of the bag. It was a situation calling for something more material than psychological support.

A phone call to Mrs. Ling brought the reply that the club was not in the house, but further search found it on the lawn.

Inside of a minute Mrs. Hardenbrook was in her car and speeding towards Wilmette. It looked black for Mr. Ling's championship chances when a minion of the law halted her and threatened to arrest her for speeding, but a few softly spoken words averted this disaster and she soon was on the return journey.

Entering the driveway at the club, she was told that Mr. Ling was nearing the thirteenth hole, and there she handed him the missing club. John still was 2 down, but from that point on he quickly effaced this deficit and proceeded on to victory.

GOLFERS MAKE CLASSY SCORES AT PINEHURST

Pinehurst, N. C., March 20.—Some remarkably good golf was played today in the Silver Foils annual mixed foursome tournament. A field of ninety-six took part in this alternate stroke event and five of the seventeen pairs comprising the Class A field covered the course in the eighties. Mrs. Myra Helmer Pritchard, a former western champion, and Harold E. Porter went over the course in 88 and won the principal prizes with a net score of 80.

Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, north and south champion, and Parker W. Whittemore took the low gross honors with a round of 41—42—83. A New York pair, Mrs. W. A. Gavin and Thomas Staples Fuller, followed with an 86 and were responsible for the sensation of the day. They played the last nine holes in 39, fighting against a heavy wind.

Miss Kate Bowmann of Plainfield and Sam Graham of Greenwich, the spring tournament medallist, went around in 87. Mrs. Spencer Waters of Apawamis and F. C. Newton of Brookline, winner of the spring tournament, tied with Mrs. Pritchard and Porter at 88.

Newton Makes 3 Birdies in Last 5 Pinehurst Holes

Pinehurst, N. C., March 20.—Francis Ouimet arrived at Pinehurst today and entered for the North and South Amateur championship. N. C. Newton of Brookline, winner of the recent spring tournament, played his best round of the season here today. He went over the championship course in 72 and ended up 4—2—4—2—4, which meant a matter of three birdies in a total of five holes.

EX-SERVICE MEN HEAR THE CALL OF THE OLD LIFE

Former Soldiers and Sailors Find Civil Life Too Tame. They Are Joining the Marine Corps. Combines the Desirable Features of Both Army and Navy.

If trouble starts over the border,
If a Haitian reb wants a scrap,
Should any one start a disorder
Where Uncle Sam's bossing the map—
If bad little bandits or pirates
Insist upon pulling big scenes
Don't worry or fret or get in a sweat,
Just call up and tell the Marines.

Just tell the Marines, just tell the Marines,
They'll get on the job in their scrapping jeans;
Ask 'em for trouble, and trouble you gets,
For they've got sharp points on their bayonets.
They stand on their feet and they've got nine lives,
And they pack a punch in their forty-fives.

"Two battalions of Marines for immediate service in Haiti."

Not long ago that call went out from the U. S. Marine Recruiting Bureau. Within ten days those two battalions were recruited, equipped and ready to shove off. And every man in those outfits was a former soldier, sailor or Marine. They found civil life too tame. The "service" was in their blood, and they could not get it out.

Strange? Not a bit of it. Ask any one of "Jack" Pershing's gang. Ask any ex-man-o'-war's man.

Oh, yes, we all growled at reveille and swore to murder the bugler. We all "groused" at the chow and whetted our bayonets for the cooks. Oh, yes, full packs rubbed the skin off our shoulders. But—

Remember those days when we were fit as fiddles, could eat the hind leg off a table and enjoy it, could lick our weight in wildcats, and weren't afraid to say so? And remember the buddies who bunked with us, hiked with us, scrapped with us, took all our money, bummed our tobacco, called us bad names and—would give us the shirts off their backs if we asked 'em? Somehow civil life doesn't often give us friends like that. The man who has never done a hitch in the service has missed a lot. Isn't that so?

And for any man who is looking for service—all sorts, kinds, conditions and varieties of service—the Marine Corps is the one best bet. The Marine is "soldier and sailor, too." When the big ships go to sea the Marines go with them. Before the Marine has a chance to get tired of sea-going he is landed at Haiti or Honolulu, China or the Philippines.

Opportunity for travel and adventure is only one of the things that the Marine Corps affords. In this branch of the service a man finds unusual facilities for physical and mental development. The Marine Corps makes an ordinary man into a real "husky."

And there are all manner of trades that may be learned in the corps. Every day ex-Marines are, immediately upon discharge, stepping into well-paid civilian jobs that range from that of aviator to that of cook. And, as every one knows, an honorable discharge from the Marine Corps is the best letter of recommendation any one can have. It is, in fact, a United States Government certificate which stamps the possessor as "inspected and passed as an honest, loyal and capable man, who has learned to use his head and his hands—and use them to the best advantage."

During the war with Germany all the additional officers needed for the Marine Corps were promoted from the ranks. These officers, by their efficiency and valor, have so amply demonstrated the wisdom of developing the officer material among the enlisted men, that the system has been adopted as a permanent feature of the service. Any man who has the makings of an officer in him stands an excellent chance of rising rapidly through the non-commissioned grades of corporal and sergeant and "graduating" into a second lieutenant. After that he has the same opportunity of attaining still higher rank as any graduate of the Naval Academy.

In addition, some Marines are selected each year to take the four-year course at Annapolis, upon completion of which they are immediately commissioned second lieutenants of Marines or ensigns in the Navy.

When we remember that there is one non-commissioned officer to every seven men no one who is of average ability and applies himself can expect to remain a private for very long.

The Marine at Work and Play

Many people have the idea that the service is a life of hard work, long hours and harsh discipline. Nothing was ever further from the truth.

There is work to be done in the Marine Corps. But it is good, healthful, outdoor work. There are short, snappy drills that make a man alert and "on the job" in mind and body. There are setting-up exercises that take inches off a man's waistline and put them on his chest. There's shooting on the rifle range—every Marine is trained to be a crack shot; there's work with wireless telegraphy and something of seamanship. It's work, but it's the sort of work men like.

There must be discipline, just as there must be laws in a community or rules in an office or factory. But the Marine discipline is of a sort that no reasonable man would object to.

Life is not all work for the Marine. There are baseball, football, boxing and swimming for the devotees of these sports. No post is without its pool tables. There is fishing and hunting. For Marines, in their travels, go where game, big and little, is plentiful and game laws are few.

Men not on guard may, as a rule, leave their station after 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon and may remain away until reveille (6 or 7 o'clock) the following morning. Whenever a man may be conveniently spared, his commanding officer has authority to grant him a ten-day furlough, plus the time required to travel to and return from his home town.

The Marine Corps desires to give young men from all parts of the country an opportunity of enlisting in the service for two, three or four years. The local recruiting office has some vacancies in its quota for especially good men. It may be that you are the sort of man they are looking for. Don't hesitate to call and talk things over. It will put you under no obligation. You will not be urged to enlist. But you CAN learn the truth about the Marine Corps from men who know the life and like it well enough to stay in. Send for booklet.

BALKS A-PLENTY, BUT VIOLATORS ESCAPE PENALTY

Laws on Infractions Make It Easy for Umpires.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 20.—[Special.]—Baseball statisticians have made a feature of the fact the balk was rapidly approaching the dodo so far as this generation's familiarity with it is concerned. Those responsible for records have pointed out that only seventeen pitchers in the National league made balks in 1919.

It probably is true that only that small percentage of hurlers was penalized by the umpires for balking, but if there was a slabman in the veteran circuit who did not make at least one balk in every inning he pitched it was because nobody reached first base or because said pitcher wasn't ripe for the big leagues.

"Barrels" of Balks.

No statistics are available, of course, on the actual number of balks made by major league pitchers last year, but it probably would run close to the figures representing the interest on the national debt. That indicates a wide difference between the number of balks committed and the number penalized by umpires.

The reason is the lax way in which the arbitrators interpret the rules prohibiting balks. If these restrictions should be enforced strictly according to the letter of the law as it is written in the code book, a balk would be called practically every time a slabman threw the ball to first base. To be successful a pitcher must acquire a "motion" by which he can keep the baserunner guessing as to the ultimate destination of the ball, until he is almost ready to let go of it. He must be able to wind up in exactly the same way at the start of a shot to first base as he does when firing the pill to the plate. But this is expressly forbidden in one of the sections of the rule which governs balks.

Rule a Dead Letter.

Said section is a dead letter in the system of umpiring used in the major leagues because its literal enforcement would permit every baserunner to get a flying start from first base with every pitched ball and would make it next to impossible for the best of catchers to throw out any one at second except in the case of a broken leg.

The existence of this prohibition clause in the balk rule and its lack of enforcement is just another one of the reasons why ball players regard infractions of the code as justifiable and even laudable. Just as in the case of lax enforcement of any kind of prohibition, contempt for all laws is bred by permission to violate one of them with impunity. If restriction of base stealing is desirable the balk rule ought to be revived so as to legalize the present methods used by pitchers to hold runners on their bases. If more stealing is desirable it is only necessary to enforce the letter of the law to produce it.

Made "Soft" for Umpires.

Another contempt breeder in the present code is found in the rules relating to umpires. Repeatedly it is emphasized that none but the captain of a team may question an umpire's decision and then only on the ground that a rule is being misinterpreted. All other players, and even a manager in uniform, are barred from holding any converse whatever with the arbitrator concerning his decisions. But the modern manager dons a uniform chiefly to lead his team in making a kick.

Another rule succinctly and unequivocally prohibits any captain or player from disputing the accuracy of an umpire's judgment "under any circumstances." That is the worst joke in the whole code and in the interest of the rest it ought to be either enforced or eliminated. Players violate it constantly and without punishment unless they anger the umpire. Then they are ordered out of the game and invariably let out a yelp about injustice.

Troubles Enough.

Any law which can be broken without penalty sometimes and at other times is invoked to maintain order is a trouble maker whether it be in baseball or in any other walk of life. But, with all their other troubles and wrangles, it is not fair to expect baseball promoters to set the rest of the world a good example in the matter of law enforcement or repeal.

OXFORD-CAMBRIDGE RELAY TEAM ENTERS FOR PENN CARNIVAL

Philadelphia, Pa., March 20.—Oxford and Cambridge universities of England will be represented in the twenty-sixth annual relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania here April 30 and May 1 by a team of runners who will contest for the two mile college relay championship of America.

This anouncement was made after Murdock Kendrick, chairman of Pennsylvania's track committee, had received a cable message that the English universities would send over a combination team. The message stated that Rudd, Montague, and Killegan of Oxford and Montain, Tatham, and Gregory of Cambridge would compose the team. They will be accompanied by A. N. S. Jackson as manager and Alfred Shrubb, the famous distance runner, as coach.

Montague is rated as the greatest distance man in England, and if Pennsylvania can find suitable opponents for him a special three mile race will be put on the program. The management will query the American colleges at once for entries for this race.

The English squad will leave England April 7, which will give the men about ten days' practice in this country before the race.

AUSTIN LIGHTS ANNEX TITLE IN 11 TO 10 BATTLE

Beat Lane Tech for City H. S. League Honors.

Led by Capt. Karstens, who scored three baskets and a free throw, Austin High lightweight basket team defeated Lane Tech, 11 to 10, in the final game for the Chicago league championship at Senn High school yesterday afternoon.

Austin took the offensive from the start, Karstens caging a ringer in the first minute. Lane countered with two free throws in the second quarter, but Hoffman shot a basket for Austin, giving the west side team a 4 to 2 advantage. With one minute of the half left, Scott hooked a long shot from the center of the floor for Lane, tying the count, 4 to 4.

Austin opened the third quarter with three ringers for a 6 point lead. Lane made four free throws in the last quarter, bringing their total to within one point of Austin, but the game ended before they could score again.

Austin presented a fast defense in the guarding of Wallack and Seaman, while the forward combination of Karstens, Bergstrom, and Hoffman required the combined efforts of the Lane five to stop. Lineup:

ILLINI TUSSLE TO LAND ON TEAM GOING TO COAST

Urbana, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—University of Illinois track men will extend themselves next week in the final competition to determine the fortunate fifteen athletes who will be selected for the journey to the coast to meet University of California on April 3. Both teams in this dual meet will be limited to fifteen men.

Coach Harry Gill will entrain his squad next Saturday. While Gill expected to be able to make up his mind to a great extent after the conference indoor meet at Evanston, it is likely that his definite pick will rest on the performances of the Illini next week.

After leaving here March 27, the Illini will arrive at Berkeley on the following Tuesday, thus obtaining several days in which to practice and become acclimated. The home journey will begin immediately after the dual meet.

Gill entered twenty athletes in the indoor conference meet, accordingly five of his best men must remain home. In addition, the California meet is outdoors, and the addition of such events as the hammer throw and discus further lessens the chances of some of the indoor men, as Bennett is Gill's best hammer thrower and probably entitled to a berth on the transcontinental jaunt.

On the Monday the Illini will abandon the indoor track of the armory and work on Illinois field. The change will not be so severe as far as the change of track is concerned, but unfavorable weather is likely to be a disadvantage.

MAT MEET WON BY MOZART TEAM

Mozart playground boys won the annual city municipal playground system wrestling championships with 31 points, holding a goodly margin against the second place winner, Gladstone, which totaled 18. In arriving at the team totals results of both grammar school and open classes were lumped. Twenty-five hundred witnessed the final bouts yesterday at Delano playground. Following is the way the boys placed:

GRAMMAR SCHOOL CLASS.

The JORDAN Silhouette Brougham

TO open the door of this light, clean-cut Silhouette Brougham and enter its friendly, spacious interior, is like topping the hill on a glorious morning in spring.

The cleanly perfection of every detail appeals to a woman's subtle sense of harmony. Here you experience all the advantages of the electric with none of its limitations.

The sheer beauty of line—the trim tailored appearance of top—the color—the lowness that is thoroughly European, everywhere this Jordan perfection of detail has challenged the appreciation of the motor wise.

In its light, aluminum body with its broad vision, you instinctively know there will be no racking side-sway, rattle or dust so common with the heavy cars of yesterday.

This newest creation of Jordan's craftsmanship is finding instant demand among those who delight in personally driving a convenient, compact car.

BOXING TAKES A FOOTHOLD IN INDUSTRIAL FIELD

Future Ring Champs May Come from New Source.

BY RAY PEARSON.

One of the evidences of the popularity of boxing, especially since war times, is contained in a letter to the writer, and shows that in the future it will be possible to look for championship material in places that never before fitted a niche in pugilism. The letter which explains this follows:

Boxing, which is legal in the state of Wisconsin, is not confined to the squared rings of Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, and other centers of fistiana in the Badger state. Employés of the Four Wheel Drive company of Clintonville, makers of F. W. D trucks, are busy wielding the gloves in an open elimination boxing tournament. Plans are also being formed for a schedule of sport during the summer months.

Club Formerly Barracks.

The F. W. D. club, formerly a part of the barracks used for service men during the waf, has been converted into headquarters for athletic activities, of which boxing is one of the most important sports. Considerable rivalry has been created in the ring tournament and several series of bouts are being held every week.

H. E. HOLQUIST.

This Wisconsin automobile plant is only one of the industrial organizations throughout the country which has reached a stage where sports are considered an aid to business efficiency. There are many other industrial organizations in various parts of the country which have done about everything to boost boxing, baseball, and other ramifications of athletic sports except to make them compulsory.

The encouragement of boxing noted from the communication received from the Wisconsin motor plant is such that healthy young mechanics and other husky specimens of mankind naturally go in for it.

Love of Scrap Natural.

"Sporting blood" naturally stands out strongly in any youth who is physically O. K. and for that reason the use of the term "compulsory" is hardly necessary in this connection. Boys will be boys, and one of the inherent instincts of a boy is to scrap. One need only look back to his schoolday period to confirm this statement, and the young mechanics, clerks, bookkeepers, etc., of today are simply overgrown boys who are permitted the chance of scrapping in a regulated way with the padded mitts.

Attention may be called to the activity which just at present is being shown, principally in Illinois, New York, Ohio, and other states, in industrial sports. The organization of the National Industrial Athletic association has been perfected. This will mean that the industrial worker of the country will have his chance to shine in the world of sport, the same as the college and club athlete.

Of course the rules which pertain to baseball and track athletics cannot be the same that will apply to industrial boxers, at least the effect will not be felt for the simple reason that nearly all of the young men who are now going in for the glove sport must start at the bottom in learning to box.

For instance, in baseball and track athletics any bona fide employé of an industrial organization may compete, whether he previously has been a ball player or a college athlete. The matter of previous professionalism does not bar him from competition, at least until final lists are turned in to the secretary of the association at a specified time. After that, however, professionals cannot enter the employ of an industrial organization and compete in the sports of that organization.

Amateurism Is Keynote.

Amateurism is the keynote of the organization, and naturally that will prevail in boxing as well as other sports.

With the wide scope of industrial athletics, it will not be at all surprising to see some future champion of the boxing game carrying a diploma of some industrial organization.

FOR PLAYERS OF WHIST
By A. R. METCALFE

REFUSING to win is often the best method of winning. It is quite necessary in auction to learn when to throw away cards that would win tricks in order to avoid being forced to lead some other suit at a disadvantage.

In the deal which follows, the play by the declarer is of the first order, but one of his adversaries failed to rise to the occasion.

Score, 0—0. North dealt and bid one heart, east two clubs, south three hearts, west three no-trump, north and east passed, south doubled, and the bidding closed. North had the initial lead.

West secured nine tricks.

It was apparent to the declarer as soon as he saw the dummy that his ninth trick must be secured with the ten of hearts. This meant of course that hearts must be led by north and that south must not be permitted to win a trick during the deal.

After the second trick it was easy to count south with at least five diamonds, as, otherwise, that player would have held six or more spades and probably bid that suit.

The declarer, therefore, led the ace of diamonds at trick seven in order to rob north of any card of exit in that suit. His only problem after that was to thrust the lead upon north with a spade, as he knew that there were still four hearts in the north hand.

The scheme worked perfectly because north could not play up to the situation. The king of spades should have been thrown on the ace at trick eight to enable north to avoid the lead. This play would have made it impossible for the declarer to win another trick.

A very pretty play for game is shown in the next deal:

12	7S	D4	JS	HK
13	DA	QS	AS	DK

West secured eleven tricks.

The obvious play for the declarer after trumping the ace of clubs was to take two rounds of trumps, leaving the lead in dummy; then make two clubs on which two spades would be discarded, and try for the diamond suit. That line of play appears sound at first glance, for the reason that east could trump the third round of diamonds. Had the declarer attempted such a scheme, north would have thwarted it by leading a trump after the first round of diamonds, and north and south would eventually have secured four tricks and saved the game.

Instead of this, west planned to make the club suit by putting dummy in, trumping a small club and again putting dummy in with a small trump. It was necessary to use a high trump at trick one and the declarer had sufficient foresight for the emergency.

North perceived the declarer's intention, but was unable to prevent the seven of hearts becoming a reentry in the dummy. The declarer finally secured eleven tricks in spite of a most unfavorable distribution of cards.

DETROIT TO HOLD BOXING BATTLE AT NAVIN FIELD

Detroit, Mich., March 20.—Louis E. Bycraft, secretary and treasurer of the Detroit Boxing club, today announced that beginning on May 1 all shows of the Detroit Boxing club will be staged in an open air arena. It is understood that Frank Navin, owner of the American league baseball park, has agreed to allow the D. B. C. the use of Navin field.

Promoters in Columbus, Ohio, are bidding against Detroit promoters for the proposed Jimmy Wilde-Sammy Sandow match and it now looks as if the Detroit club will be forced to boost its price in order to secure the match. Wilde has been offered $7,500 to box Sandow over a ten round route in an open air arena, here, the latter part of April or the first week in May. Sandow has already agreed to meet Wilde.

Navy Wrestlers End Fine Season by Trimming Yale

Annapolis, Md., March 20.—By defeating Yale today, 26 to 5, in six of seven bouts Naval academy wrestlers closed a most successful season. The victory was the seventh straight, all by decisive margins except against Penn State, which was beaten, four to three bouts by a four point margin. Though today's triumph was decisive, the bouts were spirited.

SHOTS ON THE LINKS
By JOE DAVIS

THREE Chicago players have entered for the women's north and south championship, which starts at Pinehurst Tuesday. Miss Elaine Rosenthal and her sister, Mrs. Ernest Byfield of Ravisloe, and Mrs. E. E. Harwood of Olympia Fields, compose the trio. Mrs. Stuart Pritchard of Battle Creek, formerly Miss Myra Helmer, also will compete. The field will be exceptionally strong, as it includes Mrs. R. H. Barlow, present champion; Mrs. C. H. Vanderback, former national champion; Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, former national and British champion; Mrs. W. A. Gavin, and Mrs. Quentin Feltner, formerly Miss Lillian Hyde.

John Black of Clermont is the best of the professional golfers of California. He won the southern California open title, and last week took the northern California open at San Francisco, with a total of 296 strokes. A. G. Espinoza was second, with 307. Macdonald Smith, who was two strokes ahead of Black on the first day, took 82 and 81 for his next two rounds, and was fourth with 311. John F. Neville, the leading coast amateur, was fifth with 313.

Harry Collis has returned from Arizona, and will start getting the Flossmoor course in shape as soon as the weather will permit. The return of wintry weather has set the local season back slightly, but most of the clubs will be open by April 1.

HEAVY ENTRY FOR KALAMAZOO CIRCUIT RACES

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 20.—Virtually every big stable in the United States is represented in the 193 entries received for the eight early closing events to be raced at the annual Grand Circuit meeting here July 19 to 23, it was announced today.

Five trotting events attracted 136 nominations as follows: 2:18 Paper Mills, 28; 2:13 Columbia Hotel, 34; Hotel Rickman for 3 year olds, 11; Celery City for 3 year olds of the 2:20 class, 29; and the Recreation Park for 2 year olds, 34.

The three pacing events drew fifty-seven entries as follows: 2:06 New Burdick, 15; 2:09 Park American, 25; and the Michigan Railway for 3 year olds, 17.

There also will be ten late closing events on the card.

Record Harness Horses and Saddlers on Block

Fanciers of harness horses and saddlers from all over the country will be in attendance this week at the International amphitheater at the stockyards, the occasion being the annual auction of some 250 steppers and about thirty head of saddle horses. The sale will start Tuesday. Among the record horses to be offered are:

Dr. Burns Jr., 2:06¼; Alexander the Great, 2:05¼; Winterwood, 2:07¼; Miss Rexetta, 2:07½; Iowa Todd, 2:04¾; L. Maud, 2:07¼; Col. Armstrong, 2:05¾; Warren Dillon, 2:08½; The Ess, 2:06¾; Bessie G., 2:07¼; Nancy Kay, 2:10½; Mobel Jr., 2:10¾; Col. Yorke, 2:10½, and Vanda Vincent, 2:08¾.

Billiard Notes

Percy Collins, national amateur balkline champion, and Dave McAndless, former champion, will start a 2,000 point match at Mussey's Monroe street room tomorrow night. The match will be staged in the new amphitheater.

Last week's matches in the Chicago league tightened up the race. Kliekhefer by losing to Dougherty fell to second place, being passed by Bert Tredick, who defeated Dougherty. Tredick has nine wins and three losses, and Kliekhefer nine wins and four losses. Jim Shea and Ben Klatcher each won their games and are tied at 8—4, the Morin-Kenney team of the Recreation room being next with eight wins and five losses.

* *

Secretary T. B. Wadleigh of the Illinois State Billiard association is preparing for the state amateur balkline championship, which will be staged here next month. Some of the preliminary tournaments have been started.

SOCCER APLENTY IS BILLED TODAY ON LOCAL FIELDS

Twelve soccer games are carded for this afternoon, the banner attraction being the tussle between Palmer Park and Olympia at Bricklayers' park, Thirty-fifth street and Wentworth avenue. These teams met in a second round National cup match last Sunday and after battling in the mud for two hours were unable to reach a decision, hence the replay.

Cicero promises to be well filled with soccerites today, as three games are scheduled for the suburban town. The Innisfails and Bricklayers will clash at Forty-eighth avenue and Sixteenth street at 2 o'clock, and the Alverno A. A. second team, formerly the Thistle A., will follow them at 4 p. m. One block farther west the champion Thisties will conflict with the Swedish-Americans. At Harvey the team bearing the name of that suburb will entertain the Hill Pump and Valve company eleven. Other games booked are:

Second division—Swedish-Americans II. vs. Corinthians at Winnemac and Robey; St. Georges vs. Norwegian-Americans at Seventy-ninth and Drexel.

Independent league—Swedish III. vs. Portage Park; Magyars II. vs. Magyars III.; Victoria vs. Calumet Park at Grand and Mansfield; Corinthians II. vs. Bohemian-Americans at Central and Twelfth; Unions vs. Bohemians II.

The Franklin Light Car

for two passengers was the surprise of 1903. No one thought it possible to cool cylinders with air instead of water. No motor of such efficiency had been devised. Therefore no one knew how powerful a little car could be built—how speedy on the level and up-hill, how simple and easy of control, how enduring, and how beautifully trim and stylish.

We have added, this year, the FRANKLIN LIGHT TONNEAU (detachable) and the FRANKLIN 24 H. P. TOURING CAR.

All three cars are characteristically Franklin, with their wonderful four-cylinder motor, cooled by air, their simple construction throughout and their stylishness and beauty. Send for catalogue.

How Science Cured "Boiler Indigestion"

A BOILER is very much like the human digestive apparatus. For good results every part must be in perfect harmony.

An exaggerated condition in any part of the system will unfailingly distort the entire heating process.

"Boiler indigestion" or faulty combustion is one of the commonest and most costly of boiler troubles. Unconsumed fuel in the ash pile is one of the surest signs. A big coal bill in spite of cold rooms is another evidence.

There are many causes of "boiler indigestion." Prominent among them are exaggerated features designed for use as selling points.

These artificial "high spots" in boiler construction disturb the vital functions of the boiler, just as a severe headache has a sympathetic action on the stomach.

The result is that the fuel is not properly "digested." Combustion is not complete. You get a lot of waste fuel—a lot of fuel expense—and a very meagre supply of heat.

In Weil-McLain Scientific Combustion Boilers, Science has perfected a cure for "boiler indigestion."

In these modern boilers you find no exaggerated features. No one part has been given special attention merely to make selling argument or a subject for conversation.

Here Science has worked knowingly. Each part of a Weil-McLain Scientific Combustion Boiler is designed to function to maximum efficiency—and in perfect harmony with the other parts. You find no "humps"—no "high spots." In fact, these boilers are notable everywhere for their business-like simplicity.

The Weil-McLain idea of scientific construction has created a new standard. The immediate result is Scientific Combustion—the nearest approach, we believe, to Perfect Combustion yet attained.

By creating absolute harmony of action; by ignoring the lure of the "special selling feature"—we have found the clear road to heating efficiency and fuel economy.

Today there are thousands of homes equipped with Weil-McLain Scientific Combustion Boilers throughout the country—homes which are experiencing the satisfaction of having perfect heating. And that satisfaction is general is proved by a demand which is taxing our production to the utmost.

DID HE KNOW HE'D GET 2 TINY PAIRS AND BEAT ACES?

Witness Tells of Thrilling Pot in Sky-High Stud.

New York, March 20.—[Special.]—The "luck" that sat with "Last Card Louie" Kronberg in his various poker games that usually enabled him to draw away from the table thousands of dollars richer was detailed today in special sessions before Justice Kernoghan by one of the witnesses called in the action against Kronberg for obtaining money by fraudulent means while gambling.

Attorney Max D. Steur represented Kronberg and Assistant District Attorney Thomas A. McGrath conducted the prosecution. J. M. Silverman, a manufacturer of women's dresses, testified.

The story of a game for high stakes that took place Dec. 14 at Kronberg's house was vividly pictured by Silverman, who lost $3,500 to the defendant between 8:30 that night and 5 o'clock the next morning, when the game broke up.

The Scene and the Players.

"Stud" poker was the game and the players, besides himself and the defendant, were a Mr. Louis, a Mr. Karp, a Mr. Selznick, and some others. After the game, Silverman took home the deck of cards and locked it in his safe. It was later shown to the authorities and led to the charge against Kronberg, when the cards were discovered to be "readers" or marked cards, whose face value could be determined by merely looking at the backs.

Kronberg won most of the "pots" in the latter part of the evening. The hand that aroused Silverman's suspicion was one near the end, when all but Kronberg and a player named Louis dropped out.

They Raise to the Roof.

With one card face down before each, Louis and Kronberg continued to draw and raise one another. Just before the last card, the fifth, was drawn, Kronberg had a three, a four and a nine, face up, while Louis had an ace, a nine and a jack.

Louis "checked" the bet.

Kronberg bet $1,200 and Louis raised him $4,500.

"Kronberg then said, 'You're a pretty good fellow; I'll put in $4,500,'" Silverman said.

"Louis then turned over an ace in the hole," continued Silverman, "and said, 'I've got you beat, as you can't have better than two nines. I'll split the pot 25 per cent to the loser and 75 per cent to the winner.'

Louis' Feet Still Cold.

"Kronberg refused. Louis then said that he would let Kronberg take out his $4,500, and then split the pot on that basis.

"Kronberg said, 'No, I'll take a chance,' and he reached to Bartch, who was dealing, and helped him pull the top card off the deck.

"It was a four, making him a pair of fours in sight. Kronberg then turned over his hole card, which was a three. Louis drew a six. Kronberg's two pair then beat Louis' pair of aces, and he swooped in the pot."

Silverman testified that Kronberg could see the deck, and that if he could read the design on the back of the cards he knew all the time that he was going to draw a four, and thus beat Louis' hand.

Takes Home the Deck.

Silverman said that this play made him suspicious, and that when the game broke up he put the deck in his pocket.

When the examination of Mr. Silverman was completed court adjourned until Monday.

LEGION NOTES

The Knights of Columbus will give a homecoming reception, dance and patriotic demonstration to all members in the service and their friends on Tuesday evening, the anniversary of the declaration of war, at the First Infantry armory. Thomas F. O'Connell, chairman of the committee, is arranging for the unveiling of a tablet in honor of the one man of every four in the order who went into the service.

Carson Pirie Scott post, No. 314, will meet on Tuesday night at the Hotel La Salle.

An informal smoker will be held by Hiram J. Slifer post, No. 135, tomorrow night at the Khaki and Blue club. Dinner will be served at 6.

The American Volunteers of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces will hold their business meeting tomorrow evening at 8. They request all members and veterans to be present to discuss plans for the campaign drive, and to complete the signing of war bonus petitions.

Lake View post will open its membership drive with a smoker and stag tomorrow evening at Marigold Gardens.

The Khaki and Blue club, at the foot of Van Buren street, has effected a permanent organization to carry on the work started during the war; that is, to maintain a club where former service men, as well as men still in the service, can obtain wholesome amusement and entertainment for a small expenditure. Dances are held every Saturday evening, and classical concerts and dramatic entertainments every Sunday afternoon.

HIT BY AUTO, BOY DIES.

Anthony Cirko, 6 years old, 1233 South Peoria street, died in the county hospital yesterday of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile owned by the J. F. Lalla company, wholesale grocery, 723 West Madison street, and driven by Joseph Finston, 4054 West Twentieth street.

CHINA PREMIER TALKS KINDLY OF JAP OVERTURES

Objects to Powers' Dabs in Internal Affairs.

BY FRAZIER HUNT.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

[Copyright: 1920: By the Tribune Company.]

PEKIN, March 10.—[Delayed.]—In an exclusive interview, Gen. Chin Yun Peng, premier of China, stated the government still was undecided whether or not to take up negotiations with the Japanese over Shantung, as requested by Japan.

"We have made no decision as yet," the premier said. "The tension in this country is so great and these important negotiations are so vast the government deems it wise to take plenty of time to consider the matter."

The premier comes from Shantung and pressure has been brought to bear on him lately from Shantung.

Caught between the growing liberalism in China and the reactionary pro-Japanese Anfu, or military, clique, the premier's position is a difficult and impossible one.

Interviewed in his home, the premier for the most part answered all questions frankly and directly. I asked especially about the suppressed student activity and the Shantung negotiations.

Wants Students to Study.

"We are grateful for what the students have done for China in the past, but think the time has come now when the students' best service to China will be by resuming their studies and preparing themselves so they will be most useful to their country in the future," the premier answered.

The premier placed no serious significance in the unusual promptness with which the Japanese advanced 7,000,000 yen on the Chinese New Year after refusing to join a group to advance $25,000,000, which is promised. The premier characterized the Japanese action, which is construed here as added proof of the ambitious intrigues of Tokio, as "merely friendly courtesy, with no particular significance."

The premier explained the loan was to be repaid in three monthly installments after the old group loan of $25,000,000 had been concluded.

Objects to Loan Monopoly.

Regarding the great consortium plan whereby America, England, France, and Japan monopolizes the whole future loan business of China, with strict supervision, control, audit, and the general reorganization of the scheme of railroads, finances, and practically the whole business life of China, the premier said:

"China will be bound hand and foot by the monopoly of the loan. We do not object to supervision, control, and audit, but we refuse the monopoly idea because it fails to respect China's sovereignty."

Peace with Bolsheviki.

Concerning Japan's effort to draw China's military into an offensive action in Siberia the premier said:

"China has no fear of the spread of bolshevism within our borders. If the bolsheviki deal with us in a friendly way we must reciprocate. China's policy is not to interfere in the internal affairs of other countries. All we ask is to be let alone. We will follow the course of the allies in regard to recognizing Moscow."

The premier expressed his gratitude to the United States, asking fair play in regard to Shantung.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

In the report of a fire on the fifth floor of a building at Lake and La Salle streets it was said the Angel Dainty Dye company occupied that space. The dye company is on the third floor.

William Mealow, 19 years old, of 1410 South Clinton street, Berwyn, was reported to have committed suicide through fear of prosecution for the theft of motor accessories from the postoffice department. This report is found to be without basis. Mealow's suicide was confounded with the reported suicide of an accused person, and in justice to the parents of Mealow THE TRIBUNE corrects its error.

House Committee Favors Admitting Wood Pulp Free

Washington, D. C., March 20.—Tariffs on wood pulp would be suspended for one year under a bill favorably reported today by the house ways and means committee. Committee members said such action was necessary to stimulate importations from Canada and other countries and to increase the supply of print paper available for American newspapers.

A new style body on an improved chassis

THIS new Mitchell sets a new stride. And everyone who knows our latest offering concedes it.

Here is a great triumph of Mitchell engineers and designers. Their harmonious effort brings a matchless car at a moderate price—details of style not found elsewhere, betterment in materials, and above all, sincerity of purpose in construction.

Mitchell introduces to car design a logical advancement.

All tendencies of recent years, as you know, have been toward motive lines. Yet many awkward lines remained.

Some one had to conceive the final step—to bring the radiator into harmony with other body lines. It alone remained straight up and down.

It has been Mitchell's opportunity to introduce this inevitable feature—and the result must be seen to be appreciated fully—for it appeals not only to the eye but to one's sense of logical proportions of a swift moving object, like an automobile.

Some will say that this is a minor thing—that it is not radically different.

That is true. In this new Mitchell we do not offer the freakish, nor something to appeal to passing fancy. What is offered is a basic development, just like the slanting of the windshield, just like the many other items which make today's cars so different from those of five years ago.

We want you to see this new car and pass judgment. We want you to observe its new lines. And to examine its superb finish. Then we know you'll agree that this new Mitchell offers more for your money.

How to judge this new Mitchell

Style is not the sole attraction in this new Mitchell. Nor all the costly details of finish.

For the chassis construction has its appeal to the mechanically inclined, and its dependability to those who like to take mechanics for granted.

While no basic changes have been made — because of the success of the recent Mitchells — nevertheless we want to point out the numerous refinements and improvements that have been incorporated.

It is your distinct advantage to know this new Mitchell before you make any choice — to know its beauty, its responsive performance, its roominess and comfort, its sturdy construction and its moderate price.

Then make comparisons, if you wish. See if you can find a like car at a like price. To even approximate all that Mitchell offers will cost you much more, we think.

Orders should be placed early, so as to insure early delivery.

CHICAGO IS COY; ST. LOUIS BOLD BEFORE CON CON

Missouri City Meddles in Illinois Law.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

Springfield, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—Chicago wants something from the constitutional convention. Except for talking on two occasions, its officials have done little to get that "something." St. Louis, over in Missouri, furnished a striking contrast. It also wants something from the Illinois convention. To get it, the St. Louis board of estimate has voted $12,500 to employ a lawyer, who will get $12,500 more if he is successful. He is on the job. He mixes with the delegates, day and night, before the sessions and after.

The Man on the Job.

This lobbyist is former Judge W. E. Hadley of Edwardsville, Ill. Mr. Hadley today frankly admitted his employment and fee. Some time ago he appeared before the convention in the committee of the whole to present a new court plan for Illinois.

The favor desired by St. Louis is the exemption from taxation of its municipal bridge connecting with East St. Louis. Hadley said that this bridge cost $6,250,000, and its annual upkeep is around $100,000. East St. Louis decided that the bridge should be taxed, and the Illinois Supreme court confirmed that view recently.

Horatius at the Bridge.

St. Louis wants to nullify that decision. Hadley said that the bridge is free. East St. Louis residents claim that the original ordinance under which it was built prevents it from being wholly free unless the ordinance is amended and approved by the St. Louis electorate. It is asserted that only part of the bridge is free. On the other hand, Hadley privately contends that the act of congress permitting the construction prevents it from being anything else except a free bridge.

On the Illinois Supreme court decision East St. Louis is entitled to $18,000 in taxes yearly for the railroad approach only, but it is asserted by some East St. Louis calculators that if a tax is placed on the bridge to the center of the Mississippi river between $25,000 and $30,000 could be collected anually.

Here's the Other View.

Other residents of East St. Louis estimate that $4,500,000 on the bridge value is on the Illinois side and that $135,000 a year could be collected in taxes on it, giving the city of East St. Lopis $38,000 a year, its schools $45,000, St. Clair county $7,500, the state $6,750, the levee board $35,000, and the park board $4,000.

Therefore East St. Louis has started a fight against the object of the Hadley lobby. It has sent a letter to every delegate signed by its corporation counsel, H. L. Browning.

East St. Louis Acts.

The city council of East St. Louis got busy and adopted resolutions, part of which read:

"Resolved, That the city of East St. Louis protest against such exemption and urge its citizens and all taxing bodies of this state to oppose the adoption of such provision in the constitution, both in the convention and in the election at which the same will be presented to the people for ratification."

The board of supervisors of St. Clair county is scheduled to file a like protest next week.

The merits of the controversy are certain to get an airing before a con con committee.

"BIG ENOUGH TO WORK, TOO BIG FOR SCHOOL," BOY OF 14 VANISHES

"I'm big enough to work and too big to go to school. I'm going to Texas."

JOHN WRIGHT.

So John Wright, 14 years old, a student at the Ray school, told his chums in the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. Thursday night.

He hasn't been heard from since, and his widowed mother, Mrs. Isabel Wright of 5525 Cornell avenue, appealed to THE TRIBUNE last night to help find him. When last seen he wore a gray knickerbocker suit, tan shoes, black cap, and a mackinaw.

CONVICT WOMEN AND ONE MAN AS BLACK HANDERS

U. S. Hits Blow at Terror of "Little Italy."

Uncle Sam served warning on Chicago blackmailers yesterday with a federal court conviction of two women and one man leader of the "Black Hand" gang charged with spreading terror through "Little Italy" for the last three years.

After deliberating more than twenty-four hours the jury found Mrs. Philippa Martello, Mrs. Lucia Naponiello, and Vito Petruzzi guilty of using the mails to defraud and of conspiracy. They disagreed concerning the legal guilt of Frank Russo, one of the most prominent of the original twelve defendants, and of Nick Salerno. They found Eugene Martello, husband of the chief woman "collector," not guilty.

For weeks government prosecutors under Capt. John Boddie, and backed by Gen. James E. Stuart's entire postal inspectors' forces, have battled in court to win the first government "Black Hand" prosecution in years. In their belief the social balance of all Chicago's foreign colonies and communities hinges on its outcome.

"The fact that two women, the kind usually immune to prosecution, have been convicted in this highly technical and difficult trial is in itself a triumph," declared Capt. Boddie after learning the verdict. "We intend to proceed at once to a new trial of Russo and Salerno."

"The trial has been heard by Federal Judge Julian Mack, who dismissed six of the Italian defendants for lack of evidence. The prisoners are now in custody of U. S. Marshal J. J. Bradley. Russo and Salerno were released on their present bond of $25,000.

Scores of weary Italians heard the decision silently and dispatched runners from the federal building to carry the news through "Little Italy."

MUNDELEIN TO GIVE ADDRESS.

Archbishop Mundelein will address the annual meeting of the officers of Holy Name society this afternoon at All Angels' hall, Oakwood boulevard and Vincennes avenue. Judge Harry Olson and Mrs. Edward Hines also will give addresses. Reports will be made and the election of officers will take place.

PRESSURE SENDS GRAIN TO LOW PRICE AT CLOSE

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Selling pressure in grains was mainly at the start, when lowest prices were made.

Pit conditions disclosed an oversold market, and the short sellers of Friday were busy all day in covering on an irregularly advancing market. At the close prices were around the best of the day, with corn up 1⅜c for March and 2⅜@3c on distant futures, with May leading. Oats gained 1⅛@1⅜c and rye 3⅝c. News was mixed and lacked the striking features of the previous day.

Despite the sharp break from the highest point of the season, corn finished the week 6@7¼c higher, with May leading. Oats are up 2⅜@3⅝c, rye 2¼@2¾c, and barley was 1c lower for May. Pork gained $2.60@3.00, lard 35@50c, and short ribs 75@77½c for the week.

Sharp Rally in Corn.

Corn made its lowest prices at the opening and closed at the top, reversing its action of the previous day. A little scattered liquidation was in evidence at the start, but offerings were readily absorbed by shorts and commission houses, and while price fluctuations were extremely rapid, they were on the upgrade to the finish, although not without many setbacks.

News developments in the main showed little change from those prevailing of late. Country offerings dried up as the result of the decline, while at El Paso, Ill., farmers who sold earlier in the week tried to rebuy, finding that they could not deliver the grain on account of bad country roads. The car situation showed no improvement.

The cash market failed to display the weakness anticipated by the local element, industries absorbing the offerings. While eastern dealers attempted to cancel some sales, fresh business aggregated 21,000 bu. A crop scare of no mean proportions is on in winter wheat and has become a factor in corn.

Oats Follow Corn Up.

Local traders sold oats at the opening, while commission houses absorbed the offerings, and the market responded quickly to the upturn in corn, and closed at the top. Cash premiums were well maintained at 6½@7c over May for No. 3 white. Louisville bid equal to 7c over May for loaded oats downstate, and Cairo 92c for No. 3 white at country stations, seven day shipment.

Houses with seaboard connections were good buyers of rye, and with other grains strong prices advanced readily and closed at the top. Exporters secured some grain for shipment at the opening of navigation at 6¼c over May, c. i. f. Buffalo, and 10,000 bu for prompt shipment at 15c over May, track Baltimore. No. 2 on track was 1¼c over May, at $1.75¼. Receipts, 3 cars.

Barley unchanged. Offerings fair. Spot sales were at $1.50@1.60. Receipts, 19 cars.

Provisions Advance.

Light offerings with local and outside buying sent prices up, and the close was at a fair reaction from the top, on a small increase in the offerings. Pork gained 50c, lard 15c, short ribs 17½c to 22½c, for the day. The strength in corn and the hog market were factors. Shipments of lard and meats were over 14,000,000 lbs less than last year. Packing in Chicago since March 1 aggregates 359,000, or 23,000 less than last year.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

It is said that western holders have sold out the bulk of their corn futures here and that local operators who did not finish selling on Friday materially reduced their lines yesterday. It was apparent soon after the opening to close observers that the selling, which was expected to be heavy, owing to a big break Friday and the weak close would be continued. It spent its force at the start, however, especially in the distant futures, and it was difficult to buy corn after the first thirty minutes without affecting prices. Local short sellers were largely responsible for the advance, and the market was said to be fairly evened up at the last, both for corn and oats.

One factor that helped to strengthen corn values yesterday was the numerous unfavorable reports from the winter wheat country. This gave traders more courage and induced considerable buying as prices moved up. The corn situation at present is an unusual one, stocks at terminal markets being light, while supplies in the country are heavy and prices high, but car scarcity prevents distribution from the interior.

A cargo of Mexican corn is reported in transit to San Francisco, which is expected to grade No. 2 white. It was reported offered at $1.55, delivered there, or $1.60 at north Pacific coast points. New crop grain for July delivery might be bought at $1.45, according to a report to Hulburd, Warren & Chandler. The message also claimed a surplus of 700,000 bu on farms over and above requirements, although the government returns as of March 1 showed 287,000 bu, against 506,000 bu last year.

Packing in Chicago since March 1 aggregates 359,000 hogs, a decrease of 23,000 from last year.

FINANCIAL NOTES

The Chicago federal reserve bank reports the weekly movement of credits as follows: Debits to individual deposit account for the week ending March 17, 1920, reported by 186 banks in twenty-three leading clearing house cities in the seventh federal reserve district, aggregate $1,317,403,000, compared with $1,114,303,000 a week ago. Aggregate debits to individual deposit account in twenty-two of these clearing house centers were $1,314,407,000, compared with $909,306,000 for the corresponding week of last year.

Gaston, Williams & Wigmore will retire at maturity $1,000,000 6 per cent serial notes, due April 1. This is half of an issue sold in 1916, and the remainder will fall due on April 1, next year.

The Washington Park National bank has increased its capital from $200,000 to $300,000, and the increase has been subscribed at par by the stockholders in the ratio of one new share for each two shares previously held.

Col. George S. Ballard has been appointed official delegate of the American Chamber of Commerce in France for the Chicago district. The chamber has 800 members and its purpose is to promote commercial relations between the two countries.

Stock of the J. I. Case Plow works will be traded in on the New York curb tomorrow. The stock of the Arkansas Natural Gas company has been reinstated on the Pittsburgh exchange.

The Cleveland Metal Products has sold an issue of $4,000,000 7 per cent sinking fund gold notes to Lee, Higginson & Co. A public offering will be made soon.

It is an eastern report that arrangements for the flotation in this country of a loan of between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 to Denmark are nearing completion.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Fresh eggs sold saturday at 44½@45c for fresh northern firsts, a drop of ½c, buyers holding off. Sales of 48 cars storage packed, April delivery, were made at 42½c. Receipts were 95,403 cases for the week, against 89,450 cases last year.

Butter sold at recent prices with a fair trade. Arrivals for the week 37,121 tubs, an increase of nearly 10,000 tubs for the week, and an increase of over 9,000 for last years. The make is said to be increasing.

Live hens, spring chickens, and stags were 1c lower at 39c for hens, 37c for spring, and 32c for stags.

Potatoes sold at $6 per 100 lbs for round white stock, the highest of the season, and an advance of 25c for the day. Receipts were 38 cars.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 20.—Cotton exchange authorities have suspended the rule limiting daily fluctuations on March delivery. Fluctuations from now on are dependent upon the ability of spot dealers to make delivery. Profit taking due to the unsatisfactory position in Germany carried distant futures down, while March was 19 points higher and closed at the top. Prices have advanced 150 points within a week for March delivery, or $7.50 a bale. Traders are looking for cheaper money. The final ginning report for the season gives 11,258,117 bales, against 12,440,532 bales in 1918. Prices follow:

CHICAGO AND NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY.

Notice of Special and Annual Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that a special Meeting of the Stockholders of the Chicago and North Western Railway Company, duly called by the Board of Directors, and the Annual Meeting of said Stockholders, will be held at the General Offices of the Company, at No. 226 West Jackson Boulevard, in the City of Chicago, Illinois, on Tuesday, the 13th day of April, 1920, at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for the purpose of considering and deciding: (1) Whether the stockholders of the Company will concur in and authorize the creation of a bonded indebtedness, by the issue, at such times and in such amounts as from time to time its Board of Directors or Executive Committee may determine, of bonds, payable in gold coin of the United States of America of or equal to the present standard of weight and fineness, and limited so that the amount thereof at any one time outstanding, together with all outstanding prior debt of the Railway Company, after deducting therefrom the amount of all bonds reserved to retire prior debt, at or before maturity, shall never exceed three times the outstanding capital stock of the Company, or of a successor corporation, maturing May 1, A. D., 2037, and bearing a rate of interest, not exceeding the lawful rate, to be determined by the Board of Directors or Executive Committee at the time of issue, payable semi-annually; and the execution and delivery by the Company of a First and Refunding Gold Bond Mortgage to Trustees to be designated by the Board of Directors, dated May 1, 1920, conveying in trust the corporate property and franchises described therein, to secure the payment of all such bonds which are to be issued for the purpose of purchasing, redeeming or refunding, before, at or after maturity, the outstanding obligations of the Company, and of other companies whose properties now are or hereafter shall be owned or acquired by the Chicago and North Western Railway Company by consolidation, purchase or otherwise, or for the purpose of the future betterment, improvement, extension and equipment of the properties of the Company and of such other companies; for the construction, purchase or acquisition of other railway and property, or for the purpose of reimbursing the Company for moneys which at any time may be or may have been expended for any of the purposes aforesaid; and will approve such mortgage in the form to be submitted at said meeting, and will ratify the action of its Board of Directors authorizing the creation of such indebtedness, and the execution of such mortgage; and (2) Whether the Stockholders of the Company will authorize the purchase of all the property, including all franchises, rights, privileges and immunities pertaining thereto and all appurtenances thereof whatsoever, of each of the following named proprietary companies:

Wolf River Valley Railway Company.
Belle Fourche Valley Railway Company.
James River Valley and North Western Railway Company.

NEW YORK BANK RESERVE AGAIN BELOW STANDARD

The weekly statement of the New York associated banks, issued yesterday, again shows reserves below legal requirements. Principally as the result of a decrease of $34,627,000 in cash, the excess reserve of $29,040,420 shown at the close of the preceding week was wiped out and a deficit of $7,975,000 substituted.

A sharp contraction in loans is an interesting feature of the report, a decrease of more than $39,000,000 being effected in spite of activity and advancing prices displayed in the stock market. A further gain in deposits was shown, net demand deposits increasing $13,294,000 and net time deposits increasing $4,254,000.

The weekly statement of the New York federal reserve bank shows a slight improvement in the ratio of total reserve to deposits and federal reserve note liabilities combined, the ratio being 38.8 per cent, compared with 38.5 per cent at the end of the preceding week.

The federal reserve board consolidated statement for the twelve federal reserve banks shows that the ratio of gold reserves to federal reserve notes in circulation, after setting aside a reserve of 35 per cent against net deposit liabilities, was 48.3 per cent, compared with 47 per cent at the close of the preceding week.

Chicago Loans Decrease.

The end of a continuous expansion of credit, covering a considerable period, in the middle west is revealed in the weekly statement of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank:

With a sharp decrease in loans the bank was enabled to increase its ratio of reserves for the first time in a number of weeks. This is regarded as evidence that the money stringency and the strain on credit is passing. The only unfavorable feature in the report was a rather sharp increase in federal reserve notes in circulation.

Members Decrease Loans.

The member banks of the district decreased their borrowings at the reserve institution by a total of $41,386,982, this amount being divided into a decrease of $23,008,190 in loans secured by government securities and a decrease of $8,376,2 33 in loans otherwise secured. In addition to this accommodations extended to other federal reserve banks were reduced by $13,530,000, the amount now standing at $7,695,000, a small figure. Federal reserve notes in circulation increased $4,521,800. The treasury reduced its deposits by $4,884,853.

Light hogs again met with a brisk call at slightly higher prices, while heavyweights were dull and barely steady. Best 185@200 lb averages sold at $16.30, while good 400 lb packers went at $13.50, being widest spread in many months.

Packers have urgent foreign orders for meats requiring 150@250 lb hogs, while the outlet for heavy cuts is very indifferent, consequently the wide range in values.

Last week's receipts of hogs totaled 163,700, being second largest since January. Week's estimated average weight at 238 lbs was heaviest ni five months, being heaviest since 1913 comparing with corresponding week in previous years.

Late cattle trade was more satisfactory than earlier in the week, with closing prices little different from previous Saturday. Sheep ruled steady with a week ago, while lambs closed 40@50c lower than a week ago.

Receipts for Monday are estimated at 19,000 cattle, 50,000 hogs, and 17,000 sheep, against 16,341 cattle, 67,809 hogs, and 18,052 sheep corresponding Monday a year ago. Two years ago 72,856 hogs arrived.

Next week's receipts are estimated at 56,000 cattle, 165,000 hogs, and 60,000 sheep, against 40,768 cattle, 174,905 hogs, and 64,718 sheep a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs for Monday are variously estimated at 40,000 to 50,000. F. W. Waddell marked 49,000; R. W. Oake, 47,000; F. R. Burrows, 46,000; Edward Morris, 45,000; W. H. Overman, 40,000, and Felix Ghermann, 50,000.

Stock Dividends Need New Name.

Many small investors are becoming excited over the prospect of so-called stock dividends being declared by a dozen or two large industrial corporations. Such distributions never were dividends in fact, and since the recent decision of the Supreme court they are not dividends in law. They make not the slightest change in the real value of the holding of any stockholder. After the distribution he holds a few more shares, but each share represents a proportionately smaller fraction of the whole enterprise.

The only effect of such a distribution is psychological. After the "dividend comes off" each share naturally sells proportionately lower, but if all conditions are favorable it has a tendency to return toward the old level. Presumably it will continue to pay the same cash dividend as before, and it looks just as attractive as ever, so, in a majority of cases, it works at least part of the way back and the net result is a higher market valuation for the whole corporation.

In some cases the contrary result follows. If the stock distribution is manifestly too large or if it comes when the market in general is in an unfavorable condition the price of the shares may have a tendency to decline.

The term "stock dividend" ought to be changed. It deceives inexperienced investors—and sometimes experienced ones. It deceived congress into making a logical absurdity the law of the land.

Adams Express.

L. H. D.—The balance sheet of the Adams Express company of April 10, 1919, indicated a book value of $27.03 a share. These were, however, doubtful items. President Barrett stated that the assets might possibly yield as much as $87.29 a share, or they might leave a personal liability of $83 or less against the holder of each share.

Brief Answers.

H. R., Joliet, Ill.—The Lackawanna Steel company was affected severely by the strike last fall. In the year 1919 it earned only 1 per cent on its $35,108,500 of stock, compared with 22¾ in 1918. Six per cent was paid in dividends. Earnings are subject to extreme fluctuations.

O. F., Napanee, Ind.—The Consolidated Mica company has not replied to a request for information. Nothing in the prospectus suggests that it is more than a hazardous speculation.

$2,500,000 First Mortgage 6% Serial Gold Bonds

Dated December 23, 1919, with serial payments two to ten years. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500, $100, with usual privilege of registration. Redeemable at 102 in reverse numerical order.

Security

A first mortgage on the land, 225 feet on Sheridan Road and 130 feet on Wilson Ave., and the new 12-story fireproof hotel, including furnishings and equipment. This hotel, now under construction, will contain 10 stores, 12 offices, and 512 guest rooms each with bath. The serial payment of principal constantly increases the margin of security.

Location

Sheridan Road is Chicago's highest class residence thoroughfare, and Wilson Avenue is its principal business section on the north shore. This location, therefore, at the intersection of these two streets, is ideal for this high class hotel.

Valuation—Income

The ground and building, when completed, are conservatively appraised at $3,800,000. The net annual earnings are estimated to exceed $440,000, which is nearly three times the greatest annual interest charge before any bonds mature.

Safeguards

Ample real estate security, a first lien on the income, a sufficient portion of which must be deposited monthly to promptly meet semi-annual interest and maturing bonds; title guaranteed by the Chicago Title & Trust Co.; ample fire insurance deposited to protect bondholders; the completion of the building and the lien of these bonds are guaranteed by the undersigned.

General Information

Sheridan Road auto bus passes the door; Northwestern Elevated and Broadway surface lines two blocks west, only twenty minutes from the loop; two blocks from bathing beach. The very heart of the "Wilson Avenue District."

$7,000,000 RITZ IS FIRST RESULT OF NEW SKY LINE

Big Hotel Assured with 260 Foot Limit.

BY AL CHASE.

A $7,000,000 twenty-four story Ritz-Carlton hotel with a hundred foot tower on the site of the present Stratford hotel, if present negotiations go through, will be the first concrete result of Father Dearborn deciding his sky line would look just as well if it were tilted about sixty feet higher.

Other results of the action of the city council in changing the building limit back from 200 to 260 feet already have begun to materialize, and building operations in the loop, both new projects and the adding of sixty feet to present 200 foot structures, are expected to whoop along from now on.

Levy Mayer and Edwin F. Meyer, owners of the Stratford, lost no time when the limit was changed in having the dust covered plans for the big 260 foot hotel at the southwest corner of Jackson and Michigan boulevards brought out and looked over.

Work to Be Rushed.

"We have requested our architects, Marshall & Fox, immediately to complete the necessary plans and specifications so that we can file them as soon as possible with the building commissioner," said Levy Mayer, "so as to get the necessary permit from the city to proceed with the new improvement. We think we shall be able as soon as the plans and specifications have been approved by the building department to proceed at once with the work of laying the foundations.

"It is hard to anticipate the probable cost of the building because of the daily changes in the labor and material markets. We hope to bring the cost of the building to between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000."

May Have 1,000 Rooms.

The site fronts 161 feet on Michigan and 171 on Jackson. Tentative plans call for around 1,000 rooms. Negotiations are under way for a twenty-five year operating agreement with the Ritz-Carlton syndicate, which has long sought a suitable entrance into Chicago.

Plans for a hotel on the Stratford site were abandoned several years ago when it was found that the real profit was in the sixty feet of space which the city had barred when it clamped on the 200 foot limit. It was figured that a 200 foot hotel of the luxurious type planned would not pay.

The first down town office structure to take advantage of the new height will be the Michigan boulevard building at the southwest corner of Washington and Michigan. Architect Jarvis Hunt says five stories will be added at once, making it total twenty stories.

Shows Signs of Life.

Another architectural firm announces that two big loop office projects which have been sleeping since the 200 foot limit was put on, have shown signs of life and probably will be announced in a few days.

It is probabe that the first office building activity will be in adding on extra stories. Practically every loop building erected after 1911 has foundations strong enough for sixty feet more of steel work.

The Standard Oil building, formerly the Karpen building, was designed by Marshall & Fox with foundations for twenty stories. Additional stories probably will be added.

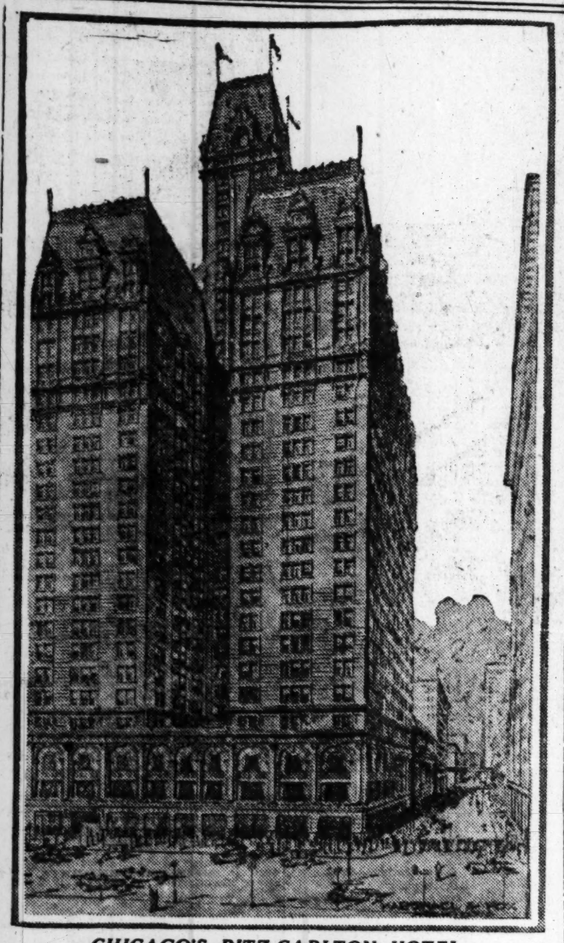
The Otis and Lumber Exchange buildings, at Madison and La Salle, both designed by Holabird & Roche, have foundations in for five additional stories each.

More Additions.

Other loop office buildings which probably will have additions made are the Kimball, Wabash and Jackson; Garland, Wabash and Washington; U. S. Annuity & Life building, Jackson, between State and Wabash, and several others.

The main building of the "Wrigley tower," on the north bank of the river, at Michigan avenue, will be 260 feet instead of 200.

"Replacing the old limit of 260 feet has rectified an injustice," said Charles E. Fox, of Marshall & Fox. "Now the natural laws of supply and demand will develop the loop as it should be. The old 200 foot limit was a block to the proper growth of the business district."



CHICAGO'S RITZ-CARLTON HOTEL.

$496,000, 10 YEARS, LOOP SHOP LEASE

Lights will soon glow in the windows of the corner shop of the Garland building, Wabash and Washington, which have been empty since Anderson & Bros. moved to the Michigan Boulevard building. Lane Bryant, Inc., women's ready to wear, with a local shop in the Stevens building and several stores in the east, have leased 3,000 square feet of floor space on the corner, 4,000 square feet in the basement, and 5,000 on the second floor, from the Wabash and Washington Trust, for ten years at a reported term rental of $496,000. Morris Bryant was attorney for Lane Bryant, Inc.

FULLERTON AVENUE RESIDENCE TO BE CATHOLIC CONVENT

Another Catholic convent is planned for the north side. The Sisters of the Cenacle of St. Regis, an order of Catholic sisters, whose headquarters are at Riverside drive and One Hundred and Fortieth street, New York City, have purchased through Cremin & O'Connor from H. A. Ward the residence property in Fullerton parkway, 99 feet west of Cleveland avenue. The lot has a frontage of 66 feet and a depth of 300 feet, with an entrance on Cleveland avenue.

The sisters will immediately enlarge and convert the massive residence into a convent to be devoted to their particular work, which consists principally of furnishing religious retreats for women and children.

Thompson to Open Lunch Room Opposite Terminal

After trying for several years to get a location near the Northwestern terminal John R. Thompson has leased and purchased 40x189 directly opposite the main entrance of the station. He has leased from Victor Redman twenty feet at 521 West Madison street for ninety-nine years from Oct. 1 at an average rental of $3,211 a year.

The twenty feet adjoining on the west he bought from Mr. Redman for $45,000, which is at the rate of $2,250 a front foot. The Thompson company will erect a building to cost not less than $50,000. This will be the 106th eating place in the Thompson chain of lunchrooms. Alex. Friend & Co. were brokers.

Broadway Broadening May Shave Land from Tiny Park

One of Chicago's tiniest parks, the little triangular bit of ground at the intersection of Montrose boulevard, Sheridan road, and Broadway, is in danger of becoming still more minute, if the movement now under way to broaden Broadway at this point goes through. It is planned to cut off enough of the park and sidewalk to add twenty feet to Broadway. At present there is only twelve feet space between the sidewalk and the car tracks, making it difficult for automobiles to swing from Sheridan road over into Broadway at this point.

Selz-Schwab Shoe Store Gets New Loop Location

Getting ready for the incoming on May 1 of the Owl Drug company's new store, Selz-Schwab & Co., now at the northwest corner of Madison and Clark streets, have leased from S. W. Straus & Co. the 20x80 shop and basement at 116 West Madison street for their shoe store for five years at a reported term rental of $50,000. B. W. Eisendrath and David S. Simon were brokers.

Brokers Lease Offices in Webster Building

R. H. McMasters & Co., stock brokers, with main offices in New York City, have leased through Fred McGuire the stores in the Webster building, 329-31 South La Salle street, for several years at a reported annual rental of $15,000. It is claimed $20,000 will be spent in new fixtures and alterations.

BUYS GARAGE SITE.

George Robinean, who is building a $90,000 garage and auto show room on 248x135 at the southwest corner of Dorchester avenue and East Sixty-seventh street, directly across the street from the Dorchester Inn, has bought the ground from Harry C. Edmund, for an indicated $23,000.

NORTH SHORE RESIDENCE SALE.

O. G. Corns of the W. S. Byllesby company has bought from the estate of W. D. Alexander through M. E. Barker & Co. of Wilmette, the ten room stucco residence at 1121 Chestnut avenue, of that suburb, lot 80x176, for a reported $22,500.

$600,000 FACTORY TO REPLACE OLD KING RESIDENCE

One of the west side's residence landmarks, the old homestead of the late John A. King, at the northeast corner of Ashland boulevard and Congress street, 85x136, is to make way for a $600,000 five story steel and concrete factory for Shea, Smith & Co., manufacturing stationers.

The property was sold by Ernst C. Glenny, trustee of the King estate, to Shea, Smith & Co., for an indicated price of $35,000. The buyers have been in business in Chicago for fifty years, and are now located on Plymouth court, back of the Union League club. Albert H. Wetten & Co. and Harry Goldstine & Co. were brokers.

POPCORN USERS PLAN BIG WEST SIDE FACTORY

Pop corn covered with molasses and put in bright colored boxes sells fast and steadily. F'instance, Crackerjack, Chums, Checkers, and several others of the same family.

The makers of Checkers and other confectionery, the Shotwell Manufacturing company, at 1021 West Adams street, have become so swamped with business that they have been searching the city over for space. Not being able to lease any, they have decided to build a big plant on the 158,775 square feet on West Potomac avenue, 500 feet west of Homan avenue, purchased from D. A. Raggio through J. H. Van Vlissingen & Co. at $1 a square foot, or $158,775.

Plans are being drawn for the first unit of four and five stories, approximately 80x192. It will have 88,000 square feet, which is about double that of the present plant. In addition it will have a big corn storage building, 40x60.

Former Charles H. Wacker Residence Sold, $35,000

After being vacant for several months, the one time residence of the late George B. Harris, former president of the Burlington, and also for some time the home of Charles H. Wacker, head of the Chicago Plan commission, at 1431 North State street, has been sold by the Presbyterian hospital to Samuel N. Crowen, architect, for an indicated price of $35,000. It was bequeathed to the hospital by Mr. Harris.

Mr. Crowen has sold his residence at 25 Scott street to Robert H. Reid, secretary and treasurer of Master Trucks, Inc., who now lives at 2807 Prairie avenue, for an indicated price of $22,000.

New Albany Park Bank to Build $100,000 Home

Albany Park is to have a new bank. The organization of the Albany Park National with a capital of $200,000 and surplus of $50,000 is now being completed. A site for a new building has been purchased from Clarence Tobin and George E. Tarnow at the northeast corner of Lawrence avenue and Bernard street, 50x125, for a reported price of $20,000. Plans for a $100,000 building are being prepared and work will start at once. It is expected the new bank will open for business about Sept. 1.

SELLS WAREHOUSE PROPERTY.

M. E. Bosworth of Bosworth Brothers' Fireproof Storage company, has sold the three story warehouse at 6055 Wentworth avenue, 68x132, to William J. Cavanaugh, for an indicated $45,000.

HIGH WATER MARK SET IN VALUES AT CHICAGO-CLARK

North Clark street and Chicago avenue has just had a new highwater mark in property values in that neighborhood established in the lease by Thomas K. Valos, restaurateur, of the property at the southwest corner. Mr. Valos bought the leasehold from Thomas Hennessey, which had three years to run, and then obtained an extension of the leasehold for twelve years more from Leonard A. Busby, trustee of the Douglas McEntee estate, at a term rental of $124,500.

Figuring on a basis of 5 per cent the corner is leased at a frontage valuation of $7,234 per foot on Clark street and $66.32 a square foot. Mr. Valos will make extensive alterations. M. G. Frankel represented parties in the above lease.

Ayers Boal has leased through Alex. Friend & Co. to J. Spaulding & Sons the three story building, 40x150, at 659-661 West Lake street, for ten years, at a reported term rental of $75,000. The lessees manufacture vulcanized fibers and fiber products.

The Zinke-Roberts Co., manufacturers of paper boxes, have leased through Hart & Whetston from Mary Lunch the two story building, 50x125, now being completely remodeled at 926-27 Concord place, for ten years at a total rental of $45,000.

The same brokers have leased for C. C. Anderson to the Century Motor Truck company the two story building and one story structure now building at 158-62 North Ada street, for five years at a total rental of $25,000.

Hart & Whetston also have leased for the Newberry estate to the National Food Products company, the five story building at 220-22 West Huron street, for five years at a total rental of $24,000.

The American Gear company have leased through E. N. Duerlein & Co. from the North Pier Terminal Warehouse, the two floors of section N of their warehouse at 365 East Illinois street, for five years at a total rental of $40,000.

MEAT MARKETS TAKE PLACE OF 2 DRINK SHOPS

Candy and cigar stores aren't taking over all the old saloon sites. Here are two former thirst quenching establishments which are to be occupied by meat markets. Aldis & Co. have leased through E. F. Keebler & Co. the store at 109 West Van Buren street, just east of the La Salle station, to Charles H. Bromann, for ten years from May 1 at a term rental of $65,000. It has been occupied for many years by Rosenzweig's wine and liquor house.

The same brokers have leased for E. F. Keebler to Mr. Bromann the store at 3044 Wentworth avenue for ten years at a term rental of $12,000. Zimmerman's buffet cared for the liquid wants of Thirty-first and Wentworth residents from this shop for many years.

Mr. Bromann operates a chain of meat markets in the loop. He recently rented the entire building at 7 West Van Buren street, the store and basement at 33 West Adams street, and the store and basement at 22 West Washington street, all through Keebler & Co.

Russell Sage's Hunch Nets Profit After 51 Year Wait

In 1867 Russell Sage advised John J. Hall to buy real estate at Western and Madison. He predicted that in time it would be close to the city's center of population. Mr. Hall, now 90 years old, followed Sage's advice two years later and paid what was then the outrageously high price of $200 a front foot for the southwest corner of Madison and Western, lot 23x119. He also bought the southeast corner for considerably less, and sold it recently. Yesterday he sold the southwest corner to George K. Ogden and others for an indicated price of $40,000. It is improved with a three story store and flat building.

Ravenswood at Last to Get a Bit of Parkland

Ravenswood at last is to have a park of its own. The Lincoln park commissioners have heeded the plea of residents and purchased from the Union Trust company the old Gunther ball park, about three and one-half acres, bounded by Clark, Ashland, Leland, and Giddings, for an indicated $50,000. Extensive improvements are planned—a fieldhouse, tennis courts, swimming pool, playgrounds, ball diamond, and lawns.

Harvey Plant of Maxfer Truck Sold for $70,000

The Steel Fabricating corporation, manufacturers of ready made steel factory buildings, with general offices at 38 South Dearborn street and main plant at Chicago Heights, has bought the former five acre plant of the Maxfer Truck company, in the northwest part of Harvey, to be used for overflow work. The indicated price was $70,000. Possession was taken several weeks ago.

Union League Buys First Building for Boys' Club

A price of $18,000 has been paid by the Union League Foundation for Boys' club for the three story building, 48x125, at the southeast corner of Leavitt and West Nineteenth streets. It is being remodeled at an expense of approximately $10,000, and will be opened as the first of several similar boys' organizations to be backed by the Union League club. It will be opened around April 1.

WILMETTE BUSINESS CORNER SOLD.

Frank A. Rochhold has purchased from Ralph S. and Myrtle Childs for an indicated $40,000 the vacant business property, 233x59, at the southeast corner of Wilmette avenue and Central street, Wilmette.

ST. LOUIS LAUNDRY BURNS.

St. Louis, Mo., March 20.—Fire thought to have originated from a gas heater destroyed the plant of the Superior laundry here early today. The loss, $100,000, was covered by insurance.

DETAIL OF NOKOL INSTALLATION

Here's what ends coal's drudgery

—a self-regulating oil burner; leaves no dirt; fits any modern furnace

YOUR coal furnace is your first worry in the morning; your last job at night; your wife puts up with its dirt all day.

Now you can equip your furnace with Nokol and know real ease; it ends the worries; gets rid of the dirt.

It can be installed in any modern steam, hot water or hot air furnace; the coal grates are merely removed and the burner inserted through the ash door.

Your furnace immediately becomes one you're proud of; free from ashes, soot, etc.; automatic in operation; self-regulated by thermostat.

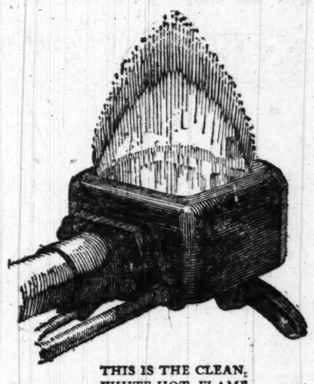
Your one job is to keep the oil tank filled and the thermostat set at the temperature you want maintained in your home. Nokol maintains it; in any weather; automatically.

If you had Nokol in your furnace now you'd see fuel economy you never knew with coal; it operates and burns oil only when heat is needed; that isn't often in mild weather.

The hundreds of folks who use Nokol say they won't go back to coal; it's expensive because it's troublesome and dirty.

See Nokol demonstrated at the dealer nearest you, or write for complete information.

Price of Nokol, $325, f. o. b. Chicago; average cost of installation, $35; tank prices in proportion to size.



THIS IS THE CLEAN, WHITE-HOT FLAME

There are some places, particularly in suburban communities, where dealers have not been appointed. In such places, to the right kind of men, we offer an attractive opportunity.

FURNITURE!

AT THE MANUFACTURER'S PRICE.

We have at our manufacturing plant salesroom a complete line of overstuffed living room furniture in velour, tapestry, and mohair.

Each piece of furniture we turn out is built to last; the upholstering is the very best, the springs are of the best grade, and each piece of furniture has more of them to the square foot than the average furniture.

We can save you from 40 to 60% on all living room furniture because we are manufacturers of exclusively living room furniture and by purchasing direct from us you save the dealer's profit.

THIS SALE WILL LAST ALL WEEK.
CHICAGO DAVENPORT MFG. CO.,
4112-14 W. MADISON-ST.
KEDZIE 9404.

ATTENTION, FURNITURE BUYERS.

If you are in the market for living room furniture we can save you from 40% to 60% on your purchases.

WHY?

Because we are manufacturers of exclusively living room furniture and by buying direct from us YOU save the dealer's profit.

Because we purchased our materials before the prices of these materials went sky high.

These overstuffed living room suites come in tapestry, velour, and mohair, and they have more springs than the ordinary furniture.

Sale lasts all week. Come early and be convinced of these bargains.

DO NOT FAIL TO PAY US A VISIT THIS WEEK, AS OUR FACTORY IS LOCATED ONLY 20 MINUTES FROM THE LOOP. WE ARE OPEN EVERY EVENING UNTIL 9 P.M.

LAPINE UPH. MFG. CO.,
2650-52 N. Clark-st. Diversey 4041.

READ

What the greatest Musical Authorities in the World say about the

McKINLEY PHONOGRAPH

We will be pleased to show you their original letters.

HERE'S ONE:

"I am greatly pleased with the McKINLEY. It reproduces the human voice with marvelous fidelity and is distinctly SUPERIOR in bringing out various orchestral instruments. I congratulate you."

HERE'S ANOTHER:

"I take pleasure in pronouncing The McKINLEY a SUPERIOR instrument. This includes resonance, unusual fidelity in reproducing all music as well as speech. You are to be congratulated."

Spend an enjoyable half hour in hearing the McKINLEY and in examining our patented features and learning WHY it is SUPERIOR to all others.

One INCH Firing Surface

Leaping the gap to right and left, sparks hiss from the one inch firing surface in Fyrac, and fall upon another inch of stout wire, made to live long.

This inch of jumping fire instantly explodes every particle of gasoline, so that the car is controlled easily, and gasoline-formed carbon is impossible.

Because the sparks that flash from the one inch firing surface do not fall upon a one-point wire, but blaze evenly upon an inch of surpassingly durable wire, every point of this wire need withstand only a tiny fraction of the shock that shrivels the solitary point in the ordinary plug.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

"THINE IS THE GLORY"—An allegorical painting by F. Lewis Mora, presented to the nation by the war department as the army's tribute to the work of the American Red Cross in the world war. The motif was evolved by Maj. Joseph Gray Kitchell, formerly of the morale branch of the general staff, who devised a photographic composite of a thousand faces of American women, officially selected from the ranks of Red Cross workers throughout the United States. The picture will be given a place among the nation's art treasures at Washington.

A Startling Memory Feat That You Can Do

How I learned the secret in one evening. It has helped me every day.

WHEN my old friend Faulkner invited me to a dinner party at his house, I little thought it would be the direct means of getting me a one-hundred-and-fifty per cent. increase in salary. Yet it was, and here is the way it all came about.

Toward the close of the evening things began to drag a bit, as they often do at parties. Finally some one suggested the old idea of having every one do a "stunt." Some sang, others forced weird sounds out of the piano, recited, told stories, and so on.

Then it came to Macdonald's turn. He was a quiet sort of chap, with an air about him that reminded one of the old saying that "still waters run deep." He said he had a simple "stunt" which he hoped we would like. He selected me to assist him. First he asked to be blindfolded securely to prove there was no trickery in it. Those present were to call out twenty-five numbers of three figures each, such as 161, 249, and so on. He asked me to write down the numbers as they were called.

This was done. Macdonald then astounded every one by repeating the entire list of twenty-five numbers backwards and forwards. Then he asked people to request numbers by positions, such as the eighth number called, the fourth number, and so on. Instantly he repeated back the exact number in the position called. He did this with the entire list—over and over again, without making a single mistake.

Then Macdonald asked that a deck of cards be shuffled and called out to him in their order. This was done. Still blindfolded, he instantly named the cards in their order backwards and forwards. And then to further amaze us, he gave us the number of any card counting from the top, or the card for any number.

You may well imagine our amazement at Macdonald's remarkable feat. You naturally expect to see a thing of this sort on the stage, even then you look upon it as a trick. But to see it done by an everyday business man, in plain view of every one, blindfolded and under conditions which make trickery impossible, is astonishing, to say the least.

* * * * *

ON the way home that night I asked Macdonald how it was done. He said there was really nothing to it—simply a memory feat, the key to which anyone could easily learn in one evening. Then he told me that the reason most people have bad memories is because they leave memory development to chance. Anyone could do what he had done, and develop a good memory, he said, by following a few simple rules. And then he told me exactly how to do it. At the time I little thought that evening would prove to be one of the most eventful in my life, but such it proved to be.

What Macdonald told me I took to heart. In one evening I made remarkable strides toward improving my memory and it was but a question of days before I learned to do exactly what he had done. At first I amused myself with my new-found ability by amazing people at parties. My "memory feat," as my friends called it, surely made a hit. Every one was talking about it, and I was showered with invitations for all sorts of affairs. If anyone were to ask me how quickly to develop social popularity, I would tell him to learn my memory "feat"—but that is apart from what I want to tell you.

The most gratifying thing about the improvement of my memory was the remarkable way it helped me in business. Much to my surprise, I discovered that my memory training had literally put a razor edge on my brain. My brain had become clearer, quicker, keener. I felt that I was fast acquiring that mental grasp and alertness I had so often admired in men who were spoken of as "wonders" and "geniuses."

The next thing I noticed was a marked improvement in my conversational powers. Formerly my talk was halting and disconnected. I never could think of things to say until the conversation was over. And then, when it was too late, I would always think of apt and striking things I "might have said." "But now I can think like a flash. When I am talking I never have to hesitate" for the right word, the right expression or the right thing to say. It seems that all I have to do is to start to talk; instantly I find myself saying the very thing I want to say to make the greatest impression on people.

It wasn't long before my new-found ability to remember things and to say the right thing at the right time attracted the attention of our president. He got in the habit of calling me in whenever he wanted facts about the business. As he expressed himself to me, "You can always tell me instantly what I want to know, while the other fellows annoy me by dodging out of the office and saying, 'I'll look it up.'"

I FOUND that my ability to remember helped me wonderfully in dealing with other people, particularly in committee meetings. When a discussion opens up the man who can back up his statements quickly with a string of definite facts and figures usually dominates the others. Time and time again I have won people to my way of thinking simply because I could instantly recall facts and figures. While I'm proud of my triumphs in this respect, I often feel sorry for the ill-at-ease look of the other men who cannot hold up their end in the argument because they cannot recall facts instantly. It seems as though I never forget anything. Every fact I now put in my mind is as clear and as easy of recall instantly as though it were written before me in plain black and white.

We all hear a lot about the importance of sound judgment. People who ought to know say that a man cannot begin to exercise sound judgment until he is forty to fifty years of age. But I have disproved all that. I have found that sound judgment is nothing more than the ability to weigh and judge facts in their relation to each other. Memory is the basis of sound judgment. I am only thirty-two, but many times I have been complimented on having the judgment of a man of forty-five. I take no personal credit for this—it is all due to the way I trained my memory.

THESE are only a few of the hundreds of ways I have profited by my trained memory. No longer do I suffer the humiliation of meeting men I know and not being able to recall their names. The moment I see a man his name flashes to my mind, together with a string of facts about him. I always liked to read but usually forgot most of it. Now I find it easy to recall what I have read. Another surprising thing is that I can now master a subject in considerably less time than before. Price lists, market quotations, data of all kinds, I can recall in detail almost at will. I rarely make a mistake.

My vocabulary, too, has increased wonderfully. Whenever I see a striking word or expression, I memorize it and use it in my dictation or conversation. This has put a remarkable sparkle and pulling power into my conversation and business letters. "And the remarkable part of it all is that I can now" do my day's work quicker and with much less effort, simply because my mind works like a flash and I do not have to keep stopping to look things up.

All this is extremely satisfying to me, of course. But the best part of it all is that since my memory power first attracted the attention of our president, my salary has steadily been increased. Today it is many times greater than it was the day Macdonald got me interested in improving my memory.

* * * * *

WHAT Macdonald told me that eventful evening was this: "Get the Roth Memory Course." I did. That is how I learned to do all the remarkable things I have told you about. The publishers of the Roth Memory Course—the Independent Corporation—are so confident that it will also show you how to develop a remarkable memory that they will gladly send the Course to you on approval.

You need not pay a single penny until you have examined the Course and found that it fully lives up to all the claims made for it. Send no money. Merely mail the coupon or write a letter, and the complete Course will be sent to you instantly, all charges prepaid. If after examination you decide that you do not want to keep the Course, then return it and you will owe nothing. On the other hand, if you find, as thousands of others have found, that the Roth Memory Course will do wonders for you, then merely send five dollars in full payment.

You have always wanted a good memory. Now you can have it. Remember, you pay no money until you have proved that the Course will benefit you. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose by taking immediate action. So mail the coupon NOW before this liberal offer is withdrawn.

"THAT WELL-DRESSED LOOK"

The Lorelle

For the woman of long, slim lines, this is a coat with real temperament! Flat in front and back, full over the hips, it is youthful with a great deal of chic. It comes in broad, bright red open plaids with just a body lining, or in plain rich Peachbloom with full lining. The small opening above the cuff is a smart touch.

The Mailbrouck

Inspired by Premet, there's a droopy effect to the shoulders of this little coat that is style personified. The Collar rolls high, or fastens to expose the throat. The yoke and the deep cuff at the bottom are as smart as the unusual sleeves. It comes in tweed with a harness stitch trim in back, and also in Peachbloom without the stitching, but with a touch of self-color embroidery, rather a crows-foot design, near the collar facing and on the cuffs. Full lined.

Wooltex
Tailor-mades

Remember, no matter how much it "looks like" a Wooltex Tailor-made, it just can't be without that Wooltex signature shown above.

Wooltex Tailor-mades are priced at $45, $55, $65, $75, up to $125.

The Surrey

One simply can't be without a sports coat of this type, and it would be hard to find one so interesting as this particular model! In plaids or plain fabric it comes, some are even in black velvet. Stitching to simulate braid trims some, real braid trims others or you may have it untrimmed. The tuxedo collar, deep pockets and general jauntiness are just what a sports coat needs to be smart.

"THAT well-dressed look". An intangible thing, is it not? And yet, one feminine glance, sweeping from chapeau crown to Oxford tips, is all that is needed to decide whether one has it or hasn't it!

A collar that gapes, a shoulder line that extends a bit too far, a hem or seams that pucker—one of these and you forfeit the well-dressed look!

It isn't a coincidence that the collar of a Wooltex Tailor-made lies flat against your neck, that the shoulders are snug and smooth, that the sleeves never lose their shape—good tailoring, like genius, is the capacity for taking pains!

The Shoreham

It's just dressy enough to be worn in town over a silk frock, but simple enough for motor and country wear as well. Bernard inspired it, and its semi-directoire effect with the collar standing high in back lends an air of tall slimness to the wearer. It is full lined.

Your assurance that your coat or suit will be smart and well fitting even after months of wear, lies in that bit of white satin which is fastened in the collar of every genuine Wooltex Tailor-made.

It's the Wooltex signature, and you may rest assured that the Wooltex Tailors have spent too many years in the building of an impeccable reputation ever to sign a tailor-made that is not a thoroughbred.

When you're looking for your Wooltex Tailor-made, ask the salesperson for "The Tailored Woman". It's a little magazine of fashions that are and are-to-be. If you'd rather have us send it to you, write us, and we will mail it to you.

For the shop nearest your home showing Wooltex Tailor-mades, write us. They are being shown simultaneously by "The Tailored Woman," the exclusive shop on Fifth Avenue at Fiftieth Street, New York, and by HELENE CHADWICK has been attracting considerable attention lately by the excellence of her work.

She was born and educated in Chadwick, New York, and started her screen career with Pathe. Some of the pictures in which she has been seen for that company are "The Iron Heart," "The Double Cross," "Convict 993" and "The Yellow Ticket." Her last and best work, however, has been in Goldwyn's "Cup of Fury" and the Pioneer Film company's "The Long Arm of Mannister."

Miss Chadwick is a brown-eyed blond and is five feet seven inches tall, weighing 130 pounds. She swims and rides and, so far as I know, enjoys life generally.

Mae Tinee.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS doesn't need an introduction. You all know he was born in Denver, Colorado, in 1883, educated at the Colorado School of Mines, Harvard, etc., and how he was on the stage long before he ever knew there was such a thing as a "nickel show."

So we refrain from repeating ourselves any more and merely offer for your scrap book his latest picture. Y'wekkum!

New Way to Wash Your Face Beautifies Your Complexion

Beauty specialists agree that the secret of a perfect complexion is a thoroughly clean skin. A specialist has perfected a new substance, Ara-Mara, which is not only excellent for washing the face, but it cannot injure the most delicate complexion. It will not, cannot grow hair. All you do is to gently massage it into the skin and wash with plain warm water. It not only cleanses thoroughly, but it lightens the complexion much better than lemon juice or face bleach. It is surprising to see how fresh, clear and wholesome the skin becomes, even after only one proper treatment. Those who use it declare it has done more real good than any complexion treatment they ever used. It's a wonderful treatment for enlarged, cloggy pores and irritations. It certainly is a great blessing to those who are afraid of wrinkles and who have dull, sallow, lifeless complexions. You can always get Ara-Mara at any big store. If you live out of town and your home dealer has not got it, you can order 50 cents' worth of Ara-Mara by mail of Herbert Roystone, 16 East 18th Street, New York.

La-May Face Powder Is Harmless to the Most Delicate Skin

A specialist has at last perfected a pure face powder that is guaranteed pure and harmless to the most delicate baby skin. It beautifies wonderfully, because it helps to clear and lighten the skin and protect the complexion from blemishes. And it really stays on better than any other face powder. Of course, every one knows the famous La-may Powder (French, Poudre L'Ame). This is the powder that does not contain starchy rice powder or dangerous white lead to make it adhere. White lead is a deadly poison and rice powder turns into a gluey paste that ruins the compleion by causing enlarged pores, blackheads and rice powder irritations. All dealers carry the sixty cent box, and many dealers also carry the generous thirty cent size. Be sure to try La-may. Then you will really know a perfect face powder. You will be sorry if you take a substitute. When you use this harmless powder and see how beautifully it improves your complexion you will understand why La-may so quickly became the most popular beauty powder sold in New York. Because La-may is so pure and because it stays on so much better it is now used by over a million American women. We will give you one thousand dollars if you can buy a better face powder anywhere, at any price. Herbert Roystone, 16 East 18th St., New York. Save this notice.

Josephine Empress of France

Born in the West Indies. Empress Josephine was a Creole, as was her daughter, Hortense, Queen of Holland.

Hortense Queen of Holland

The Creoles are of pure French and Spanish descent. A distinguishing mark of their pure blood is their wonderful hair.

Creole Crowned Heads

THE royal crowns that some historic Creoles wore were not so lovely as the crown of glorious hair which is the natural heritage of nearly all Creoles. They give their hair special attention and for generations La Creole Hair Dressing has been favorite among them. La Creole preserves gray hair, preserving the youthful color and beauty even past life's twilight.

Color Brought Back Without Dye

La Creole treatment will bring back to its former color hair that has become gray, gray-streaked or faded. Refinement approves its use because La Creole contains no dye. It promotes the vigorous healthy condition of hair and scalp which nature intended, and two to five weeks' treatment will bring back any shade—lightest brown to deepest black—whatever the natural color was. After that an occasional application will preserve the healthy color permanently.

La Creole must not be confused with dyes—of course it gives no dyed appearance, it cannot stain the scalp and there is nothing to wash or rub off. La Creole makes hair soft, wavy, lustrous. Eliminates dandruff. Absolutely guaranteed to bring back the hair's color or money refunded.

Girls! Beautify Your Hair With "Danderine"

35c a bottle! Freshen your scalp! Stop falling hair! Remove dandruff! Have lots of wavy, glossy, beautiful hair! You can!

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair; besides, it eradicates every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its luster, its strength, and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp, the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine, apply a little as directed, and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

35c Bottles. All drug stores and toilet counters

"California Syrup of Figs"

All druggists sell the reliable and genuine "California Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna."

Children's Pleasant Laxative

Full directions for children of all ages are plainly printed on label. Mother! You must look for our name—The California Fig Syrup Company. If you say "California" the dealer will know you want the original, dependable and genuine. Be careful! Don't accept any other kind.

"CORNS"

Lift Corns Right Off! It Doesn't Hurt a Bit

Apply a few drops of Freezone on a touchy corn or a callus, instantly it stops aching, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, with the fingers. No pain at all! No soreness!

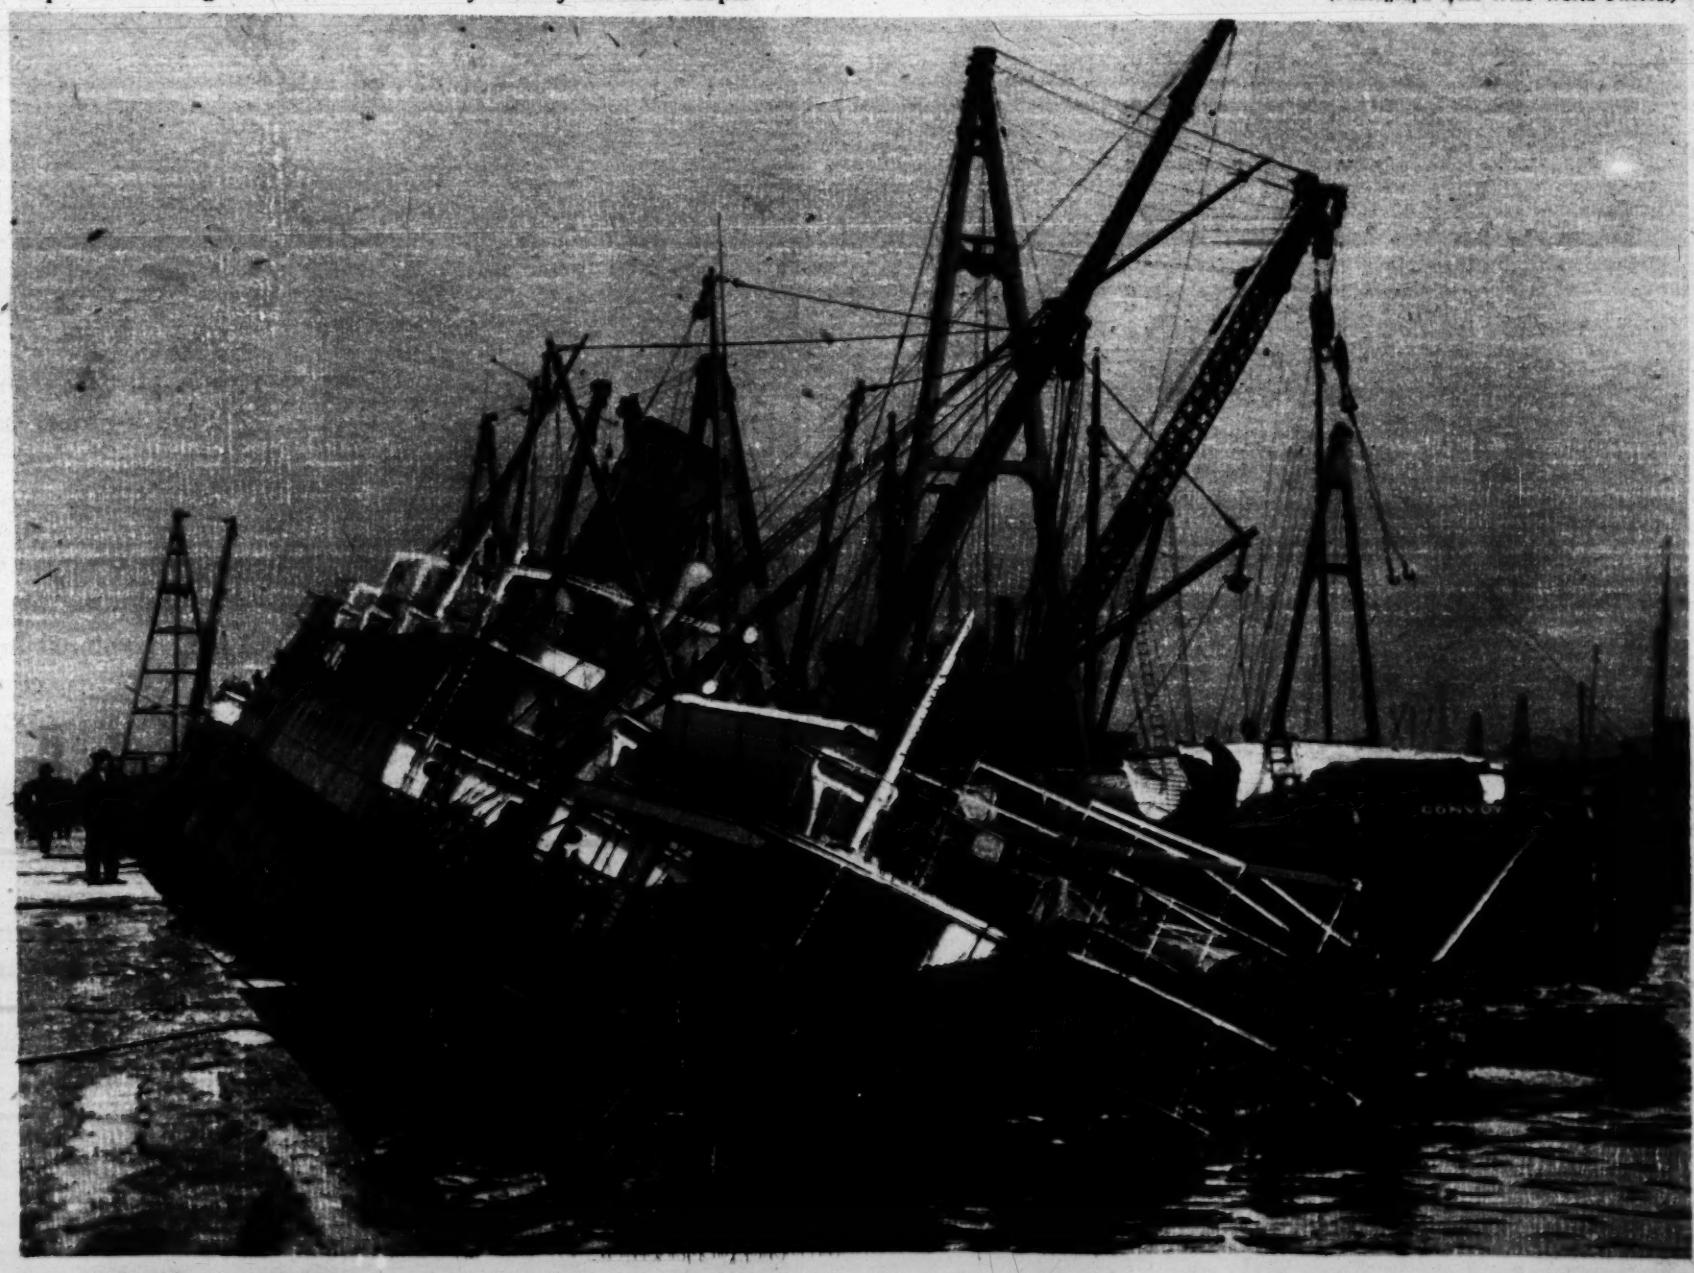
Any Corn — Anywhere — Also Calluses on Bottom of Feet

You can lift off every hard corn, soft corn, also corns between the toes and the "hard skin" calluses on bottom of feet.

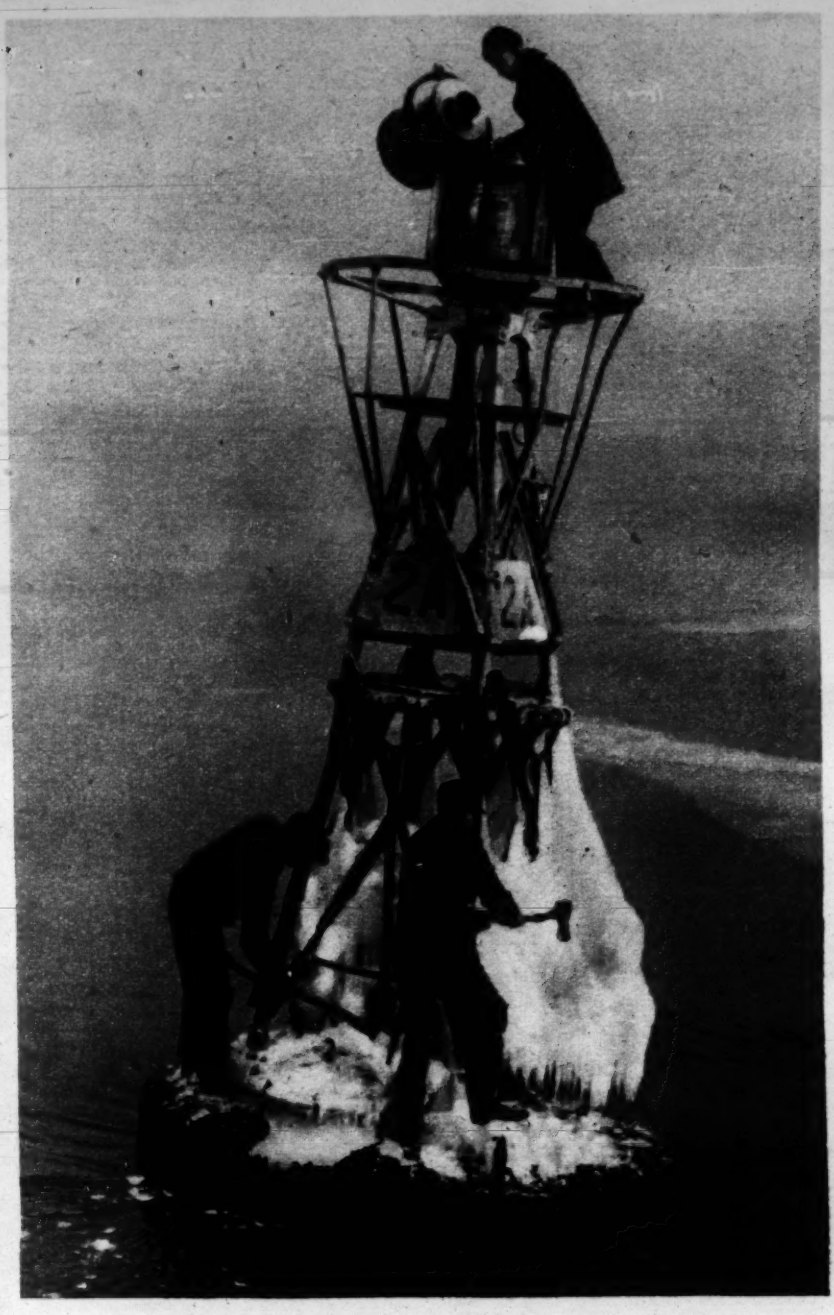
Costs Only a Few Cents — Try It!

Tiny bottles of Freezone, sufficient to clear your feet of every corn and callus, cost only a few cents—at drug stores.

NEEDED NO LONGER, SO THEY'RE BACK—Italians on the Henry R. Mallory returning to America from their native land, where they went early in the war to fight for Italy. The war being over, the Italian government repatriated them to the United States, where they prefer to reside, and sent them back in the company of the two officers in the foreground—Col. Vittorio Arpa (at the left) and Capt. Guido Magnoni of the Italian royal army medical corps. (Photograph from Wide World Photos.)



WHAT HAPPENED?—Apparently apropos of nothing, the United States shipping board steamer Moccasin sank the other day while lying at its dock in Brooklyn. So suddenly did the vessel fill with water and tip over that the officers and crew had just time to leap to the pier and escape injury. It was found that all the ship's cocks and the scuttle were open, but no one knew who did it or why. The shipping board has started an inquiry. (Photograph copyright by Keystone View Company.)



A DANGEROUS JOB—Sailors from the lighthouse tender Larkspur chopping ice from one of the many buoys in New York harbor. During the recent "cold spell" the buoys became so heavily coated that they sank low in the water and failed to send out their peals of warning. Clearing them was a hazardous task, for it was hard to get a foothold on the ice-covered metal.

THE LAST OF THE GERMAN CADETS—Scenes like this, in a famous military academy in Germany, will soon be things of the past. The cadets must be disbanded under the terms of the peace treaty, and it is proposed that the many academy buildings throughout the country be converted into industrial schools and similar educational institutions.

HEATHERBLOOM

TRADE MARK

Slender, straight-hanging, smartly-cut petticoats? Certainly! The most exacting requirements of the mode are met in the new Heatherbloom Models.

And all the crispness, the freshness, the silkiness of silk—with three times the wear at one-third the cost—for which Heatherbloom is pre-eminent, is still to be found in this wonderful fabric.

The marvelous durability of Heatherbloom causes these petticoats to keep their style and character always. You won't find it turning into a limp, draggled, "cottony" rag after a few weeks' wear! Heatherbloom is always new-looking, always bright, be it laundered ever so often.

Ask your dealer to show you the new models. Feel for yourself the "silkiness of silk" that distinguishes this fabric. You'll find in Heatherbloom just what you want three times the wear of silk at one-third the cost.

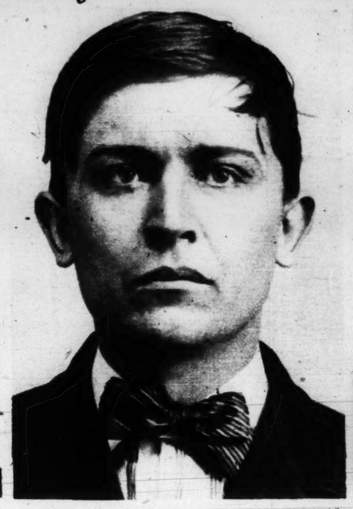
MAURICE ENRIGHT was Chicago's best known homicide artist. He was killed in front of his home on Feb. 3 and many prominent persons attended his funeral.



PETER GENTLEMAN died by the gun, just as his brother "Dutch" had died years before him. The shooting occurred over a card game last September.

VINCENT ALTMAN, formerly a policeman, had a select record as dynamiter, bomber, labor slugger and gunman before he was killed in the Briggs house bar in 1911.

"BIG TIM" MURPHY, union foe of "Moss" Enright, is thought to have been behind the murder of the gunman, for it was a labor war that led to Enright's death. Murphy is now awaiting trial.

MICHAEL CAROZZA, president of the street cleaners' union and "Big Tim's" lieutenant, is also involved in the passing of "Moss." Though only 26, he has been mixed up in two other killings as well.

VINCENZO COSMANO, boss of first ward street sweepers, has been named as the man who killed Enright. He is now a guest of Jailer Davies at the county jail.

"SONNY" DUNN, whose parents named him William, first got acquainted with the cops in 1908 for stealing coal. Since that time he has been accused of several fancy thefts and at least two killings.

"SMILING JACK" O'BRIEN was hanged at the county jail on Feb. 20. He was convicted of killing Detective Sergeant Richard J. Burke in a Halsted street saloon last summer.

PETER KANE was a minor leaguer among the bad guys, as witness the fact that he was captured by Mrs. Amelia Kaintuck when he tried to burgle her home a few years ago.

ISIDOR

by

Elizabeth Jordan

The figure waited. It had expected to wait through eternity. It lay still and patient until Isidor had scrambled down to its side.

"Gimme a Chanct," He Said. "I'm the Man fur You!" And He Was "SURE, I'm sorry, Mrs. Raleigh," said the foreman of the service garage. "But I can't get you no choffer, and that's flat." He pushed back his hat as he spoke, as if to give her a more open view of a countenance on which truth had set its seal.

"I done me best," he went on. "I got orders from headquarters for t' get you a man, an' I'd be glad t' do it without anny orders if I could. But it ain't a possible thing. There ain't a man left I can put a hand on—not if you was to pay fifty dollars a week. They're all in the war or in the munition fact'ries—and how I'm goin' to get me work done, with th' govermint puttin' exter jobs on me an' takin' me men at the same time——"

Mrs. Raleigh was surprised and pained, and showed it. She was not accustomed to being told that she could not have anything she desired.

"But I must have a man, Mr. Murphy," she explained, patiently. "I can't get along without one. I'm doing war work, too, you know, and I'm using my car constantly. My son is driving for me this morning, as you see, but he's doing it at the greatest personal inconvenience. He is sailing for France very soon, and he's extremely busy."

Murphy looked admiringly at the young officer sitting behind the steering wheel of the big car. He seemed about 22, and on each of his shoulders was the single silver bar of a first lieutenant. Every line of his handsome head and face and superb youthful figure revealed the influence of his military training. Murphy knew that Lieut. Raleigh was not alone the only child of his distinguished widowed mother but the core of her heart as well. And next month he was going "over there." That would be hard on the lad's mother! Murphy's keen eyes were softer when he turned to the lady, but his sympathy could not affect the facts they must face.

He launched into a poignant recital of his troubles and responsibilities, to which Mrs. Raleigh lent a preoccupied ear. He himself, it appeared, was doing the work of six men, which, owing to his marked ability, he was able to get away with. But after that he also had to do over most of the work of his green and temporary "crew," who hadn't an idea in their empty heads and didn't know an automobile from an airyplane.

"Who's that boy?" asked Mrs. Raleigh suddenly. She was looking over the foreman's shoulder at a figure behind him—a shabby, unkempt figure that obviously loitered and listened to the conversation, while it fixed on the lady the round, unwinking gaze of a little child.

Murphy turned and, recognizing the figure, uttered an ejaculation for which he promptly apologized. The figure sidled nearer.

"Say, lady," it said, "if yer lookin' fur a man to drive yer car I'm th' man yer lookin' fur!"

Once more the foreman permitted his tongue to outrun his judgment, and again he apologized. He curtly ordered the applicant back into the garage, but the applicant held his ground. He also held the lady's attention.

"Can he drive?" she asked Murphy.

The foreman regarded the applicant with an obvious but pent-up emotion which startled both the observers, for now the young officer had turned and was giving his attention to the interview. It had no perceptible effect, however, on its object.

"Yes, lady," declared the object.

Murphy ignored the interruption. "I don't know, ma'am," he answered. "But if he can drive," he added, "'tis the only thing on earth that lad can do—for God knows I've tried him meself on all the others."

He put a casual foot on the running board of Mrs. Raleigh's car, shoved his hat a trifle further off his heated brow, and utterly ignoring the presence of the object, launched into that young person's biography.

"He's twenty," he said, "an' Roussian, though he's bin in Ameriky since he was 5 an' 'tis hard t' tell him at a glance from anny other worthless young cub. He's

THE LITTLE FOLKS REBUILD DERBY HALL.

FOR several days after the great storm, which had wrecked the old hat school house, the Teenie Weenies did a great deal of measuring and talking.

"The hat itself is all right," said the Old Soldier, "and it can be fixed up just as good as it ever was."

"Well, I think we ought to have more room in it," said the General.

"There has been a great weight on the second floor with all the army tents and things stored there, and it seems to me we ought to arrange for more room while we have the chance.

"Quite right, General, quite right," cried Paddy Pinn. "The braces were awfully weak. Don't you all remember how the floor creaked when we stored those seven chocolate drops up there a year ago last Christmas? I think we had better have a cellar under the hat, that's what I do."

"I have been giving the matter a great deal of thought," said the Old Soldier, "and it seems to me that we could easily have a cellar under the hat by digging out the side of the hill. One end of the hat could then rest on the top of the hill and the other end could be braced with heavy beams and boarded up. This would save a lot of digging, and with steps leading up to the door it would make the building look much finer."

All the little folks were much pleased with the Old Soldier's idea, and the next morning they set to work rebuilding Derby hall. While some of the Teenie Weenies dug the cellar with the aid of several mice to pull the scrapers, the rest of the little men spent their time getting out a supply of lumber. Eight clothes pins were sawed up for the heavy beams and an old berry basket made enough boards to seal up the side. When the cellar had been finished and the beams set in place the little folks rolled the old hat in place on lead pencils.

It took a great deal of hard work, but when the task was finished the Teenie Weenies had a very beautiful building. All the army stores were placed in the cellar and that left the top floor entirely free for the soldiers to drill on.

Of course the first floor was used for a school room, and just two weeks and one day after the old hat had been blown off its foundation the Teeenie Weenie children were back at their studies.

bin on me pay roll two weeks, and he's got me heart broke."

A thought struck him and was reflected on his brightening face. "So if you'd like to try him, ma'am, perhaps it 'd be a good idee," he ended urgently.

Mrs. Raleigh's lips twitched. Her son grinned.

"O, come, mother," he urged. "What's the use of wasting time?"

Mrs. Raleigh was still studying the applicant, and the applicant held his head high and met her gaze with his unwinking blue stare. She prided herself on knowing something about human nature. The boy was ragged, dirty, obviously untrained, but those wonderful eyes interested her. They were like a blue flame. She thought an instant, and while she did so fate lifted the scales of two human lives and held them evenly balanced.

"Why have you kept him two weeks," she asked Murphy, "if he can't work?"

Murphy turned upon his employé another look of smoldering resentment.

"Because he says he's supportin' a wife an' mother," he confessed gloomily, "an' I s'pose they'd starve if I turned him off. Just the same," he added with deep meaning, "somethin's goin' to happen to that lad Saturday night, for it wasn't an hour ago that I seen him, with me own eyes, tryin' to yank a wheel off a car with a lever!"

The youth concerned in this revelation favored him with a forgiving smile.

"Say, boss, ye didn't tell me they was any special trick in gettin' a wheel off," he defended himself.

"Mother," muttered young Raleigh wearily, "what's the use?"

The foreman turned to her. "Perhaps he'd do you, ma'am," he said urgently. "If you'd get 'm a new suit of close an' make 'm wash himself up and get a shave, mebbe he could learn to drive the car."

His passionate desire to get rid of his protégé was now so obvious that Mrs. Raleigh's lips twitched again.

"What's your name?" she asked the boy.

"Isidor Synovitz."

"How long have you driven?"

"Three years."

"Th' hell he has!" exploded Murphy. "Excuse me, ma'am. But if that lad's drove three years 'tis a wheelbarrel he's drove, I'm thinkin'. That lad!" he added with utter scorn.

The lady pursued her researches. "For whom have you driven?" she asked the boy.

"Fur Dr. Henneke."

"Did he give you a reference?"

"Yes, lady, but I lost it."

"How long did you drive for him?"

"Six months."

The dialogue had been proceeding with gratifying briskness. Now it had a check.

"I have never heard of a Dr. Henneke. Where does he live?"

A little of Isidor's calm assurance deserted him.

"Why—lemme see, lady. I think it's—perhaps it's Sixty-sixth street—or mebbe Sixty-seventh street——"

Mrs. Raleigh addressed Murphy.

"It's just noon," she said. "Doctors are apt to be in their offices now. Will you look up Dr. Henneke's telephone number and ask about this boy?"

Murphy was gone nine minutes. In the interval young Isidor Synovitz, urgently hanging over the door of the car, with his towsled hair on end and his unwinking blue eyes on the lady's steady gray ones, spread his life before her as an open book. It was a fine volume, full of chapters of the simple heroism so often found among the poor. Even Raleigh showed an interest as it progressed. The boy had married at 19. He was now supporting not only his wife and his mother but two small children of his dead sister. But what of that? Work was his pastime, and duty was his delight.

"Say, lady, just gimme a chanct, wunt ye?" he reiterated. "I'm the man yer lookin' fur."

Murphy returned with the look of a man saddened but not surprised.

"I got the doctor, ma'am," he reported formally, "but whin he understood who I was talkin' about his language was that shockin' I couldn't repeat it to ye. I shut 'm off,' he added piously. "But he mintioned among other things that he had the lad three weeks!"

Mrs. Raleigh looked at Isidor Synovitz. His features were obscured by a temporary cloud through which the stars of his hopeful eyes still shone.

"You said six months, didn't you?" she asked him.

"Yes, lady. He must of fergot!"

"Have you a license?"

"Yes, lady." Isidor produced it, and Mrs. Raleigh examined it and passed it on to her son. It was a grimy affair, like its possessor, but it seemed to be in order.

Arthur handed it back after a mere glance. "Surely you're not thinking seriously of hiring this man," he protested, "after what Murphy and Dr. Henneke have said."

"But, Arthur," she reminded him, "you heard Mr. Murphy tell me that I can't get anybody else, and you know we exhausted every other means before we came here. What else can I do?"

The reminder sobered young Arthur. He himself was extremely anxious to be freed from duty in that car. As his mother had told Murphy, it was extremely inconvenient for him to act as her chauffeur. This was his last month in America, and every hour was infinitely precious—for there was a girl——

"Well," he said slowly, "perhaps I could lick him into shape. I'll give this afternoon to it if you like. But he must have a bath, a shave, and a haircut first!"

Mrs. Raleigh turned to Isidor. "You have heard what my son said," she remarked briefly. "Go and make yourself presentable and report at my house in an hour. My son will take you in hand then and discover whether you can drive. If he finds that you can he will get you a uniform and you may begin work tomorrow morning."

The gaze of Isidor Synovitz was like the flashing of a sword in the sun. He drew a sharp breath.

"Yes, lady," was all he said.

That night Arthur briefly reported that the boy could drive. "I've discovered, however, that he doesn't know one street from another," he added, "and it's dollars to doughnuts he can't tell the Flatiron building from the cathedral. You're going to have your hands full, mother."

When the new chauffeur reported for his duties the next morning, Mrs. Raleigh and her son looked him over with extremely critical eyes. His appearance was vastly improved. But even in his new uniform and sketchy cleanliness the effect he produced was dim. It was at once clear that he did not meet the exacting standards of the young officer.

"He still looks like something that has crawled out from under a log," remarked that youth unkindly. "And look at this windshield. Filthy! Look at the right mudguard. Spotted! Look at the tonneau. Covered with dust! Go back to the garage, clean the car properly, and report again in an hour."

Isidor and the car disappeared. When they returned the polished woodwork of the automobile reflected the approving faces of its owners, but the new glory of Isidor was utterly eclipsed. His hands were black. His collar was a wet rag. His new coat and trousers bore half a dozen grease spots. Arthur's contemptuous young eyes took in all these defects, moving swiftly from one to the other.

"Look at yourself," he invited. "Look at your face, your hair, your collar. Look at your hands. Then, for God's sake, go and wash up!"

"But listen! I got dirty cleanin' the car," wailed Isidor. "I can't clean the car and be clean meself, kin I?"

"Can't you?" asked Arthur coldly. "All right. Then you lose your job. The man that drives this car is going to drive it clean, or not at all."

Mrs. Raleigh waited two hours for her car that day. It was excessively inconvenient to do so, as she had several appointments she was thus unable to meet. She was rather short with the boy when he disappeared, and the corners of his mouth went down like those of a hurt child. Arthur's report did not help matters.

"I suppose he's hopeless," she agreed. "No doubt I was a fool to try him."

Arthur shook his head. "Leave him to me," he said. "I let you take him, so I'm going to make a real chauffeur of him, if I have to break his bones in the process."

It was Isidor's heart, however, and not his bones, that threatened to break. There began a month's ordeal which none of the three ever forgot. There was something of the tyrant in Arthur. There was also the intolerance of the young officer with all his training camp ideals of personal neatness, efficiency, and discipline. There was the fact that the cub must be whipped into shape, for each day showed the hopelessness of finding a successor. Above all, Arthur explained to his mother, there was his conviction that the boy's whole future depended on the training he received now.

That was the lieutenant's excuse for the incessant grilling he put Isidor through—that and the latter's almost incredible stupidity. In one day he talked more to Isidor than he had ever talked to all the chauffeurs his mother had employed in the past. For, alas, to tell Isidor something once, or twice, or even ten times, was not to make an impression on the vague possession that was Isidor's mind. When mother and son went out to drive, the instructions went on with an iteration that got sadly on the nerves of all concerned.

"Don't call my mother 'Lady,'" Arthur would say for the tenth time. "Don't forget to wash your neck and the backs of your ears. Don't drive without your gloves. Don't loll back in your seat or sit sidewise. Keep your eyes straight ahead. Don't chew gum while you're driving us. And for God's sake, don't let me have to tell you all that again."

The tuition went on without perceptible effect. Isidor continued hopelessly stupid, hopelessly untidy about himself and his clothes, and temperamental in his care of the car.

Arthur appealed to his vanity, in vain. He addressed him as man to man—also in vain. Only one thing moved Isidor—the threat of dismissal. Under the force of that he polished the car and even threw in a few dabs at the back of his own neck. He was therefore discharged quite regularly every night, and accepted again, without words but after a severe inspection, the following morning.

Isidor was getting badly on Arthur's nerves. The lieutenant was a high strung chap, temperamentally edgy and with little patience for stupidity. His own mental processes were singularly quick. He could not, or would not, understand that the chauffeur was not willfully "putting him into a straitjacket," as he expressed it. He developed rapidly from a strict disciplinarian to a tyrant, from a tyrant to a nagger, and from a nagger to a rapier tongued young Nero who gave his pupil neither rest nor mercy.

"Don't worry so much about him, dear," Mrs. Raleigh would beg. "I am sorry we took him on at all. But at least he is always prompt, and he does drive the car beautifully."

Here, in a sentence, were revealed Isidor's redeeming qualities—the two links that held him to his job. He was punctual and he was a born driver. He could do anything with his car. Even Arthur conceded this.

"You're safe with him anywhere," he admitted to his mother. "Of course, that's tremendously important. And he is really devoted to you, you know. He'd let you walk on him."

Devotion to "the lady" was Isidor's third redeeming quality. It was a devotion silent, doglike, and complete. He had never come in contact with any one like her before. In some way he had begun to realize who she was and all that she stood for. To be her employé, to drive her car, were the supreme joys of his life. Discovering this, Arthur promptly worked upon it.

"Do you want my mother to be ashamed of her chauffeur?" he demanded.

Isidor stared. "Is she ashamed?" (He always spoke of "the lady" now as "she" or "her.")

"Of course she is, when you look as you do today."

Isidor disappeared. When he returned he was immaculate. He remained so for several hours. But even this hint he had forgotten by the next day.

The process of "licking Isidor into shape" continued. Under it both Arthur and his mother began to look haggard. Arthur's nerves, to use his own expression, became "jumpy as the devil." Isidor's eyes took on a new look—the look of a hunted man. Then Arthur made a discovery which brought matters to a crisis.

"Mother!" he exclaimed one night, when the new driver had bloomed for a month in the garden of their lives, "I've learned the truth about Isidor! He isn't married! He hasn't any mother! He has no one to support but himself. And he's spending his money gadding about at night, joyriding in your car!"

Observing her stricken silence, he nodded, convincingly.

"It's true. I got it from Murphy. He's been watching 'the lad,' as he calls him. I met Murphy today, and he was full of it. He had seen some things himself, and a man who knows Isidor told him the rest."

"But why did he lie?"

"To get a job, of course. He loves to drive. He'd rather drive than eat."

Mrs. Raleigh sighed.

"Of course, you'll get rid of him," suggested her son. "They tell me at the garage that he has had the car out night after night, till 2 or 3 in the morning. Shall I fire him?"

His mother sighed again. "No," she said, wearily. "I will tell him myself. Send him to me in the morning. I will give him a month's wages and let him go. It doesn't matter much, now that you're sailing next week and I'm going to France myself in a month or two. I'll use taxicabs until I sail."

Her interview with Isidor was brief but painful. It was very difficult, indeed, to convince the boy that she was really discharging him and that the discharge was final. He had been discharged so many times.

"I'm goin' t' turn over a new leaf," he assured her, earnestly. It was not until she counted out his month's wages and handed them to him that he realized the truth. Then, after a terrified stare at her, a stare that haunted her for a long time, he stumbled from the room.

In the hall he met Arthur.

"Say, she don't mean it, does she? She ain't really firin' me, is she?" he asked with a last flicker of hope.

As it happened, Isidor looked particularly messy that day. Arthur surveyed him, and the scorn he felt showed in his eyes.

"She meant it, all right," he said, tersely. "Did you think she'd keep you when she found out you had lied to her and gone joyriding in her car?"

Isidor's head went down, then rose with a jerk. He looked straight at Arthur. To the horror of that practical young man, there were tears in the blue eyes.

"You're—you're sailin' tomorrow, ain't you?"

"I suppose so. Thinking of torpedoing the ship?"

Arthur spoke good-naturedly. He was sorry for the chap now, and exhilarated by the nearness of his own great adventure.

"No, sir," Isidor solemnly assured him. He hesitated. "She'll miss you. I wish," he added, "I could of stayed to look after her!"

Arthur was slightly embarrassed. "O, well," he said, "my mother will be all right. She'll be in Paris most of the time."

Isidor held out a grimy paw. "So long," he muttered. "Good luck."

Arthur took the paw.

"Thank you," he said. "Good-by."

He looked a bit thoughtful as he heard the outer door close softly on Isidor. He had meant to give the cub some final advice, but control of the interview had slipped from him.

. . . . . .

Fifteen months later Driver Isidor Synovitz of the American ambulance corps, "somewhere in France," stopped his car on the brow of a slight elevation in a shockingly shell holed road and looked vaguely about him.

He was "lost," and his surprise over the fact was as great as if the same phenomenon had not occurred a dozen times before. Indeed, the tendency of Synovitz to mislay himself and his ambulance had furnished for more than a month almost the only comedy in the crowded lives of his associates.

How he had got into the service was a problem. How, having gotten in, he remained, was a still greater one. He was the butt of his comrades, and the subject of half the amusing stories told at the mess table. It had once been seriously suggested that a large bell should be hung around Synovitz's neck as a means of tracing him when he disappeared. Others had a better idea than this. A large stone, they thought—a very heavy one——

At this point some one usually remembered that, after all, Synovitz could drive his car most awfully well, and that he was willing to work twenty-four hours a day during the great final drive now in progress, which perhaps helped to explain his occasional difficulty in keeping to the right direction, and the fact that now he found himself and his ambulance on a strange road, staring at a new and uncanny landscape through the blue-gray haze of a Picardy dawn. There was as yet only the faintest light around him, but in it he could discover the bleak outlines of shell tortured tree trunks, and of far reaching desolate fields, over which silence lay like a substance.

It was an unusual silence, a sort of waiting silence, as if the world in that moment had drawn a deep breath and held it suspended. Nothing stirred or moved. There was not the faintest shiver of the few leafless branches left on a poplar standing near. Under the moment's spell Isidor held his own breath, to listen more intently. Then he exhaled it with a gasp. A more deafenin noise than he had ever heard or imagin sat tense and alert, curiously interested in what was about to be told, yet on their guard, not knowing just what to anticipate. Even to Miss Blair and Rush, already acquainted with the purpose of the dinner, Harrison Hardy as he stood there seemed suddenly to have assumed an uncanny, threatening aspect.

"When Miss Ordinoff was murdered," began Mr. Hardy, "two millions of my money vanished."

"Two millions!" exclaimed Betty Le Baron nervously, as if the sum he had mentioned was almost beyond comprehension.

Unmindful of her interruption, he repeated almost word for word the story as he had told it the evening before, and when he had ended, without waiting for possible comment, turned to the man on his left.

"I don't quite know what you wish me to tell," said Mr. Dean. "I never had met nor heard of Miss Ordinoff. I knew that you were sending some funds to Russia. I knew that you and Mr. Cotesbury were planning to finance a counter revolution, but that is all. I did not even know that you had removed the money from your private vault."

"What you have said is quite sufficient," said his host approvingly. "It corroborates what I have already said of the absolute secrecy with which our plans were made. Now, Mr. Le Baron."

"You all know already all that I know about the case," the bridegroom began, "even if I did happen to be arrested for the murder. I came upstairs with Rush. A minute after we entered the apartment we heard Mrs. Le Baron scream and rushed in. There was the body of the girl on the floor. I had never seen nor heard of her before. I did not know until the next day who she was. I have no idea even now how her body came to be in our cupboard. Until you spoke I never had any suspicion that your millions had vanished."

"But," said Mr. Hardy, "is it not true that you only recently have returned from Russia?"

He shot the question at him suddenly as if hoping to surprise him into some damaging admission.

"I was recently in Vladivostok for less than three weeks," Le Baron explained.

"Did you meet any of Lenine's crowd there—any of the bolsheviki?" demanded Mr. Hardy.

"I met no government officials of any sort," Le Baron said. "I was entrusted with detailed estimates for railway supplies to be submitted to a certain firm in Vladivostok. All my time there was spent in trying to negotiate a contract. As soon as I received it I caught a steamer and returned home."

Betty Le Baron, as her husband spoke, had begun to fidget nervously, as if anticipating that she would be next called on, but as Le Baron finished his statement, Mr. Hardy turned to Anne.

"Now, Miss Blair," he said courteously, "will you tell us what you know about the case? First, just how did you come to be involved in it?"

"My apartment happens to be in the same corridor. I was passing the Le Barons' door and heard a woman screaming. Naturally I went in to see what was the matter. I knew right away, right from the start, that it was probably a waiter's crime, but I realized also it must be something more than that. The theory Mr. Smith advanced that it was a crime for robbery did not fit the facts."

"What makes you say that?" asked Mr. Hardy, plainly surprised.

"It was really very simple. Miss Ordinoff had been killed with a kitchen knife. That in itself practically cleared the Le Barons. It was the sort of weapon a waiter would naturally use. It was plain, too, that she had been killed in her own rooms and not in the Le Barons'."

"Why?"

"A woman attacked by a thief invariably screams. If Miss Ordinoff, attacked by the waiter, had run across the corridor, she would have been shrieking at the top of her voice and the whole hotel would have been aroused."

"Your reasoning is logical," Mr. Hardy admitted. "What is your theory, then, as to what actually happened?"

"The body was placed in Mr. Le Baron's apartment to throw suspicion on him."

"Why on me?" exclaimed Le Baron in astonishment.

"Merely to obscure the trail. There is no doubt in my mind that whoever planned the murder and theft had learned of the scheme to use this poor girl as a messenger. I suspect that she was watched from the moment she entered the hotel. The important thing the assassins needed to know was whether or not the money was in her possession. As soon as that was ascertained the waiter, sent to her roms, had his orders. Watching his opportunity, he killed her before she had an opportunity to make any outcry. As he started to leave, probably with the money, he saw Mrs. Le Baron go out of the apartment opposite, leaving the door ajar. That gave him a better chance of escape. If it was discovered that Miss Ordinoff was not in her room, nothing would be thought of it, until the body was discovered.

"But who got the money?" demanded Mr. Hardy. "The waiter didn't. If he had appeared in the kitchen carrying a handbag it would have attracted attention at once. What did he do with the bag?"

"It was taken charge of," said Anne positively, "by the criminal or criminals who planned to blackmail Ruthina Dushane."

"What?" cried Mr. Hardy explosively, his face taking on an expression of astonished incredulity.

"Let Mr. Rush tell the story of that," said Anne, "and then I'll explain."

At a nod from his employer Rush repeated the tale of the experiences he and Miss Blair had had in recovering the Dushane girl's letters, glad of the opportunity to narrate the cleverness manifested in the adventure by the girl he so much admired. Though Mr. Hardy already had heard the story, it was a revelation to the others, and held them spellbound.

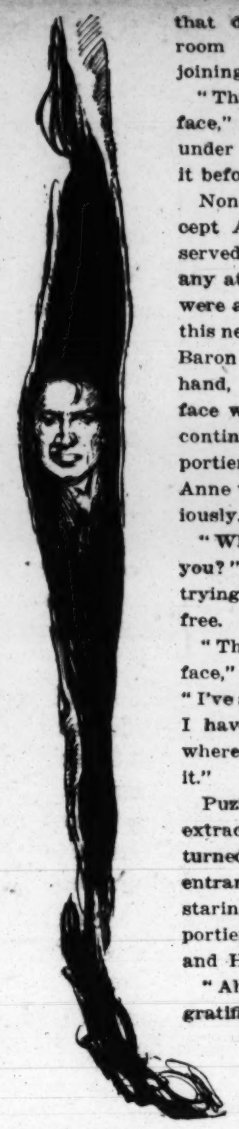
Thoroughly enjoying the sensation his narrative made, he brought it to a dramatic conclusion by telling of the rendezvous he had come upon the night before of Meyer, the headwaiter, and Caspar Dietz.

"And that, to my mind," he said in conclusion, "is the definite link between the two crimes. Meyer knows the man who tried to extort from Ruthina Dushane money that was deposited in Mr. Hardy's trust company. Meyer was found by me sleuthing around this very apartment at midnight, when both Mr. Hardy and I were out. Meyer hires the waiters employed here in the hotel. He hired the waiter who killed Olga Ordinoff. It is my earnest belief that the Ritsmore's headwaiter knows what happened to the handbag containing that money."

An excited buzz of conversation ran around the table as he sat down. It gratified him to see that his story of the connection between Dietz and the headwaiter had been a complete surprise to Mr. Hardy. He felt that the statement he had made strengthened and justified the position Anne had taken. He was well pleased with himself.

Suddenly he felt his hand under the table seized in a frightened grip, and turned to look at Betty Le Baron, thinking at first that she had had an attack of hysteria.

She was staring fixedly at the portieres that divided the dining room from the foyer adjoining.



"That face, that terrible face!"

"That face, that terrible face," she was moaning, half under her breath; "I've seen it before."

None of the others, except Anne Blair, Rush observed, seemed to be paying any attention to her. They were all too busy discussing this new revelation. Mrs. Le Baron still was clutching his hand, and with blanched face was shuddering as she continued to stare at the portieres. He saw that Anne was watching her curiously.

"What's the matter with you?" he asked impatiently, trying to shake his hand free.

"That face, that terrible face," she kept moaning; "I've seen it before. I know I have. I can't remember where, but I know I've seen it."

Puzzled to account for her extraordinary behavior, he turned to look toward the entrance at which she was staring. As he did so the portieres were thrust aside and Hugh Smith appeared.

"Ah," said Mr. Hardy in gratified tones, "the celebrated investigator who has been at work on this case for me has arrived. Ladies and gentlemen, may I present Mr. Hugh Smith."

As he spoke it dawned on Rush that there was a note of insincerity in Mr. Hardy's tone. He had exhibited no surprise at Smith's appearance without having been announced. There was only one explanation for it. Unquestionably Mr. Hardy had had Smith in the apartment all the while watching the guests, spying on them as they ate and talked. Bitter resentment rose within Rush at such a betrayal of hospitality. He felt that it was an outrage to have had them all under this secret espionage and was on the point of rising and giving vent to his wrath when Mr. Hardy spoke again.

"Perhaps Mr. Smith can tell us who planned the murder of Olga Ordinoff."

Smith, tall and gaunt, but entirely at his ease, still stood in the doorway, making no reply for a moment as his keen, piercing eyes thoughtfully studied the face of each guest in turn.

"I can tell you this much," he said, speaking with the utmost deliberation. "There is one here among you—one among you six—who helped plan the murder of Olga Ordinoc. One of you here knows what became of Mr. Hardy's missing millions."

At the astounding announcement by the investigator Mr. Hardy had employed an awed hush fell on his guests. In their faces was reflected the ugly thought that the sinister figure framed in the doorway had without warning flung into their midst. Among them the slimy serpent of suspicion was crawling, filling the minds of each with a sudden, terrorizing distrust of the others.

One of the six persons present, according to the detective's statement, was a murderer, a thief. Which one of them did he refer to?

John Rush's first sensation at the unexpected dénouement was one of furious wrath. He sensed at once that the scene had been contrived by his employer in gross violation of all the tenets of hospitality. There was no question in the secretary's mind that Hugh Smith, certainly with Harrison Hardy's approval, if not at his suggestion, had been hidden somewhere in the apartment where he could surreptitiously listen to the conversation and study the guests. But even in his anger the thought came to him that the detective's announcement might have been a mere ruse, contrived in the hope that the guilty person, if he really was present, might betray himself in this moment of surprise.

He glanced quickly about to study the effects of the bursted bomb, watching all of them closely except Mr. Hardy and Anne. It was absurd to suppose that Mr. Hardy had had anything to do with Olga Ordinoff's untimely end. A man would hardly murder his own messenger to steal his own millions. Of Anne Blair's utter innocence in the matter he was as positive as he was of his own. That left only three others, Dean, Bob Le Baron, and Betty. Which of them could it be?

Though the impression he had gained of Hugh Smith was that the man was cold and hard, a mere thinking machine, without mercy or humanity, with nothing of sympathy or kindness in his makeup, even Smith hardly would dare make such a bold statement unless he had in his possession facts, incriminating facts, to warrant it.

Was it Dean?

The banker was sitting bolt upright in his chair, his lips compressed a little more tightly than usual, and there was a slight frown on his face as though he resented the unusual situation in which he found himself; but beyond the surprise and annoyance he exhibited there was in his manner nothing of nervousness, no indication whatever that he felt in any way involved or incriminated.

It must be Le Baron that Detective Smith meant.

He looked, as Rush turned to study him, decidedly perturbed by what had happened. His face had gone white, and, though he kept his eyes full on the unannounced guest in the doorway, his fingers were plucking nervously at the tablecloth before him. The expression in his eyes, too, betrayed his discomfiture. There was fear there, a look as if he was facing hidden horrors. No, no, Rush could not believe it. He refused even to consider the thought that Bob Le Baron could be a murderer. He recalled their intimate days in college together, and never once had Le Baron showed a streak of meanness or cruelty. Rush felt that he could safely vouch for his old friend, but why was he so filled with fear? Were his fears for himself, or——

At the thought that had swiftly thrust itself upon him Rush turned quickly to look at Le Baron's bride, sitting beside him, and gasped in amazement as he saw her. She was indeed a pitiable spectacle. Frantic terror had convulsed her face. Her eyes were staring fixedly. Her hair seemed somehow to have become loosened and to be tumbling in wild disorder about her face. The blood had left her cheeks, and her slender hands were clenched so tightly that the knuckles stood out bony and white.

"Go on, Smith," directed Mr. Hardy; "tell us——"

But he got no further with his request. With a shrill, unearthly scream, Betty Le Baron sprang from her chair as if about to flee from the room. Hardly realizing what he was doing, Rush grasped her and forced her back into her chair. She stiffened in his arms and then collapsed in a helpless heap, moaning hysterically:

"That face! That terrible face again!"

WITH REGRETS

while I was making coffee an idea came to me just like that."

"I was wondering what was the matter with the coffee lately," commented Hod McGrew, clearing his throat.

"O, the whole thing was a fad," grunted Humison Melton, relaxing for an instant from his baseball argument. "It was just a fad with us. Most of those movies are worked out by the actors while they're going along. I knew a fellow that had a friend who worked in one of those film factories, and he told me. Wasn't a fad with Spike, though—'frameup' with him, I knew the minute—well, I won't speak ill of the departed."

It was over a week later that Hod McGrew, on going towards evening to the mail box near the front gate, saw a figure dart back into the roadside bushes as he approached. The mail carrier was always late in reaching the McGrew farm, and his wagon, after stopping, had progressed but a short distance on down the road.

McGrew took the letters from the box, peered into the bushes at the point where the figure had vanished, paused, turned back toward the house.

"Just a minute, Hod," said an eager voice behind him. "Here's everything I took from the safe that night. Yes, it's me—Spike. I didn't intend to take it at first, but the blamed combination turned."

"I'm glad you've come back," said McGrew.

"I think you've got a letter for me there," hastened Spike, anxiously. "It's just about time for it, the way I've figured the mails. You've no idea how a scenario writer watches for the mail man. It was looking for that answer that brought me back. I've been watching the box for the last couple of days, but you beat me to it tonight. You see, when I mailed the thing I gave my address here. Never thought anything about that until after I'd mailed it. Got to thinking so much about that darned thing and expecting the answer I couldn't stay away. I put a lot of time in on that plot, Hod. I'm kind o' anxious to get that answer."

McGrew shuffled through the letters. There was one for Spike. It was from the Embryo Film company, as Spike had anticipated, but, the envelope once opened, the contents seemed to baffle the recipient. There were several sheets in the letter, but it was only one, closely written, briefly written typewritten page that absorbed Spike's interest at the moment.

"They've returned it with regrets," sighed Spike. "They say I should stick to subjects I'm familiar with—that the safe robbery episode wasn't true to life."

Isidor

by Elizabeth Jordan

threatened to burst his eardrums. The heavens leaped into flame. The earth rocked under his feet. Simultaneously the narrow round rim of the sun appeared at the far end of the desolate fields.

Isidor stood up in his car and stared. His mental processes were very slow, but the explanation of his situation was borne to him now in the thunder of mighty guns and the long screech of shells. He had blundered into an attack—a big attack. He was on the edge of it—no, he was actually in it. With each instant that passed the pandemonium around him was doubled. On the road in front of him, not 200 yards away, a shell buried itself and split the earth in the simultaneous explosion that obscured everything behind a wedge shaped cloud of smoke and dust. Already the enemy was announcing his readiness to meet the attack.

Isidor got down from the driver's seat of the ambulance and dazedly looked around. He was not conscious of any special excitement, but he realized that he and his car made an excellent target where they were. It did not require great sagacity to see the wisdom of moving to a less conspicuous position. He hurriedly backed the car down the slight hill and off to the right of the road against a frail shelter formed by the shattered trunks of two trees. Then he shook his head. That was not enough. Off to the left, some distance away, he saw a clump of trees that retained some of their foliage. He ran to them, stripped as many branches as he could, and, returning, covered the car with them. As he did so it occurred to him that it might be wiser to slip back down the road, either with or without his ambulance. But even as the belated thought came, another shell fell, this time in the rear, and he fell on his face and dug into the earth to escape its flying fragments.

"You have heard what my son said. Go and make yourself presentable and report at my house in an hour."

He decided to stay where he was. The car was pretty well camouflaged. It would have to take its chance, and so would he. He locked the car. Then, taking a position behind one of the jagged tree trunks, he stood fascinated, watching his first big battle.

He was seeing things—wonderful things—glimpses of heaven or hell—or both. Lights flared in the sky. Rockets rose ceaselessly. New stars trembled on the shrieking heights—stars of blue and red and green. And in these lights were revealed the stark and graying fields, the swamps and marshes, lit up by infernal fireworks.

Forgetting his shelter, Isidor strained his head far to one side of the protecting stump. His body shook under the pounding of his heart. For, yes, those moving lines out on the field before him were men—men like himself, men with loves and hates and ambitions and memories, men going into action in the face of this universal destruction, this avalanche of fire and steel.

From that instant he forgot everything except those moving lines. On them he kept his blue eyes, with their unwinking stare. The lines moved pretty fast, dropping, rising, going forward, dropping, not always rising again.

Time passed. It must have been a long time, for the sun was up now, lighting the sinister fields, the fat outlines of observation balloons, and even the beautiful lines of aeroplanes, high against the increasing blue of the sky. There was a slight lull in the action of the artillery, and in this lull the observer suddenly caught new sounds, which at first he did not recognize. Then they took on a human note, and at last he knew them for what they were—the shrieks of men in agony.

"Gee!" mused Isidor. "Them fellers is bad off. I guess I gotta git out there, some way."

Something that was almost a complete mental process took place in him. He returned to the ambulance. Morphine would be the most urgent need, he decided, with those cries still ringing in his ears—morphine, and bandages, and water. While he was selecting these a shell burst very close to him. Isidor wiped the mud off his face and surveyed with annoyance another huge crater in the road behind him.

He strapped his first aid supplies to his back and took a final survey of the battlefield. His mental processes were again very slow and extremely elemental. Indeed, he was not conscious of thinking things out at all. His job was to "git out there to them fellers"—a task which, if unostentatiously performed, should be "easy."

He dropped flat, and, leaving the mutilated tree trunks behind him, crawled slowly out on the field. He had to make a little journey before he came to any of "them fellers," and it was an unexpectedly difficult one. He met all sorts of obstacles; shell holes, half filled with mud and water, remnants of barbed wire fences, the ghastly remains of dead horses, and, twice, the still ghastlier remains of dead men. Both had been dead for days. Very slowly it dawned upon Ambulance Driver Synovitz that he must be out on "No Man's Land," and that off there in front, a scant three hundred yards away, those tangled twists of rusty wire with wide gaps through which khaki-clad figures were streaming, marked the beginning of the German lines. Something whizzed past his ear, whispering its tragic message as it went.

"What in hell am I doin' here?" reflected Synovitz, uneasily. "That was a bullet, that was!"

He remembered his ambulance back in the road. It was his job to drive that ambulance, not to go crawling over the earth like a damned angle worm. A second bullet plopped into the earth beside him.

"Some boche has got me number," he decided. "He sees me crawlin' here."

He lay perfectly still. A third bullet sang on its willing way, but its way was several feet from him. He grinned, flattened himself against the ground, and almost ceased to breathe. It was a queer game, this havin' some one you didn't know shoot at you like you was a nigger's head in a shootin' gallery. Something, unknown up till now, stirred in Isidor. For the first time in his phlegmatic life he was conscious of a thrill.

He lay there for a long time—almost an hour. The battle swept away from him. The noise of shot and shell was as great as ever, so great that he no longer heard the voices of men. At last he crawled on, slowly and carefully now, to avoid the unwelcome attention of another sharpshooter. His outstretched hands came in contact with a human figure—a very silent one. He drew himself close to it, and for a few moments lay staring hard at the face of a dead young soldier who seemed merely to have fallen peacefully asleep. Isidor was used to this look of peace on the faces of dead fighters. He had seen it many times before.

"He's got his," he commented aloud, and crawled on and on, stupefied by the noise, half suffocated by the smoke.

He was among the wounded now, but most of the wounded seemed to be dead. There were a lot of them, all around him. To his great surprise, Isidor felt rather sick. That was another experience which was new to him. Many more were to come during the day. There was a second lull in the battle. The thunder of the guns was subsiding, becoming intermittent. He began to hear again the voices of men, voices that led him to them.

Now at last he could get busy. He opened the blood soaked coat of his first field patient, and then hastily closed it again with a shake of the head. He eased the man's agony with a shot of morphia, gave him a drink of water, and crawled on. That chap's troubles would be over in an hour or two, he knew. The thing was to find some chaps who could be helped. He found a number. They kept him busy. He made them the center of a little field hospital of his own, and crawled back and forth, as much as he dared, ministering to them.

In the afternoon a bullet caught him high in the left shoulder, but he sat up in the field and bandaged his own wound quite expertly. The battle was raging again with new vigor. Men were running past him, fresh men in fresh attacks. One of the men almost trod on Isidor's bending figure, then checked himself with a chuckle.

"Attaboy!" he cried cheerfully, and tossed down his water bottle and a package of cigarets. The next instant he had run on with his companions, while Isidor grasped his gifts with a thankful heart. He had wanted that water badly. His own supply was gone. The healthy human contact cheered him, too.

He divided most of the water among the wounded. He needed a drink himself, but it did not occur to him to take one. He was all right.

Late in the afternoon he found himself on the edge of a shell hole, drawn there by a faint call. Peering over its slimy edge, he saw a figure lying half in and half out of the muddy depths. It was a painful thing to look at—that figure, covered as it was with mud and blood. It would be a delicate job to get it out of there, up the crater's filthy, slippery sides. Isidor nodded down at it.

"Wait a minute," he suggested. "I'm comin'."

The figure waited. It had waited since 8 o'clock that morning. It had expected to wait through eternity. It lay still and patient until Isidor had scrambled down to its side. Then, when he had poured the last of the precious water into its mouth, it opened its eyes and spoke.

"Hello, Isidor," it said faintly.

Isidor dropped the water bottle, and stared without recognition at the blood covered face. But the voice gave him his cue.

"Mr. Arthur?" he stammered.

"Yep."

"Mr. Arthur" said no more. He had drifted out on some strange sea, whose peace was suddenly shot through with new pangs of agony. For Isidor was dragging him out of the water and to a comparatively dry hollow on the side of the shell hole. As the rescuer expected, it had been a hard job. Mr. Arthur was "all in." He was very slowly bleeding to death. Isidor stopped the flow of blood, bandaged his wound, gave him a dose of morphine, and then, crouching beside him, sat staring at him with the familiar wide eyed gaze.

"I gotta git him outa here," he muttered. "She'd want me to."

He expressed this thought to Mr. Arthur a little later, when the lieutenant's eyes opened for a moment. They closed again.

"Thanks, old man," he whispered. "But it can't be done."

Isidor spoke urgently. "It's gotta be done," he said. "She'd want it done. Wouldn't she? You jest bet she would. I gotta do it. I gotta git you outa here."

The thought was a fixed idea with him. Again and again he expressed it to Arthur. He almost forgot his other wounded—almost, but not quite. Several times he crawled back to them, then returned to his new patient.

"Listen. I gotta scheme," he would begin, urgently. But Arthur Raleigh, having lived like a spoiled boy, was dying very much like a man. He thought nothing could save him. He saw no reason why another life should be sacrificed in vain.

"Get out, Isidor," he commanded faintly, in an interval of consciousness. "You've done all you can for me. Go back to the others. When it's dark you can crawl back to the lines—or the Red Cross fellows will find me. Get out. Take your chance. Don't—bother—about—me."

He drifted off again after this effort, and Isidor sat looking at him in silence.

"If I could git him to an am'blance," he muttered, "an' if the amb'lance is there yit——"

There were a good many "ifs" in Isidor's program, but nature and luck were with him. At 5 o'clock a terrific thunder storm came up. As if in mourning for the dead, a black pall spread over the heavens. Rain poured steadily upon those who suffered and those who were past all pain forever. Much could be done new. Isidor dragged Mr. Arthur to the top of the shell hole and stretched him beside it, the rain pelting on the upturned face.

"I'm goin' to crawl back to the amb'lance," he explained, still breathless from this effort, "an' carry you. Don't waste any time talkin'." His voice became almost hysterical. "I'm goin' to do it!" he cried, as Arthur tried to object. "She'd want me to!"

He flattened out, hands and knees braced, beside the young man.

"Get your arms 'round my neck," he commanded. "I'm goin' to do it!"

. . . . . .

How Isidor Synovitz was able to find his way back across "No Man's Land" was one of the miracles of that attack. How, at the same time, he carried a desperately wounded young lieutenant, and directed two more wounded men who safely followed him, was a greater miracle. No one could explain this but Isidor, and Isidor was no longer in a position to explain anything.

He only knew that he had gone down into hell in that field of death—a hell of rain, and mud, and darkness, of bursting heart and straining lungs and bulging eyeballs, through which he carried some burden that kept slipping off and had to be hauled on again, and directed something else that had to be talked to to keep it going. Isidor did almost his last talking during that journey. His sole remaining comment was made to Mrs. Raleigh, a week after the episode occurred, when she passed from the hospital room of her convalescent son to that of his dying rescuer. During that week the armistice had been signed, and the greatest war in the history of the world had ended.

"No constitution," said the American surgeon, curtly, as he and Mrs. Raleigh stood by the narrow bed, looking down upon the quiet figure with the cross pinned to the breast of its hospital shirt. "The wound was nothing. That we could have cured in a few days. But the pneumonia——"

Young Synovitz stirred restlessly, opened his blue eyes, and stared around him in the last futile effort of the human soul to hold fast to something in this life. They fastened on the wet gray eyes of the woman who suddenly sank on her knees beside him. The blue gaze brightened. "She" was with him; she had been with him for days, and that was as it should be. Other things were vague. "Say, lady," he croaked hoarsely, "just gimme a chanct, wunt ye? I'm the man fur you!"

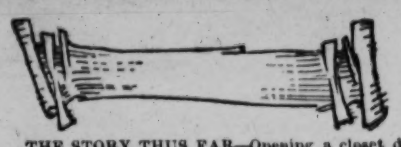
WHICH?

by William Johnston



THE STORY THUS FAR—Opening a closet door in her hotel room, Betty Le Baron, a bride of three days, is horrified at discovering the body of a beautiful young woman with a knife through her heart. To make matters worse, Bob Le Baron, Betty's husband, refuses to explain his movements just before the discovery of the crime and is arrested on suspicion. Several people interest themselves in the case; among them John Rush, an old friend of Le Baron's, now employed as secretary to Harrison Hardy, a capitalist, and Anne Blair, a young woman who lives in the hotel. When Rush tells his employer that the murdered girl has been identified as Olga Ordinoff, daughter of a Russian general, Hardy exclaims: "Then they've got the $2,000,000!" He appears greatly disturbed, though he will not explain why, and sends Rush to engage the services of Hugh Smith, a private detective. Smith, after a brief investigation, fixes the crime on a waiter, whereupon the latter confesses and kills himself. This serves to free Le Baron, but does not satisfy Anne Blair, who insists there is more to the affair than appears on the surface. She determines to find out what Hardy knows and to learn the significance of a little black cross she saw on the closet door when she happened into the Le Barons' room just before the police came. This cross, Rush remembers, disappeared mysteriously after he had seen the hotel's head waiter, a man named Meyer, standing near the door and fumbling with a handkerchief. Meanwhile Anne becomes interested in Ruthina Dushane, an heiress, and manages to recover for her some letters which Caspar Dietz, a former gardener of her father's, has been using as a basis for attempted blackmail. Hardy allows himself to be persuaded to call on Miss Blair, and finally reveals to her that he has been involved in an attempt to restore an imperialistic government in Russia, and that the murder victim was to have taken the first installment of funds to that country. A conference is arranged, to be held at a dinner in Hardy's rooms. The night before this dinner, Rush glances into a lunchroom and sees Meyer, the head waiter, and Caspar Dietz together. This strengthens a growing suspicion that the murder case and the attempt to blackmail Miss Dushane are in some way connected.

SEVENTH INSTALLMENT.

The Face in the Doorway.

WHEN the hour arrived that had been set for Harrison Hardy's dinner John was in a state of sullen desperation, the penalty of his rapidly growing passion for Anne Blair. Never before had he felt so keenly the ignominious depths of slavery in a private secretary's position. More firmly than ever he was resolved to quit his job at the earliest opportunity and set about making for himself some place in the world where he would be master of his own time.

Mr. Hardy, as if with malicious intent, had contrived to find duties all day long that absorbed every minute of his time, leaving him no chance to see Anne or communicate with her. The meeting between the head waiter and Caspar Dietz that he had chanced upon the evening before had assumed to him now a sinister significance. He was positive that in it lay the clew to the solution of the enigma of the missing money, yet he realized that it was a problem too great for him to solve. It needed Anne's brains.

The more he thought about it the more convinced he was that Meyer was one of the conspirators who had brought about Olga Ordinoff's death. A trusted employé at the hotel, Meyer assuredly was in an excellent position to keep fairly well posted on Mr. Hardy's affairs. There was, furthermore, much about his recent conduct that demanded explanation. A waiter had killed the girl. It was Meyer who employed the waiters. It would have been easy for him to have had a man posted in the corridor to receive and secrete the black hand bag containing the money without arousing suspicion. In the Le Barons' apartment, while the detectives were examining the hotel employés, he had seemed nervous and fidgety. It was after he had gone from the room that Rush had noted that the little black cross on the door to which Anne had called his attention had been erased. Both he and Anne had observed recently that the man seemed to be unusually watchful of their meetings. Then, too, there was the circumstance of finding him in the Hardy apartment late at night. What had he been doing there?

On top of all this the episode of last night surely was almost enough in itself to convict him. Dietz had been trying to extort from Miss Dushane money that had just been deposited with Mr. Hardy's trust company. What could have brought Meyer and Dietz together except a plot of some sort?

Under ordinary circumstances, if Anne Blair had not come into his life, he undoubtedly would have told his employer of his newest discovery, but he had formed the habit of talking things over with Anne first. Besides, on this particular day, Mr. Hardy had been entirely different from his ordinary self, fussy, captious, demanding, taking meticulous interest in every detail of the dinner he was to give, finding errands for Rush to do that kept him constantly on the jump.

Twice he had neglected the manifold duties thrust upon him to phone Anne's apartment, but each time she had been out. Bitterly he cursed himself for not having kept closer watch on the two men. In his impetuous desire to tell his fellow worker about their meeting he had lost their trail.

If only he could see Anne! He knew that her clever brain would have found some theory to account for this latest development. He felt sure she would have been able to interpret it and suggest some practical thing to do.

Moreover, he was greatly bothered by Harrison Hardy's attitude toward Anne. Viewing their meeting with a lover's jealousy, he was convinced that Mr. Hardy, strongly attracted to the girl at his first glimpse of her, was desirous of planning a dinner so notable that it would impress her and arouse her interest in him. Ordinarily when Mr. Hardy entertained it was in one of the public dining rooms and he would give the matter little thought beyond sending for the maitre d'hotel and giving him carte blanche. Although in his own apartment he had a special kitchen and a complete dinner service, his secretary did not recall its ever having been used before.

For this dinner, however, Mr. Hardy had insisted on having the hotel's gold service. He had had Rush order a great centerpiece of rare orchids, so constructed that it could be parted into wonderful corsage bouquets for the women guests. He had dispatched his secretary to a jeweler's to procure costly dinner souvenirs, solid gold vanity cases for the women, with their initials engraved, and gold cigaret cases for the men. He had given his personal attention to every detail, to the viands, the cocktails, the wines, the place cards.

Only in one respect had his plans miscarried. All of the guests invited had responded to his invitation with eager alacrity, all except Hugh Smith, the investigator in whom he seemed to have such faith.

"Smith can't come to dinner," he had told Rush, with obvious disappointment. "He can't get here until about 9:30, so I have asked Dean of the trust company. He already knows a lot about the case."

As Rush, driven with work until the very last moment, was hurrying into his dinner clothes, he kept hoping that Anne would be the first to arrive. Perhaps he might have opportunity for a word with her before the others came. But even in this he was disappointed. The first to come in were the Le Barons, both frankly flattered and delighted at the unexpected opportunity of meeting such a famous man as their host at his own table.

Betty Le Baron, chatting volubly, more than likely from sheer nervousness and excitement, as soon as presentations were over attached herself to Rush, driving him to desperation with an overwhelming flow of uninteresting piffle.

Dean—Gordon Dean—president of the great trust company that Mr. Hardy controlled, came in next, a middle aged bachelor with an athletic figure and a money face, high forehead, long pointed nose, and thin, cruel lips. Although Rush had known him ever since he had been in Mr. Hardy's employ, he never had observed him particularly; but now, thinking of the possibility of a traitor in Mr. Hardy's own office, he studied him closely.

Although in his attitude toward the multimillionaire he was dignifiedly deferential, Rush felt that Dean was cold, hard, and unemotional, without imagination, but honest, thoroughly honest. In his steel gray eyes there was no shiftiness. There wasn't the slightest possibility, Rush decided, of his having been in any way concerned in any conspiracy to get the money from Olga Ordinoff.

At last Anne came.

With glowing eyes Rush, fastened unwillingly to Betty Le Baron's side, watched Anne as she entered, a trifle late, looking more regal than ever in a simple gown of black that set off the whiteness of her bared arms alluringly and revealed the patrician charm of her slender, shapely neck. Her eyes were sparkling and her cheeks, always aglow with the flush of health, seemed now even more highly colored and attractive.

As Harrison Hardy greeted her with stately courtesy, the glint of admiration in his eye seemed to Rush to carry a dire menace to his own happiness—and Anne's. He was even more assured now that Mr. Hardy was bent on conquest, and well he knew what a powerful and dangerous opponent he would prove to any one who tried to block his plans.

To Anne was given the place of honor at Mr. Hardy's right, with Le Baron on her other side. On his left Mr. Hardy put Dean, next to him Mrs. Le Baron, with Rush between her and her husband. As the dinner progressed and course after course of exquisitely prepared dishes was brought in by liveried servants, Harrison Hardy revealed himself in a new and unfamiliar rôle. He talked incessantly, entertainingly, on all manner of subjects except the one topic that had been his motive in giving the dinner. He told interesting tales of his travels, his experiences in the street, his early struggles, addressing them always to Anne as if determined to win her interest and esteem.

And to Rush, miserably watching them from the side lines, Betty Le Baron talked incessantly, reciting at tiresome length the little tittle tattle and gossip of her own home town, telling in detail how Bob had come to propose to her and especially dwelling on the one great adventure of her life, her experiences in escaping from Belgium, where she had been in a convent studying music when the country was invaded by Germany. In vain she described the brutalities she had witnessed, the panic, and flight.

Not for a second did she distract Rush's attention from the conversation between his employer and Anne. Le Baron and Dean also seemed to be absorbed in listening to their host, so Rush was left practically marooned and defenseless with the chattering bride. It was with a sensation of great relief that he saw his employer, after the coffee and cordials had been put on the table, dismiss the servants with a wave of his hand.

"I am going to tell, without any reservation whatever, just what I knew about Olga Ordinoff. I hope each of you will do the same."

As Mr. Hardy rose from his chair and looked about on the faces of his guests, a hush fell over them all. Even Mrs. Le Baron was silent, thrilled with a sense of something portentous about to come.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said Mr. Hardy, "I have tried to make this an unusual dinner, for it is for an unusual purpose I have asked you to assemble here tonight. A few nights ago a young woman was murdered in this hotel. It happens that each one of us here knows something about that mysterious crime—something perhaps that the rest of us do not yet know. Miss Blair suggested to me that possibly by comparing notes, we might be able to unravel the mystery. I am going to tell, without any reservation whatever just what I knew about Olga Ordinoff. I hope each of you will do the same."

The faces of all his guests were fastened on his face. At his announcement there had been a sudden stiffening up. Each of the

OFF THE ARM

Tips, They Say, Speak a Language of Their Own; Here's the Tale of One That Talked Too Much

THE floor manager of the Dairy Lunch had "fired" Hazel Mills. He had discharged her without notice, on the spot, with scarcely more ceremony than the bolsheviki employed dethroning the czar. And cutting Hazel Mills out of the service forces of the Dairy Lunch was no minor matter, for she had the star station and the flower of the following among the regular customers.

O, yes, waitresses have individuality, and in their numbers are to be found about as many x's and y's and o's among units in setting up human equations as in most other walks. Waitresses are people, and no two people are the same, no matter where they are put. Temperamental bricklayers are on record. Nothing equalizes plural persons like an army, where all privates wear the same regulation clothes, live the same regulation lives, follow the same regulation rules, walk all at once, stop all at once; yet any second lieutenant will tell you that in a company of 200 there are 200 different men, each with his distinctive faculties, favorable points, and shortcomings. Waitresses have certain general similarities, but more specific differences. And, besides, waitresses are females.

The eating public does not enter restaurants primarily to observe the personal points of waitresses; but after the eating public gets in it can hardly help noticing them, and if it is a steady patronage those who compose it will take serious notice of the girls who serve them.

Most cafés have consistent patronage. Men who aren't true to anything else in the world are true to their cafés—and many of them to their waitresses. The flavor of the coffee—there are 8,765,432 different shades of flavor in as many coffees—or the crust of the buns, or the odor of the pork that crowns the beans, or the fork resistance of the frosting on the layer cake—any of these things has been known to keep a man attached to one café for years. And the color of a certain waitress' eyes has mayhap turned the same trick.

Not that a waitress' first charm is in her eyes. It is in her feet. Men are accustomed to noticing that all women's faces differ, but they do not pay as close attention to the widely diversified feet. Waitresses in a place all dress alike, so that vast personal mark, taste, and selection in dress, is removed. But they pick their own shoes, the sole requirement being that the shoes be black.

Waitresses walk a good deal—miles—between tables and kitchen. And that makes for hurty feet. So waitresses as a rule seek comfort in their footwear. That makes most of them slew about in ungainly boots, corn proof and sloppy. But the waitress who can confine her feet in neat lowcuts, petite and shapely, yet keep at her work, has a far start on her sisters.

Be it foot or smile, efficiency or comeliness, good humor or speed, a pretty figure or strict attention to business—be it whatever it may be that is attractive to one who eats yet sees and feels—there can be no gainsaying that waitresses who have assets can commercialize them in their calling. Men wait for tables to be waited on by their chosen waitresses just as men wait in barber shops to be shaved by their favorite barbers, because they crave just that touch, just that especial manner of going at it.

And Hazel Mills had more repeaters anxious to sit at her tables than any other girl in the Dairy Lunch; perhaps than any other girl in any Dairy Lunch. And she "made fine money."

How much does a waitress make? How much does an actress make? Some actresses earn $30 a week and some $3,000. A waitress can scarcely reach $3,000, but a waitress with any get up and go to it these days who cannot garner $60 a week, or $10 a day, around a nucleus of from $6 to $9 weekly salary, is burning up her soles and getting back pains for a lot of misers. She should hand in her apron and tackle fortune in a restaurant where men know what it's worth to get what they want the way they want it.

Hazel pocketed never less than her $10 a day unless she chanced to get a strong run of women in her chairs. It is an ungallant fact to record—but I'll leave it to any waitress in the land—women are notoriously lean tippers. They get service accordingly, too. I'll leave that to any woman who lunches or dines habitually in restaurants.

Men eaters average 20 cents the plate at luncheon and 25 at dinner. Why the evening meal should extract more than the midday one nobody knows, any more than any one knows why girls uniformly get smaller tips than men for equal service. Hoyle or Ward McAllister or Diamond Jim Brady or some one accepted as a mentor of café ethics established an unwritten rule about tips: 10 per cent of the check. More men follow that rule than ever think of the golden rule. But it applies only to male waiters. There is no arbitrary scale whereby to measure what a girl should get, but custom makes it usually a round amount, irrespective of any graduation in check totals.

And so, if a girl has a patronage which abides by the standard ethics she can dish forty-eight male glasses of water daily and "knock out" $10. We say "glasses of water," which is the professional term for a customer, since every one receives a glass of water, and therefore that is a sure way to classify an integer, just as each of a flock of cattle is a "head" and each of a herd of credit buyers is an "account." Female glasses of water are not reckoned at all—they are the profit and loss column; if a dainty hand does lay down a dime the waitress kisses it with surprise and throws it in as lagniappe.

Pretty waitresses—and I blush to unveil this truth—get more in tips than those less endowed by nature. As has been twice already emphasized, the largesse is in ratio to the generosity of males. Need it be said again? Or need more be said at all?

But glasses of water, colorless as they may all seem, and alike, run to differing grades and classes, too. There are prospects whom the head waiter can usher to anywhere and they will stolidly follow the regal sweep of her upraised index finger. These are the masses with no decided preferences or not enough push about them to demand preferred positions. Then there are those who come in with predetermination to get a superior seat—superior because it commands a better view or because it is out of the draught, or because it is hard to get—and they will cow the head waitress—or bull her—into catering to their selective desires, and this class is usually of the more prosperous and prodigal sort, and eats better and tips more. Therefore the particular glasses of water are to the waitress what the first row hound is to the ticket speculator.

Hazel had worked up to the choicest sector of tables, which were steadily surrounded by the pick of the choosers. Her checks totaled more than those of any other girl in the Dairy Lunch and her fees topped the others in about the same percentage.

Hazel was pretty. She had soft coils of deep brown hair. The coils tossed and flopped engagingly, but never were dislodged so far that any one was known to have ever seen her ears. That seems to be the last vestige of latter day feminine modesty—keeping the ears hidden. And Hazel, if she had sightly ears, could afford to be modest, for she had charms to spare that fashion did not make her conceal.

"All of a sudden she hauls off and hands Mr. Duncombe a slap in the face that you could o' heard in the kitchen."

She had a red little mouth and teeth that illuminated her smile with a glistening whiteness and unwavering scalloping of dental perfection so unblemished that it seemed fascinatingly mechanical rather than complacently natural. Her slender young body was strong and flexible, and when she tripped in and out among the coming and the going, between the tables and past the other entering and exiting waitresses, three platters of beef a la mode, with potato pancakes, balanced on one arm and four cups of coffee and a club sandwich resting on the other, a ballroom belle dancing to intoxicating music might have envied her the light sureness of her step and the admirable harmony of all her lines.

We say the foodstuffs were on her arm. In the Dairy Lunch that was the style of service, and, to differentiate it from the rattly old way of carrying in plates and cups on tin trays it is technically called "dealing off the arm." It is postgraduate work, and the degree of skill at it which a trained waitress can attain is well nigh incredible.

As a "kidder" she was fleet and telling, and never whipped a comeback more cuttingly than its parent line demanded. Good natured banter she could absorb without stopping more than a smile from her operations. If a Johnny forgot himself and overreached, Hazel had a series of pat dampers. Long experience in café work and rough work had given her a set of rejoinders to be used on cues. For example:

He—Ever go out?

She—Don't get gay.

He—Anything on for tonight?

She—Say, where d'you get that stuff?

He—How'd you like to take in a show with me?

She—What do I want to see a show for, when so many goofs hand me laughs in here?

He—Got a phone?

She—Uhu—outgoing calls only—in the corner drug store.

He—Who takes you home nights?

She—My dogs. Was the stew O. K?

He—Got a—a—sweetie?

She—No time for such foolishness. Have your Java now?

He—Say, Hazel—you look good to me—get me?

She—I get you; but you don't get me.

He—Where'll I meet you after you get through?

She—O, you're liable to meet me anywheres—if you happen to be there.

He—Never make dates?

She—Sure. I got a social sec'etary. See if you can fix it with her.

No one had ever known Hazel to make an outside acquaintance inside. Her private life was lived in circles utterly foreign to the cast that played in the daily comedy of her commercial existence. She had her friends, perhaps her suitors, possibly a sweetheart, maybe even a fiancé. But her associates of after hours were folks she knew at church or had gone to school with, or met as neighbors, or in parties. She had the regulation working girl's mistrust for any males who used the relations which she was compelled to establish for business purposes in advances that they would not have ventured were she a passerby on the crowded sidewalk.

by Jack Lait

She had learned that a grump suffered financially, so she took the curse out of every answer with that critic proof smile, and kept the men at arms' length, yet amiable, and in the temper to wait for a seat at one of her tables again—and again. It was an acquired art, made easy by a sure program that nothing could pi up, and a disposition to humor anything that wasn't downright raw. In this she passed the other girls, who made themselves in greater or lesser degree undesirable by either letting the men have too much rope or yanking too sharply on the hemp.

She studied to make herself attractive, and with such a long start by the gift of nature she had no rivals as the beauty of the lot. Her little shoes were low and the heels were flat, but not broad; the toes round, but not snub nosed. She wore no rings on her hands, which she kept white and passionately clean. What showed of her hose showed silk, snug on her coltish ankles. Her apron was kept immaculate. Her waistline showed no hiatus twixt skirt and waist. The juncture was that blend that forms an invisible elision like a healed wound—one of the finest and furthest arts of feminine accomplishment.

And with it all she commanded sheer respect on her work. There was a zip to it that ordinarily would have defeated accuracy and speed, but no one had ever heard of Hazel Mills getting an item on any order, no matter how complicated or numerous in items, wrong. And her alacrity was conspicuous, which was due to her spirited technique, her labor saving energy, and her influence in the kitchen, where she exercised the same spell on the chefs and checkers—both sexes—as she did on the glasses of water. And that is no mean inside advantage in an institution where more than 1,000 eaters are served per hour.

The manager of it all watched her with pride and pleasure. She was the highest example of waitress desirability. Could he have gathered forty Hazels he could have increased his daily turnover by enough to have maintained a country home. He kept charts, as all business men must these days, and Hazel was the highest jog in glasses of water and gross takings, and the lowest in breakage and complaints from lunchers. The floor manager recognized her stardom, too, and held Hazel up as an example for the runners-up and also rans to emulate.

Because of all this it shocked the manager severely when he returned from the tony hotel café where he had been to luncheon to learn that Hazel had been "given the air." In high dudgeon (meaning that he was very sore) he commanded the presence of the floor manager, who promptly appeared on the carpet.

"Why?" thundered the manager.

The floor chief knew what was meant.

"Well, sir," he answered, "I was standing in the main aisle, looking around on all sides, like you know I always do. Well——"

"What did Hazel do? And don't write a play about it."

"She was waiting on a party, or, rather, on two parties. There was a party of three and a single—a Mr. Duncombe, a horse buyer and a very big eater—and Mr. Duncombe gets through and Hazel hands him his check. I see him talk to her, and she starts lifting up a plate. She lays down the plate again and—and——"

"And—what?"

"And all of a sudden, before I could get to her to stop her, before Mr. Duncombe could put up his dukes or anything else, she——"

The floor manager paused. The manager stood up, impatient.

"She hauls off and hands Mr. Duncombe a slap in the face that you could o' heard in the kitchen."

"She—how? Which? Hazel! She——"

"Yes, sir. She deals him a wallop—right off the arm, in the side of his map, that must o' rattled his back teeth. Mr. Duncombe staggers back a step. A couple of customers around there gets up, quick. By that time I'm over there. Hazel sees that I'm wild. She begins takin' off her apron; she knows she's cold. So I tell her to pack up an' beat it. An' could I do less?"

The manager scratched his head. No, the floor manager could have done no less. But maybe there was more that could be done now. It was a shame to lose Hazel. Yet, such manners could not be tolerated, and such a preposterous act had never been perpetrated within the Dairy Lunch or anywhere within the manager's ken. He dismissed the floor manager with a grunt, got his finger on the line of the indexed notebook where the employés' phone numbers were recorded, and called Hazel.

"Come down and see me—right away," he said.

"Yes, sir; coming, sir," she said.

"Sit down, Hazel," the manager ordered her when she came before him. "Now tell me all about it."

"O, there isn't so very much to tell. You see, Duncombe—we girls used to call him Buncombe because he always had a bagful o' breezy nifties to waft at every waitress what ever come near enough to him to hear, if she was workin' on him or just passin' by on her own business—this here egg starts getting giddy with me the first time I ever stand up a napkin in front of him.

"But that's all right—gee, we get that all day long. There's kidders an' there's kidders. Duncombe wasn't a 'specially rough kidder, though there was always somethin' pers'nal an' kind o' outside o' workin' hours about what he said. It goes along that way for days an' his stuff keeps gettin' stronger an' closer, if you know what I mean. But I stand for it because I got to, for one thing, unless I want to pick up a row—an' you know I ain't the kind of a girl that 'd do that—an' because Duncombe is pretty fat with his tips.

"The first time I wait on him he lays down a dime. I looked at it an' smiled. Maybe he misunderstands the smile as bein' for him an' not at him, anyways he picks up the dime again an' salves me a quarter. Next day he smiled first, tossed over a few Joe Miller cracks which I foul off, an' he eases me a half. After that it was a half ev'ry meal until one day I was better natured than usual, or somethin', an' I gives him a giggle on some o' his double-edgers, an' that trip he unbelts a buck.

"Now, you know, a buck is a whale of a tip. Tips speak a language to a girl what lives off 'em, Mr. Clark, that she learns to read as plain as headlines on a sportin' extry. A dime is a dead one what wouldn' give you nothin' if he didn' have a crawlin' sense o' shame—an' a dime tip is just a dime wasted, because it gets you in dutch with the waitress an' you're out the dime. Better not to tip at all, which may excuse you on the grounds that you're a cons'itootional objector against the system, or just a rum what don't know no better.

"A quarter is the av'rage handout. That neither sets a guy in solid or puts him on the blacklist where a girl wants to stick her thumb in his bowl o' soup just to express her contem'. A half is lib'ral an' marks the party as a gentleman an' a customer worth nursin'. Past that a girl seldom has to figger.

"Well, a couple o' days ago, the day after he forgets a whole smacker on the table, Duncombe comes out flat-footed an' asks me to meet him after I'm through—an' in his office, yet, at that; don't even ask me if I got a fav'rite place, like some o' the waitress buzzers does. He asks it cold an' I tell him cold—nothin' doin'. He looks s'prised, though I don' know why, he should be, partic'ly. But he antes a dollar again. Then he misses a day. Then he comes in again this noon. He sees I'm through takin' kiddin', an' he talks in a stage whisper to me an' says he hopes I thought over his little proposition. I says I did—an' the more I thought the less I liked it. So he smiles a kind o' sickish grin an' says well, maybe after lunch today I might think kinder of it. I says I didn't think so—but I might.

"He finishes an' I see him put somethin' under the plate, where he always leaves the tip. Instead o' beatin' it for the cashier like a man would, he stands off a foot or so waitin' for me to pick up the plate, I guess. I pick it up—I got to clear up after a cust'mer, don't I? I just got one corner o' the plate off the table—well, a plate hasn' got corners, but you get me—when I gets a flash. It was a bill. I see one corner. It's a twenty. So I seen red an' I biffed him one. I don't take $20 tips on 80 cent checks. That is, I took the twenty—but I won't take that kind o' insults."

And she rose and walked out.

RETURNED WITH REGRETS

by Oney Fred Sweet

Both of Them Came Back—the Scenario and Its Author, as Well

JUST when the scenario writing fever had hit his household, Hod McGrew could not say exactly. He had returned one night from a trip to Chicago and had discovered his help absorbed with pencils and paper under the lamp's rays on the cleared kitchen table. Humison Melton ventured a preoccupied nod as McGrew hung up his fur coat, but the others scarcely glanced in the boss' direction.

"The idea," explained Melton, when McGrew came over to stand back of his chair, "is a correspondence school proposition. We have already passed the preliminary lessons and are now at a point where we are permitted to submit our plots for the various producing concerns to grab up."

"Looks harmless enough," mused McGrew. "Winter nights are rather long out here, I guess. What are you writing about, mostly?"

"Well, we're no pikers," answered Melton, relighting his pipe and refilling his pen. "Our heroes and heroines are all ultra rich and wondrously good looking. Spike has one almost finished. I don't know what he's writing about. He got onto the thing first—saw the 'ad' in one of those 'Homefire Magazines' the rural mail carrier left. He passed up the inducement to have his name printed on a dozen cards with flowers in the corner, and he wasn't greatly interested in 'How to Be Popular at Parties, for 10 Cents,' but that 'Make Big Money in the Movies' caught his eye. He studied in secret for awhile, but it was too cold up in his room for literary endeavors and he was forced to make the best of the atmosphere down here. Then we all got onto it, and we're as deep into the thing as he is. I won't stand for Spike sitting next to me when I'm writing, though. He's got to work over there in the corner. I'm not taking chances on a bird stealing as many things as he has, stealing my plot."

"Lay off that," interrupted Hod McGrew, seriously. "There wasn't a better farmhand on the place than Spike this last summer. How many times have I told you folks that you mustn't refer to one another's past?"

"That's all right," continued Melton, in injured tones, "but I give the bunch warning that I'm using one of those reclining lounge scenes, and if they use it, too, I'll know they've been looking through my stuff in the middle of the night. That reclining lounge scene is mine."

"It's the first time we've ever had artistic temperament around here," sighed Hod McGrew, "but go to it, you folks. Personally, I think that as scenario writers you're all good corn plowers and cooks, but if you each make a million I suppose I can hustle around and get some one to take your places. That is, if I hustle hard enough."

McGrew left the kitchen and went into the living room to place the proceeds from his two carloads of cattle in the safe; he had found the market right in Chicago. He seldom went into the living room except on matters that had to do with the safe. It was a cold place, shut off by folding doors from the stove's heat. He had locked the safe and was about to leave the room when the lamp in his hand cast a weird light on the portrait of his father on the wall.

"Dad," he mused, looking up at the picture, "you left me twelve hundred acres here and I'm going to see that they're farmed. If you think I've got a strange bunch in the old house just remember it's because I am determined to keep help."

As he came out of the room and pulled tight the folding door to shut out the draft he saw Spike glance nervously over his shoulder for just an instant, but immediately Spike was poring over his scenario again, his brow furrowed from thought, his lips moving with each laborious maneuver of his stubby pencil.

"I'm mighty tired tonight, folks," said McGrew, sprawling in the chair before the stove. "Getting old, I guess, and I didn't get much sleep in Chicago last night."

His eyes closed. And when he came out of the doze everybody had gone to bed but Spike. That gentleman was still staring at his unfinished scenario and scratching his head.

"Come, Spike," said McGrew, rousing himself. "You don't have to get that thing off tonight. Even Shakespeare allowed himself proper periods of rest. Leave the lady in the burning building or on the desert island and get some sleep."

"There's a little scene here I'm trying to dope out," scowled Spike. "I'll be all through with it then. Say, Hod, if a bird would come in this house this time o' night, say, with an idea of touching the safe, just what would he do? What moves would he make in there? I want to describe the thing exact."

"I see," chuckled McGrew; "yours is one of those crook dramas."

"There's no one else in the other room there, say," Spike went on, absorbed in his theme. "We'll imagine I'm the yegg. I don't want to wake anybody, and I tiptoe into the other room—like this."

Spike stealthily opened the folding doors, a studious expression on his face. He paused and went back to the table to jot down a note or two.

Hod McGrew, startled out of his doze a few minutes later, saw the flicker of a match by the safe in the living room, saw a man with a cap over his eyes crouching before the combination.

"I've got it," breathed Spike, returning to his chair by the kitchen table. For some time he scribbled in frenzy. Then he appropriated an envelope from the mantel shelf, chucked the finished effort within, and sealed the flap. He attached stamps to the envelope, bade Hod McGrew good-night, and went upstairs.

It was considerably past midnight when McGrew threw off his drowsiness sufficiently to get up from his chair preparatory to going to bed himself. He blinked, went over and fixed the fire for the night, made sure that the clock was wound.

He was thoroughly awake now. He stood for a moment in the middle of the room, rubbing his chin. Then his eyes narrowed. He went into the living room, turned the combination of the safe, looked in the little drawer up in the left hand corner. He hurried to the stairway door.

"Spike!" he called.

The bellowing of his voice brought a jumbled response.

"He ain't here," some one yelled back.

Humison Melton came down in his night clothes. The others had gone back to sleep.

"This is between you and me, Melton," cautioned McGrew sharply, in prefacing his account of what had transpired. "Not much use trying to catch Spike, but the first thing in the morning I want you to get busy to keep him from cashing in any of that paper he took."

"To think all his scenario ambitions was just a 'frame,'" commented Humison Melton, disgustedly.

"He was a good farm hand all last summer," reminded Hod McGrew. "He was there strong once he got muscled up. The actual theft might have been an afterthought. Knowing his failing, I should have stopped him the minute he went in that same room with the safe. He's kept his hands off it all these months, we know that. I don't believe he knew the combination until tonight. It came so easy and the temptation was there, and then the old weakness. And now I've lost——"

"How much in actual currency, Hod?"

"And now I've lost a good farm hand," finished McGrew, blowing out the lamp.

Life at the Hod McGrew farm house resumed its usual routine the following morning. And the next night after supper Humison Melton and Nip Belder engaged in such a heated discussion concerning batting averages of various ball players that the numerous scenario plots suffered. Flo Maris, the cook, struggled for a time on a subtitle that had partially occurred to her that morning while baking pancakes, but with so much argument going on the muse refused to work for her and she went back to her fancy work.

"I don't know," she confided to Hod McGrew as she bit off a thread, "it's more inspiration than anything else. The other day

IT TAKES MANY NEW STYLES TO MAKE THIS SPRING by Corinne Lowe

This department appears every day in The Daily Tribune.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—If spring keeps up as it has begun New York is going to be as filled with styles as it is with tearooms. There is no manner of frock, suit, or wrap that is not shown. You can wear a Moyen Age gown or a basque of Godey's Lady Book inspiration. You may look dressy as the Pharaohs and then bound from scarab to Arab—for the Moroccan influence is still with us, you know. As for suits, there is every kind from the bolero to the redingote.

Among all this profuse flora of the style spring of 1920, let us not overlook the cape. Capes are positively ingrown. This is proved by the fact that, even after last spring, when more women wore more capes than in all history, we have these wraps represented constantly in this spring's exhibits. The reason for this lies, of course, in the fact that nothing else is so becoming to so many types of women. Why, even the plainest little brown bird gets a certain histrionic dash from the cape.

The favored materials for these wraps at present are duvetyn, fine velours, tricotine, and tricolette. And as duvetyn's name leads all the rest! Beige and gray are perhaps the most popular shades in these duvetyn wraps, but there are dressy models in many other colors. For example, I saw the other day a stunning afternoon cape of white duvetyn with two deep bands of green and silver embroidery placed respectively at hip line and shoulder line and stopping just in time to indulge the career of a wide back panel. This cape had a deep collar extending the full length of the shoulder. So, also, did another afternoon model I saw the same day. This was of jade green duvetyn with a yoke effect made of four bands of gold embroidery. The collar, as well as the lower section of the wrap—that beneath the bands of embroidery—was treated to vertical groups of pin tucks. For in capes, along with every other garment, tucks do rage mightily.

We are showing to the left of this page a cape sketched at one of the most fashionable of New York specialty shops. In the variety of its new features and the charm of their result this wrap may furnish inspiration to those who would like to build a cape in their own homes. The model is a combination of gray duvetyn and accordion plaited navy blue tricotine, and let it be remarked that the graceful cape is even more graceful when treated to these plaits. Instead of the familiar high standing collar we have here a variation made more variable by the stripe of picot edged duvetyn which are introduced elsewhere on the wrap.

As against this more fanciful type of cape some of the smartest of new spring models are notable for their severe simplicity. One of our most renowned New York designers makes, for instance, dolmanlike capes of duvetyn or tricotine which show neither in collar nor revers any hint of contrasting color or fabric. These capes are drawn tightly about the figure so as to achieve the narrow silhouette. Their collars are perhaps their most significant feature. These are high standing affairs often cut in one with the shoulder yoke, and when the wrap is closed they submerge the lower part of the face.

The suits made by this same tailor are so plain that they amount almost to bravado. They seem to brag, "Look at me! Not a touch of trimming. I'm plain as a piece of atmosphere, and yet —O, how chic!" These suits, as ordered by some of the most fashionable New Yorkers, have a plain, narrow skirt which is nine or ten inches above the ground. Sometimes there are plaited panels or even an all over plaited effect, but so much tuck hysteria is abroad in the land that there seems to be a reaction to the perfectly plain skirt.

As for the coats of these severely tailored models, these are either wrist or finger length and they are much straighter in line than heretofore. The vogue now is for the open front to reveal either gilet or elaborate over blouse, and to this fact may be ascribed the lingering presence of the belt. This belt is narrow and is generally of the suit fabric. Often there are applied patch pockets, which may project slightly at the hips and upon these rests the entire responsibility for trimming. The collar and revers, which are generally cut in one, narrow to the waist line. As for the notched shawl collar, this is not nearly so popular at present as the straight one.

However, this represents merely the severely tailored model. It is the roast beef of our wardrobe. But think how many of us erring souls there be who are bound to turn to something with a sunset colored sauce. For the woman who doesn't feel that she wants to be too tailored, there are any number of more differentiated modes. Among these, the suit second from the left is full of suggestions.

This is a navy Cherult twill with a suggestion of the Russian smock in its high collar and embroidery of black silk and gold. These touches of color find a climax in the narrow belt of red leather. The skirt here is the narrow plain one of which I have spoken, for the pin tucks are committed entirely to the upper section. They appear experimentally also on the coat just beneath the belt.

The next model is a rose colored tricolette sports suit trimmed with white angora and worn with a rose colored horse hair hat set off with bands of silver raffia. As for tricolette, this fabric has a terrier like hold on popular fancy. Sports suits, blouses, frocks and gowns are all achieved of it. And for trimming touches it is widely recruited. If, for example, you select one of the charming little Eton suits of tricotine you are apt to introduce your touch of color through the aid of a tricolette girdle with fringed or tasseled ends.

Some of the spring three piece suits engineered chiefly with tricolette, are also extremely effective. The color in which this silk jersey now appears most stunningly is the new Egyptian blue. It was of this tint that I saw in one of the shops the other day one of the loveliest of tricolette models. The coat, which was finger tip length, was open down the front to show the surplice bodice of black satin embroidered in rust color thread. The long sleeves were also of the black satin and were set into wide armholes with a banding of rust red embroidery. The skirt was straight and untrimmed. The simple line was charming, but it was the color scheme which counted. Egyptian blue, rust red, and black—this tonal arrangement should be committed by every woman who wants one of the newest and most alluring of spring color effects!

Leather, kid, and ciré ribbons are all three introduced enthusiastically on many of the latest frocks and suits. At the right of this page we illustrate a model from Paquin which shows a charming use of black patent leather on a tailored dress of rose colored tweed. Here the strangely distributed pockets, the belt, the single buttonhole cuffs, and a vertical slot at the left hand side of the bodice are all outlined by black patent leather. The ruffles at neck and wrists are plaited white organdy, and the skirt assuages the present thirst for plaids by huge squares achieved by black silk stitching. This same model could be stunningly carried out in navy tricotine, trimmed with copper stitching and copper leather.

THE cape-ricious cape! We have it at the left made of gray duvetyn and plaited navy tricotine embellished with picot edged strips of duvetyn. Next, a suggestion of the Russian smock in this suit of navy blue Cherult twill belted in red leather and embroidered in black silk and gold. The third model is a rose color tricolette sports suit trimmed with white angora, and the last is a Paquin tailored frock of rose color tweed furbished with black patent leather, black silk stitching, and ruffles of plaited white organdy.

AS radiant with color as the head dress of an Indian princess are many of the new hats of spring. Dame Fashion, in her wisdom, has put color where it is most becoming—around the face and hair.

The hat pictured flares most in the brim and has its crown completely covered with glycerined ostrich of varying rich hues, merging from Egyptian henna to deep black.

THE indescribable colorings that are seen in rare summer sunsets have been magically transferred to spring blouses. Trim tricolettes, with enchanting braiding, vie with flower-like georgettes radiant with embroidery or beads. Tailored blouses with suavely fitting lines are especially charming.

How to Use the Patterns

THE pattern, No. 9605, is so easily made that many will, I think, want to include a dress made from it among the pretty clothes they are planning for summer wear. It is suitable for any material from dressy ones like taffeta to the cool muslins, voiles, or ginghams.

Taffeta is the most favored material at present for many occasions, and black or navy blue would make up well, using organdie for collar and cuffs, either to wear over ones made of the dress material or finishing the dress without collar and cuffs and wearing the attached ones of organdie or net and lace.

A straight skirt like the one shown looks well with the lower edge cut straight and finished with a hem, and getting the extra length that is necessary over most hips, from the top line of the skirt. Make the sash of the dress material and make it double, putting it together in a seam on the wrong side, stitching together down each side excepting a short distance near the middle of the length on one side, so it can be turned right side out and then blind hemmed together there. Then it can be stitched together across the ends as well, and will have a better finish when turned right side out.

If the material chosen for the dress is plain, embroidery in one or two contrasting colors will look well on the cuffs, pockets, and collar points. The fullness in the shoulder fronts is a good feature and becoming to almost every figure. Always hold the fullness next to you in basting the seams together—take small stitches and baste so as to avoid having the gathers form ugly plaits when the stitching of the seam is done.

No. 9589 shows that even pajamas can have the fashionable bouffant effect over the hips, if the pockets are used.

The pattern gives two ways of finishing this garment, and for ordinary wear of course the low neck and short sleeves will be chosen. The high neck and long sleeves would come in just right if they were being made to wear if the summer were to be spent camping, or not necessarily in camp, but in some place where the nights were cool. Then flannel or outing flannel would be the thing.

Whether made for warm or cool weather wear, finish the seams by felling them, and where one cares for nice work, there is nothing nicer than doing the felling by hand. If materials are good and the work done as it should be, the plainest kind of a garment has a beauty of its own that no elaborately trimmed and poorly made one can compare with.

A "step-in" combination that can be cut in one of several ways at the top is shown in No. 9588. There is nothing at all difficult about the cutting or making of this garment, and elaborate trimming is not necessary. A narrow valenciennes insertion and edge make a dainty finish for all edges, or else a combination of two kinds of lace. For instance, choose a narrow linen lace insertion and use a valenciennes edge. The manner of using the ribbon about the waist is pretty and the slashes will not be hard to finish. Use the buttonhole stitch and make it rather shallow, taking care to work around the ends so they will not tear easily.

Chain or feather stitching is effective, used above an insertion or on a hem, and a single initial or small monogram embroidered on the left side of the upper part of the combination is attractive. But the main thing in lingerie of whatever kind is to choose fine, good materials and have the work as nearly perfect as one can make it.

A Purity Pledge

ALL worth-while things in our daily life are identified by some sign or symbol that definitely declares their quality. The "sterling" mark on silver, the "carat" stamp on gold—the seal of state on documents, all definitely declare the quality. It is a day of standards set and standards demanded.

In like manner the "Approved" label on all Oscar Mayer's Products symbolizes a Pledge for Purity that establishes a definite standard of quality to guide the housewife in marketing.

It crystallizes all of the principles of sanitation, inspection, supremacy of care and skill upon which the preparation of Oscar Mayer's Approved products are founded into a simple symbol, instantly recognizable as the standard of Purity.

Mark it well. Stamp it firmly in your memory as your guide in the choice of ham, bacon, sausage, lard and all canned meat specialties. Choose the products bearing this mark of known standard, just as you choose silver or gold; by the symbol you know—identify the genuine.

The Pledge of Purity, represented by this "Red Seal of Approval" on the triangle of blue and yellow stripes, is positive assurance of Purity in every meaning of the word.

ARMS for SHORT SLEEVES

This department appears every day in The Daily Tribune.

LOOKS like as if the world were going to be peopled with arms—not fighting arms, though some may look it—but if one is to be smart, it is ordained one must go sleeveless, or meet the fashion at least half way, or one quarter way, or three quarters, just as your fancy chooses.

It will be an unlocking of skeleton closets with some and disclosing of fat warehouse wings with others, for the season promises a great variety of both thin arms and fat arms, round arms and dimpled arms, rough arms and smooth arms, and sharp elbowed arms and otherwise.

One might be preachy and "Don't" the fat armed, and "Don't" the thin armed, but what's the use? If they are the style they'll be worn and worn with utter abandon. Besides, there are a few good reasons in favor of them. First in appeal, perhaps, is the emancipated feeling of a sleeveless or nigh sleeveless frock. Then there is a wonderful opportunity it affords to rejuvenate a last season's frock that the extremely tight sleeve rendered more short lived, with the elbows poked through so quickly. And then there is the kimono cut of waist which almost necessitates short sleeves coming back into a great popularity.

Time to Correct Faults.

Instead of don'ting any lady about a new style I am going to be with it, just to keep up with the procession.

So get out the old arms and shine 'em up! If they are thin, fatten them. If they are fat, reduce them. If the style goes out as fast as it came in there will be great good come of it anyway. I wouldn't advise your reducing or fattening arms just for the sake of the new style, because the chances are by the time the work was done well the demon designers would substitute frocks with sleeves extending to the knuckles.

But you'll have the 'ough on them at that, for you will have your nice, new, pretty arms for your bathing suit and evening gown exposure. And then, of course, negligees and nighties are much more fascinating with a pair of pretty arms peeping out.

So this much may be said for the style. It will give these poor little Cinderellas a chance to show they have other possibilities than the mere stuffing out of a dress sleeve.

Blemishes of the Skin.

Now, the first thing one must do to arms on the eve of their general coming out is to look the skin over carefully and if there are any eruptions or blemishes, see what may be done about them.

You may find particularly on the upper arm a roughened, scaly condition of skin—kind of goose-fleshy and maybe toned up to a sunsetty red. Poor circulation causes that and better circulation will remedy it. It is not a matter of infrequent bathing, as I have heard it suspected, but of inefficient rubbing. After the hot water has opened up the pores and the skin scrubbed cold water should be run over it and a good Turkish toweling finish should be put on. It is usually at the back of the upper arms that the trouble is and that is an easy place to slight in hurried bathing. But the special treatment of cold water and rubbing will erase the trouble magically.

Hairs on the arms come next for treatment. They are not attractive and a heavy growth ought never to be exposed to the public eye. I have been asked about electrolytic treatment for them. It would be an expensive treatment with such a wide area that would have to be covered and there is danger during the treatment of getting the arms into soap and water, which might have serious results. The bleaching process of the hairs on the arms is satisfactory in many cases. Equal parts of peroxide and ammonia will bleach the hair and after many applications tends to rot it.

Treatment for Freckles.

Freckled arms may be what you have to show the world, speaking from your sleeveless gown. If they are light rub them every night with glycerine and lemon juice in equal parts, or a fresh slice of lemon rubbed over them and the juice allowed to dry on. Treat stubborn freckles with Nunci's paste, made as follows: Oxychloride of bismuth, one dram; calomel, one-sixth grain; peroxide of hydrogen, one dram; lanolin and vaseline, four ounces each.

For sunburned arms apply equal parts of linseed oil and lime water.

For roughened elbows scrub them with hot water and soap, rinse and then rub a good cold cream into them for a couple of minutes every night.

Few Perfect Arms.

There are so few arms that will stand total unveiling. If the arm is naturally long, its stark baldness accentuates its length. If it is bony, so much the worse.

So, you would better look them over well, find out their shortcomings and their "longgoings," and then be sure they are absolutely perfect before you present them all in one piece au natural. If they do not register perfection help them out with a kindly bit of tulle or a sleeve that protects the poor shrinking things from a hard, cold eye. That is your part in making a success of a new style. To adopt it, if you will, but with your own individuality converting the thing into a length that serves your arm and vanity best.

Go in at once for some arm stretching exercises—any games like tennis and golf and basketball that will necessitate arm stretching and moving; and swimming, of course, the breast movement of which is about as good an arm exercise as one can take.

If these forms of exercise are not possible to you now, and you wish some good arm reducing and developing movements, I will mail them to you in return for a stamped, addressed envelope. These movements are illustrated, so that they will be easy for you to follow.

THOSE CHRONIC BORROWERS.

THE problems and interests of the girl who is employed are so many and varied that it is unusual to get two letters at the same time from girls in entirely different situations on the same subject.

It may be merely a coincidence that complaints about the chronic borrower are being brought to my attention, but as I received another letter on the subject not many days ago, and judging from recent experiences of acquaintances, I am inclined to think that some girls in the business world are allowing themselves to fall into a manner of living that is, to say the least, bordering on dishonesty, as the people who form the habit of borrowing from their acquaintances and business associates usually seem to lose all sense of obligation in paying their debts.

It is a shiftless and characterless way out of the difficulties of life to transfer your own financial obligations by coercing some one else into paying your share.

The following letter from a business girl who has been a victim is a good indication of the disrespect into which the habitual borrower may fall.

"Dear Miss King: This letter is written in the hope that if given publication it may attract the attention of certain girls in business who seem to feel that the world owes them a living, and proceed to collect from their poor fellow workers who have no greater advantages and are no better off financially than they are.

"In our office is a girl who has been with us a year and in that time she has borrowed on various occasions from every member of the office force. Her indebtedness to me alone amounts to $25, a sum of money that means a great deal to me and that meant a sacrifice for me to give up even in small amounts at a time. She owes as much and more to several people in the office.

"I suppose I am to blame to some extent for giving her the money, but she has always made her requests for loans wonderfully appealing, and while I really put little stock in her stories I didn't have the courage to resist her appeals.

"She had been borrowing small sums from me for a long time before I knew that she had asked any one else in the office for money, and it was only when the other people in the office began to speak disrespectfully of her that I realized that she had been steadily fleecing me and two or three other 'easy' ones in the office.

"She paid her first few debts within the time agreed upon, but gradually it took her longer and longer to settle, until finally she has given up all pretense at paying back any money that she gets, and the last few times that

I gave her against my better judgment it was in the form of a donation, as I no longer expect to have it returned.

"This girl is talking about changing her position, and she complains about the lack of opportunity with the firm, but it is my conviction that she is leaving us because she has exhausted her resources. I have refused to give her any money for the last six or eight weeks, and I know that everybody else in the office has refused her requests for some time past.

"Here is a bright and attractive girl who is disliked and distrusted by the people about her and who has stifled any ambition she might have had, as she stays in a position only long enough to get all the money she can out of her fellow workers.

"I have made a resolution never to lend any money unless I am sure there is urgent necessity for it, and if all other workers would do likewise we would cure the borrower in spite of herself."

Antoinette Donnelly's Beauty Answers

SLEEPY: LACK OF EXERCISE and torpid digestion will cause that feeling of needing more sleep than the normal eight hours. Less than eight is wearing, and after a while the effect is shown in a haggard, lined face. Sleep is necessary for the reparation of nervous tissue. The amount required, in normal persons, is that which provides for complete recovery from previous fatigue. Hot milk before retiring produces sleep oftimes by drawing the blood from the head to the stomach. The hot water bottle draws the blood to the feet.

KATHRYN: THE BEST EXERcises for reducing the bust are those which involve the movement of the muscles thereabouts like the swimming breast stroke and arm stretching forward and upward and sideward. Tennis and basketball are good games for this, too, because they have the stretching virtues. You do not give your height, consequently I cannot tell you the standard weight for you, but 150 pounds for a 20 year old girl is pretty heavy. The headches, of course, I could not advise about, as that would be infringing upon medical territory where I have no right.

FAUST Instant COFFEE

Is Pure Coffee with All Waste Removed

A coffee bean is made up of tiny cells of aromatic oils surrounded by fibrous tissue. Only 12½% of the bean is coffee; 87½% is waste—the grounds which are left after the coffee is made. Coffee made in your kitchen in the ordinary way brings out but ½ of this 12½%. But Faust Instant Coffee is the 12½% of pure coffee. The aromatic oils are extracted, just as you extract them in making coffee. The grounds are removed and the pure coffee evaporated to a powder. Half a teaspoon of it in a cup of hot water makes a delicious cup of fragrant coffee—every cup the same, every cup clear and free from grounds, every cup just the strength you like it. Faust Instant Coffee is economical. A 45c can makes 30 steaming cups. For sale at all dealers.

Jewel Lore

By DORIS BLAKE

FROM the beginning of time precious stones have been valued not only for their rare and admirable ornamental qualities but as well endowed with mysterious powers. In olden times magicians would supply public speakers with precious stones to make them more eloquent. Character and callings of people have stone symbols. The twelve apostles, for instance, were represented by the following stones:

Jasper was Peter; firm as a rock.
Sapphire—Andrew; full of heavenly faith.
Chalcedony—James; loving.
Emerald—John; pure and gentle.
Sardonyx—Philip; friendly.
Carmelian—Bartholomew; the martyr.
Beryl—Thomas; the doubting.
Topaz—James the Less; delicate.
Chrysoprase—Thadeus; serene and trustful.
Amethyst—Matthew; the apostle and evangelist.
Hyacinth and jacinth—Simeon; the sweet tempered.

There are jewels for the signs of the zodiacs: Aries, ruby; Taurus, topaz; Gemini, carbuncle; Cancer, emerald; Leo, sapphire; Virgo, diamond; Libra, jacinth; Scorpio, agate; Sagittarius, amethyst; Capricornius, beryl; Aquarius, onyx; Pisces, jasper.

Each month is supposed to be under the influence of some precious stone as follows:

January—Garnet; constancy.
February—Amethyst; sincerity.
March—Bloodstone; courage.
April—Diamond; innocence.
May—Emerald; success in love.
June—Agate; health and long life.
July—Cornelian; content.
August—Sardonyx; conjural fidelity.
September—Chrysolite; antidote to madness.
October—Opal; hope.
November—Topaz; fidelity.
December—Turquoise; prosperity.

It is a popular fancy to war or present one's loved one with a stone suitable to the month of one's birth.

The ancients gave the diamond the name of the "reconciliation stone." Cleopatra believed that the diamond inspires love. Because it is an emblem of innocense, it is the most popular and most fitting gift jewel from a young man to his fiancé.

A necklace of pearls is said to attract loving associates.

To find a pearl in an oyster or anywhere else means you will shed solitary tears soon.

A girl whose favorite jewels are pearls will get a good husband, but she will weep over him.

A pink pearl promises a rosy life.

Sing while you are putting pearls on, and you will shed tears before you take them off.

For the girl born in July the ruby is the popular engagement stone.

To the sapphire is attributed a powerful love charm. On the other hand, the same folklore hath it if you give a person a sapphire you will lose his or her affection.

A bit of coral in the house brings good luck.

A jeweled snake with green eyes is a most unlucky thing to own.

To break a ring or lose a stone from one is a bad omen.

If you wear a gold cross, except to have crosses, wear a heart shaped jewel; you will be healthy and happy in love.

A cameo ring is a lucky thing to wear.

For the girl born in May an emerald is the ideal engagement ring.

The wearing of ivory beads or other jewelry is supposed to prolong life.

Jade is believed by the Chinese the luckiest stone of all to wear.

The amethyst is the "maid stone"; a calm life and innocent dreams are associated with it. In olden times it was supposed to preserve one from intoxication.

For a person born in October no opal will be unlucky.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN

Girl students from China are fast overcrowding the French universities.

The British government is now formulating a plan for the immigration of approximately 1,250,000 women in excess of the male population. It is either spinsterhood or immigration for these women.

The "Eagle," the new Curtiss ten passenger bi-motored airplane, is to be exhibited as the first flying machine built mainly by women. Practically all the work on this airplane was done by women.

The aim of every woman of the Burmese tribe of Padung is to elongate the neck as much as possible, and to effect this a female child has a brass wire fitted around her neck, to which additional rings are added as the years go by until she is 15 years of age, when she is valued by the length of her collar and purchased as a wife. Girls with necks over a foot long are not common.

Gay millinery

for spring and Easter

THE subdued colors of somber winter have given way to the gay hues of lovely spring. In our department you will find Fashion's most favored models, in a wide selection of styles, colors and trimming effects—an aggregation of trimmed hats of which we are justly proud. Needless to repeat that our prices place distinctive and ultra-fashionable millinery within reach of even the most modest pocketbooks.

12.50—$10—4.95

—are groups of particular importance, embracing a sufficiently large range to satisfy every taste and to become every individuality. The prices mean values of a high order.

Easter sale of girls' dresses

Scores of pretty models attractively priced

EVERY year around this time we hold a sale of girls' dresses. Parents who await it are always well repaid. For several months past we have been on the lookout for advantageous purchases, and, as a result, we have succeeded in gathering a collection of girls' dresses that will do justice to the reputation of this sale for unusual values.

GIRLS' DRESSES. Many of the season's prettiest models, in high waisted effects, with contrasting colors on collar and cuffs. Assorted plaids. Sizes 6 to 14 years. One model illustrated, others just as pretty. Extraordinary values at 1.15

GIRLS' DRESSES. Several pretty styles of gingham, with full pleated skirts; loose belt and side pockets. Collars and cuffs of chambray. Sizes 6 to 14 years. Serviceable dresses for school or dress wear. Special values at 1.95

GIRLS' DRESSES, over ten styles of good quality gingham, in assorted plaids. Made with write pique collars, cuffs and pockets. Wide, loose belt, and neatly trimmed with pearl buttons. Sizes 6 to 14 years. Extremely good values at 2.45

GIRLS' DRESSES, fifteen new and youthful styles of linene and gingham, one of which is illustrated. The materials are exceptionally fine; the collars are attractively trimmed in fancy stitching. Sizes 6 to 14 years. Extra special values at 2.95

Easter sale of women's modish apparel

Last week we held our Spring Style Show; this week we hold our "Better Value Show," meaning that we are out to convince women that our values in spring suits, dresses, coats, skirts, are on an unusually high plane. Moreover, our selections are more complete than ever, so that every woman will be satisfactorily suited.

SUITS at 39.75 SEVERAL of the season's most sought-for styles. French serges, mannish serges and silvertones are the materials of which these suits are made. Many of them are in the pleated side effect with silk braid, others have the semi-fitted back and bow in back. Finished with pockets. All are lined with serviceable silk. Sizes for women and misses. Special values for this sale, at 39.75.

DRESSES, 39.50 FIVE pretty models of silk taffeta showing the new side pleats. Many of them are in tunic effect and embellished with handsome embroidery, while others follow the straight line silhouette and have ruffled bottoms. Silk lace collars and the modish short sleeves. The accepted colors are copen, navy, and taupe. Sizes for women and misses. Excellent values at..... 39.50

Women's Spring Coats at 29.75

TWO clever models of polo cloth and silvertone. The polo model is made with pleated back, tucked front. Loose leather belt. Patch pockets. The silvertone style has the new tucked collar; side pockets and belt to match. Both are three-fourths length. Half lined. The most fashionable colors are tan, green, and taupe. Sizes for women and misses. A garment of extreme usefulness for Spring and Summer. Noteworthy values at 29.75

Spring in Easter Millinery

The only difficulty to be encountered in selecting a hat from our abundance of models will lie in making a choice from such a multitude of becoming shapes.

All sizes and arrangements of brims are included. Very popular is the transparent brim of maline. Others are faced with attractively shaded silks or georgette.

Black is very good this spring, but it shares the honors with colors, among which are navy, brown, Copenhagen, and others too numerous to catalogue here.

COCOANUT GREAT FUEL FOOD.

WE have some reason to believe that the cocoanut antedates man, or more specifically that it furnished food at the time when the monkeys walked together with their neighbors, not arm in arm, you know, but familiarly.

An ancient description of the nut says: "This nut is the best flavored of all the foreign kinds. The white kernel, although hard, woody, and tough, in its fresh state, is said to be nutritious and, when grated, makes excellent puddings, pies, cakes, in candy, etc. It contains a white liquid called milk, which is sweet and nourishing, and they should never be purchased but when this milk is heard to shake within them. The cocoanut tree furnishes food, raiment, milk, oil, toddy, cups, bowls, cordage, brushes, mats—in fact, it is difficult to say what it does not furnish the Indian—

"The Indian nut alone
Is clothing, meat, and trencher, drink and pan,
Boat, cable, sail, and needle—all in one."

In 1825 there was printed a book which says that the natives of South America made a sort of butter from the cocoanut—not so new a thing, you see, as some people imagine—but the most celebrated product perhaps has been the East Indian arrack, an ardent spirituous stuff, the name of which has been attractive to some of the greatest poets. Before distillation the stuff was called toddy. It is the sap of the tree which is used in this manufacture.

Yields Much Nourishment.

The edible portion of a fresh cocoanut contains 2,760 calories, while sugar contains 1,800 and is counted a great fuel food. Dried cocoanut averages 3,125 calories. Thus it is easy to see that cocoanut is not merely a food adjunct. When we use it it is best not to forget how much nourishment it yields.

Fresh, home dried cocoanut seems to me far superior in flavor to any that we can get in a package, although what we get is far superior to that bulk stuff which the grocers used to think made such a pretty display. It is not so many years since I saw a bushel of it exposed to the dust of a big store. It was shredded cocoanut as white as the driven snow. Most food sellers know better today than to do such a thing.

When we want to make home dried cocoanut, the first thing we must know how to do is to get the meat from the shell. To do this gently pound or tap the shell all over, then hold one end on a hard surface and crack the shell with a heavy blow. Perhaps the eye end of the nut is the weakest.

Recipes for using cocoanut do not begin so far back as getting it to grate. The grating is usually the point of departure mentioned. If the all over tapping has been effective the meat will come out easily in slices of fancy cuts, if a knife is used.

How to Grate It.

The fresh cocoanut does not grate as well as pieces which have dried for twenty-four hours in a slow oven, over a radiator, or in any approved way, and it is not as sweet. Peel off the brown skin, put in a wire plate, with tissue paper over if dried over a radiator. It will curl up, but it will grate or grind just as well.

A grater with a crank and which may be fastened to a table is the best to use not only for cocoanut but for horseradish, potatoes for pancakes, and so forth. Rasping by hand is difficult and the small pieces have to be chopped.

One of the less usual but fine ways of using cocoanut is to grate it fine and color it different colors, then dry it again. One portion of a grated nut may be colored green with spinach juice. Pick over and wash the spinach well and drain it, pound it, then put it into a muslin cloth and squeeze the juice over the desiccated cocoanut.

Use beet juice for another portion and grate off the yellow skin of an orange, mix it with sugar to start the color, and use this to color a third portion of the cocoanut. Sugar with the other colors seems to help. If the colored sugar and cocoanut are wet the whole may harden into a cake as it dries and it may be broken all the finer, preferably in a mortar, and so be in better shape for a garnish. Keep the cocoanut thus prepared in glass jars or jelly glasses.

For Fancy Desserts.

With this colored cocoanut on hand fancy dishes for dessert may be prepared in short order. Any dessert topped with whipped cream may be made prettier and daintier by sprinkling a half teaspoon or a little more over the cream—one color or all. This colored cocoanut may be used on an icing or on meringues instead of the colored sugars the Europeans use. The rose or beet colored cocoanut may be sprinkled on an icing so as to look like little flowers, especially like English daisies, with the green used for sepals and leaves. The gold color is good for borders.

Plain and easy to prepare is the fruit dessert called ambrosia, which is often no more than sliced oranges and the cocoanut, but sometimes bananas are added to this mixture.

Little cocoanut macaroons are delightfully easy to make, using the freshly dried cocoanut, and quite equal to any candy, but they are not so easy to make when the cocoanut is grated without drying.

For a small number beat up one egg white, beat into it one-fourth cup of sugar, and then fold into it half a cup of dried and grated cocoanut. The best shaped cakes will result if this is made into balls by the fingers and pressed down on an inverted and buttered baking tin, allowing an inch of space between the cakes. Bake in an oven hot enough to give them a delicate quick brown, and do not remove from the tin until they are cold or nearly so.

The popular cornflake macaroon—exceedingly and widely popular two years ago—is just a cocoanut macaroon with the cocoanut made to go farther by using half cornflakes in a recipe like the above. It is a dainty little cake and daintier if the cornflakes are crushed. Chopped nuts may be another addition, and it may have a vanilla flavoring.

Used with Curries.

Some cooks claim that cocoanut is the base of all curries, yet a person who has been in India told me that it was served on the side like a half dozen or a dozen different condimental additions to curry, including chutney and chili and Bombay duck, which is a dried fish to be crumbled over the curry.

A cocoanut milk is made by simmering grated cocoanut for an hour or two in water, and this is used for the liquid part or the sauce part of a curry. Some of the curried dishes, fish, chicken, etc., are no more than these meats served in a curry flavored white sauce. A pint of water to a whole cocoanut grated is all that some recipes give for preparing a cocoanut milk which may be used in a custard or for a curry sauce.

By Elizabeth O. Hiller.

All measurements are made level in these recipes. A teaspoon of regulation size holds sixty drops. Three level teaspoons equal one level tablespoon. Sixteen level tablespoons equal one cup (one-half pint). The half-pint measuring cup is the standard measuring cup used in modern cookery.

New Rhubarb Pie with Meringue.

Rhubarb is one of the most wholesome of all the products of the garden that are used for pies, puddings, and sauces. When young, tender, and pink the stalks need not be peeled. Cut into one-half inch pieces, wash, drain, and the water that clings to the pieces will furnish sufficient moisture with the addition of sugar for stewing or baking. Rhubarb contains 94.4 per cent of water and yields 135 calories per pound.

For making a most delicious pie cover an inverted pie plate with pastry and bake it on a baking sheet until crisp and brown. Remove from the outside

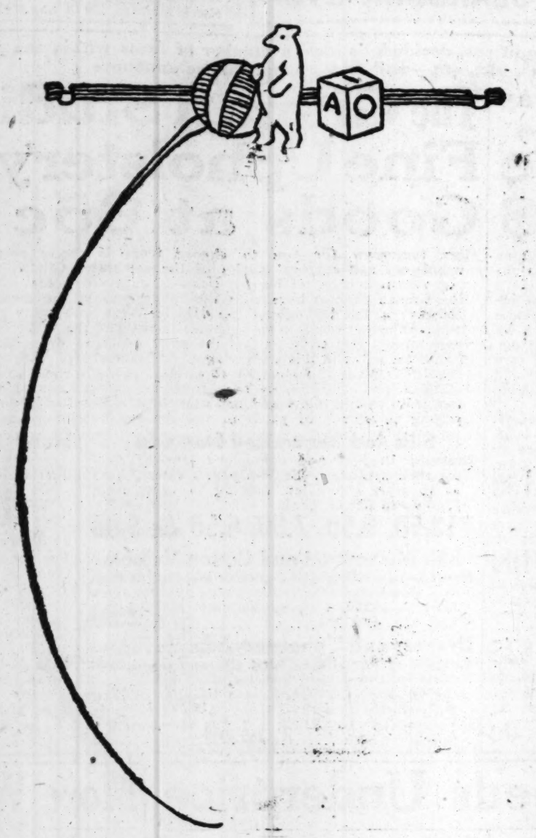
However Far He Journeys

His Sidway—Compactly Folded—Goes With Him



Tucked away flat under the Pullman seat—yet ready in a twinkling to carry him cosily to his journey's end—is baby's Sidway.

WHAT a convenience the Sidway collapsible baby carriage is! In train, motor or street car it folds flat; at home it takes a tiny closet corner. But when ready for the baby, behold how large and roomy it is, more spacious than any other type of carriage, with room for pillows, wraps, bundles and baby's kicking feet. A carriage for showers as well as sunshine. Its waterproof hood of DuPont Fabrikoid is washable, as is the whole carriage. Adjustable springs, stronger as baby grows heavier, protect his back from injury. Any of the dealers whose names are listed here will be glad to show you Sidway Carriages. We will mail our Baby Book, on request.

of the plate and place "the shell" on the inside. Fill with the following mixture:

Wash, wipe, and cut one pound of pink, tender rhubarb into one-half inch pieces crosswise; there should be two cups; put a layer into a saucepan, then add a layer of sugar; repeat until the rhubarb and one cup of sugar have been used. Cook slowly until tender. To each pint of cooked fruit add the juice of half a lemon, the yolks of two eggs slightly beaten, and a few grains of salt. Turn the mixture into the pastry shell, place in a moderate oven, and cook until the mixture thickens. Remove from the oven and when slightly cooled spread with a meringue made of the whites of two eggs beaten until stiff and four tablespoons of granulated sugar added slowly while beating constantly. Sprinkle meringue lightly with granulated sugar and bake eight or ten minutes in a moderate oven until meringue is cooked. Brown the last two minutes of cooking. Serve hot.

Hamburg Steak with Bacon.

Remove fat, bone, and tissue from one pound of round steak. Pass through the meat chopper twice, with three thin slices of bacon; add one-fourth cup of fine stale bread crumbs, three-fourths cup of cold water, one teaspoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of black pepper, and a few grains of cayenne. With the hands mix thoroughly and shape into round cakes one inch thick. Pan broil in a well greased, hissing hot iron frying pan. When well browned on one side turn and brown the other side. Cover and reduce the heat and continue cooking from three to five minutes. Serve with brown mushroom sauce or sauted mushrooms in brown sauce.

For sauted mushrooms in brown sauce wipe one-half pound of fresh mushrooms with a piece of cheesecloth wrung from cold water. Remove the stems and peel the caps. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and add a few drops of onion juice to each cap; then dredge lightly with flour. Cook four minutes in two tablespoons of butter melted in a hot frying pan. Add one and one-half cups of brown sauce and simmer until mushrooms are tender. Pour over broiled steaks, arranged on a hot platter. The peelings and stems may be used for flavoring soups and sauces.

This department appears every day in The Daily Tribune.

A Financial Problem.

"Dear Miss Blake:—I wish you would give me some advice on this matter. I am 18 years old and have been working for a year and a half, and am now making $19.50 with a dollar taken out for liberty bond, leaving eighteen. I always give the money in the envelope to my mother without any returns. But when I go out [that's about three times a week] I ask for money every time. I get what I need, but the following day I ask again for money and she'll give it to me after a whole lot of questions. She also says that I spend altogether too much money. If I say I earn it she says she spends more than my pay on me. I will admit I have a lot of clothes, as I know by other girls. BERTHA."

I think the best arrangment is for you to give a certain amount home and then be made to pay all your clothes expenses and other expenses as well as amusement expenses, too. That would give you a better idea of the cost of things and a better training in financial management. The chances are you do not realize yourself how much money your mother is spending on you. Suppose you talk the matter over with your mother in a straightforward, business way and see if you cannot come to an agreement of that sort. However, you must not get the idea that you can do things without your mother's assistance. You will find when you go to spend your money on clothes that her aid and direction will be invaluable and don't forget once in a while to buy her a little present because your obligation to her is not wiped out by the paying of few dollars a week board.

What He Likes About Her.

"Bear Miss Blake: What are some of the things that a young man likes about a young lady? Hoping you are able to help me in this cause. I am, "Doris B."

"His arm," they do say! Seriously, however, a man likes naturalness, a certain daintiness of person, sympathy of understanding, and a general manner of making a boy feel comfortable and at home with her.

The Gilman Studios Goldsmith Bldg. Milwaukee
Fine Upholstery & Drapery Goods at 65c on the $

Here tomorrow for you to choose from is entire surplus stock and room samples of fine upholstery and drapery fabrics of the celebrated Gilman Studios (Milwaukee) at prices that no one who is a judge of beauty, richness, charm or actual intrinsic value can resist. For fifteen years the Gilman Studios have been the rendezvous of the most critical home furnishers, not alone in Milwaukee, but throughout the Middle West, and every yard of the fabrics we have secured tells why. Whoever revels in viewing silk damasks of the most exclusive sorts, and velours with a richness seldom met with, in fact the most exclusive drapery and upholstery fabrics that have been produced, will find this a showing to be remembered with greatest satisfaction—and because trade conditions made it impossible to produce more of these exquisite fabrics that have spread the fame of the Gilman Studios, we can bring you such an unprecedented opportunity. In addition are many lots from leading mills and importers in the East, small in themselves, but in the aggregate comprising thousands of yards of the choicest fabrics at sensationally low figures.

Spring—The Opening Display

Presenting the Authoritative in

Millinery, Coats, Suits, Gowns, Blouses

The keynote, no matter where you turn on our great Second Floor, is struck by the practical, sensible styles. Good taste demands an opening display that is a real achievement, for it sets forth the spring fashions in all their grace and smartness—the beautiful Parisian inspirations, and America's own delightful interpretations. Come and see what all the feminine world will wear this spring. The new hats are different and wonderfully diversified, showing the intent of Fashion to place individuality paramount, which is true, too, of the suits and gowns. In hats the gleaming, glittering effects are prominent, and beautiful flowers, ever new, ever lovely, are used wondrously well. In the suits and gowns it seems as if Fashion, ever thoughtful, has planned a mode irresistible for every preference.

The Pattern Hats are always the center of interest—and never was a group of hats so worthy as is this comprehensive collection—the shapes of the dressy hats are larger—showing wide from side to side—following the models of Susanne Talbot, Hamer, and Carrie Reboux. Transparent hats are alluring in their light, graceful beauty—small matronly shapes are prominent, too. Hats of cellophane, of lace, of taffeta, of Maline, of raffia-embroidery, of leghorn, of wool embroidered—of brilliant braids, rough straws, etc., etc.—and "shapes," there are a plenty; more daring, more delightful, more inimitably, adorably French than ever—the new porcelain blues, capucine, pheasant brown, Chinese blue, etc., etc.—a collection of hats you cannot afford to forego seeing—all specially marked for Opening Week at 12.50 $15 $18 22.50 $25 and up to $35

GEORGETTE FACED HATS are destined to play a prominent part this season—and what makes this group so unusual is the number of combinations of straw and georgette; pipings, Milans, shiny braids, etc., in a wealth of authentic shapes, cleverly trimmed with flowers, fancy feathers, ribbons and ornaments; Opening Week "specials," at 4.45 5.45 6.45

THE STYLE TREND IN TRIMMED HATS—the "length and breadth" of Fashion's dictates are portrayed in this comprehensive group, most every preference as to style and color, as to straw or trimming at all feasible at such moderate pricings, is certain to be gratified; distinctly youthful or matronly hats; large, small and medium shapes of all the wanted straws, with the most fashionable of trimmings, at..... 8.45 and 7.45

Your Easter Corset—As if Made to Order

Third Floor—Center

The advantages of a made-to-order corset without its disadvantages—that is the verdict so many women have reached concerning the famous Binner corsets; for the corset that is made to one's measure is certain to have the figure's imperfections, whereas the Binner corset is molded over the form of a perfect living model of your type and figure.

—each style therefore possesses the actual living proportions—there is no guesswork of any sort—that is why Binner corsets are so helpful to the plump figure, for they exert such a wonderful, corrective influence.

The tall woman with large thighs will find Binner corsets are an unusual aid, because her figure needs the friendly support of the wisely placed bones. Whatever the particular requirements of your figure may be, whatever its needs, they can be fulfilled with remarkable aptness in the Binner corsets. That is the reason we ask you to have our corsetieres assist you in selecting the corset designed for your type of figure—and fit it free of charge.

If you like a low bust corset, but have extremely large thighs, ask to be fitted in a Binner Corset No. 36-318.

If you have large thighs but want nothing whatever above the waistline, ask to be fitted in a Binner Corset No. 318-326.

Easter apparel: myriad late, smart fashions in the manner of acknowledged arbiters of the mode

Fresh, fascinating frocks, suits and wraps—a broadly representative collection—of which the examples here described reflect the charm but give no inkling of the scope. Apparel shop, fourth floor.

Distinctively fashioned suits of tricotine, $110

A mannish model of unadorned simplicity, and a trig eton with plaited skirt and roman sash—two styles that dominate the spring. See the illustration at the left.

Checked suits at $85

Mannish coat model, in checked velour, with long revers, string belt and narrow shoulders; pussy willow lined and superbly tailored. The value is noteworthy.

Serge suits at $60

Strictly tailored suits of men's wear serge; the jacket peau de cygne lined and finished with stitchings, arrowheads and criss cross belt.

Taffeta frocks, 69.50

—with narrow plaited ruffles at neck and sides that impart a smart silhouette. The model pictured on the right.

Tricotine frocks, $75

An unusually attractive long coat model with short sleeves, square neck and string belt, and silk embroidered. Fourth Floor.

Capes are favored of spring

Capes, and coats that resemble capes, rule the modes and are distinctly smart and practical. Those here described are representatively engaging.

Smart peachbloom wraps, $95

—in new shades and beautifully silk lined; the late and fetching model pictured on the right.

Capes of velour cloth at $85

A sweeping model of irresistible smartness, in late shades, with throw in contrasting color.

Misses' suits at $95

—of navy tricotine or poiret twill—spring's most popular fabrics; tailored in "youthful" modes, and lined with silk.

Misses' smart eton suits in several new models, with fancy plaited or tailored skirts, at $110. Fourth floor.

The Last Word in Paris Fashions

NOTHING MUCH ABOVE WAIST.

By Mary Brush Williams.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—In the first entr'acte of the opening performance of Pavlowa the dancing was little talked about during the parade in the foyer on account of another spectacle that crowded it out of mind. This was the woman shown in the first sketch. So meager a bodice is seldom seen even in and around Paris.

The dark triangles form its boundaries in front, and others like them outline the back. The material incloseed within these outlines is of silver thread running through blue net, anchored to a nebulous foundation of blue chiffon.

The skirt is of the same material, embroidered round the bottom, and laid out in a formal design of skunk fur round the hips and bordering the area just above the knees. This overdress swings full over an exceedingly tight and tapering foundation, designed to make it perfectly clear to beholders that the wearer is nowhere nearly so thick through as the present dictates of fashion would tend to make her appear. The tunic finishes in a slim, tight train. The headdress is of silver and pearls.

Still, for this incident, we are not concerned with headdresses, trains, and fullnesses, but with the scantiness of materials consumed above the waist line. That bodice was the sensation of the entr'acte. Everybody was talking about it, everybody was following it, if not with footsteps, at least with eyes.

The wearer was entirely unaware. If her manner indicated anything, that any one was at all struck by her appearance, and if this was studied she at least presently gave one perfectly spontaneous action. She stopped suddenly and looked round at something. What could there be of sensational as to attract the eyes of this sensation? Everybody of one accord breathlessly followed her.

There was displayed a sight to remember. The lady with no front to speak of to her bodice stared at another lady, who had no back to hers. The two sensations of the evening were paying homage to each other, and those who had come to pay homage to Pavlowa were the spectators of this scene.

This Gown Was a Sensation Because of Its Meager Bodice.

No Back to the Bodice of This Red Velvet Evening Gown.

Black Taffeta Dinner Gown.

The lady with no back to her bodice is represented in the second sketch. We approached her for the first time from the rear. The back consisted of a band of rubies round the throat and diagonal lines of rubies bordering the triangular bit of chiffon which runs from the front of the bodice to the middle of the back at the waist line. The material of the costume is of dark red velvet.

We thought our back view of the sensational until a few moments later we beheld the front. The innocent looking full skirt of the rear became trousers when viewed from another position. Bands of silver ran from the waist line the length of the legs in front and bound themselves tightly round the ankles, holding the material close across the front of the wearer and giving it the effect of trousers.

These two exponents of styles, one without any front and the other without any back to her bodice, certainly displayed the extremest decrees of late winter costuming.

The third sketch is perhaps of more practical value for evening wear in Illinois, Iowa, and Nebraska. For myself I should prefer it even for Paris. It has the new full line over the hips and the diagonal slope into a narrowing V shape toward the ankles. This class is a production of Worth's and is of black taffeta. The full tunic is finely plaited and tapers into the rather novel panel, which crosses the bottom of the skirt and runs between the ankles. The front and the back of the skirt are exactly the same. The bodice has a queer way of coming out of the belt on the sides. The belt, by the way, runs in two parallel sections, and is of white leather. The collar is of white embroidery.

Perhaps I wronged Illinois, Iowa, and Nebraska in implying that this robe is sufficiently dressy for evening. Certainly it is no more than the most useful of costumes ever invented—a demi toilette. But it is wonderful to wear to dinner in a restaurant and to the theater. I saw one of them at the same performance of Pavlowa that housed the other two costumes which are the subject of this letter, and I preferred this third.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

This department appears every day in The Daily Tribune.

John and Jimmy were excitedly riding up and down the sidewalk on their velocipedes when a neighbor stopped to ask them if they were having a good time. Jimmy looked back disgustedly at John and said, "Huh, he yells at me all the time, 'get out of my way,' when he can't even catch up to me."

Jane and Tom decided one day to cut their initials in a new peach tree, but Tom was a little doubtful about it because his mother had told him not to, so he said: "Jane, you make yours first, 'cause you know ladies always go first."

Mel was so trustworthy about doing little errands for the neighbors that they rewarded him liberally. He was showing the boys the money he had earned and in answer to their inquiries as to why he was the one who always was called upon to do things, he replied: "They say it's because I'm so trustable."

Bobby, the little boy next door, always wanted to play with the large, beautiful doll Agnes received at Christmas; but the other day when Agnes would not let him play with it, he suggested, "Let's play papa and mamma. I'm the papa and you be the mamma and there's a circus in town, and you go down to see the parade, and I stay home and take care of the baby."

I was reading in the paper of the vast sum of money the sultan of Turkey gave away recently when a son was born to him.

"Just think," I said to a neighbor boy who was in the room, "hundreds of poor people were given money because that one little baby was born."

He said nothing for a minute, then lisped: "Wathn't it too bad he wathn't twinth?"

MRS. M. C. S.

Charlie and his baby brother were marching around the rooms with their toy guns on their shoulders, Charlie claiming to be a captain at the head of his army. After a while the stamping ceased and, peeping into the other room, I asked what had interfered with their play. Pointing to a little form huddled on the floor, Charlie said, dejectedly; "The army's gone to sleep."

Jack's mother tried to teach him to ask her permission before he went to other parts of the neighborhood, though he often disobeyed her. One day he came to our house. We asked him if his mother knew he was away. He answered in a queer tone, "Don't tell me questions."

F. B.

Mary's doll has bright red hair and the other day she told me why dolly had that color hair. "You see," said she, "I have light hair, daddy's is dark, and grandma's is gray, so I told Santa to give dolly some hair not like any in our house."

C. C.

I took my little girl who is 15 months old to my mother's home to spend the week end. My sister happened to be there with her son, who is nearly 3 years old and is just beginning to pick up every little bit of talk he hears. I put the baby on the floor and she slapped him in the face. He responded quickly, "Say, woman, you are too fresh for your size; you better go home where you belong."

J. D.

Howard was teasing his baby sister and had been told several times to desist. Not paying any attention to the reprimand, his father finally said: "Howard, if you do that again I'll spank you." For a moment Howard looked crestfallen, then, looking at his father, he heaved a deep sigh and remarked: "My, but it's a good thing there is an again time for little boys."

M. O.

While sitting in our kitchen sewing the other day I was listening to Mary, Johnny, and Harold playing "housekeeping" on the rear porch. An argument was started between the children, and I heard Harold say: "Don't talk back to me or I will raise your rent."

When Baby comes he is going to ride in a carriage of the finest weave, which you will be able to buy at the price of the coarsest reed.

A Carriage woven almost as fine as a fabric and a bed as soft as down. In short, His Majesty will have a Packard car at a Ford price.

For Marshall Lloyd, the wizard inventor, has patented a method of weaving and invented a loom that weaves Baby Carriages as wonderfully and as rapidly as a silk loom weaves silk.

Today the Lloyd method and Loom accomplish in a matter of minutes what used to take the fastest fingers many weary hours. They weave a wicker so fine it is almost like a fabric.

Three hundred thousand of these carriages are ready now, and ten thousand dealers have them. But still there are not enough to supply the demand.

So watch this paper today and on following days for the stores that will advertise the Lloyd Baby Carriage and also watch the Window Displays of your neighborhood stores.

Remember, you are going to get a Baby Carriage of the finest weave at the price of the coarsest reed.

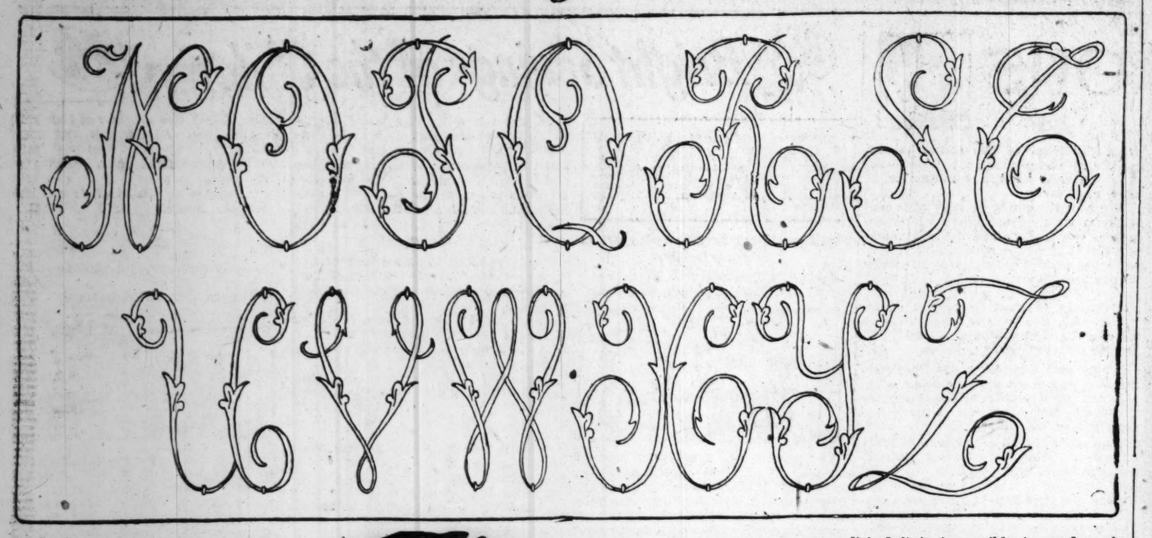
Practical and Fancy Needlework

By Clotilde



If you have any question relating to sewing that you would like to have answered write to Clotilde, Chicago Tribune, inclosing a stamped, addressed envelope.

Initial letters should first be outlined in a close, even running stitch, then the spaces filled in with a chain or other padding stitch. Where a running stitch is employed, the stitch should be longer on the upper side, and it is always heavier in the center than toward the edges, thus giving a curved or rounded surface when finished. The padding stitches must all be on the right side, having the stitches that come to the wrong side as small as possible.

The embroidering should be done in a frame, and the stitch is a simple over and over, taken evenly and close together, the stitch always running at right angles to the padding and taken as close together as is possible without lapping.

Letters are sometimes outlined with the over and over stitch and the inclosed spaces filled with the seed stitch, but there is nothing more beautiful than the plain "laid" work if perfectly done.

MISS B. H.: As you did not give the date on which the pattern was published it is impossible to send a picture. One and one-eighth or one and one-quarter yards thirty-six inches wide would be enough for a brassiere and they are made of wash satin, crepe de chine, or some kind of cambric or long cloth, depending largely upon what they are to worn under.

Wintry winds do not roughen cheeks and hands kept smooth with Espey's Fragrant Cream. Used in homes of Quality since 1877. At Drug and Department Stores. 25¢ and 50¢.

Stopped for Nothing.

It was a windy day—snowing and blowing. A woman came out of a store onto a crowded street, her hat blew off, and I (a man 6 feet tall) ran pell-mell after it. Just as I reached for it, I slipped and sat down squarely on the hat. I stopped for nothing as I fled up the street away from the crowd that had a good laugh at my expense.

In Case of Fainting.

One day in school our teacher asked us what we would do in case of fainting. I quickly answered, "Throw water on yourself!"

Revenged.

The dining car was crowded and the conductor seated me opposite a man with whom I had quarreled. Across from us sat people who knew both of us and who knew of the quarrel, but the supreme moment of embarrassment for me came when the waiter, thinking the man was my husband, took up both of our checks and presented them to him for payment.

That Little Thin Spot Will Soon Grow Larger

Thinning hair is a sure sign that your scalp is inactive and the roots of the hair are not in a normal condition. Don't neglect your scalp. Dust, excess oil, perspiration, dandruff and other impurities clog up the hair ducts, prevent the natural growth of the hair and soon it falls out.

A few minutes brushing every day with a good stiff brush, and a shampoo once a week with Coconol will keep your hair and scalp clean, stimulate the circulation of the blood in the underlying tissues, and promote a thick growth of lustrous, beautiful hair.

Cocoanut Oil Shampoo

Coconol

Cleanses the Hair—Nourishes the Roots

Coconol is made from the purest cocoanut oil. It is mild and antiseptic. The soothing, creamy foam penetrates the hair ducts, cleanses them thoroughly, and supplies the nourishing cocoanut oil that promotes the growth of the hair. Try this perfect shampoo and prevent that little thin spot.

Only 25 Cents a Box—At All Dealers

Each box contains 12 snow white cubes of pure, mild Coconol, and only costs 25 cents. Each cube is sufficient for a shampoo. Simply dissolve it in hot water. It is cleansing, soothing, refreshing and nourishing. Don't forget—don't delay—order Coconol today. Your dealer has it, or will get it for yo

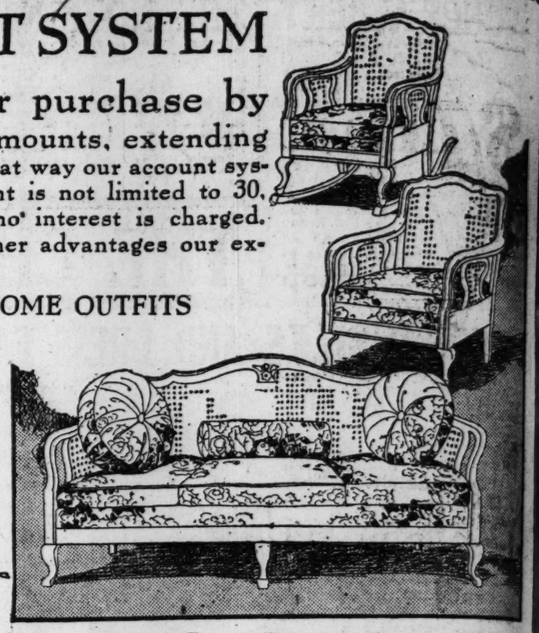
Brown Mahogany Bed Room Suite

Dresser, 79.50; Bed, 59.50; Table, 59.50; Chest, 77.50

These pieces are made of selected mahogany, finished in English brown and constructed in a manner that warrants our guarantee of perfect service. All mirrors are heavy plate, dust proof bottoms on all cases, mahogany drawer bottoms. Chest has three enclosed sliding trays. The unusual design of the bed will add to your room the daintiest attractiveness so much desired. Any of the pieces can be bought separately.



Mahogany Cane Living Room Suite

Davenport, 149.50
Chair or Rocker, 69.00

This Queen Anne Suite is an extra value but not because of our price alone—rather it is its unusual construction coupled with our price that makes it so. Full length davenport, loose cushions, spring bottom and edge—complete with two rosette pillows and bolster. Chair and rocker of like construction and made with valance for back if so preferred. Covered in blue velour, this suite will make your living room beautiful.

9x12 AXMINSTER RUGS

An exceptional display of these rugs in an assortment of well chosen spring designs of the most popular color combinations. Long, thick nap—worsted yarn—fast colors—these rugs are very good values, priced far less than regular for Monday and Tuesday. It is decidedly to your advantage to see them and make comparison of quality and price with any other 9x12 Axminster rugs you may have seen elsewhere.

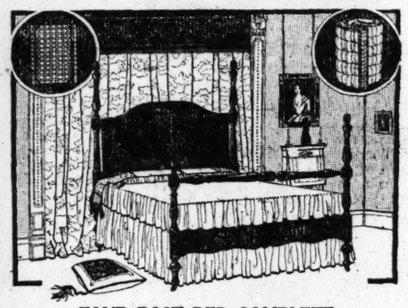
RUGS



FOUR POST BED COMPLETE
With Metal Box Spring—Felt Mattress

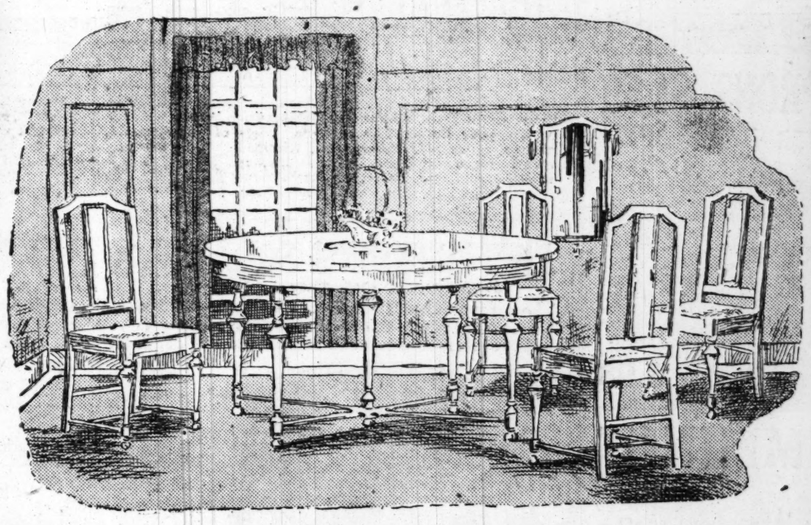
69.50

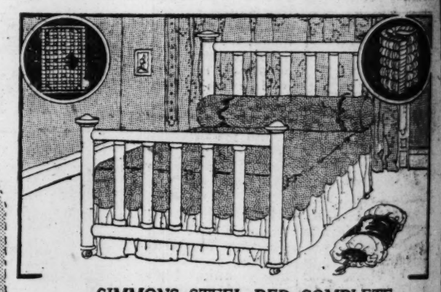
Were it not for a very fortunate purchase made some time ago we would not be able to offer this excellent value. Brown mahogany bed in full or twin size.

SOLID MAHOGANY LIBRARY TABLE
28x48-Inch Top

44.65

William and Mary design—excellent cabinet work and beautifully finished. Even the drawers, sides and bottoms of these tables all solid mahogany. It is a representative value of our display, which consists of all the popular period designs.





SIMMONS STEEL BED COMPLETE
Mahogany Finish—2-in. Post and Fillers—Complete With Spring—Mattress

39.85

The finish of these steel beds is identical with genuine mahogany. Neat design—heavy posts and fillers; this bed complete with steel spring and combination mattress is an unusual value which must be inspected to be fully appreciated.

ADAMS LIBRARY TABLE
Brown Mahogany

29.80

We bought a factory stock of this table—one style—one size, at a price which enables us to offer them at practically today's wholesale cost. It is so remarkable a value at 29.80 that you should not fail to take advantage of it.

79.85

5-PIECE WILLIAM AND MARY SET

This is the most popular of all our dining room sets—and it should be, for our price is less than others quoted for a 5-piece set of equal value. 48-inch top 6-foot extension table and four blue slip seat chairs—made of quartered oak, Jacobean finish. Inspect this set, then judge for yourself the values we offer.

3-PIECE KROEHLER KODAV SET

To those who have not the required bedrooms a Kroehler Kodav set is ideal, for when the Kodav is closed it does not show the full size bed it contains. One operation of the Kodav converts your living room into a bed room. Mahogany finished frame, upholstered back and seat.

REED BABY CARRIAGES
Assorted Colors

These carriages are made of genuine reed with roll sides and front, large wheels—hood and comfort back. Others in our display of which we have the sample only are subject to a 25% discount from our regular price. Many good values from which to choose.

PEDESTAL LIBRARY TABLE
Mahogany Finish

19.65

The quality of this table must not be judged by our price which, based on today's cost, is ridiculously low. Table has 40-inch top—6-inch pedestal base—polished finish and durably constructed. We encourage your comparison of this table with any you may have seen.

"KITCHEN MAID"
Kitchen Cabinets

59.50 to 87.50

We have on display a complete assortment of these superior cabinets. They are made and fitted with every compartment and device that will aid in your work. From the natural oak finished to the smooth door enameled cabinet—the construction is such that it guarantees service.

GATE LEG TABLE
40x48-inch Top

34.65

Tudor design—antique brown mahogany finish, of good porportions. Offers use in hall, living room or breakfast room. At our price we feel confident this table can not be equaled for construction or finish. Inspect it—judge for yourself.

REED FURNITURE
In a Large Assortment of Designs and Finishes

Brown, frosted brown, frosted blue, and many color combinations on all styles and sizes of chairs, rockers, chaise longues, tables, lamps, ferneries, enables you to select just the pieces you need to carry out your color scheme, at prices you intend paying.

SOLID MAHOGANY DAY BED
Complete With Box Spring

79.85

Graceful design—fitted with cane end panels—antique brown solid mahogany day bed. Box spring deep upholstered and well made. Our display consists of many styles, among which is the revolving seat—full bed size day bed.

GENUINE LEATHER ROCKERS High Back

49.50

These rockers are representative values of our assortment which include those covered in tapestry and velour, of various designs. All chairs or rockers broken from complete suites are put in this display and all priced 1/3 to ½ of regular price. Many wonderful values.

FERNERIES, MAHOGANY FINISH

William and Mary design, fitted with metal flower container. The value offered in this fernery is extraordinary. Today's wholesale price is as much as we now ask.

MONDAY! ROTHSCHILDS' $100,000 ONE DAY FURNITURE SALE!!!

Set Your Alarm Clock—Be Here at 8:30 Telephone Your Friends About This Sale

READ CAREFULLY WHAT WE HAVE TO SAY A year ago we startled Chicago by advertising a $50,000 One Day Sale of Furniture. This year our ability and capacity are doubled! And here we are again with Chicago's greatest Furniture feast!

Rent a Spare Room—Cut the High Cost of Living—Furnish That Room Here Tomorrow

And we have produced such values as would give us twice $100,000 if it were possible to wait on the people. Enthusiasm at our values will thrill the crowds from morning till night. Nothing impossible at Rothschilds.

If you knew what is ahead of you just as we know, and if you could realize how much below the present market value these goods are, you would be here in such crowds that would make it necessary to walk through and write down your own orders. Surely in this city of 3 million people there are 100,000 people who want furniture, whether it is one piece or an entire outfit, and tomorrow is their chance. This is the greatest furniture page we ever printed.

Large outfits may be held until May 1st, but special leaders, sun parlor furniture and single pieces or suites must be delivered within two weeks. By paying one-fourth of your purchase tomorrow you may arrange special terms for paying the remainder. And again we remind you that in conducting these enormous Furniture Sales we must have it understood that these goods are not subject to cancellation. This is for Monday only. Just nine hours opportunity.

This is one of the best furniture departments in America. "NOT HOW CHEAP, BUT HOW GOOD," is our motto. This is a sale which will open Chicago's eyes and will be talked of from coast to coast. Sixth Floor.

Real Love Stories

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? It is the idea that is wanted. No attention will be paid to literary style. The Tribune will pay $5 for every story published. No manuscripts returned. Address Doris Blake, The Tribune, Chicago.

COURTSHIP BY MAIL.

BACK in 1917 when every girl's idea of "doing her bit" seemed to be that of marrying a soldier, a girl friend and myself strong mindedly decided to be original. We would, we agreed, do all we could to keep the boys cheered up, but as for marrying any of them—never! We wouldn't be "war brides" if we died in an old maids' home. As we were living in a cantonment city, we had ample opportunity to prove the steadsteadfastness of our resolution.

One Sunday we were invited by a family friend to have dinner at his mess. As each of us happened to have an out of town girl friend visiting us we took them along. Consequently a young sergeant was "drafted" into the entertaining service and assigned to the visitors. Somehow, though, he and I found each other awfully good company, and as a consequence the visitors and the family friend received little attention.

The next day I left for another city and not long after in writing to the family friend I added a "hello" message for the sergeant. He replied with a letter, and it was not long before a regular correspondence was being carried on.

He was sent to an officers' training camp. The correspondence continued and finally culminated in a letter from him that asked "Will you?" and one from me answering "Yes." My engagement ring came by mail, as he could not get a furlough. Plans were made for a wedding within the next six months, but the sudden arrival of overseas orders changed things in a moment.

I packed a grip, caught a train, and was married, the veriest "war bride" that ever wore a wedding ring.

But that wasn't the end of our correspondence, for a few days later my husband left for another port to sail and I had to say "Good-by" by telegram. For nearly a year we continued to write letters and then at last he came home. Though several months have elapsed since that time, we are still ardent boosters of the "correspondence courtship course."

A FRIEND IN NEED

By Sally Joy Brown.

When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

This department appears every day in The Daily Tribune.

Small Boy Can't Walk.

"Do you think there is some one who has a child's wheel chair they would give me? My little boy 3 years old is paralyzed and needs such a chair, but as we have four children it is sometimes hard to get all the necessary things. If my baby could ever use his feet again, I would gladly pass the chair along to some one else who needed it. MRS. P. M."

If there is any mother whose baby has been paralyzed and has since recovered, I am sure she will be only too glad to help this other woman whose need is so urgnt.

Wants English Books.

"I have a little friend in Belgium that knows how to read and write English and I should like to know if any one has any discarded readers or story books, up to the fifth or sixth grade, they do not want, as I should like to send them on to her. She is 12 years old and cannot afford to buy them. English books cannot be bought there and she does not want to forget her English. A. D."

Here is a direct and personal request from a country that the whole world is anxious to help. Surely some reader will have just the right books to pass on to our little friend over the sea.

The Steinway of Wash-Day

TO OUR CUSTOMERS

How do you like our present railway express service?

When you send in the coupon for the Cut Glass set illustrated above, please give me, on a separate sheet, some of your recent experiences relating to the railway express. If every one of our two hundred and fifty thousand customers responds, I ought to have something worth while to present where it may do good.

Until there is a change for the better—and this can be brought about only by a general house-cleaning—use the parcel post for all shipments under fifty pounds, even if it does cost a little more. It is safer and quicker, and the shipment will be delivered, promptly and safely, at the consignee's door.

By the way, did it ever occur to you when the postman called—faithful servant that he is and member of the most efficient business organization, public or private, in the world,—did you ever think to give him a bit of a jolly and tell him how much you appreciate him? A little thing to do, but the flower of such little things is fragrant and perennial.

ELMER E. STEVENS, Pres't.

Boarding House Tales

The boarding house is teeming with human interest stories. Tell us a tale about the funny characters you have met in your experience as "paying guest." The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published. Manuscripts cannot be returned. Please write on one side of the paper. Address Boarding House Tales, Chicago Sunday Tribune.

Seen Through a Doughnut.

I boarded in a little place that had for its star boarder a prim, precise little maiden lady. There was also a gruff elderly bachelor who offended this little lady by his bad table manners. She would watch his every move, and her looks of displeasure were far more amusing to me than the antics of the man. One day she had been particularly attentive to his actions, and he noticed it, when to my great amusement he picked up a doughnut, looked through the hole in the manner of an eyeglass, and in an affected, high pitched voice, said, "Why, how do you do!" The woman immediately left the table, and was assigned a seat in another room. L. S. M.

He Devours It All.

Among the "paying guests" of our boarding house is a hungry man with relatives who live in the country. They often bring him fresh sausage, head cheese, doughnuts, pies, and other country delicacies. He places them around his plate and devours them while the rest of the boarders look hungrily on, never offering to share with his less fortunate friends.

M. M. G.

Something Smart.

We had a flip young clerk at the boarding house table, who was always trying to show off. He seldom asked in the usual way to have a thing passed to him, but had to get off something smart. One day when he wanted the milk he sang out, "drive the cow down this way." The landlady, who sat at the head of the table, called the maid, saying as she handed her the pitcher, 'here, Mary, lead the cow down where the calf is bawling."

To users of Jiffy-Jell

Note the aluminum Dessert Molds and Utensils. Note the Dessert Spoons in Wm. Rogers & Son Silverplate. These are supplied to help you serve Jiffy-Jell attractively. Accept the offers made here—good for this week only.

Jiffy-Jell
Real Fruit Desserts

Flavored with condensed fruit juices, in liquid form, in glass.

A bottle like this in each package.

Jiffy-Jell
Tart, Zestful Salads

With lime fruit juice, condensed and sealed in vials.

A bottle like this in each package.

A wealth of fruit

Crushed fruit essence in abundance, sealed in glass, comes in the package of Jiffy-Jell dessert

Loganberry Jiffy-Jell

This dessert for six is made with one package of Loganberry Jiffy-Jell. The bottle in the package contains the liquid essence of many crushed loganberries, so the dessert is rich in this rare berry flavor. The dessert is made in Pint Mold, Style—H, offered to housewives below.

Pineapple Jiffy-Jell

We crush half a pineapple to make the flavor for this one pint dessert. This is done in Hawaii, from fruit too ripe to ship. So the whole dessert costs you no more than the fruit alone would cost. The dessert is made in Pint Mold, Style—E, offered free below.

Here is where Jiffy-Jell differs so vastly from the old-type quick desserts.

The fruit is not a mere flavor It is condensed fruit juice in liquid form in glass. We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it in a bottle.

Thus you get real fruit in Jiffy-Jell, and get it in abundance. For we use much fruit to make the essence for each Jiffy-Jell dessert.

You get the fragrance and the flavor of fresh fruit. Sealed in glass, all the fruit delights are kept intact.

Less than apples cost

A serving of Jiffy-Jell costs less than an apple costs. Yet it comes ready-sweetened. It comes acidulated with acid made from lemon or grapes. And it brings you a wealth of rich fruit essence in a bottle.

You prepare the dessert in an instant, by simply adding water. Then you cool in molds.

One package serves six people in mold form, or twelve if you whip the jell. And all for a few cents.

Jiffy-Jell
Real Fruit Desserts

10 Flavors in Glass Vials
A bottle in each package

Strawberry Cherry Loganberry
Pineapple Lemon Raspberry
Orange Coffee Lime Mint

Eight fruits on call

Jiffy-Jell places eight luscious fruits on call. The whole dessert will generally cost less than the fruit alone would cost.

It brings you real fruit, with its healthfulness and delights—not an artificial flavor. And now, when fruits are scarce and high, it makes them economical.

Fruit is essential. Everybody needs it daily. With Jiffy-Jell you can easily serve a different fruit each day.

Compare with old types

Compare Jiffy-Jell with the old-type jelly desserts. it will be a revelation. This test has won millions to Jiffy-Jell, and it will win you.

To urge this comparison we offer molds, etc. Try several flavors this week and send us the trade-marks. Then we will help you serve these dainties in attractive ways.

Lime-Fruit Jiffy-Jell Salad

Lime-fruit flavor makes a tart, green salad jell. Serve with the salad or mix the salad in before cooling. Or mix in meat scraps and make a zestful meat loaf—meat in aspic. If you use half tomato juice and half water in dissolving, you add another zest. The mold used above is Salad Mold, Style—D, to make a six-portion salad. See offer below.

Mint Jiffy-Jell with Meats

Mint Jiffy-Jell contains the liquid essence of fresh mint leaves. It makes a green jell, rich in mint. Serve with hot or cold meats, or as a refreshing side dish. As shown above the mint jell is made in Individual Mold, Style 2. See below.

Jiffy-Cup for measuring Made of aluminum

A half-pint cup

Fill twice with water to dissolve one package Jiffy-Jell, and the jell will be exactly right. Use also as an exact cup measure for any recipe. Ordinary cups vary in size, and recipes are often spoiled. It also measures fractions of a cup. Send 2 Jiffy-Jell trade-marks for it.

Style 6 Style 5 Style 2

Individual Dessert Molds

These come in assorted styles of pure aluminum, six to the set. The set of six will serve a full package of Jiffy-Jell. Send 5 Jiffy-Jell trade-marks for the set of six in assorted styles. Note that Style 5 is same as pint size Style—B. Style 6 also comes in pint mold, Style—C. See offers below.

Teaspoon Size

Wm. Rogers & Son AA

A new-pattern dessert spoon

Here is a new, exquisite pattern in dessert spoons, teaspoon size. It is made in Wm. Rogers & Son AA silverplate, guaranteed for 20 years. We send the first spoon for two Jiffy-Jell trade-marks, plus 10 cents for postage and packing. Then with the spoon we offer you the balance of a set.

Send these circles with the Jiffy-Jell trade-mark cut from the fronts of Jiffy-Jell packages — front circles only.

Free to housewives

Buy Jiffy-Jell from your grocer in the flavors you like best. Then cut out the Jiffy-Jell trade-marks in the circle on the front of package. Send the trade-marks to us with the coupon at the right. Check in the coupon the gift or gifts you want, and send the trade-marks called for—from 2 to 5 for each.

The pint molds are valued at 50c. The set of six is valued at 60c. But we supply them free to users of Jiffy-Jell. This offer is for this week only. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

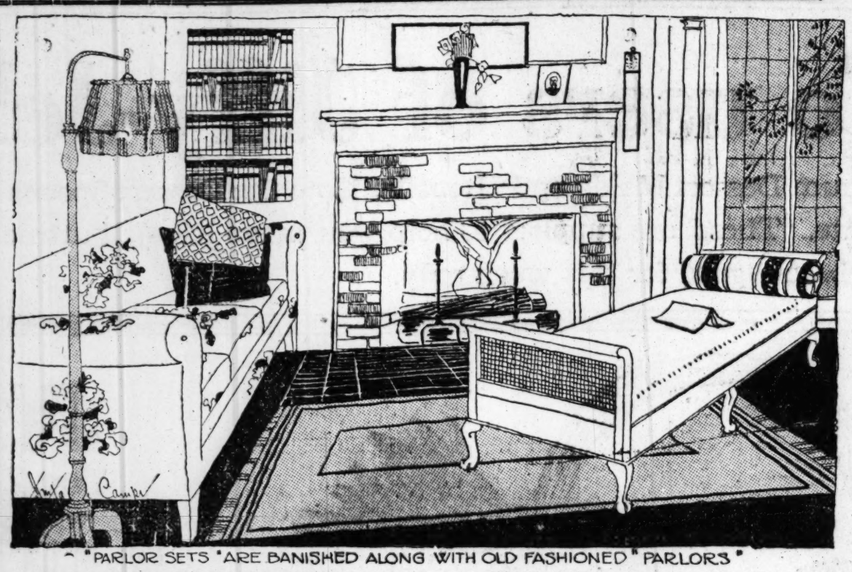
RELATED FEATURES IN FURNITURE.

THE shortage of furniture that threatens the market at the present time has at least one advantage; it has made people who desire vainly to "match up" their mobiliary possessions look about and study as to what would go well with the unmatchable sets.

As public taste becomes cultivated to the point of understanding related features in furniture, manufacturers are beginning to fear that enlightened buyers will never go back to being satisfied with the commercialized "complete suites" that the maker, the dealer, and the buyer have fallen into the habit of so slothfully accepting as easiest to make, easiest to sell, and easiest to buy.

That factory made period sets are more or less of a sham is beginning to dawn on the general public. Genuine period furniture will never be abandoned; in fact, more than ever is its value acknowledged—not only authentic pieces but worthy reproductions. I am decrying only the cheap sort of stuff that sails under false colors and that spuriously sells under a period name—a name that might as well be Mary Ann as Queen Anne, for example. All furniture sold in sets is, as a matter of fact, being held up to analysis.

If we are about to institute a reform in our furnishings we have really made a fair start in our living rooms. It is safe to say without much fear of contradiction that parlor sets have been banished along with "parlors," and that an informal arrangement of furniture that guarantees comfort of living has been satisfactorily substituted for the prim little showrooms of yore. Whether or not the dining room suite, the bedroom suite, etc., will follow suit is the burning question. If they do, the change could not be more timely.



"PARLOR SETS" ARE BANISHED ALONG WITH OLD FASHIONED "PARLORS."

The en suite idea is, to say the least, having a hard time justifying itself.

Let my meaning be clear. It is not meant to discourage sets entirely. Indeed, a set limited to a few pieces is an excellent nucleus of furnishing, if lines are good and proportions generous, but it should find relief in being supplemented by other pieces that harmonize without matching.

A little bedroom in which two sorts of furniture are pleasantly commingled has a pale French gray wall powdered with rose color. The bed with slender four posts is of brown mahogany, as is the writing desk and the highboy. Contrasting with these pieces are a settee, two rockers, a little bench, and a desk chair painted French gray.

The curtains and cushions are made of wide striped silk in ivory French gray and rose. Drawn close to the triple window is a narrow dressing table that is covered and flounced with the striped silk. On the table is a little standing mirror with a tiny drawer beneath it. It is flanked by a pair of electric candles. The bed has a cover of rose colored taffeta, trimmed at the sides with a full flounce of the same. The carpet is a deep rose velvet. A piquant touch is given in the side light shades, which are of violet parchment.

In a dining room corner of a big living room is a pretty gate leg table, and the chairs around it alternate, first a ladder back rush bottom chair, then a round topped Windsor. The irregularity is pleasing. The color scheme of the room is interesting and might well be carried out in a regular dining room. The sidewalls are in clear deep gold color. Several decorative paintings are used, framed in narrow molding frames of dull antique gold.

Several wall tables are in walnut touched up at the margins with rubbed in deep rich green paint. The Windsor chairs have pads of black broadcloth embroidered in silk and chenille in bouquet colors and trimmed with a bright peacock blue silk cord. On one table is a vase of saffron pink and on another a pair of old ivory vases filled with black and green French futurist flowers.

FERRY'S pure bred SEEDS

More food for less money

BE INDEPENDENT! You don't need to pay sky-high prices for all that you eat.

Did your father and grandfather pay whatever price was asked? No! They planted good seeds, and harvested big crops. They did not depend upon others to grow, harvest, haul and distribute their garden truck. Consequently they did not pay Fifth Avenue prices. Strikes, transportation troubles, delays and other disturbances of food supply did them no hurt. They were pioneers!

You can be a pioneer. A few feet of earth and Ferry's pure-bred Seeds are all that you need for a start.

But be sure you start with Ferry's pure-bred Seeds.

For sixty years, professional and amateur gardeners have preferred Ferry's Seeds because they are pure-bred.

We make sixty thousand tests a year to determine the germination of Ferry's pure-bred Seeds. But any seed may grow—we want to know what it will produce. Therefore, we make the supreme test—the test for trueness to type. Every vegetable, every flower must measure up to Ferry standards for size, shape, productivity, and quality.

Start your garden now and start it right. Ferry's Seed Annual will help you. It tells what, when and how to plant; tells how to cook vegetables to retain their full, fresh flavor; and how to put up your surplus crop for the winter. Write for your free copy today.

For Your "Aluminum Kitchen"

One thousand Aluminum Kitchen Sets to be given away. Life-time ware. Sanitary, bright, durable. Set consists of:

1 Combination Cooker, 4 qt.-size. Makes Deep Roaster, Covered Baking Dish. Covered Sauce Pan. Double Cooker. (Steamer).
1 Coffee Pot & Percolator, 8-cup size
1 Windsor Kettle, 4-quart size
1 Convex Kettle, 2-quart size

The above articles, worth $10, will be given as premiums with certain of our famous Composite Ranges.

This offer is good only until one thousand of these ranges have been sold, and in no event after March 31st.

The Reason! April is the big moving month, when we are swamped with orders for Gas Ranges; our selling, delivery and connecting forces are then taxed to the limit. We could save money for our customers, and give better service if some of this "rush" was moved up into March.

In order to induce our customers to purchase in March instead of during the April rush we are making this remarkable money saving offer.

An early visit to Exhibition Hall, Peoples Gas Building, or to any of our neighborhood stores will convince you it is to your advantage in many ways to buy your new Range Now, and get this valuable premium. Guarantees, Prices and Terms of Payment are the same as usual.

The Successful North Shore Store

LOREN MILLER & CO.

4722-28 Broadway Near Lawrence

The popularity of this store is the result of honest merchandising methods. High quality merchandise, in large assortments at fair prices, personal service and pleasant shopping conditions gain us thousands of new friends each month. Everybody is keen to put off the winter clothing and put on the bright new apparel of spring. Here the healthy desire for bright new things receives helpful stimulation, for there is so much to see and ask about, and we are quite as glad to give you information as we shall be to sell you the goods when you are fully ready to buy, though you have only twelve more shopping days before Easter.

Spring's Accepted Fashions for Women

Spring creations that are veritable dreams-come-true; apparel that is in keeping with the Spring sunshine and flowers; particularly emphasizing quality of fabric, excellence of finish and moderate pricing. The bouffant hips and tight bodices reflect the gay fashions of Louis XV., while several renowned creators of fashion sponsor straight lines. But each and every costume bows to fashion's decree.

Frocks of Unusual Beauty

New and effective styles are displayed in the popular Spring fabrics. Two charming models of georgette in exquisite shades of pink and blue are pictured. Both are beaded in beautiful new designs. One boasts of a smart girdle in contrasting color and ostrich trimming.

Suits Decidedly New

The variety of styles seems to be the interesting feature of our Suit display. One illustrated is an embroidered, ripple garment designed along tailored lines. The other suit is a chic Parisian model with unique pocket effect and accordion pleated skirt. Both are excellent quality tricotine, but if you prefer other fabrics there are many styles equally smart.

Spring Coats - - - - - $35.50 to $72.50

Third Floor.

Easter Millinery Modes

Distinctive hats, interpreting the newest modes for this occasion, are presented in a handsome display that will admirably satisfy every whim and fancy.

Small hats show a tendency to the Oriental, particularly Egyptian effects. The medium off-the-face and sailor styles are profusely trimmed with flowers. The large, picturesque hats are made of transparent straws and malines, trimmed with flowers and glycerine feathers. There are also many styles of fancy straw and georgette inclined to be droopy—comfortable creations for the veranda or country club wear.

Reproductions from the N.Y. Fashion Exhibit

The handsome set pictured may be purchased separately, though it would be a desirable set to add to one's wardrobe. The color scheme throughout is a striking shade of Sardinia coral red. The parasol in this shade of Mallinson's Silk de Luxe is especially smart, with the jaunty hat of the same fabric combined with straw and side drop trimmings. The large hat of jacquette braid is trimmed and faced with Lyons velvet in this striking shade.

Third Floor.

Fashionable Pumps and Oxfords

The Springtime footwear is a pleasant surprise. Charming in style, finish and elegant quality leathers. Then, too, they are not nearly so expensive as they threatened to be—not a bit more costly than such beauty deserves. Comfortable styles for street wear and trim, shapely models for dressiest occasions.

"Lorma" Quality Oxfords, $9.00 to $13.00

The graceful lines, the fine leathers and expert workmanship in this footwear are an example of "Lorma" qualities made expressly for us. The oxford pictured with Cuban heel is a smart "Lorma" creation for street wear in tan calf.

Two-Eye Tie Pumps, $12.50 and $15.00

Particularly attractive are these pumps for dress wear in black kid, patent, black and brown suede; one pair is illustrated.

Misses' & Children's "Victory" Shoes

Sizes 8½ to 11, $5.85 — Sizes 11½ to 2, $6.85

Featuring a special lot of button dress shoes of patent leather with black cloth tops and welt soles, an extraordinary value at this opportune time.

Second Floor.

Fancy Lace Hosiery for Spring

The beauty of the spring costume is enhanced by the lovely new effects of Lace Hosiery for street and dress wear. Attractive designs in boot and all-over effects are priced $5.00 to $10.50.

Two distinctive designs are pictured. One pair with lace inserts is priced $7.50, the other imported lace design is priced $10.50.

New designs in hand embroidered, clocked and drop-stitched Hosiery in black and brown are priced $3.75 to $5.00.

Excellent quality all silk full fashioned Hosiery in black and brown ranges from $3.25 to $4.50 pair.

Unusual in value are these garter top Hose in black, white and leather shades, pair, $2.00 to $3.50.

First Floor.

Dress Fabrics

Exquisite fabrics in the season's newest shades at prices that will encourage many to develop their own Spring garments.

Third Floor.

Laces and Trimmings

This shop offers excellent suggestions to the home and professional seamstress. The dainty laces are in greater demand this season than ever before, having so many charming trimming values.

Chinese Filet and Real Irish Laces, 25c to $5.75 yd.

The Filet lace in widths from ½ to 5 inches may be had in floral and conventional patterns.

The Irish rose and shamrock designs are very popular. These laces vary in sizes from the narrow picot edge to the 3 inch bandings.

French Organdie Flouncing, $4.25 to $8.50 yd.

Beautiful embroidered flouncings in all white or attractive colors can be matched with bandings in the same designs.

Jet and Silk Girdles, $7.95 to $15.00

Unusually attractive are these silk girdles in combination with beads. The jet girdles with fancy tassels form a striking contrast to nearly every fabric.

First Floor.

Charming New Easter Apparel for Girls

All girls claim their share of the smart new styles enjoyed by mother—the spring coats and frocks for the little miss reflect the adult desire for extra plaits and extra folds.

Girls' Party Frocks, $10.50 to $35.00

Georgette organdie and georgette with net frocks in exquisite styles have many surprising new trimming ideas, including dainty touches of ostrich and flowers.

Washable Dresses, $8.75 to $22.50

Serviceability and attractiveness are combined in these new tub dresses. A strictly tailored linen dress is illustrated, with vest insert of embroidery over net and other trimming features that will be noted in the picture priced $19.50. Little girls' chambray dresses like the one pictured at right are shown in pink, blue, yellow and lavender, priced $5.75. The plaid tissue gingham with organdie trimming consists of a quaint surplice collar, and is priced $22.50.

Crisp New Undergarments for Girls

Handsome lace trimmed princess slips, gowns, underwaists and petticoats in large assortments.

Fourth Floor.

Our Infants' Shop

An individual shop in which you'll find pretty things for baby. Even if this is the little one's first Easter, everything is here to complete the dainty outfit, including apparel, strollers, carriages and novelties.

Flannel Wrappers for Baby, $1.25

Two styles of soft quality flannel, both unusual in value, one edged with shell stitching and hemstitched with blue or pink, the other is edged with fine white scalloped braids.

Infants' Creepers at $1.75

Cunning little garments of pin stripe madras priced very low. The neck band, pockets, cuffs and belt are piped with white tape and edged in blue embroidery effect.

Little Girls' Voile Dresses, $5.75 to $8.95

A handsome assortment in attractive styles, with hand embroidery and many other dainty trimming touches that awaken the youthful pride of the little miss. Sizes 2, 3 and 4 years.

Fourth Floor.

"Modart" Front Lace Corsets

Will improve the smart lines of the spring costume. Distinguished poise and graceful carriage are largely a matter of correctly fitted corsets, therefore our corsetieres are trained to recognize your needs and to assist you.

You will be pleased with our special service and the choice of models presented here.

The illustration, a $10 pink broche model for slender or average figure, gives you an idea of the smart lines embodied in these exquisite corsets.

There are other popular lines and various prices.

Third Floor.

By Percy Hammond.

MISS JANIS' engaging bivouac at the Illinois is something more than a frivolous campfire around which to gather in heedless reminiscence of the war.

It has, perhaps, a serious consequence, if not a serious purpose, in that it recalls to the reluctant memory a bothersome though important episode. As one of our ex-heroes plaintively observed not long ago "the war is over, and it is growing overer and overer every day." Our attitude toward it suggests that of the thrifty alumnus toward his penurious classmate in the college bouquet anecdote. After listening with tearful discomfort to his friend's pitiable tale of suffering and neglect he summoned his butler and said: "Throw this ——— out of here; he's breaking my heart!"

Miss Janis and her smiling band make no report of miseries endured. Theirs is an airy and a humorous epilogue, recording with considerable veracity the minor high-lights of what one of them calls "the best war we ever had." It speaks in reticent satire of the wine-woman-and-song sector, where after sheathing, temporarily, the vengeful blade, the dreamy doughboy parked his ideals and became a gay debauché in the voluptuous hutzorgies of the Young Men's Christian association, the Jewish Welfare league, and the Knights of Columbus. Yet, in their careless account of battle's amusing recesses they manage to insert between the lines a salubrious hint or two. Behind the doughboy at play you can see him at his melancholy work, and in his persuasive way he again endears himself to you. It is a felicitous sugar-coating of the unpalatable bolus, and it is apt, if you are a bit liverish about the war, to refresh your waning regard for the A. E. F.

Miss Janis was, as usual, a shrewd showlady when she recruited her gang, for its members illustrate in their own personalities many soldier types, the vivid as well as the vague, of the A. E. F. With one or two inoffensive exceptions they are boyish play-actors, a bit out of the complaisant dogtrot of the average professional, but still knowing their way about the entrances and the exits. They are expert amateurs, and their performance is, with one trifling shimmy lapse, a sturdy feat of cleanly and patriotic diversion. Personally, I should have been happier if Miss Janis, in the last scene, had not caused her veterans to doff the knightly livery of war and don the pallid and effeminate regalia of performers in a cabaret—but, altogether, the revue, like the floating soap, is well-nigh pure, and it is, to my way of thinking, the best show in town.

Speaking of soldiers upon the stage Mr. Ziegfeld has announced that the men in the male chorus of the Follies are all ex-officers of the army or the navy.

The blue book of the Janis expedition follows:

George F. Hinton (New York) the manager, as lieutenant colonel, N. Y. N. G., organized the 369th infantry, colored. He went to France as a captain, served seven months in the Champagne sector with the 4th army under Gen. Gourad, and was discharged, after fifteen months, as a major.

Henry Janswick (New Haven) who recites the plea for ales, wines, liquors, and seegars, enlisted in the 102d regimnt, New England division. He played in the Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel, and Meuse-Argonne shows, was wounded at Chateau Thierry and Siecheprey, and has the Croix de Guerre for bravery in action.

Jack Brant (Piermont, N. Y.) portraying with acute fidelity the portentous Military Police, enlisted as a mechanic in S. S. U 515, April 12, 1917, was attached to the French colonials under Gen. Gourad, served in seven sectors, and has the Croix de Guerre for bravery in evacuating wounded under fire.

William B. Kernell (New York) the pianist and composer of the revue, was a sergeant in S. S. U 606; operated with Gen. Gourad's 4th army in the Champagne, and in the Aisne and the Meuse-Argonne fighting. He is the son of Mrs. Joseph Cawthorne, Miss Queenie Vassar.

Bradley Knoche (Peoria) whose flirtation in the park with the sedulous midinette, is one of the faultless things in the show, drove a truck on convoy service as a private in the motor transport corps, and was later made a sergeant in the intelligence service, because he knew the French language and the French people.

Allan Mattox (Atlanta), appearing as the Italian officer, served on the French and Italian fronts in the American ambulance, section 566, and has the Italian war cross and the American citation of his unit.

Charles Lawrence (Worcester, Mass.) the smiling and stammering comedian of the show, was an enlisted man, assigned to ambulance service in the French army. He was at Fort Ontario in U. S. General Hospital No. 6.

Jerry Hoekstra (Kalamazoo) is the sweet singer who announces in a pretty song that the time he misses Her most of all is just a little after taps. He was a private in S. S. U 571 and worked with the Tenth French army under Gen. Mangin in seven sectors. He has the Croix de Guerre for bravery under fire.

Richard Ryan (New Haven) impersonates the "Hardboiled Yank," whose refrain is that "It's all wrong." He was on the Mexican border as a private in the 12th infantry and later enlisted in the 102d regiment of the New England division. After being wounded in the leg at the Chemin des Dames he was transferred to the 102d supply train.

Kenneth Kennedy (Pittsburgh) was a captain in the 11th marines under Gen. Smedley Butler, an outfit of blood-letters, whose gory ambitions were hampered by the armistice. He was an M. P. at Marseilles.

Herbert L. Goff (New York) sings "Gee, But It's Great to Meet a Girl from Home" when he encounters the personable Miss Ruth Miller in a Parisian café. He was an ensign aboard the converted yacht Noma, on patrol duty out of Brest and was ordered later to New York as radio inspector and instructor. He can wear the Cuban pacification medal and that of the Vera Cruz expedition.

Frank J. Murdock (Poughkeepsie) was a sergeant in the Q. M. corps for more than two years at Vichy, Tours, and other points in the S. O. S.

Edgar Lee Hay (Newark) who dances and plays the French waiter much like a professional, was a hospital sergeant and was stationed at Fort Sill, Fort Riley, Camp Funston, Camp Doniphan, and was attached to the 11th field artillery.

Frank Miller (Brooklyn). In the revue he acts the vindictive private, who, returning to the affluence of civil life, seeks to avenge the doughboys' wrongs upon an indigent captain, needing employment. He is unhappily also the female impersonator. His outfit overseas was the 106th infantry, 27th division, and he graduated from the radio school at Landeville, France.

Joseph S. Roth (New York) was a sergeant in the Q. M. corps, enlisting at Gondrecourt, France, in 1917 and serving for two years in the zone of the advance at General Headquarters, Chaumont, and with the 1st division.

George L. Vunck (Asbury Park) had eleven months of it as a corporal in Battery F of the 112th heavy artillery.

George S. Hirst (Providence) the dancing fiddler, was in the navy as a second class seaman, attached to the training station at Newport.

Numerous subscribers, admiring the emotions expressed by Miss Janis in "Lest We Forget," her rhymed tribute to our truculent idealists, ask for its publication. "The sex is ever to a soldier kind," and Miss Janis, as you will see below, is a beneficent lady:

Well! boys la guerre est fini,
And, of course, we are glad;
But as time goes on we'll realize
That the war was not so bad.
Of course, it had its drawbacks,
But it had its glories, too;
And, for me, my greatest glory was
That I got to know you.

To know you in your hardships;
To know you in your joys;
To know that my life's finest hours
Were spent among you boys.
In dugouts or in T huts,
In hoisting zing and trench,
I loved to see you smile at me
And yell in doughboy French:
"Hello, Elsie! Bon jour—comment ta tell cet vous,
And sing my songs with me.
Oh boys, I know it's selfish,
But I'm sorry it's "fini."

So, as a boy remembers
The dear old swimming hole;
And as a girl remembers
The first kiss her sweetheart stole;
Just as your mother still can feel
Your golden baby locks,
So are the days we spent in France
Locked in my memory box.

The war is dead—long live the war!
And the memory of the men
Who fought and died.
Or lived through hell
To come back home again.
So let us laugh, and let us say
Thank God, we're through.
And yet——
Let's breathe a tiny little prayer
Each day.
Lest we forget.

Herman Lieb, who has been acting in Australia and other far corners, is in America again. He is still giving his classic impersonation of the acrid apothecary who dispenses the tricky anodynes in the enduring "Dope," and he has to be seen in it last week in St. Louis. He writes that "it went better than ever." Among Mr. Lieb's associates at the ends of the earth was Miss Emilie Polini, whose playing in "Hindle Wakes" is a fragrant memory to those who saw it.

William A. Brady, miffed at references to his having disdained Abraham Lincoln" as an American prospect when he saw it in London, offers an argument of that evening as an excuse for his doubts. The scene at Appomattox had been reached, and Gen. Grant, having covered the sleeping president with his cloak, was stealing silently about the room. Whereupon the Englishwoman in the chair adjoining Mr. Brady's whispered nervously to her escort: "Does he kill him now?"

MISS PATRICIA COLLINGE IN "GOLDEN DAYS" AT POWERS

ACCORDING to information that comes from South Bend, to the accompaniment of Hoosier huzzas, Miss Patricia Collinge and "Golden Days" are in happy association. The play, which will reach its second performance Monday at Powers', is said to be a comedy of adolescents in love. Not the modern adolescent an austere correspondent intimates—not the young serpent's teeth who jazz about with rum flasks on the hip and fag-cases in the vanity box, prattling in accents wild of the shimmy and corroliary topics, but a type less raffish and probably more universal. They are of the normal just-out-of-finishing-school and contemplating matrimony species; the girls are superflappers and the boys are sub-bond-salesmen, and there is not a bobbed-hair vamp or a divan-demon in the collection.

Miss Collinge will have much more of a star's rôle than she had in "Tillie." In the first act she will be the shrinking violet, slightly bruised by a broken betrothal; in the second, she will be a fine flower of the ballroom; in the third she will be wearing smart riding habits to a Fifth avenue rhythm; and in the last she will be something or other from overseas service, in an apres-la-guerre atmosphere. Rôles of rapid evolution such as this are a part of the stellar tradition, and when the star can act, as Miss Collinge hinted she could in "Tillie," when her wardrobe consisted of a black dress, a gray dress, and a wedding gown bought on the west side of State street, the admiring public gets its money's worth.

New York Offers "Young Visiters" Plenty of Plays

By Burns Mantle.

NEW YORK. — [Special Correspondent.]—I do not wonder that the young visiters arriving hereabouts for the spring bonnet drive, and eager to put in most of their time playgoing, are mystified by the theatrical advertisers. They are skillful manipulators of adjectives, these showmen, and the complete indorsement of the press is an easy achievement for them.

And yet when I tried to make out a list of those plays it would best profit an eager pair of hintlanders to see—"hintlanders of average taste and intelligence," as their letter runs—I found it rather a difficult job. More of a job this season than is usually the case, in fact. In ordinary seasons to select ten entertainments from forty is comparatively simple. But this year there are eighteen or twenty in a list of fifty that any playgoer of average taste could see without fear of real disappointment.

The list I sent this duo may be of interest to others. The spring correspondence indicates that there is much traveling in this direction this time of year—much more than there is in the fall, in fact. I assume the lady hintlander will do most of the playgoing in the afternoons, and with the exception of "The Gold Diggers" and "My Lady Friends," which are favorites also with the males, the others are mostly what the showman classifies as "the kinda thing women like." The list:

MONDAY—Ethel Barrymore and "Declasse" at the Empire, with the Century "Midnight Whirl" to follow, just to start the week with a touch of what is left of New York's night life.

TUESDAY—"Abraham Lincoln" at the Cort and a good night's sleep. Nothing trivial should be mixed with "Lincoln."

WEDNESDAY—"Adam and Eva" at the Longacre, or, being interested in Elsie Ferguson's return to the stage, "Sacred and Profane Love" at the Morosco, as a matinée bill, and at night one of the four best musical plays—"Monsieur Beaucaire" at the New Amsterdam, "Irene" at the Vanderbilt, "Apple Blossoms" at the Globe, or "The Night Boat" at the Liberty.

THURSDAY—Clifton Crawford and "My Lady Friends" at the Comedy or Ina Claire and "The Gold Diggers" at the Lyceum as a matinée choice and John Barrymore's "Richard III." or Richard Bennett and "Beyond the Horizon" at night.

FRIDAY—One of the melodramas. "The Sign on the Door" at the Republic, with Marjorie Rambeau, or "The Acquittal" at

By Mae Tinée.

"TOM SAWYER" was a decided success as a picture. "Huckleberry Finn" I regard as rather a doubtful experiment. For, though it abounds in picturesque settings, has a splendid cast, and is photographically a delight, it is rather monotonous. A story written by Mark Twain didn't need any plot to hold interest from start to finish. But a Mark Twain story fallen into the hands of producers becomes—well, a different story.

I shan't insult you by offering information as to who was Huckleberry Finn. If you don't know we'll all keep still about it. But this picture is the rather lengthy chronicle of the adventures of Tom Sawyer's raggedy pal who, escaping from civilization, and a drunken father as well, sets out on whilom wanderings of his own and on the way encounters a runaway slave, two peculiar soldiers of fortune, and "an angel of heaven," otherwise known as Mary Jane Wilks.

Lewis Sargent makes a satisfactory Huckleberry Finn. Gordon Griffith is a regular Tom Sawyer, and such people as Edythe Chapman and Orral Humphrey lend distinction to the production.

You may think "Huckleberry Finn" a great picture. But I can't promise that you will.

William Collier, they tell me, is soon to be seen in a recreated Keystone comedy called "Better Late Than Never." This is due for release next Sunday.

The people who live in the outskirts and patronize the neighborhood theaters make good use of the theater manager. They consult him on pictures much as the dabbler in stocks consults his broker. "Let me know when you have a good thing," the family man admonishes the manager as he leaves the theater, and it isn't unusual at all for the former to receive a phone call from the manager when something known by the latter to appeal to the patron's taste is scheduled for a showing. That's service. It's also subtle flattery. And, if you observe the attendance of theaters where the manager does take a personal interest in his patrons, you will be compelled to admit that it is good business.

You who have been wondering as to the whereabouts of Jane Novak will be interested to learn that she will support Tom Moore in his current production, "The Great Accident." This is from the story by Ben Ames Williams. And I don't know what you think, but I think Mr. Williams is a whale of a story writer.

The Booth Tarkington story, "The Conquest of Canaan," will be picturized by Paramount.

Billy Rhodes, who has been in retirement since her husband, Bill Parsons, died, expects to return to the screen shortly.

Listen, girls! Just for fun Wallace Reid for the last three weeks has been playing a part on the speaking stage in Los Angeles. O, to hear them voice!

Bill Hart and Thomas H. Ince were great pals once upon a time. Now in Los Angeles courts there is a suit brought against Thomas for the division of half a million dollars' profit, said to have accrued from their former association.

Kenneth Harlan, they tell me, wishes to be freed from his marriage to Salome Jane Harlan. He says she deserted him.

Extra: Herbert Rawlinson recently saved five million people! (In a picture.)

It is interesting to know that Chicago will soon be the headquarters of a chain of film laboratories. This is announced by Watterson R. Rothacker, president of the Rothacker Film Manufacturing company.

It is said that the titles and subtitles of the coming undersea drama, "The Girl of the Sea," produced by the Williamson brothers, will be unusual and beautiful. The background for each title is said to have been taken on the bottom of the sea, showing innumerable queer and beautiful fish swimming about. The reading matter then fades in on the water.

Miss Kirby impersonates with comic felicity a South Carolina mountain type in "Howdy, Folks"—a widow, with "a misery in her haid," who later grows handsome, romantic, and matrimonial.

Ask Me! Ask Me! Ask Me!

P. F. M.: You always insist on spilling a little indigo blue into your happiest moments, don't you? Now that you're successful, go ahead and enjoy yourself. Stop reminding fate that you'd have appreciated success more years ago. (You know I don't see how I ever managed to keep out of the pulpit?)

FAN: I don't know how Robert Warwick pronounces his second name—but I pronounce it with the emphasis on the first syllable—and you know I'm always right.

MARY R.: I shall bear you in mind.

"STOP STICKS": So you like Buck Jones, do you? Well, after considerable sleuthing we find that he is 24 years old, was a cowboy in Montana and Oklahoma, and a soldier in the Philippines and in France. If any more data regarding him is reported to this agency we will communicate with you immediately. Thanking you for your patronage, we are, etc.—you know!

MR. H. A. P.: Why don't you add a couple of letters on to that? Your name is rather bobtailed as it stands. So far as I know Sylvia Breamer is not married. If you wish to write and ask her, a letter addressed in care of Blackton Productions, 423 Classon avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., will reach her.

READER: All right I'll never inflict such a long sentence upon you again.

RUTH C.: Mighty glad you liked it. Perhaps your luck has changed. The pictures of the actors you mention will appear shortly in the roto. Watch THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. I'd love to see your "rogues' gallery."

R. D. T.: You bet I'm a mystery! I don't care whether you're peppy or fresh—I like you just the same. Whether you can call me dearie or not depends on whether you are male or female. No, thank you.

PAUL R. B.: Glad to oblige you! Address Wyndham Standing in care of the Motion Picture Studios Directory, New York; Percy Marmont, care of Vitagraph, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Madge Kennedy, Goldwyn studios, Culver City, Cal., and Bessie Love, 7021 Hollywood boulevard, Los Angeles.

R. K.: I'm glad the jinx is anchored at last! There are plenty of people who think I need an assistant, but if you ask me I believe I can struggle along by myself just a little longer. I like Kathleen Williams much. Sorry the parting of the ways must come so soon. Here's hoping we meet again.

JANE DOE: Well, if you know Bill Hart's middle name why don't you tell me? I dare you to.

DAILY SCREENER: No doubt about it—you're in right now! The last word I heard of Betty Compson was that she would head her own company. Yes, wasn't she lovely in "The Miracle Man"?

J. E. S. S.: Your poetry renders me speechless. I thought I was the only one in the world who could write that bad poetry!

L. W. B.: I don't understand why so many people think my hair is red. The two guesses they never fail to make are, first, that I'm a man and second that I have red hair. I hate to disappoint you, but I'm afraid your description is all wrong. Clara Horton played Youth in "Everywoman." Lovely little thing, isn't she?

TRIBUNE READER: Thank you so much.

HENRY F.: Address Ralph Graves, care of the Griffith studios, Mamaroneck, Long Island, N. Y.

IDA R. D.: Well, you see you should not make your d's look like r's. Glad you liked it.

JACK S.: You're mighty nice to take so much interest. Where did you learn to write poetry?

E. M.: Of course if you really ought to be studying, I don't suppose I should encourage you to write to me. But I'm going to pretend your work's all done and ask you to do it again some time. Your letters are so nice and chatty and encouraging! Yes, there's some talk about Mary Pickford's getting a divorce. Why should you mind if she doesn't?

ELSA: Forget it. I have.

New York Offers Plenty of Plays

the Cohan & Harris, or Leo Ditrichstein's "The Purple Mask" at the Booth.

SATURDAY—"Wedding Bells" at the Harris, "Buddies" at the Selwyn, "Mamma's Affair" at the Fulton, or William Collier's "Hottentot" at the Cohan for the matinée, "The Famous Mrs. Fair" at the Henry Miller for the evening bills, and Mr. Ziegfeld's celebrated "Midnight Frolic" to top off with.

Of course this list leaves out a half dozen or so that have an equal, and it may be a better, right to be included. To be fair I suppose we should include an alternate list from which prospective tourist customers may make their choice. Taking the best of them, then, we have:

"Jane Clegg" at the Garrick—A worthy production of interesting domestic tragedy written by St. John Ervine and perfectly played by the Theater Guild.

"Clarence" at the Hudson—Booth Tarkington's brightly written and decidedly unusual comedy, weakened a little by the withdrawal of certain players identified with the first performance, but still amusing and well played.

"Aphrodite" at the Century—A gorgeous ballet surrounded by a rather flabby drama and containing much that is decorative in the way of scenery, costumes, legs, arms, and torsos.

"The Son Daughter" at the Belasco—A handsomely staged melodrama of New York's Chinatown, with Lenore Ulric and a cast so good it makes the drama seem almost worth doing.

"Smilin' Through" at the Broadhurst—A prologue in heaven with a spirit bride smilin' through at a bit of domestic hell on earth she wishes she could, and finally does, clear up.

"The Letter of the Law" at the Criterion—With Lionel Barrymore, assisted by his ambitious wife, Doris Rankin, achieving a personal success in a rather wordy version of "La Robe Rouge."

"His Honor Abe Potash" at the Bijou—With Barney Bernard justifying his stardom in the latest of the Potash and Perlmutter comedies, and enjoying his professional divorce from Morris Perlmutter.

"The Wonderful Thing" at the Playhouse—With Jeanne Eagels playing a "French Peg-o-My-Heart" with money, who suspects the English aristocrat she marries is a fortune hunter.

"The Storm" at the Forty-eighth Street theater—Being an effective forest fire episode tightly wound with the melodramatic story of a young girl who lives all winter in a Canadian cabin with two men and still finds it difficult to choose between them.

"Shavings" at the Knickerbocker—A Cape Cod comedy drama that misses being another "Shore Acres" because there is no James A. Herne to rewrite it.

"Scandal" at the Thirty-ninth Street theater—With Charles Cherry and Francine Larrimore toying with the urge of spring and succumbing romantically in Act III.

"Lightnin'" at the Gaiety—Continuing with what the showmen call "unabated interest" a run that was started in August, 1918, and will distance all local records this week with its 658th performance, which pleases Frank Bacon, the star, mightily.

And, of course, the Hippodrome, with "Happy Days" profitably running the season through, and the Winter Garden, with "The Passing Show."

And NOW Brunswick Records

WE are introducing, after years of preparation, Brunswick Records. They, too, are unlike any you have known before. They bring a new principle in phonographic recording. Each Brunswick Record is interpreted by a noted director or an accomplished artist technically trained in the art of recording. Thus we unite the talent of the artist with the genius of the composer. This is a step which you will appreciate once you make comparisons.

We feel sure that you will recognize the betterment brought out by this idea. We want you to judge Brunswick Records by those same severe tests with which people have judged Brunswick Phonographs. And that is by comparison. We leave the verdict to you.

Remember—Brunswick Records will play on any phonograph with steel or fibre needle.

MISS VIOLET VALE IN "THE ROSE OF CHINA"
LA SALLE. PHOTO-LEWIS-SMITH

Miss Vale is a significant item in the poetic decor of "The Rose of China" at the La Salle. That opera is so popular downtown that negotiations are in progress for its performance at the Auditorium after "Nightie, Nightie" has moved it out of its present habitat.

JACK OSTERMAN PALACE THEATER
PHOTO-DAGUERRE.

Mr. Osterman is bred in the purple of the theater, being the son of Katherine Osterman, a well-beloved comedienne, and J. J. Rosenthal, chief executive of the Woods theater, Chicago, and the other A. H. Woods interests in the west. He sings, dances, and tells stories in the twenty minutes assigned to him this week at the Palace.

Music and the Musicians

New York Experiment Proves Genuine Demand Exists for Opera in English.

By W. L. Hubbard.

An interesting pamphlet has floated to the music editor's desk. It came from New York, and the inclosing envelope indicated that was sent from the office of Mr. Otto Kahn, the dictator and supporter of the Metropolitan opera house. The pamphlet bears the title "An Experiment in Popular Priced Opera," and is by Mr. Kahn himself. It was issued in April, 1915, but is still essentially new and is illuminative at the present moment as showing the mental processes and attitude of one who holds the operatic destinies of New York in his hand and whose influence reaches throughout the country and is felt even in Chicago.

It will be recalled that Mr. Kahn and certain of his associates at the Metropolitan organized and established the Century opera house in New York as a grand opera company which, under the direction of the Aborns, gave performances of opera in English. The season of 1913-'14 proved successful, but that of the following winter had to be curtailed, owing to the outbreak of the European war, and only six weeks were given. The pamphlet which Kahn has written and printed deals with these performances, with their purpose, and with what was achieved.

In setting out the necessity for sustaining the performances, owing to financial conditions, he states that during the previous season the "average paid attendance per week, notwithstanding unpropitious times, was 14,400 per week, which, I am told, is a greater number than attended any other New York theater in the same period." This fact only would indicate that there is a demand for popular opera. All opposition to the contrary notwithstanding. Mr. Kahn then tells what prompted him and his associates to found this opera. The thought was "mainly of the many thousands of people who love operatic art, or who would love it if they had the chance to know it," but who were debarred by high prices of admission from attending performances at the Metropolitan. He admits that we wanted to afford such people an opportunity, within reach of their means to give their souls an airing once in a while, just as the various vacation funds help working girls to get to the country in summer time."

Sort of Musical Charity.

It will be gathered from the foregoing how opera in the vernacular is regarded by Mr. Kahn and his Metropolitan confrères. They admit that there are "many thousands" who would enjoy it if they had the chance to know it, but instead of supplying these "many thousands" pleasure equal in worth to that which they themselves enjoy, they offered this cheaper stuff so that these many thousands might "give their souls an airing once in a while!" In other words, this opera in the vernacular was to be a kind of musical charity, a sort of tonal alms doled out to the miserable unfortunates whom fickle fortune had not endowed with millions of dollars, as Mr. Kahn and his friends had become endowed. There was naught of altruism, naught of genuine brotherliness to man in the move. It was a charity, a pittance handed out to those who were socially and financially inferior to the Metropolitan elect.

The statement is made in the following paragraph that "we felt that opera—or indeed any form of art—should not be regarded and treated as a luxury." And yet the attitude taken toward the giving of opera to the "many thousands" was unmistakably that of drawing a sharp line between what was fit for them and fit for "us." The whole statement is exactly in keeping with the remark made in the writer's presence by Mr. Kahn during a visit to Boston the spring of 1914. Asked concerning the giving of opera in English Mr. Kahn declared against it for the Metropolitan, but added graciously, "Of course we are planning a season in English at the Century for the people, but never at the Metropolitan."

The nice distinction there made between the inhabitants of the Diamond Horseshoe at the Metropolitan and "the people" of America is as unmistakably clear as it is unmistakably snobbish.

It is this miserable attitude of superiority on the part of the promoters of grand opera in the United States that stands in the way of our operatic growth and progress.

There is no earthly reason why opera must be cheap and inferior because the language used is English. There are performances given by every company in French, Italian, or German, which are bad performances, but they are bad not because of the language used, but because of the way in which they are sung, played, and acted. Bad opera is bad opera no matter in what tongue it be given. But the relegating of all opera in English to the cheaper class is to make opera in English synonymous with bad opera and is as unfortunate as it is unfair.

Read what Mr. Kahn writes concerning these 14,400 weekly attendants of the Century performances:

> The composition and attitude of the audiences at the Century have a real significance. They were in the main composed, as far as we could judge, of American born. Those of Italian or other foreign origin, who form so large an element of the Metropolitan Opera public were notably absent. Many of the patrons of the Century had never been to opera before. It was to them a new world. They were enthusiastic, serious, sincere, intent on learning. They stayed invariably from the first to the last note. The galleries and dress circle would, I think, almost have mobbed any one who disturbed them by attempting to leave before the fall of the curtain, as is, unfortunately, done so frequently and inconsiderately at the Metropolitan.

Could a more convincing and eloquent proof be asked for the assertion that there is in the United States a genuine and a great public eager for grand opera? And that that public is American? Yet how is that public supplied or even the attempt being made to supply it with opera? The Italian, the Frenchman, and the German within the confines of New York, of Chicago, or of any of the places to which these two cities send their companies can go to the opera house and hear grand opera given in the language which he can understand. Only the American is denied this pleasure and privilege.

The worshiper of European operatic conditions points with constant delight to the attitude of the European audiences when a performance is being given and points out the superiority of such an audience over our own. Yet better description of one of these model European audiences could not be written than Mr. Kahn has penned in reference to the "American born" audiences at the Century. Would it not seem that it might be well for our opera purveyors to take into reckoning material so "enthusiastic, serious, sincere, and intent on learning?" Who can tell? Such material if fostered and encour-

Concerts and Recitals

Only one musical offering will claim attention of local music patrons this afternoon. It will be a piano recital in the Auditorium given by Sergei Rachmaninoff, the eminent Russian composer-pianist. The selections listed for performance are the third Paganini Study arranged by Schumann, the Chopin B minor Sonata, four Chopin Studies, the pianist's own "Four Pictures," the Study op. 81 of Rubinstein, the Study opus 42 of Scriabine, and three Liszt Studies—the "Dance of the Gnomes," the D flat and the "Campanella."

The Swedish Choral club under direction of Edgar Nelson will give a concert in Orchestra hall next Wednesday evening, this being its last appearance here before starting on May 10 for a tour of Sweden and Norway, in which it will have the assistance as soloist of Gustaf Holmquist. For the concert on Wednesday Mr. Holmquist and Mrs. Mae Graves Atkins will be the soloists and the program contains many selections by English and American composers which will be used also on the tour abroad.

Richard Czerwonky is to be heard in violin recital in Kimball hall next Thursday evening. He will play the Nardini E minor Concerto, the Bruch D minor Concerto, Heniot Levy's "Passacaglia," and his own "Modern Sketches" and "Carneval of Life," these last three for the first time in Chicago, a Lullaby by Zsolt, the "Butterfly" of Hubay, a Serenade by d'Ambrosio, and Scharwenka's "Alla Polacca."

The last but one of the Pops this season by the Chicago Orchestra is scheduled for Thursday night in Orchestra hall. The program includes the "Euryanthe" Overture, Schubert's "Unfinished," "Lalo's Norwegian Rhapsody, Tschaikowsky's Italian Caprice, Ippolitow-Ivanow's "In the Village," with viola and English horn obbligatos by Messrs. Esser and Napolilli, Glazounow's first Concert Waltz, and Van Der Stucken's March on American Airs.

Helen Haworth, mezzo soprano, and Allan Coe, pianist, will be presented in concert in the Young American Artists Series in Recital hall, Fine Arts building, next Thursday evening.

Mrs. Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler will be soloist this week in the regular concerts of the Chicago Orchestra in Orchestra hall Friday afternoon and Saturday evening. She will play the Schumann Concerto. The orchestral numbers are Franck's "The Accursed Hunter," Chausson's B flat Symphony, and David Stanley Smiths "Impressions."

Owing to the death of Mrs. Rich's father-in-law, the two-piano concert to have been given this afternoon in Kimball hall by Mrs. Ella Dahl Rich and Miss Agnes Hope Pillsbury, has been postponed until Sunday, May 9.

The first concert given by the Civic Music Student Orchestra—the orchestra of young students organized some weeks ago for the purpose of Americanizing the orchestras of this country—will take place Monday night, March 29, under Mr. Stock's direction in Orchestra hall.

Carl Craven, tenor, will sing at his recital in Kimball hall next Sunday afternoon songs by Mrs. Sturkow Ryder, Mrs. Eliza Doyle Smith, and John Alden Carpenter.

NEWS OF CHICAGO SOCIETY

Farm Conference Delegates to Be Much Entertained

A DISTINGUISHED company will gather tomorrow and Tuesday in the rooms of the Fortnightly club, Fine Arts building, to hear about the progress that has been made in placing women in places of responsibility and effectiveness on farms and estates where they will have the care of orchards, farms, dairy plants, and farm stock. Mrs. Russell Tyson, president of the midwest branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association, under the direction of which the conference is being held, is arranging a number of social events for the delegates to the conference, among these a luncheon at the Cordon on Tuesday and a dinner party Monday evening at her residence for a number of the distinguished guests. Tuesday evening there will be a buffet supper in the Fortnightly club rooms for the delegates.

Mrs. Tracy C. Drake will give a luncheon tomorrow at the Blackstone for Miss Helen Losanitch of Belgrade, Serbia, who is here as special emissary of Prince Regent Alexander of Serbia, and is speaking in behalf of the hundred thousand fatherless and motherless children of her country. Tuesday Miss Losanitch will speak at a dinner at the Casino and Friday at a tea at the College club.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell of Labrador, who, with Mrs. Grenfell, is the guest of Miss Dorothy Stirling of 345 Barry avenue, will speak this morning at St. Chrysostom's church, and tonight will give a stereopticon lecture on his work at the Community House in Winnetka. Wednesday evening he will repeat the lecture at the First Congregational church in Oak Park, and Friday evening at the public school in Glencoe and the following afternoon will talk at the Union League club. Next Sunday morning he will speak at the Presbyterian church in Lake Forest, and that evening at the Baptist church in Evanston.

The Jewish Consumptive Relief society auxiliary will give a concert this afternoon under the direction of Miss Ethyl D. Mintz, for the Cook county infirmary at Oak Forest.

The Girls' Patriotic Service league will give a dramatic program tomorrow at the Khaki and Blue club. The Wells Park unit will present "The Case of Sophronia," the Chicago Lawn unit "A Day and a Night," the Hansen Park unit "Bills," the Hardin Square unit "Beyond the Gate," the Parker unit a scene from "The Taming of the Shrew," and the Palmer Park unit "A Pair of Lunatics."

The fifty-sixth annual meeting of the Illinois State Dental society will be held at the Congress hotel from Monday until Thursday of this week.

There will be a card party in the ballroom of the Hamilton club on Tuesday afternoon. The party will be given by the women's ways and means committee, under the auspices of the women's division of the Republican national committee, to raise funds for their share of the campaign expenses. The entire proceeds are to be used in the interest of the candidate chosen by the convention in June.

Mrs. James H. Douglas will open her residence at 4830 Woodlawn avenue on Tuesday morning for the last of a series of five lectures on "The New Era" by M. s. Anthony French Merrill. The subject this week will be "The Power of Constructive Thought."

Mrs. George W. Dixon will open her residence at 1250 Lake Shore drive on Tuesday for a pre-bazaar donation shower, given by the Chicago committee of the French Red Cross. The proceeds of the bazaar will be used for the committee's work in devastated France. On the executive board are Mrs. Archibald Freer, Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. Andrew E. Seaver, Mrs. Benjamin Levering, Mrs. William H. Howe, and Mrs. E. C. Thomas.

The Delta Delta Delta sorority will give its monthly dinner on Tuesday at the College club. Miss Edith Cooke is in charge of reservations.

The first of three lectures under the auspices of the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital will be given on Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, 1508 North State parkway. Prof. Theodore G. Soares of the University of Chicago will speak on "New Opportunities for the Church."

Mrs. E. J. Hiller and Mrs. C. D. Goodman will entertain the Ferry Hall Alumnæ association at luncheon on Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. Hiller, 5141 Ellis avenue.

A Lenten sale of practical articles of wear and household use will be held on Wednesday in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone under the direction of the School of Domestic Arts and Sciences. Mrs. John L. Shortall is in charge.

The Chicago Alumni club of Phi Delta Theta will hold its thirty-eighth annual banquet on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the Midday club. The dinner will take the place of the customary "Founders' day" event of the fraternity. The speakers will be James Wilkerson, Maj. John H. Smale, and Ald. Walter P. Steffen.

To celebrate the close of its first year the North Shore auxiliary of the Marks Nathan Orphans' home will give a large party on Thursday evening at the Sheridan Park club, 5554 Sheridan road.

Domestic Science School to Have a Lenten Sale

THE Lenten sale which is to be held on Wednesday from 9 until 5 o'clock in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone promises to be one of the old fashioned kind at which one may find all the useful and practical things one needs in daily housekeeping and for daily wear, and at prices that are quite reasonable. The invitation to the sale is a general one, issued by the School of Domestic Arts and Science.

There will be such wearable and servicable things as can be thrown into the washtub of a Monday; there will be goodies made by the students of this school; there will be fancy goods sent from groups of hand workers, and then there will be all the reliables that are necessary to have at every sale.

Mrs. John L. Shortall is chairman of the day, and announces that she will have a table on which will be the quaint capes and other hand made garments sent from the Shakers' colony in New York state. Mrs. Lyndon Evans will have an exhibit of all sorts of labor saving devices, so that the woman who has inherited the broom and the dishpan from a departing handmaiden may take new heart at what she sees can be saved her in the daily round of cleaning and feeding and clothing her family.

Aprons will be sold by Mrs. Seymour Morris, and nursery novelties by Mrs. Arthur Goodwillie; Mrs. Joseph Gunsaulus will sell household articles, from dish towels to pillow covers. The sale of candy and cake will be in the hands of Mrs. Paul Winslow and a group of ten young girls, the candy to be made, by the way, by a young Italian, Vincent Notardonato, who learned how to do it at the school.

Mrs. Sidney Treat will sell linens made by workers at Dennison house in Boston, and Mrs. James B. Barnet will show fabrics that she has dyed and will demonstrate the uses of dyed goods. Mrs. Alfred H. Granger will dispense recipes and other literature for the householder, and Mrs. James B. Herrick will show the equipment for a model kitchen. Mrs. Charles F. Pietsch will sell articles made by handicapped people, and Miss Alice Voigt, with a group of young women, will have charge of the utility table.

One of the interesting features will be an exhibit showing the comparison in price between articles of wear, lingerie, and dainty accessories which have been bought ready made and those made at home. This exhibit will be in charge of Mrs. Bertram J. Cahn.

Another exhibit will be that of Mrs. A. H. Gross, who will demonstrate the economy of conducting the home through an office in miniature, to be installed within it—the efficiency method. Mrs. Stanley Midgley will explain the value of a membership in the school, which admits one to the lectures and to many other privileges.

MISS ALICE VOIGT

Miss Alice Voigt of 1801 Prairie avenue is on the committee of women arranging for the Lenten household utilities sale to be held on Wednesday from 9 until 5 o'clock at the Blackstone, under the direction of the School of Domestic Arts and Science. Miss Voigt will be assisted at her table by a number of young matrons.

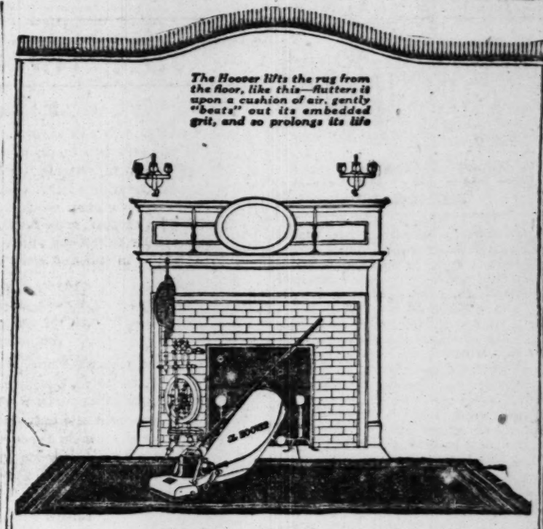
MRS. S. A. GROSS

Mrs. S. A. Gross is chairman of the program committee of the Baron Hirsch Woman's club, which will give a fashion show and informal dance today at the Auditorium hotel. The proceeds will go toward the maintenance of "Rest cottage," a convalescent home for men and boys at 3127 Calumet avenue.



The costliness of rugs today makes advisable their careful preservation. Frequent and thorough cleaning prolongs their years of usefulness and beauty. Such cleaning consists of three essentials: Beating—to dislodge destructive embedded grit; Sweeping—to straighten crushed nap and detach stubborn clinging litter; Suction-cleaning—to remove surface dirt. Only The Hoover combines all three. And it is the largest selling electric cleaner in the world.

The HOOVER

It Beats.... As It Sweeps As It Cleans

The popularity of The Hoover has created a scarcity which not even a trebled output this year has entirely relieved. We suggest that you reserve your Hoover at once. We will make a home demonstration without obligation. Deferred payments if desired.

TOTE YOUR OWN HOME

By Guy F. Lee.

I'm allured by this notion of portable houses,
The scheme's hunkydory and pat;
Any system to beat the flat hounds in me rouses
A whirlwind of joy, and all that.
But I've got a plan, which, albeit as barmy,
Is a cheaper, more feasible feat:
It's simply to use the pup tents of our army—
Crawl in 'em and sleep in the street.

Snuggle into a pup tent,
A can't-get-'em-up tent,
An old army pup tent
And sleep in the street.

With the portable house, why, of course, you must get you
A lot for to park it upon;
That costly contingency need never fret you,
If you heed me, that trouble is gone;
You'll want no more space than you would as a dead one,
A mere speck, say six by three feet;
The pup tent's the hope of the browbeaten, bled one—
Go get one and sleep in the street.

Go get you a pup tent,
A can't-get-'em-up tent,
An old army pup tent
And sleep in the street.

You'll escape being bored by the same silly neighbors,
You can seek new acquaintance each day;
Wherever you are when the night ends your labors
You can camp and slide into the hay;
For lights and for heat there'll be no monthly docket,
No rent and no taxes to meet;
You can tote your own home in your overcoat pocket
And merrily sleep in the street.

Fall in! Grab a pup tent,
A can't-get-'em-up tent,
An old army pup tent
And sleep in the street!

VADEVILLE WIT

MAJESTIC.

Gallagher and Martin:

"If the bell don't ring how do you know when any one's down here?"

"My ears ring. But the only ring that really gets my attention is a solitaire."

"Pardon, but I have weak ears and no ambition."

"Have you an auto?"

"Have I an auto? O, lady, smell the monthly payment!"

"Do you like this dress?"

"Yes, it sure looks good. You ought to buy it."

"Say, what have you got in your grip?"

"Why, what's wrong? Is it leaking?"

"How do you get that way?"

"I don't know, but I'm very comfortable."

"You've deceived me. You have lots of money."

"Yes, but it's mostly Canadian. Anyhow, dear, a little sweater brought us together, surely a little yarn isn't going to keep us apart."

"Do you know anything about making love?"

"Do I know anything about making love—and me just back from Paris! Say, how about putting the elevator in moth balls and stepping out for the evening?"

"Where shall we step?"

"Well, I have a couple of seats—in Grant park."

Jimmy Hussey & Co.:

"What is the prisoner?"

"A crapshooter."

"How do you know?"

"He won all my money."

"Did you know there was a big daylight robbery on your beat?"

"Sure. I know the fellow that did it."

"You know him? Did you see him do it?"

"No. But he told me about it."

"Well, why didn't you arrest him?"

"I tried to, but he wouldn't believe I was a cop."

Which
woman would you rather come home to!

How can a woman be anything but at her worst after a long day of back-breaking toil over a tub? How can you expect a welcome-home smile when she is "all in"—every muscle aching—nerves out of gear—physically and mentally exhausted? Clothes washing is a task for a machine, not for your wife. Turn the hard work into play. Buy her a BlueBird.

Come and see what BlueBird would mean to her

See how wonderfully quick and easy it washes clothes. Watch that big copper tub with the twin-six movement swirl the hot suds through the clothes seventy times a minute! The washing is accomplished three times faster than it can be done by hand. The power driven wringer swings in all positions and adjusts for the heaviest blankets or daintiest garments. The clothes come out cleaner than hand-washing can make them. And—because there's no friction there's no wear and tear on the clothes. Remember, you are welcome to a

BlueBird
ELECTRIC CLOTHES WASHER

Free Demonstration

in your home. A demonstration that will make you wish the BlueBird Electric washer had been made years ago. A demonstration so convincing that you'll say good-by forever to laborious, destructive hand-washing. This demonstration in your home we are glad to provide without the slightest expense or obligation on your part. It's really free. Just say the word. Come—phone—or write us.

ART

Little of Merit in Independent Artists' Exhibit

By Eleanor Jewett.

NEW YORK. — [Special Correspondence.]—The most interesting exhibition of pictures in New York, from the point of view of quantity, is undoubtedly that of the Society of Independent Artists at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. Quantity, of course, is not everything, and quality does light here and there with a soft touch upon some of the pictures. But for the most part the impression is given as that of a vast relief felt by a tremendous number of aspiring artists, who at length with the opening of this exhibit knew their hour for public inspection had struck.

It must be difficult to paint—and never show. Yet even the yearning to see his work before the gaze of strangers should not rob a painter of all sense of values. I know the Independent Artists pride themselves on their independence. But independence is such an enormous word, and includes so many shades of personal liberty, that it at all events should be treated with respect and some of the obligations attached to it fulfilled. As I pass this exhibition in review before my mind's eye it is like a vision seen darkly through the small end of the glass of truth. One fact stands clear—the fearful lack of freedom, the unbelievable absence of character, the distressing dependence on the accustomed in art.

There are some 900 pieces of work in the exhibit. Not one really great picture is shown. The same flagrant uniformity of level that was struck in the recent exhibition of paintings by Chicago artists held at the Art institute (a level which, however, was higher in that exhibit) is found here. The monotony of interests is unspeakably dull. Not even is it quickened to life by such an absurdity as Morris Kantor's flight of imagination, "Wild Flowers," a canvas in which the blossom that gives the picture its name is clasped tightly in the warm palm of a huge giant, nude, wasp waisted, and less than wasp headed.

It seems so curious to me that the type of painting which I saw ten years ago in Munich should be shown now to the American public by young, eager American artists who, with a flourish of their brushes, shout: "See what we are doing!" If they only knew, they are not doing anything. The breath of cubism, the convulsion of futuristic anomalies, that swept Europe then has apparently just caught them in its grip. And they, or a great number of them, are not sufficiently sure of themselves to shake their souls free from its embrace. Rather do they wear their chains proudly and proclaim their slavery independence.

Another feature that strikes one forcibly in scanning these pictures is the sad lack of the power of dreaming in their painters. So bitterly few of these men and women seem capable of dreams. And on those who can dream time presses so hard that they let their power slip. Yet nothing great was ever done without dreaming. Fancy, imagination, romance, the gift of seeing the soul in common things—those spell success. Think back as far as you please, and in any kind of creative work—poetry, music, sculpture, literature, inventions, painting—the greatest men were the most impractical men, the men who, as the saying runs, "went with their heads in the clouds."

Until some of our young men can get their heads in the clouds no independent artists' exhibition or any other kind of artists' exhibition will give us the best in art. We shall probably suffer many exhibits such as this before one will come that will proclaim itself real.

One of the best of the portraits shown is that of Lieut. Clifford De Roode of the French aviation service by Harriet Blackstone, a Chicago painter.

Another portrait which brings Chicago and Chicago affairs to mind is that called "Margaret," by David Osborne Hamilton. "Margaret" is, as I recognized at once, Margaret Bentley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Bentley, whose marriage to the young painter was one of the interesting social events of last winter. As a portrait it is not more than a good, fleeting likeness. Scarcely is it more than an attempted sketch. The pose is stiff; the hands exceedingly bad. The modeling of the throat is only fair. The best features are the keen expression of personality—no one who even knew Mrs. Hamilton could fail to recognize her—and a nice feeling for flesh texture.

The catalogue gives the titles of two paintings by Julie Stohr, also a name that belongs to Chicago, because she was brought up there. Look though I did, I failed to find either of the pictures named, but I did find one canvas by her, showing a girl seated in a large chair and gazing steadily, straight ahead, into space. The composition is good and the work about the eyes is good, but I felt horribly all the while I looked at it that it was an unfinished piece of painting.

Among the other pictures are "The Peppers," by Floyd M. Baker; "A New England Garden," by Thomas Watson Ball; "Gentle Motherhood," an adorable group of cat and kittens, by Mrs. J. E. Bradstreet; "Salt Marshes," by John A. Cook; "Raymond Carter," by Clarke Drouet; "The New Bonnet," by C. L. Edholm; "Flowers," by Mary Foote; "Little Boy," by Anne M. Peck; "January Day," by W. E. Reinicke; "Honorably Discharged," by Gertrude V. Whitney, and "Ensemble," by Arthur Weinbergorf.

Slams of Life

SUBURBAN SPRING SONG.

It's nice to have good neighbors in the spring;
It seems to me I need most everything;
I'm shy a rake or so,
A shovel and a hoe;
It's nice to have good neighbors in the spring.
(Good morning, Mr. Samuelson.)

O, it's nice to have good neighbors in the spring;
To one with tastes gregarious they bring
A host of hefty reasons
For enjoying all the seasons—
O, it's nice to have good neighbors in the spring.
(Ah, there, Mr. Booth.)

With accommodating neighbors in the spring,
O grave, where is thy victʼry; Death, thy sting?
For no scarcity disturbin'
Threatens vernal life suburban.
O, it's nice to have good neighbors in the spring.
(Yoo hoo, Dr. Werth.)

For when you have good neighbors in the spring
It makes the trees to leaf, the birds to sing;
So Rosse, Raymond, Sanderson,
And Hutchinson and Anderson,
Prepare to see me coming with the spring!
Tra, la, la,
I've a feeling I'll be with you in the spring.

Vaughan's "Chicago Parks" Lawn Seed

The Earth Is Waiting! Act Now!

THE softening of the earth by spring rains means sowing time for grass seed; the seeds sink into the ground and are covered by washing rain.

Vaughan's Chicago Parks and Columbian (for shade), originated by us, have been sold on their merits for forty-three years in and about Chicago. They are the best permanent mixtures, making a close, velvety turf; no foul seeds, or weeds—sure to grow.

We always maintain Vaughan's Chicago Parks quality. The prices are reasonable. Price, 25 lbs., $3.00; 15 lbs., $2.50; 5 lbs., $1.00; per lb., 40c; (10 and over prepaid.) Lawn Fertilizer 100 lbs., $3.95; 50 lbs., $2.40; 25 lbs. $1.50.

Garden and flower seeds of highest test for purity and growth. Vaughan's Gardening Illustrated, 144 pages, tells the whole story. Mailed free. Largest growers of onions, cabbage and sweet corn have used Vaughan's Seeds for forty years.

OUR New Merchandising
PLAN
To Reduce the High Cost of Living

Just think of it, 75 merchants, each managing his own store, buying his own goods, and then behind the counter selling them to you, all operating under one roof, competing with one another, giving you all the stores that you want to trade in, and making it possible to do so without leaving the building.

This plan allows a merchant to sell goods at the lowest possible figure. First of all, THE RENT. All rents are based upon a flat percentage of the amount of sales each day. In other words, if a man does not sell anything he pays no rent. Second, DELIVERY. This is strictly a cash and carry business in every department except where the goods sold are too bulky to carry. This terrible cost is therefore cut to a minimum. No buyers' salaries. No charge accounts. In fact, every possible item of expense has been eliminated.

These savings are yours, and one trip to this building will convince you that this plan puts our prices far below all.

ONE PRICE TO ALL—AND MERCHANDISE EXCHANGED OR MONEY REFUNDED IF THE GOODS ARE NOT UP TO YOUR EXPECTATIONS.

Music and the Musicians

aged might in the end spell financial success for opera giving in this country.

Nothing Lost In Translation.

Coming to the fact that the Century performances were given in English, Mr. Kahn states that while he is "fully in accord" with the giving of American opera he is not an advocate "of the banishment of opera in foreign languages." He then voices the trite and ever reiterated reasons why opera in translation is undesirable—reasons that are repeated poll-parrot fashion by countless defendants of "the original language" for opera, but the majority of whom know as little in reality about music as an art and a science as does Mr. Kahn.

He says: "Every opera loses, and is bound to lose, in the process of even the best translation. The accent, the rhythm, the syllables, the sound of the vowels to which the music was orignally fitted, are bound to suffer modifications, more or less, even at the hands of the most conscientious and skillful translator."

The only claim in the entire foregoing statement which will hold water and which constitutes any possible actual objection is the one relative to the sound of the vowels. Accent, rhythm, and syllable can be preserved if the translation is carefully and adequately made, and even in many instances the vowel values can be largely retained. But even if they are not, they are the most negligible of all the elements entering into the question of translation and of singableness.

It is largely a splitting of hairs this matter of vowel values, and there is most decided question as to any of the great composers, Wagner, Gluck, or any of the modern, thinking seriously of the inherent vowel value in a word when shaping the musical phrase in which that word has place. This is a bugaboo which has been painted on the wall to frighten the public and has just about as much real vitality.

"Translated Voices."

Mr. Kahn then takes up the subject of "translated voices." He says we wish the best singers of the world and that many of these are foreigners and that these cannot or will not learn English. He admits that certain races such as the Americans and Poles learn all languages easily and accurately. He might have added the Russians, the Dutch, and the Germans, for many of them have mastered our tongue and use it perfectly in song. But the Italians and the French he finds do not do so. He thinks many of them would "if need be" learn to sing in English "after a fashion," but that most of them would be unable to "do their best or produce the same artistic results."

This argument is on a par with the statement commented on in these columns last Sunday as put forward in justification for the sending of the Chicago company to New York. It again is letting the artist dictate to the organization that hires him. If the Italian and the French artists can't or will not learn English, then why engage them? They learn German so that they can sing it accurately when compelled to do so. They will learn English when they know it is demanded of them and their contract depends upon it. All that is needed is a little firmness and some American spirit.

But Mr. Kahn offers his masterpiece of argument for opera in the foreign when he points out why the reasoning that opera is sung in the vernacular in France, Germany, and Italy and therefore we should follow it here, "is fallacious." The reason opera is given there in the vernacular is because "they cannot afford the expense" of having it given in the original!

Thus we reach the real fundamental reason why we have opera in foreign language! It is because it is the most expensive. It enables us to splurge and show our wealth. And we can afford to lose the largest sums of money each year by having it given to us in language which we cannot understand. Poor, poverty stricken, unmillionaired, "intelligent" France, Italy, and Germany must manage to scrimp along on opera in the language which their peoples do understand simply because they cannot "afford" to have it given to them in language which they do not understand.

Surely if there were truth in the statement that "blessed be nothing," that truth rings out now for us in our operatic need. Would that poverty might come to us as a nation, would that we might be so weakened financially that we could afford none of our present expensive luxuries if it would bring us finally to that reduced point where opera which satisfied our brains, minds, and hearts instead of flattering our dollar pride were alone possible to us. Then indeed our "souls" could be "given an airing" not only once in a while" but frequently.

Few advocates of opera in "the original" have supplied a more illuminative and convincing argument for the giving of opera in English than Mr. Kahn has supplied in his little pamphlet, "We thank you."

COOPER-CARLTON HOTEL
CHICAGO

A Magnificent Downtown Hotel
In a Beautiful
Residential District

The Cooper-Carlton has the unusual distinction of being Chicago's finest residential hotel and yet more convenient to the business and amusement district than many of the downtown hotels.

The Cooper-Carlton is located on the shores of Lake Michigan at 53rd Street.

Through trains on the Illinois Central, Michigan Central and Big Four Railroads all stop at 53rd Street — two blocks from the hotel. Your baggage should be checked to this Station.

Suburban express trains on the Illinois Central every few minutes take you to the city in ten minutes; twenty minutes to the Stock Yards.

Thus the Cooper-Carlton, by its convenience to the city and its immediate proximity to the Lake, East End Park, Jackson Park and Chicago's famous Boulevard System, is at once a most delightful spot for rest and play when you may; a most desirable place for work and business when you must; a hotel of refinement for transients, for those who desire to remain a while, and as a permanent residence.

400 large outside rooms—either single or en suite—each room with two closets, complete tiled bathroom and shower.

Rates are reasonable and in keeping with the general refinements of the hotel—European Plan. Write or 'phone for rates and further information.

"It's fine. Beautiful and cruel, whimsical and bold as brass, is Miss Farrar in this role. 'The Woman and the Puppet' is beautifully photographed and well acted."—Mae Tinee, Chicago Tribune.

"Miss Farrar is a joy as the whimsical Choncha. Her portraiture is sincere and not a bit exaggerated. Her part here is almost identical with her Carmen and she is even more fascinating now than ever."—W. K. Hollander, Chicago Daily News.

"Here the picture rises to its crescendo of fleshly theme. You see Geraldine stripped to the waist dancing a luring, naughty dance."—Observer, Chicago Herald and Examiner.

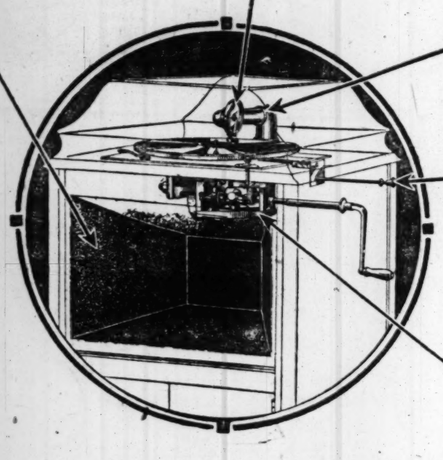
Amplifying Chamber.
The sounds carried from the reproducer through the tone arm are given volume and resonance in a scientifically designed amplifying chamber or horn. This chamber is built of carefully seasoned wood, and, like the sounding board of a fine violin, imparts to the reclaimed sound vibrations purity and resonance. A perfectly balanced combination of reproducer, tone arm and amplifying chamber makes every record a true reflection of the personality of its creator.

The Reproducer.
Tone quality is dependent upon the reproducer, tone arm and amplifying chamber. Each must be correctly designed and harmonized in its relation to the other two in order to produce a sweet, pleasing tone, free from scratching sounds. The SILVERTONE reproducer accurately restores every sound vibration, every subtle, elusive shading of tone and expression. It is so designed that all scratching and mechanical noises are reduced to the minimum.

Plays All Disc Records.
The SILVERTONE convertible tone arm permits the playing of any make of disc record. A universal joint in the tone arm makes it possible to adjust the reproducer at will so that it will play either vertical or lateral cut records. It is almost as easy to adjust the reproducer for different types of records as it is to change needles.



Tone Control.
The tone modulator with which each SILVERTONE is equipped gives complete control over the volume of sound. It serves the same purpose as the doors and shutters used on other makes of phonographs. You may set the modulator at any desired point, thus giving a uniform volume of sound, or the modulator may be manipulated while a selection is being played, thus enabling you to impart your own interpretation to the music.

Powerful, Silent Motor.
The SILVERTONE motor is as near perfect as mechanical and human efficiency can make it. Every part is made and fitted with care and precision and gears mesh silently. Powerful springs furnish an abundance of power, and a perfectly designed governor keeps turntable speed absolutely uniform, eliminating discordancies which sometimes occur owing to variations in speed. The motor is equipped with a silent winding device and cranks with very little effort.

Silvertone
The Better Phonograph For Less Money

SEVERAL years ago we believed there existed a demand for a good phonograph at a reasonable price and on terms which would bring it within the reach of all. The SILVERTONE was designed and built to meet this demand. By adopting and combining the best features of all the phonographs then on the market, by making such improvements as experience had proved necessary, and by using only the finest materials in its construction we succeeded in making the SILVERTONE a phonograph of super-quality.

Quantity production, efficient manufacturing methods and our economical mode of selling enabled us to offer the SILVERTONE at a price far below that of any other phonograph of the same quality, size and musical perfection.

The enthusiastic response of our six million customers when we announced the SILVERTONE proved to us that we had indeed filled a long felt want. Since then over two hundred and fifty thousand of these phonographs have been sold and are giving their owners universal satisfaction and pleasure.

The popularity which the SILVERTONE has enjoyed among our own customers has led us to believe that everybody, everywhere, whether or not they are customers of Sears, Roebuck and Co., will welcome the opportunity to purchase a good phonograph at a reasonable price, and on terms which make it easy for everybody to own one. That is why we are making this liberal offer.

Send No Money
Two Weeks Trial

Select any SILVERTONE Phonograph shown on this page, fill in the order blank below and mail it to Sears, Roebuck and Co., Chicago, Ill. Send no money with it! We ship SILVERTONE Phonographs on two weeks' trial. This trial will not cost you one cent, nor obligate you in any way. All we ask you to do is to give the phonograph a thorough trial. Examine its mechanical features, cabinet work and finish. Try it with any kind of disc records you desire, and note its beauty of tone, how faithfully and accurately it restores every delicate shading of tone quality, every minute variation of volume, every sound vibration. Give it every test necessary to prove the truth of our claims for it. And then compare the price of the SILVERTONE with that of any other phonograph of the same size, quality and musical excellence. If, at the end of this two weeks' trial, you are not fully satisfied with the phonograph, if you do not believe that mechanically, musically, and in workmanship, material and finish, it is the equal of any other phonograph on the market selling at from 25 per cent to 50 per cent higher prices, simply notify us and we will take away the phonograph at our own expense, and will return any transportation and cartage charges you have paid.

Small Monthly Payments

If, at the end of two weeks' trial, you are fully satisfied with the SILVERTONE and desire to keep it, send us the price of the phonograph you have selected in equal monthly payments until the total is paid. The amount of the monthly payment is shown under the illustrations of the various models. There is no interest or extras of any kind to pay.

Fill out the order blank today, before this paper gets out of your hands, and let us send you one of these beautiful 1920 SILVERTONE models for two weeks' trial in your home, without having to pay a cent down on the phonograph, and without obligating you in any way. You are to be the sole judge of the quality and value of the SILVERTONE.

You may ship me the SILVERTONE Phonograph which I have marked with an [X] for two weeks' trial.

If, after two weeks' trial, I decide to keep and use the instrument, I will send you the first payment for the phonograph and pay the same amount each month, until paid in full; then the SILVERTONE becomes my property.

Should I decide, after two weeks' trial, that the SILVERTONE is not satisfactory, I will notify you, and you are to give me instructions so that I may send it back at your expense. You are also to return to me any transportation and cartage charges I have paid.

I have always been faithful in paying my obligations and am making this statement for the purpose of inducing you to grant me these terms, and I give you my pledge that you may feel safe in trusting me to pay as agreed.

AMERICA'S GREATEST CANDY INSTITUTION
ONE OF CHICAGO'S FOREMOST ENTERPRISES

Four Great BRACH FACTORIES Dedicated to making QUALITY CANDIES

Among its many wonderful industries, Chicago boasts the greatest candy institution in America—E. J. Brach & Sons.

The four great, modern factories shown above make up this enterprise. Millions of people enjoy their delicious products—every day.

Today E. J. Brach & Sons sell through the best class of candy merchants in America, 127 kinds of quality candy—each kind representing the pinnacle of quality, purity and flavor—yet selling at popular prices.

To produce this unusual quality—without increasing the cost to the public—this tremendous candy business, with a capacity of 2,225,000 lbs. weekly, had first to be developed.

Our tremendous output is largely responsible for the delicious flavors—absolute purity—and reasonable prices of Brach's Candies of Quality.

Candies You Love to Eat Because You Know They're Clean

One of the most enjoyable things about Brach's Candies is their cleanliness. No human hand touches them in the making.

In the big, airy Brach kitchens are many wonderful machines—automatic, scientific candy-makers—which no human hand can equal in skill or speed.

These modern machines produce millions of pounds of candy each year; each pound as pure and clean and delicious as the other.

Brach's Milk Chocolate Almond Bar—"The Perfect Almond Bar"—is a striking example of the results of the "Brach idea."

In three short months the wonderful quality and exquisite flavor of this supreme chocolate bar have literally captured Chicago's candy lovers.

Half a million bars a week is Chicago's demand alone. It is one of the most spectacular candy successes in candy history.

If you haven't tasted this delicious Almond Bar—try one today. Ask for "Brox"—in the Canterbury Box.

Plans Under Way For Annual Road Classic at Elgin

Application for sanction for the 1920 Elgin road race has been made to the contest board of the American Automobile association by Charles P. Root, chairman of the contest committee of the Chicago Automobile club, which with the Elgin Road Race association will as usual conduct the classic.

If the A. A. A. chairman grants permission the race will be a national championship affair, at least a factor in determining the champion for the year. Under this condition the race will be for the new size racing cars, 183 cubic inch piston displacement, such as will be used at the 500 mile race at Indianapolis Memorial day. The distance will be approximately 250 miles and $15,000 will be put up for the competing drivers.

There is a plan to limit the number of entries to thirty-two, to assure only the cream of talent, including the many foreign drivers who will compete at Indianapolis.

Saturday, Aug. 21, has been selected as a tentative date, which will sandwich between the July 4 and Labor day meets throughout the country.

My Funniest Motoring Experience

Every one who has taken the road in a motor car has some story to tell. What is your best one? The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published in "My Funniest Motoring Experience." Write as briefly as possible, on one side of the paper only, and address Funniest Motoring Experience, The Sunday Tribune, Chicago.

Won His Sympathy.

With a companion I decided to take a fast spin in our new automobile. Traveling about twenty-five miles an hour down one of the main streets, a little messenger boy emerged from an alley just in time to miss my back fender. Being alarmed, I brought the car to a quick stop and looked back to see if I had hurt the little fellow. He picked himself up, gave me an "on your way" look, and yelled: "God be with you, lady." Miss L. A. C.

Scarecrow That Scared.

Driving home through the country from a dance one night, a storm blew up and it became very dark. While humming along, suddenly one of the women screamed and pointed ahead to the body of a man lying in the road. The chauffeur applied the brakes, but too late, and our machine hit him with a dull thud. As soon as the car stopped we hurried back to the spot where the body had been seen, but no trace of it could be found. After an hour's search we gave up the hunt, intending to notify the authorities. We had proceeded only a little way when a soft dragging noise was heard under the machine. Upon investigation a scarecrow was discovered wedged between both footboards. It had evidently been blown from a nearby field by the high wind. J. H. M.

A Halloween Prank.

One night last fall, while driving on a narrow country road at thirty miles an hour or so, I had just passed a farmhouse when around a bend in the road a man, or what looked like a man, was standing with his back to my machine. As fast as I could I put the brakes on, but it was too late. The bumper gave him a push and two of the wheels went over the body. So soon as the machine stopped I hurried to him, fearing that I had killed him. I found a scarecrow, and then had a good laugh, for I remembered it was Halloween. C. S. C.

The Experts Say

It is a simple matter to give any touring car a clear vision windshield, which is not generally included in the equipment of the open car. The upper section of the windshield is simply mounted on the top by means of brackets that hold the part out at the desired angle. In this way the upper half of the shield keeps off the rain, while the lower half protects the driver from the wind.

There is a method of removing the broken core of a tire valve. A cotter pin small enough to enter the valve is pushed down into the chamber, the legs straddling the valve pin. A small washer, through which the pin has been threaded, is forced down so that it squeezes the legs together, thus gripping the pin. A nail slipped through the eye of the cotter acts as a handle to pull it out by.

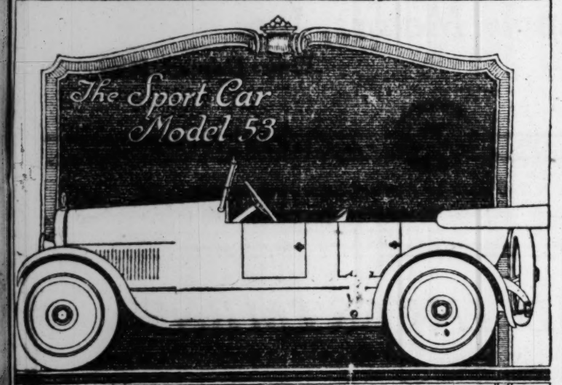
It is comparatively easy to make an effective spark plug cleaner, as follows: Get a piece of glass tubing about three inches long. In each end place a cork and bore each cork to take the threaded bushing of a spark plug. Fill the tubs with sand and gasoline, insert the spark plugs and shake the device briskly. The sand and gasoline will clean out the carbon in jig time.

A smashed hub cap should never be allowed to stay in that condition, as it permits dirt and grit to enter and wear the bearings, at the same time that grease is oozing out. A temporary repair of a smashed hub may be made with a tin can, which happens to be the proper size to fit the axle. This is cut off two or three inches from the bottom and is slit down for an inch or two. The can is slipped over the hub and bound with wire to hold it tightly in place.

Ball bearings must not be adjusted so that they are too tight or cramped. A small amount of looseness is necessary. When bearings are fitted with adjusting nuts the nuts should first be made tight and then backed off until the bearing turns freely. Since the bearings are very sensitive to adjustment, a slight change in the position of the adjusting nut will make a lot of difference in the operation of the bearing.

The average car owner hates the job of cleaning the springs and yet this ought to be carried out regularly. A handy brush that makes the work easy may be made by fastening three nail scrubbing brushes together, one at the bottom and two at the sides, with the bristles facing in. With this brush the bottom and sides of the spring can be cleaned at one time.

In some cars it is possible for cold air blowing on the inlet manifold to cause so much condensation that the forward cylinder will develop habitual missing. This may be cured by fitting a metal shield in such a way as to deflect the air from the manifold at that position.



MODERATELY PRICED, yet supremely good—the new Davis models have established their undisputed right to the claim, "Built of the Best." The distinctive beauty of the snappy-appearing four-passenger sport car is typical of the entire Davis line.

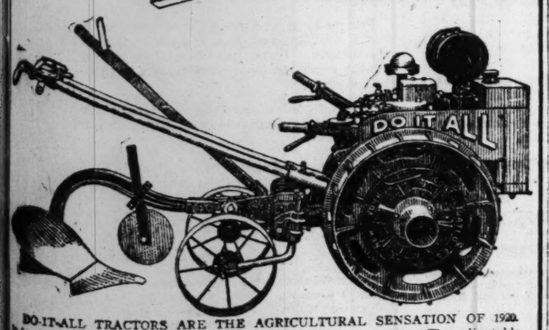
DO-IT-ALL TRACTOR

IT'S LEVEL WHEN PLOWING



DO-IT-ALL TRACTORS ARE THE AGRICULTURAL SENSATION OF 1920. It is the biggest thing since the locomotive and the automobile. The adjustable bull wheel keeps the tractor level with one bull wheel in the furrow, which means more power and perfect lubrication. You do not walk on the side of your feet; your horses do not walk on the sides of their feet; neither do your wagons run on the edge of the wheels. Why operate a tractor that way? The "Do-It-All" Tractor pulls from a 9 to a 10 inch plow; it operates lawn mowers, hay mowers, pulls loads, drives you 6 H.P. for belt work; weighs approximately 1,000 lbs. ESSEX MOTOR CARS

Essex Almost Doubles Light Car Endurance

Essex Has Performance Like the Costliest Fine Cars—Its World Endurance Record Has Never Been Rivaled

The most important thing that Essex has proved is that weight and size are no longer necessary to finest car quality.

All concede average ability in any modern car.

So it was to prove ability far beyond what any light car ever has shown that Essex made its famous endurance tests.

Its 3037 miles in 50 hours is a world's endurance record. The test was official. Supervisors of the A. A. A. certified the Essex stock chassis in every detail.

Never before was a car driven at top speed for 50 hours. The grind was more severe than years of road use. Yet at the end the Essex showed no measurable wear.

Such Endurance as You Want in Your Car

What car, the Essex size and weight, can even attain a mile-a-minute speed, much less keep it up for 50 hours?

These results were decisive. They proved Essex not only the supreme performer of the light car field. They showed that with its advantages of moderate price and economy it combines such endurance and dependability as few large, high priced cars offer.

Greater size could add nothing to Essex. It has the qualities which weight and size are built to give—riding comfort, solidness, distinction and smooth, quiet pace. In addition it has fuel, oil and tire economy. And its durability means freedom from repair cost and positive, dependable transportation.

Light Car Economy Big Car Performance

Other cars its size and weight cost as much, but none has ever equaled what it has done.

You will hardly dare use its overcapacity of power, but you do want the ability and dependability it gives. It means no strains on motor or other mechanism. It means a better, more durable, lasting car.

And Essex is easy to operate. Driving does not fatigue. Its instant response to the lightest touch and its smooth, restful comfort in motion account for this.

That is another reason why so many women are Essex owners. And they appreciate its safety, too. Its controls are simple and instantaneous. It makes fast time, with security, in difficult traffic.

Essex Wins on Quality Minus Useless Weight

Essex won recognition on the issue of finest quality without useless weight and size. For that issue is uppermost to-day.

You will take pride in your Essex from the first. Its smartness, its rich fittings and finishings, its quiet luxury and superior performance give it distinction everywhere. And time and use will increase your esteem and respect for it. You will come to rely absolutely on its dependability. You will expect and find it always ready for any demands you may make.

These are the reasons why Essex set a world's sales record in its first year. And orders now are so far ahead it is certain that even that unrivaled mark will be surpassed this year.

Thousands, realizing this, are placing their orders now. We advise that you do likewise, else you may be disappointed in delivery.

State Capitol to House Meeting of Illinois Dealers

Springfield, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—The capitol building will house the convention and organization meeting of the Illinois Automotive Dealers' association which will be held here March 22 and 23, according to an announcement by Harry G. Moock, general manager of the National Automobile Dealers' association, who will perfect the organization.

So far as is known, Mr. Moock said, this is the first time that a state capitol has been used for a meeting of the automobile trade. He advocated the use of the capitol in Illinois because of the psychological effect. It is his idea that state capitols should be the center of work looking to the civic growth and the upbuilding of industry.

The call for the state convention has been sent out by the National Automobile Dealers' association and already responses have been received indicating that the entire state will be represented. Especial commendation has been received from the Chicago Automobile Trade association, which in a measure in the past has carried the entire brunt of the state work. The Chicago association has announced that it will support with its entire membership the state association plan.

Mr. Moock estimates that between 1,000 and 1,500 automotive dealers will attend the convention. Dealers in Illinois who are assisting in the work estimate that between 2,000 and 2,500 will be present.

The facilities of the Springfield chamber of commerce have been given to the N. A. D. A. for the convention and a number of other local bodies will assist in entertaining the delegates. Monday night, March 22, a banquet will be held at which Gov. Frank O. Lowden will be the principal speaker.

An executive meeting will be held March 21, the day preceding the opening of the state convention. Every association in Illinois has been asked to send representatives to this meeting.

IF WE COULDN'T TELL A LIE

A Good Idea.

In order to lengthen the life of the highways about the city, automobile dealers in Tacoma, Wash., are waging a campaign through newspapers and automobile clubs to end the practice of driving machines in tracks. Road experts have estimated that the life of a road is shortened by fully 40 per cent, due to motor car owners following beaten tracks on the crest of the road.

To Stop Rattle.

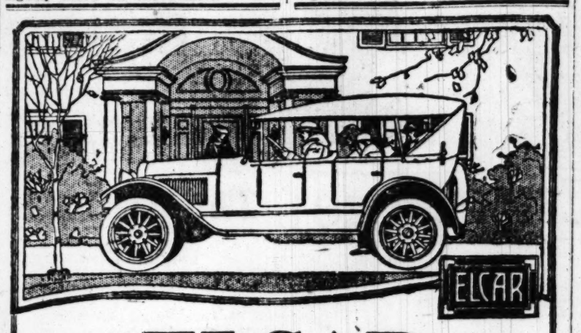
A rattle in the spring clip may be cured by wrapping the lower part with tire tape, enough to prevent the movement that causes the rattle. The paint may be painted over to match the color of the spring so as not to make an unsightly mark on the vehicle.

Missouri Breaks Record.

More than 60,000 cars above the record of a year ago on March 1 have been registered or licensed by the secretary of state of Missouri. Up to that time 34,775 automobiles and 7,624 chauffeurs had been registered in St. Louis. The secretary of state has prepared for a registration in St. Louis for 1920 of about 100,000 cars.

Keep Cell Contact Tight.

The connections on dry cells should always be kept tight. Any one connection in a series which happens to be loose will cause difficult starting. The vibration of the car is apt to loosen them, and frequent inspection will often save delay in starting the engine.



ELCAR

The Car of Excess Value

Check over the specifications of the ELCAR. Compare them with those of any car selling up to two or three hundred dollars more.

Then inspect the ELCAR in detail. Note the extra strong beautifully balanced chassis construction. Note the size, beauty and finish of the car. Test the luxurious cushions. Note the completeness and quality of all items of equipment.

Test the car. Note the lithe, eager way it responds to the slightest advance of the throttle. Observe how silently and smoothly it runs at all speeds from two to sixty miles an hour. Try it on hills or through deep sand, and see how wonderfully and quietly it pulls—then you will realize why the ELCAR deserves the title of "The Car of Excess Value."

A Modern Engine Helps Make Its Greater Value—Its Greater Service

Were the Stephens just an ordinary motor car, yet powered with the Stephens engine, it would still be a car of greater value and greater service.

The Stephens engine is no respecter of the grades of gasoline you supply it,—

It burns completely the lowest grades of gasoline without lessened performance.

The Stephens engine wastes no fuel, therefore it wastes no power.

Rated at 25.3 Horse Power (S. A. E.), it actually developes 57 and is the most powerful engine for its size in passenger automobiles.

This is due to the Stephens Vaporizing Wall and Superheating Chamber, which gives the Stephens engine the aforementioned advantages over other types of engines.

Add the greater value of the Stephens hand-built bodies, the recognized high standard of quality and workmanship throughout, to the greater service possible from the Stephens engine and you have the Stephens—The Salient Six.

20 per cent Surplus Power When Needed

Plenty of Power—to pull four 14-inch bottoms, to pull a 10-foot grader,
to pull a 28-inch separator,
and 20 per cent surplus power when needed.

This is the Allis-Chalmers 18-30 that will plow 16 acres for every 10 working hours and do it on a kerosene consumption of 2 gallons to the acre, proved by owner records.

With other farm implements it will do work in proportion.

3000 pounds pull at the draw bar on high speed, with a plowing speed of 3 miles an hour is the reason for the superiority of Allis-Chalmers performance.

Extra large water jackets and the super capacity of the Allis-Chalmers fin and tube radiator guarantee freedom from heating whatever the working conditions.

Allis-Chalmers force feed lubrication with a sight feed lubricator eliminate oiling troubles.

Frameless construction with the heavy steel motor base, transmission housing and rear axle housing bolted firmly together give long life to the working parts.

The time has gone when claims mean anything to you. We have records of performance that prove superior service.

The time is here when the reputation of the manufacturer is even more important than the specifications. For 65 years the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company has been known as one of the largest builders of quality machinery in the world.

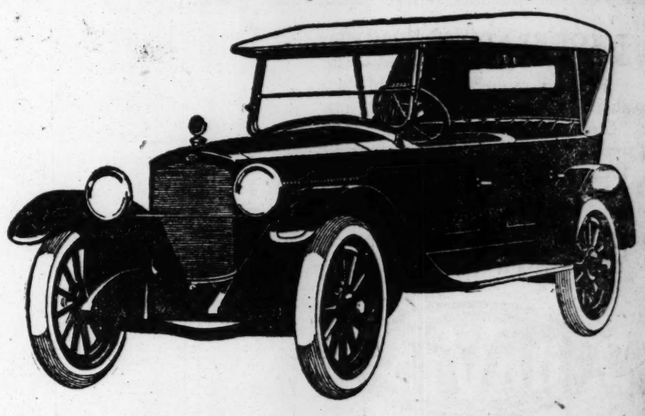
A GOOD INVESTMENT



GRANT SIX

Is the Grant Six a good buy viewed from the standpoint of an investment?

One looks at an investment from the standpoint of safety of principal and the yield of interest or earnings.

Safety is dependent upon the marketability of the product and the strength of the organization back of it.

Looking at the purchase of a Grant Six in this light, does it stand the test?

Let us see. It delivers high returns in the way of comfort, serviceability, dependability,—safe, troubleless transportation.

It yields higher returns for every dollar invested than any car of similar price. It is more comfortable to ride in, easier to look after, less expensive to maintain and has a higher resale value.

Back of each Grant Six is a Company with unsurpassed manufacturing facilities, strong organization, ample financial strength and a powerful dealer organization.

For as long as Grant Sixes have been built the demand has always exceeded the supply. There have been two to five people ready to buy every Grant manufactured.

These conditions make the Grant Six an exceptionally good investment. Come and see it.

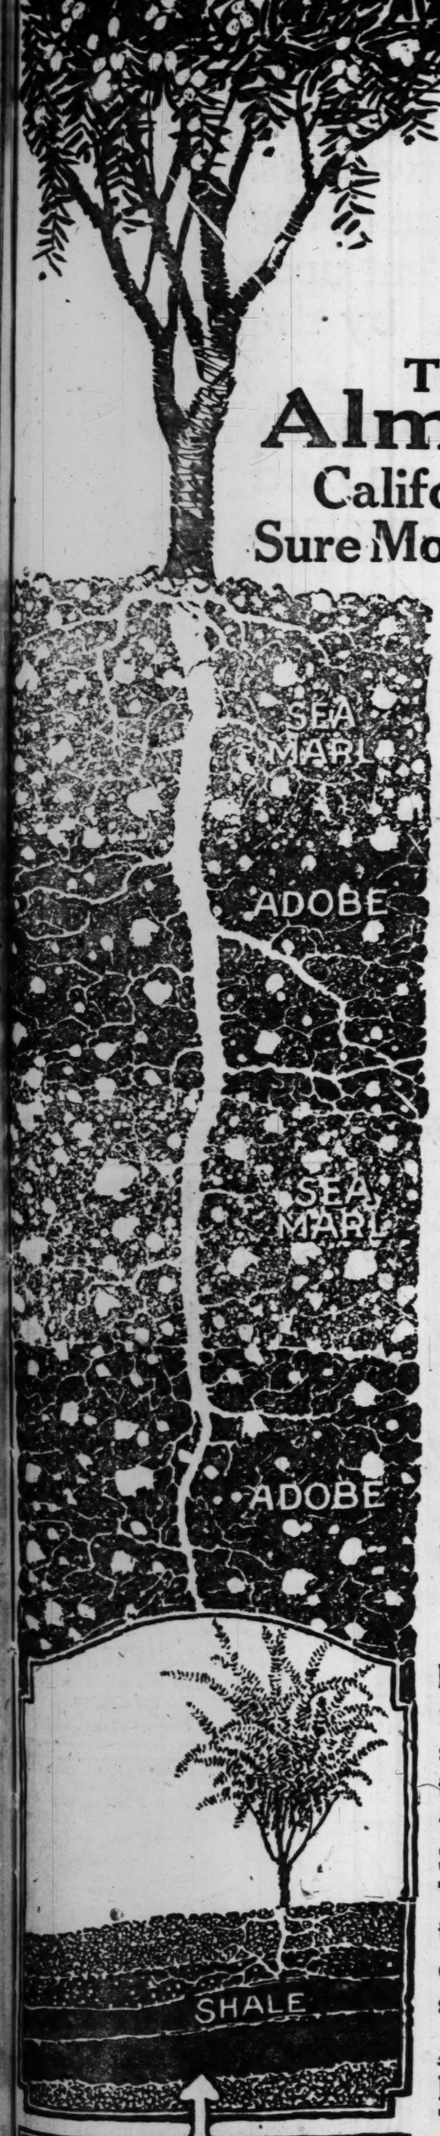
Why our Almond Lands grow such abundant crops and make such big profits

The Almond California's Sure Money Tree



This is the kind of soil that carries upon its surface "apparent opportunities" for almond culture. Dig down for three or four feet and you strike a bed of shale or hard pan, sometimes from 5 to 8 feet or more thick and almost as hard as granite. Almond trees may grow in this soil—even reach the bearing stage—but when the tap root strikes the shale, which it is impossible to penetrate, the tree shrivels up and dies. Our methods of soil testing make it impossible for us to offer land of this character.

Where Almond Trees Have Been Planted in This Kind of Soil and Have Been Given Proper Care There Has Not Been a Crop Failure in

35 YEARS

NOTE

Alternate Strata of Sea Marl and Adobe—No Shale—Holds Water Like a Sponge. Does Not Require Irrigation.

There's Enough Rainfall Each Season to Keep the Beneath-the-Surface Soil Moist Throughout the Driest of of Dry Seasons.

Note the Long TAP ROOT Which Extends Straight Down 20 to 25 Feet or More.

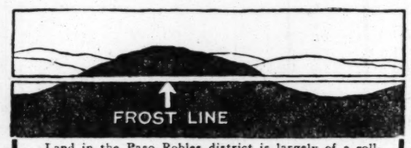
SOIL: rich in lime and potash.
CLIMATE: equable; free from extremes of heat or cold.
PEDIGREED TREES: budded from old trees with records of prolific yields for many years past.
CARE: systematic cultivation of soil, even planting, scientific pruning.

The above four essentials for successful almond growing explain why this industry is so rapidly coming to the front in the Paso Robles district of California; why almond trees here bear such heavy crops; why the crops are to dependable year after year; why almond growers in this district are making so much money.

Sea Marl Adobe Soil Best for Almonds

This peculiar soil formation is found in considerable areas only in certain sections of what is known as the Paso Robles district, California. Roughly speaking, it is composed of alternate strata of sea marl and adobe. For sturdy tree growth, long life and unfailing yield year after year the soil should have a depth of 20 feet or more. This soil needs no fertilizing. The sea marl itself is a natural fertilizer. Experts declare that it would cost $2,000 an acre just to fertilize ordinary soil to make it as rich in plant food as is this sea marl adobe soil. No irrigation is required. The soil holds water like a sponge and there is enough rainfall every year to saturate it thoroughly. In the driest of dry seasons you can dig beneath the surface a few inches and find earth moist enough to make a mud ball.

The Ideal Climate—No Fogs—Plenty of Sunshine



Land in the Paso Robles district is largely of a rolling character. Cold air seeks the lower levels, forcing the warm air upwards. When almond trees—which bud earlier than any other nut or fruit tree in the world—are planted below the "frost line," there is always danger of the buds being nipped by late spring frosts. Light crops or perhaps no crops at all would be the result. We always plant our almond trees safely above the frost line. At this elevation the buds are never killed by frost. You are sure of a crop every year.

The Salinas Valley—one of the most beautiful in all California and about 16 miles from the coast—is sheltered on both sides by mountain ranges. There are no fogs. The winters are mild. The summers not excessively hot. Vegetation grows in the open practically the year round. But during the winter and early spring the nights are frosty. And the avoidance of frost is a most important factor in almond culture. See note under Fig. 1 and you will understand why our almond crops are never killed by frost.

Pedigreed Trees—Why They Pay Best

There are pedigreed almond trees and—just almond trees. Like produces like in plant life the same as in animal life. Stock raisers know that Berkshires and Poland Chinas, Herefords and Jerseys pay far better than "just pigs" or "just cows." We know that pedigreed almond trees pay far better than what are known as "commercial trees." Our Field Manager, Mr. G. A. Nehrhood, who is the leading almond authority on the Pacific Coast, personally supervises the growing and budding of all our nursery stock. Our corps of experts working under his direction plant the trees exactly so many feet apart—70 trees to the acre.

Scientific Care

Look at the illustration to the left. This shows how the almond tree grows. The tap root—almost as thick as the trunk of the tree—extends downward to a depth of 20 feet or more, providing the soil is deep enough. Mr. Nehrhood has devised a method of pruning that promotes the vigorous growth of this tap root, because upon its size and length depend the vitality, strength and bearing qualities of the tree itself.

We said PROVIDING THE SOIL IS DEEP ENOUGH. In this connection read carefully the following excerpt from a government report regarding almond growing in the Paso Robles district:

"In the Paso Robles section there are large acreages which carry upon their surface apparent opportunities in almond culture, but which, when brought to the test as to quality of soil, freedom from late spring frosts and other questions necessary to success, can in no wise be termed favorable areas for almond culture."

The "apparent opportunities" judged from surface indications are made clear in the lower left hand illustration. Every tract of land held by our association is tested by our own experts, who bore deep into the soil and report their findings to Mr. Nehrhood. The land must have Mr. Nehrhood's O. K. before the trust company with whom we have a binding trust agreement will act as trustee over that particular tract of land, and the trust company's OWN SOIL EXPERTS must also pass upon it. We take no chances. We offer only land which we absolutely know from these exhaustive tests to be deep enough and rich enough to grow the sturdiest almond trees, the heaviest yields and the finest, meatiest, best flavored almonds that can be grown anywhere on the face of the earth.

FREE LECTURE

LYON & HEALY HALL, 64 E. JACKSON BLVD.,
MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 22, 8 O'CLOCK

Most interesting lecture on California and its wonderful resources you've ever heard. Illustrated with large lantern slides showing this great state's unsurpassed scenic grandeur. Also enlarged photographic scenes of the almond industry at Paso Robles—nursery trees being planted; methods of pruning and cultivating; how crops are gathered and marketed. These Monday evening lectures have been so largely attended of late that the hall has been crowded to its seating capacity. So be sure to come early—and bring your friends. Come a few minutes before 8 if possible to make sure of a good seat.

Associated Almond Growers of Paso Robles

10 Acres — 700 Trees

A Net Income of

$2,500 to $3,000

a Year for Life

This is not a land selling proposition. It is not a "small farm" or "back to the soil" movement. It is an INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY of the very highest order free from speculative risk.

Others are making big money in the almond growing business in the Paso Robles district. We offer you the same opportunity. Yes, even better, because, as carried on by our Co-operative Association, the work is more systematic, more thorough and is under the constant care of almond growing experts.

Some day, no doubt, you will want to move to California. But it is not necessary. Neither do you need to know anything about almond growing. We do all the work.

By reason of our careful selection of soil, trees, planting and scientific care our almond orchards come into bearing when 4½ years old. The first crop is light—about 4 pounds per tree—although a number of owners reported yields of 10 to 15 pounds per tree from their 4½ year old orchards last fall.

We estimate 20 pounds per tree at 8½ years of age. This estimate is more than conservative. From 25 to 30 pounds per tree is nearer the actual yield.

We plant 70 trees to the acre—700 to each 10 acre tract. That means 14,000 pounds from 10 acres, or a 20 pounds per tree basis.

In 1918 Paso Robles almonds sold for 25c per pound—a gross return of $3,500 from 10 acres. Deduct $500 for care of orchard, harvesting and marketing and there remains a net profit of $3,000. But last year the price paid to growers was 30c to 32½c per pound. Figure the increased profits on this selling basis. And this greater price was paid in spite of a vastly increased production over that of 1918. The demand for these fine Paso Robles district almonds is constantly increasing. Still higher price levels seem inevitable.

Monthly Payment Plan

If you can make a moderate initial payment and lay aside $25 per month you can own one of these big income producing almond orchards. By so doing you will lay the foundation for the one thing for which every man strives—financial independence for life! But you pay only half the cost in money. When the trees come into bearing we agree to take the other half out of the crop.

Our Money-Back Guarantee

If you can conveniently do so, by all means make a trip to Paso Robles and examine conditions there first hand. Investigate. If you do not find everything just as represented we will refund to you any payment you have made, together with your railroad and Pullman fares. This same offer holds good if, instead of going yourself, you have a representative make the trip of investigation.

Come to Our Exhibit

901-906 Lytton Building, 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

Open Monday, Wednesday and Saturday Evenings or Any Evening by Special Appointment. Phone Harrison 8620 for Special Appointment.

Here we have a magnificent collection of enlarged and colored photographs showing Paso Robles Almond Orchards in all stages of development.

We want to explain our entire plan to you—why 10 acres is enough for independence for life—how easily you can obtain one or more of these tracts on small monthly payments—how we select, plant, care for and bring your trees into bearing without a cent of cost to you.

We want you to meet the officers of our company and convince yourself that you are dealing with honorable, high-minded men who are themselves owners of almond orchards at Paso Robles. We also want to tell you how perfectly your interests are safeguarded by one of the largest trust companies on the Pacific Coast, which holds the title to the land and also acts as custodian of the orchard development fund and delivers to you the deed and title to the property upon completion of the conract.

Be sure to come any day or evening this week that suits your convenience. Let's get together and talk it over.

Not All Dealers Require Cash in Full for Autos

Anything Convertible Into Ready Money Acceptable

BY HIGH SPEED.

MANY prospective buyers are under the impression that they have to have the full purchase price of the automobile. Quite true that many dealers operate on this basis, particularly now, when orders are many and cars few, but even now the majority allow a certain freedom in sales. This applies in large cities as well as small towns. One may purchase an automobile in many ways if all cash is not readily available.

A great many dealers are able to finance the buyer, accepting one-third or one-half the list price in cash and taking notes for the remainder. These notes are to be paid off in installments, usually monthly, but the total time allowed is usually not more than twelve months. In cases where the dealer is very friendly other arrangements can be made. In a case of this kind the dealer requires that the car be properly insured and he holds the insurance, so that, in case of accident or fire, he will not lose on the deal.

Many dealers will not handle a sale of this kind, but instead of doing business with the purchaser direct will deal with a financing company. In the larger cities concerns of this kind make a business of financing automobile buyers, and even men who want to become dealers.

These concerns buy the car outright from the dealer, paying him the full list price in cash, plus freight and taxes. The financing company then requires you to pay down a certain amount in cash, while the remainder is paid in installments and interest charge being asked. Sometimes a fixed sum is asked in excess of the cost of the vehicle. The company, like the dealer previously mentioned holds the insurance for protection. Concerns of this kind usually accept collateral of any kind, a lien on your property in the cities.

In the farming districts it might be possible to get them to accept part of a coming crop, because it is possible for them to get insurance on the crop. You, of course, would be required to pay the insurance premium, so as to protect the company against any loss.

If you are a salesman and want an automobile for your business it usually is possible to get the concern to buy one for you, allowing you to pay for it out of your salary or commission. Some of the largest concerns in the country use this method, making no charge for the service, and requiring only a small sum weekly, say $5. It probably will vary with the price of the car. Ownership, of course, remains in the company's hands until the car is fully paid for.

If you are acquainted with a banker in your town it often is possible to get him to finance you for a part of the purchase price of a car, just as he helps in the building of a home. A bank, of course, requires negotiable paper or collateral which it considers of proper value.

In buying a car, whether new or old, you should consider the upkeep, because if the upkeep is great you are at once confronted with a double problem—that of paying off on the car and paying to keep it running. You will no doubt find in the medium priced field that about three-fourths of the cars are assembled cars, made up of engine, clutch, transmission, axles, etc., which are made by parts makers. The car manufacturer only puts the parts together. Your depreciation will be lower and the possibility of mechanical trouble avoided if you select known units by well known concerns.

You perhaps have heard of such names as Continental for engines, Brown-Lipe for transmission, Borg & Beck for clutches, Timken for axles, and so on. These concerns are leaders in their respective fields. It is usual, at least it is in the case of Continental, to sell units only to a concern that submits its plans so the parts maker will know what kind of a car is going to use their units. In this way a manufacturer protects himself against the possibility of a car manufacturer buying a good engine and cheap transmission units, using the engine maker's name as a feature to sell the car.

Highway Don'ts.

Don't blow your horn in an attempt to hurry a herd of cows off the road. It can't be done.

Don't start a race with a friend on a public highway.

Don't leave your car standing with the engine running.

Best in the Long Run

MANY A MAN who would not buy a tire because it was cheap will buy an inner tube simply because it costs a dollar or two less. Yet the performance of the tire is often dependent upon the service rendered by the tube.

It is a wise economy to equip with Goodrich Red Inner Tubes in the first place.

CLEVELAND SIX

The Notable New Six

It's the Cleveland Six. Not really new, either, for the factory began deliveries last Summer and since then the Cleveland has gone out over the country into the hands of thousands of owners. And these owners say they are delighted with it. There is every good reason why they should be delighted with it. For the Cleveland Six is really an extraordinary car.

We cannot tell you how good the Cleveland Six is. You must ride in it and drive it to know. This experience will convince you of the power and pick-up and speed and flexibility of this exclusive Cleveland-built motor.

It will convince you of the comfort of the car, contributed to so much by the low underslung spring construction and the wide soft seat cushions.

You will be amazed at the ease of handling your Cleveland, how lightly it steers and shifts, and at the instant positive action of its brakes.

There isn't any other light car that will give you so much of all that you wish, and at such a fair price.

Come let us show you what a car the Cleveland is

And Others.

Your old tires exchanged at fair cash valuation for your convenience.

What the Carlsten-Williams Plan Is

It is a plan to encourage every car owner, to get the most pleasure out of his car, the most service out of his tires. It is a straightforward banking credit plan, which makes it convenient as well as profitable for tire users to employ foresight, rather than experience the regrets of hindsight.

In a word, we give the tire buyer the privilege of spreading payment of his tire investment over from three to six months. In this way he is encouraged to completely outfit his car with new confidence-giving, worry-free tires, rather than to buy one tire at a time and ride throughout the season with blowout fear at his elbow.

How the Plan Works Out

Every car owner knows that last season's tires are a constant menace to the pleasure of motoring. The shadowy specter of puncture or blowout glooms the pleasure of every trip. It is a skeleton at the feast of pleasure.

For we all know that with tires "it never rains but it pours"—and when tires begin to go —they go—one, two, three, four and out.

By actual test—by years of experience—motorists who have kept accurate records, have PROVEN that it saves time, money and worry to trade in their old tires each year and start the new season with a complete new outfit. One man said, "Even if I didn't save actual money by starting out with a new set of tires each year, I would do it anyway, because of the peace of mind it gives me. I motor for pleasure and don't want to be worrying and wondering, every time I go out, when my left rear will blow."

It is really "penny wise and dollar foolish" to use your tires till they are "all gone." A blowout is usually more than an inconvenience; it's a decided expense when it ruins a perfectly good tube, as well as your temper.

Figure out the tube you've ruined, the time you've lost, the expense for repairs you've had in trying to use old tires, and you'll find you would have been ahead if you had traded in your old tires and outfitted with a complete new set.

Motorists who buy used cars usually find one or two of the tires right on the ragged edge. It is always economy, and surely adds to the joy of motoring, to trade in these tires at once and be sure of good service and satisfaction.

Perhaps you realize that you should have a complete new set of tires, but do not care to make the investment at one time. That's why we offer you our Bank Credit plan.

Open every evening until 9 p. m.

Sundays until 12 noon

The Carlsten-Williams Plan

1. Lets you spread your tire investment over from three to six months.
2. You may buy one or more tires on this plan.
3. We give you legitimate value for your old tires on the exchange. We are not in business to buy old tires and will not buy them in unlimited quantities.

But, for your convenience, we will give you the fair and square value on your old tires when you buy new ones. If your old tires are scrap, we will pay scrap price for them. If they are worth more we will pay more. Please understand this offer is simply to solve your problem of what to do with your old tires. In fact, if you can sell them elsewhere, we prefer that you do so.

MOTORDOM

Campaign to Oust Street Cars From White Way Begun

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Broadway Association of New York City it was decided to raise a special fund of $25,000 to be expended in an effort to secure the removal of street car tracks from Broadway and the installation of a motor bus system. This action was taken following the report of the transportation committee, which, on a referendum submitted to the association's members, found that 80 per cent favored the removal of the street car tracks and the substitution of a modern bus system.

At present the surface transportation service on Broadway is conducted by two traction lines, which charge separate fares and do not issue interchangeable transfers. One line runs from the lower end of the city through the financial and retail store section to the theatrical district, while the other runs from the theatrical district through part of the residential district. The double fare and inconvenience of changing cars when going from one of these districts to another have caused many complaints. Two even more serious complaints are the congestion in vehicular traffic and the absence of the logical motor traffic.

Street cars stop at nearly every corner and frequently between street corners. Passengers must pass across the space reserved for vehicular traffic in order to reach the sidewalk. The law requires all vehicular traffic, in the lower section of this street, to stop when a car stops until the passengers get on or off and the car resumes its headway.

Broadway, in its narrower districts, is thirty-four feet wide. The street car lines occupy seventeen feet of this space.

While Broadway is the only street on Manhattan island running from its lower end to Kingsbridge, a distance of about twenty miles, and, therefore, the logical through highway for automobile traffic, it is not so used because of the congestion caused by the street cars and tracks. Motor traffic has, therefore, been using Fifth avenue, with the result that that street has to carry a traffic which causes great congestion.

Gossip of the Auto Trade

C. A. Pfeiffer, president of the Saxon Motor Car corporation, has just announced an important addition to the Saxon organization in the person of H. P. Meredith, who will occupy the position of manufacturing manager.

Roy T. Middleton has resigned as general sales manager of the Standard Steel Castings company of Cleveland to become vice president and director of sales and advertising for the Kelly Metals company, with headquarters in Chicago.

The 1,891,929 passenger cars and trucks produced last year were made by ninety manufacturers of passenger autmobiles and 170 builders of motor trucks in thirty-two states, employing 580,000 persons.

The Owen Tire and Rubber company of Cleveland has commenced construction on an addition to its factory. Although the present plant was built only two years ago and is capable of turning out 1,500 tires a day, greater production facilities are necessary to meet the demand.

It is estimated that there were in 1919 62,036 automobile dealers, garages, and repair shops in the United States. Of the total, 32,317 were passenger car dealers, 18,943 truck dealers, 36,427 garages, and 43,351 were repair shops.

The United States Tire company has appointed P. C. Anderson western sales manager, with headquarters at Chicago. He has been with the company since its formation.

The 7,100,000 motor vehicles in use in the United States brought $65,000,000 revenue to states from license fees last year.

O. H. Wagner has been made Chicago sales manager of the Michelin Tire company.

Many men who feel they cannot spare the time from business duties to examine the car, find opportunity to do so before or after lunch.

Even a few moments are enough to reveal those practical advantages that make the Oakland a favorite with persons seeking true automobile worth.

No other automobile in the market offers a like measure of value, in performance, reliability and low upkeep cost.

The models we are now showing preserve Oakland's traditional high power and complete economy, in combination with a heavier chassis of longer wheelbase.

Still scientifically light in total weight, but endowed with increased strength and serviceability, they offer maximum utility at minimum expense.

Roads in Battle Zone Better Than in Pre-War Days

Touring Expense About Twice as Much as Formerly

BY STUART D. TREGO.

TOURISTS who are contemplating visiting European battle fields this season will be interested in a description of road conditions given by Edward E. Wakefield, manager of the foreign department of the Automobile Club of America. Some of the highways of France are in poor condition, compared to the excellent state in which they were kept before the war, and such main arteries as the road from Paris to Nice by way of the Rhone valley and the Paris-Bordeaux-Biarritz highway are in poor shape generally.

Roads stretching through the zone of battle, contrary to what might be expected, average far better than in pre-war days. This may be attributed to the fact that many poor surfaced roads were practically rebuilt by military engineers, and many miles of relatively smooth highway have replaced roads that were unpopular with the tourist. From Paris to Strassbourg traveling is a great deal pleasanter and easier.

"Italy does not appear to have been largely affected by war-time traffic," says Mr. Wakefield. "Its main roads are, on the whole, fairly good except for their terribly dusty condition in summer time.

"It may be stated that touring expenses in Europe at the present time outside the large cities, are about double what they were before the war and although in certain localities the variety of food is somewhat restricted practically nothing in the way of discomfort need be feared. Petrol in England costs about 50 cents a gallon while in France 'essence,' which is now a government monopoly, costs 60 to 80 cents per gallon, and is by no means always of first class quality.

"On the whole there is no serious reason why American motorists should not visit Europe for touring purposes this coming summer. They must be prepared for expenses amounting to about double pre-war rates, roads as a general rule of somewhat inferior quality, hotel accommodations outside the largest cities rather simpler than formerly, with restricted menus in such localities as Flanders and northern France, and a considerable increase of customs duty into France."

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS by HIGH SPEED

In testing for compression by turning the hand crank how do you judge if it so happens that all cylinders are weak? L. P. A.

You cannot tell unless you are familiar with the feel of a good cylinder. If you are in doubt use a cylinder gauge and obtain the exact number of pounds compression.

What can be used on cylinder head threads and other threads to make the nuts come off easy? P. D. R.

Graphite is excellent.

What is the particular advantage of inclining the valves at an angle to the cylinders? I notice this on two of the new cars. J. L.

You may have noticed this on L head engines. Primarily it reduces the size of the pocket in the cylinder hear and thus allows of a better shape of combustion chamber.

Will it be possible to have larger valves installed in the engine of my car? Also will it be safe to have the cylinders rebored? F. P. J.

In all probability you can have the larger valves installed. The seats will have to be countersunk to take the new valves. You would better ask the maker of the engine of your car if it will be possible to rebore the cylinders. Most engines will stand two reborings. You will have to have a new set of pistons, of course.

I see you advise having on hand small portions of enamel to use in covering light stratches on car or wire wheels. My car is a Dodge sedan with dark blue body, black hood, and ivory covered wheels. What make of enamel would you advise? L. B. S., Freeport, Ill.

There are so many good grades of enamel on the market that te select any one wou be casting a discriminating reflection on the others, so I would advise you to go to some local hardware store and purchase the brand recommended by your dealer.

I have been informed that gasoline is bad to use for cleaning the top of my car. Can you suggest something that is effective and yet will not damage the material? G. W. B.

Soapsuds and water are the best cleaning agent. Rub the suds all over the top and then rinse in clear water. Use good castile soap. Gasoline, kerosene, etc., attack the rubber that is in most top materials.

It is characteristic of Paige truck owners to offer their recommendations unsolicited to others who may be contemplating motor truck purchases. Having found the Paige to be an unusually profitable truck investment, they want their friends also to enjoy the benefits of their discovery.

The endorsements of satisfied owners constitute an unerring guide in purchasing a motor truck. In the aggregate, they establish a criterion of the service you may rightfully expect from your own Paige truck when you eventually become an owner.

One Look at This New Chalmers Makes You Want It

YOU can't get into an argument about the beauty of this new Chalmers. Everyone admits it. Just one look suffices. Its coach, with large square doors, infinite detail, engaging appointments, superior high finish establishes a precedent.

And when you sink into those new type cushions that tilt deeply you say to yourself: "Here is comfort, indeed."

Then let loose the power stream. Note the silence. You can scarcely hear a sound. Watch for vibration. You detect none—not even the semblance of a fender quivering.

All throbbing is gone. Hot Spot and Ram's-horn make sure this rhythm. They "digest" the gas before it gets inside the engine, and they "feed" each cylinder quickly and evenly.

They make results de luxe in power, and that is why so many now say Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

Three Minutes a Day Save $856 a Year

ASK your banker what he considers essentials of good business.

One of the first things he will say is "keep accurate cost records."

Some business men in the past have told us they would keep accurate records of their truck operating costs if they could find a system simple enough, cheap enough to run, and accurate enough to get a banker's O. K.

Today, those men are using the National Standard Truck Cost System. They spend less than three minutes a day in bookkeeping. The mistakes in truck operation which the system revealed has led to greater efficiency and made possible savings amounting to hundreds of dollars a year.

PACKARD has abolished tonnage ratings. Our research has shown the carrying capacity of trucks depends entirely upon the conditions under which they operate. Packards will carry their rated load anywhere, but—the owner whose conditions are good should not buy more truck than he needs. So our new system fits the truck to the job.

Thousands of nationally-known concerns have taken up the same system. It has received the unqualified endorsement of the National Truck Owners' Conference.

One concern, the American Express Company—operating a fleet of 317 Packard trucks—reports that the saving on a single Packard was $855.72 a year.

Our transportation engineer will help you install and operate the National Standard Truck Cost System.

Our service to you is free, no matter what type of truck you are using.

The Hupmobile Custom-Built Town Car Body

The increasing demand for custom-built bodies on a small chassis prompted us to have a few special bodies made up for the Hupmobile chassis.

We have just received the first delivery of these special bodies in a beautiful Town Car model.

Designed by one of the best known body-builders in the country, they represent the highest art in coach work.

They are roomy, comfortable, beautifully upholstered; and so constructed that when they are mounted on the Hupmobile chassis the increased weight and consequent running expense common to many enclosed cars is strikingly eliminated.

Immediate delivery can be made on a limited number of these distinctive bodies. We suggest an early call at our salesroom.

"Have you ever figured out what is the difference between the country and the city?"

"Can't say I have."

"In the country you go to bed feeling all in and get up feeling fine, and in the city you go to bed feeling fine and get up feeling all in."

"What can I get to eat on your father's farm?"

"Some milk fed pork."

"I never eat pork."

"Or some nice tame duck."

"I never eat duck."

"You can also have some tender lamb."

"I never eat lamb."

"Perhaps you would like to suck an egg?"

"What do you do for a living?"

"I'm a detective. Just now I'm working on a big case."

"How is it coming out?"

"Only two bottles left."

"When I first saw you I thought you were somebody from home."

"Really?"

"Yes, Uncle Si has a bulldog with a face just like yours."

McVICKER'S.

Burke and Durkin:

"Are you fond of indoor sports?"

"Yes, if they know when to go home."

"Would you marry a spendthrift?"

"Perhaps, if he were just starting on his career."

"I love to go into the woods and study the habits of animals."

"What do the little toads do when they get tired?"

"They sit down on toad stools."

"The audience applauded my song last night."

"They liked it?"

"And, what's more, they didn't applaud till after it was all through."

"That's the part they liked."

"What's your business?"

"I study hands."

"O, palm reader."

"No, poker player."

"Can you let me have a little money, my dear?"

"Why, certainly; about how little?"

"I dreamed last night that you bought me a beautiful automobile."

"Good heavens, you'll ruin me with your extravagant dreams!"

RIALTO.

Wells and Teets:

"I just came out of a cabaret. A cabaret, you know, is a place where they put the din in dinner. After finishing my dessert I called the manager of the restaurant over to my table and I said to him: 'You advertise that you make your own pies.' 'Yes,' said the manager proudly, 'we make our own pies.' I said: 'Then permit me to make a suggestion. Hereafter let some one else make them for you.'"

"You are breaking up my act."

"And you are breaking up my coat."

"What do I care about your coat?"

"And what do I care about your act?"

"The idea of making a noise during my performance!"

"Well, you're making a noise, ain't you?"

"I'm paid to make a noise."

"Yes, but you're making more noise than you're paid for."

"You have no business to be in the entrance to begin with. You were standing there against the rules."

"No; I was standing against the scenery."

"If you want to see the show why don't you sit out in front like the rest of the audience?"

"You got to have a ticket out there."

There has been no economizing on the quality of materials used in DAY-ELDER Worm-Drive Trucks. Money can buy no better. There has been no effort to "build to a price"—no attempt to save at the expense of any one of DAY-ELDER approved features. Nor has any feature of value been omitted.

You'll find that DAY-ELDER trucks have the same extra strength without undue weight—the same powers of stamina, endurance and performance that are to be found in the most expensive worm-drive trucks. Yet the average price of all DAY-ELDER models is lower by hundreds of dollars than any other worm-drive trucks of equal quality.

However, the DAY-ELDER is the best truck investment not simply because its initial price is less. Owners' records show that the operating and repair costs are low—that depreciation is low—and that they are economical in every factor that counts. Six models—one to six tons. NEWS OF THE RELIGIOUS WORLD

World Conference Planned by Many Denominations

By the Rev. Frederick L. Gratiot.

No really ecumenical or universal council of the Christian church has been possible since the great schism in 1054 when the break between the Roman Catholic and the Greek Catholic church occurred. Until that time it had always been more or less possible to call the whole church together for a universal council. Since then, and especially since the Protestant reformation, such an ecumenical conference has been impracticable, if not impossible.

However, several separate communions will hold this year international conferences. The "Methodist ecumenical conference" will be held in London for two weeks beginning Sept. 14. To this leaders of the Methodist church throughout the world will consort.

The international council of the Congregational church will be held in Boston, June 29 to July 6. It will meet during the tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims.

In August the Lambeth conference of all the bishops of the Anglican church throughout the world will be held in England, to be followed by the Pan-Anglican congress. It has been announced that the congress will take up the question of spiritism.

The international congress of Religious Liberals will be held in Boston in September.

The nearest possible approach to an ecumenical council will be the world conference on faith and orders, which will be held in Geneva, Switzerland. This will be attended by representatives of all the Christian communions of the east, all of the European churches, with the exception of the Roman Catholic, all of the Anglican churches throughout the world, and by practically every important Protestant communion. Its purpose is to discuss the questions that separate the various churches with a view to bringing about real organic union through mutual understanding. The conference in August will be a preliminary one to prepare for a more deliberative one in the future.

The Rev. George Cleaver will be installed as pastor of the Endeavor Presbyterian church, Cornelia avenue and North Paulina street, on Tuesday evening. The Rev. R. D. Kearns, D. D., moderator, will preside. Prof. Cleveland B. McAfee, D. D., of the McCormick Theological seminary will preach the sermon. Dr. Henry C. Brown, superintendent of the extension board, will deliver the charge to the pastor and the Rev. Dr. A. C. Zenos, stated clerk of the presbytery, the charge to the people.

The speaker at the noonday Lenten services being held under the auspices of the Church club of the Episcopal church in the Garrick theater this week will be the Right Rev. R. H. Weller, bishop of Fond du Lac. Bishop Anderson will be the speaker during Holy week.

THE REV. PETER W. FISHER

The Rev. Peter W. Fisher is pastor of the Clement Presbyterian church of Austin. Plans have been completed for the church building which will be erected in the near future. Clement church was named after a Methodist layman, who founded a Sunday school in the neighborhood twenty-seven years ago. It developed into the present parish. Mr. Fisher has been pastor for four years. Mr. Clement continues as superintendent of the Sunday school.

The Lutheran churches will conduct a series of noonday meetings in the auditorium of the First Methodist church, Clark and Washington streets, during Holy week. The speakers are the Rev. E. K. Johnson, Monday; the Rev. L. G. Engelstad, Tuesday; the Rev. D. A. Davy, Wednesday; the Rev. C. E. Hoffsten, Maundy Thursday, and the Rev. Simon Peter Long, Good Friday. The Missouri Synod services will be held in the Woods theater.

A "Bible Chautauqua" will be conducted by the Seventh Day Adventists at Orchestra hall beginning Tuesday evening. Dr. Arthur G. Daniels, president of the general conference, will deliver the opening lecture on "Has Christianity Failed? An Answer to Bolshevism." A series of ten lectures will be given during the next three months.

The annual meeting of the Chicago Sunday School association will be held on Saturday afternoon.

The speaker at the Wednesday evening service of Precious Blood church, Western avenue and Congress street, will be the Very Rev. Frederick Siedenberg, dean of the Loyola university school of sociology. He will speak on "The Catholic Church and Social Democracy."

1c For a Hair Cut Instead of 50c

Cut Your Own Hair. Save Time and Money.

$1.00 Cash Allowed for This Ad

Cut your hair twice and the Duplex is paid for. By using the Duplex stropping attachment at least 100 hair cuts can be obtained from the four cutting edges, making the cost per hair cut only one cent. Quite a difference from the barbers' heavy charges, don't it? It makes a clear saving of $13.00 every year for each male member of the family. Besides this cash saving there are many other advantages in owning a Duplex. You can cut your hair in less than 5 minutes instead of an hour at the barber's. No danger of catching dandruff or other hair diseases. You can cut your hair any hour of the day or night, any day in the week. Mothers can cut the children's hair. And you are sure of a smooth, even hair cut at a cost of 1c instead of paying 50c for one that is uneven and jagged. You can't go wrong with a Duplex; the slanting teeth won't let you. The slanting teeth prevent pulling.

$573,056 Three Months 968 Men

How would you like to increase your salary 46% in a few months? You can—if you are an average man and possess an ambition to succeed in life and have the courage to work for that success. Here is conclusive proof that you can do it. During three months 968 LaSalle trained men have reported an increase of their combined annual salaries from $1,234,200 to $1,807,256—a total increase of $573,056, or 46%. Here is how they did it—how you can do it:

Every one of these 968 men—from a clerical worker to a Secretary-Treasurer and Certified Public Accountant earning salaries of from $1,200 to $17,000 yearly—was ambitious to attain bigger success in business and to be able to enjoy in larger measure the good things of life.

Each one realized that success in life is not a matter of luck—that there is no magic formula for it. They realized that to advance they must acquire the specialized knowledge and training that would fit them for advancement—that would make it possible for them to grasp opportunities as they presented themselves.

These men—like yourself—were kept busy earning a living. They could not stop working to train and study for promotion. But they knew that they could easily devote at least one hour each day to home study.

So they enrolled in one of the specialized training courses for home study offered by LaSalle Extension University—the largest business training institution in the world.

They studied the lessons and texts of their courses conscientiously. They worked out thoughtfully the actual problems of business by which LaSalle trains its members. They took advantage of the LaSalle Consulting Service, by which they were enabled to secure the opinions and advice of more than 450 business authorities, law specialists, expert accountants, trained correspondents, experienced bankers, traffic and transportation experts, executives, educators, etc. The result was that, in the shortest consistent time, they had accumulated the knowledge and secured the training necessary to their promotion.

And—best of all—they were, in most cases, more successful in gaining promotion than they had anticipated. The records show that when these increases in salary had been obtained, only 231 of the 968 members had completed their courses, while 503 were not yet half through their training. The rest came between these two classes.

These actual, definite, dollars-and-cents results are remarkable—yet they are commonplace among LaSalle trained men. You can do just as well. These 968 men were just average men—they could do nothing that you cannot do.

Write or call for the two books illustrated below. They contain actual human interest stories of great value to every ambitious man. Select on the coupon the LaSalle specialized course of training which will prepare you for the realization of your ambition.

Write, Phone or Call—Today—For These Two Books

At your request they will be sent free and postpaid. One gives the names, addresses and the story of the 968 men who increased their combined salaries $573,056—yet 77% had not completed their courses. It shows many very remarkable increases in salaries—some as high as 500% and 600%. The other book tells a story of how it is possible for a man to secure "Ten Years' Promotion in One."

We will send full, detailed information about the LaSalle course which interests you most. If convenient, we would be glad to have you come in and talk your ambitions over frankly with one of our staff of Registrars. You will find them to be men who are vitally interested in helping any ambitious man to find the road to promotion, increased salary and ultimate success. Write, call, or phone Randolph 5528.

In This Circle All the Knowledge In This Great Round World

The Britannica contains information on every subject that you can think of and on every subject that the more than 100,000,000 other inhabitants of the United States can think of. On those subjects which you are interested in; on those subjects your family is interested in, your children, your friends; on those subjects which arise in discussion at your club, at your lodge, in your business; on those subjects which come up daily in the newspapers, in magazines and books, which heretofore have been foreign and strange to you, the Britannica will give you the fullest, most comprehensive and reliable information. In its 44,000,000 words every phase and detail of a subject are covered, from the smallest, most obscure information to the great, broad facts.

The Britannica is a vast storehouse of knowledge, knowledge of everything that has happened from the beginning of the world to the present date, about the peoples of the world, wars, man's works, his discoveries and accomplishments in the sciences, in art, in literature, everything in Nature, about the universe of which our own little world forms so small a part. No matter what you want to know the Britannica will tell you in a clear, concise manner and will furnish you the most practical, usable knowledge.

To briefly describe its scope is impossible. It contains hundreds upon hundreds of articles on religion, philosophy, history, art, science, literature, manufacturing, engineering, law, physics, commerce, and scores of other subjects—41,000 articles in all. It abounds in everyday useful facts that satisfy the inquisitiveness of the child mind, that enlighten the housewife, the farmer, the business man, the investigator, the educator and the lawyer.

The Britannica is a book for you whether or not you have had a college education. The Britannica will give you information which will be of such service and value to you that the cost of the set in dollars and cents will seem trivial. Men and women in all walks of life are among the 200,000 owners of the Eleventh Edition.

Written by the World's Greatest Authorities

The articles in the Britannica are written by an army of experts from every civilized country on the globe, men and women who are peculiarly situated to know the subject about which they write in the Britannica. These authorities are men and women who have spent years in perfecting their knowledge of a certain subject, distinguished discoverers and inventors, men and women who have spent their lifetime in research. These authorities again are often great statesmen, famous captains of industries, practical men of affairs, some of the world's greatest workers.

The World in the Encyclopaedia Britannica

The Britannica tells about the world itself, the different countries, the topography of these countries, their people, products, resources, customs, their individual characteristics, their literature, and science. The Britannica is a book of travel, of geography, of history. With the Britannica you can travel around the world, follow the equator or through the North and South Poles. The information in the Britannica is world wide, world broad. It will tell you about the particular work or hobby that you are interested in and it will also tell you about the work, interests and play of everybody else in this entire world. The Encyclopaedia Britannica's use is universal, from Alaska to the tip of South America, in India, China and Japan, in Russia, on the entire continent of Europe, in Africa from Cairo to Capetown. It is a book for every man, everywhere, expounding the knowledge of the world to all the world. It is the world's greatest and best known encyclopaedia.

The Dawn of Comfort

THE Humphrey Automatic Gas Water Heater brings a long-wanted comfort to the home—an unlimited supply of fresh, piping-hot water, all over the house, day or night, winter or summer, by simply turning a faucet.

The Humphrey Automatic Gas Water Heater dispenses with the old, expensive, furnace coil system. It overcomes the limitations of the storage tank. With a Humphrey you are not restricted to one tank or even twenty tanks of hot water. Nor is unused water heated over and over again.

The Humphrey Automatic Gas Water Heater gives you an unlimited supply of hot water—freshly heated and hurried to you as fast as the faucet can carry it. It matters not whether one or a dozen tubfuls are wanted—the Humphrey gives you a constant flow of clean, hot water as long as faucets are open.

Best of all, the Humphrey is entirely automatic. It is practically trouble-proof. Gives no bother of any kind. No fires to keep up—not even a match to strike. The Humphrey Automatic Heater works like magic. Any time—every time—you open a hot water faucet the flow of water turns on the gas, which lights at once from a tiny pilot. Hot water comes in an instant—flows as long as the faucet is open. Close the faucet, the gas shuts off—saves you expense—heats only as much water as required at the time.

Not only is the Humphrey a tireless, constant servant and the cleanest, easiest hot water supplier; it is the cheapest. The wonderful service and comfort the Humphrey gives costs less than a smoker's cigars for the day. Heats a big bath of twenty gallons of water for about two cents.

Can you afford to endure the discomfort of an uncertain, limited, bothersome hot-water supply when for a few cents a day you can have this wonderful, automatic hot water service? Can you afford to delay installing this wonderful heater when

WANTED—FEMALE HELP.

Stores and Offices.

GIRLS, YOUNG LADIES—

Beginners and Experienced.

We need the following help:

Girls for filing cards. For these positions we want those who spell well. We also need some for sorting and enclosing. We want girls who are quick with their hands and eyes.

Girls who write a neat, plain hand for addressing. We have several kinds of addressing work to do. Some addressing envelopes from cards, others addressing from original letters on to cards.

We also need a number of girls and young ladies on miscellaneous office work, such as checking the work of others, special file work, special addressing, and other work that require accuracy and speed.

We need a few good typists also.

The positions are permanent the whole year around; starting salary is good, and there is steady, rapid advancement.

Our hours are from 8 a. m. to 4:55 p. m. We close Saturday afternoons.

Our office is the finest publishing office in Chicago; finished in mahogany, inverted lights, sanitary floors, rest rooms with maid in attendance.

Easily reached from all parts of the city by cars running on N. Clark-st., State-st., Grand-av. and Kinzie-st. We are only four blocks from Clark-st. loop L station.

Call any time during business hours on second floor. Every courtesy will be extended to you and full explanation of the work you desire.

COME IN AND TALK ABOUT OUR PLAN TO FURNISH YOU A FARM ON CREDIT.

If you drop in at our offices in Manhattan Bldg., 431 S. Dearborn-st., we will be glad to tell you about the Home Lands Credit System.

Through it you will earn your own farm mostly by your own labor.

A moderate payment down and you can move right on your land—40, 80, 160 acres or more—in our big tract in Oconto and Forest counties, Wisconsin.

You will get stock, tools, and building materials on credit.

You need not pay more on either principal or interest for 5 years. During this time you use all your returns to develop your land and for living expenses.

A. J. Mordt's Home Lands, representing three of the Kennan loam soils in our cut-over lands are rich and productive; ideal for all standard crops. Near Chicago and all markets; modern railroad towns; accessible markets; centers within convenient distance.

All our land is graded by expert agriculturists and priced by them on its merits at $20 to $30 an acre. Grazing lands sell for $8, $10, to $15 an acre. We do not sell swamp or sand, unfit for practical use.

Come in and talk our plan over. We'll tell you just how hard the work will be, what obstacles you will meet and what the land will raise when you get it developed.

Write or call for literature.

A. L. MORDT.

BUICKS

The good used kind are becoming just as scarce as new ones.

We know this from constant contracts with every Buick dealer in the 5 states surrounding Illinois, from whom we secured these cars.

The trade-in prices on Buicks have advanced sharply during the last 30 days and our re-sale prices must necessarily soon follow suit.

Therefore, if considering a rebuilt Buick for use this season you had better take advantage of the present low market and our complete line of rebuilt, guaranteed Buick models.

GLASER'S BARGAINS.

Mr. Auto Buyer: Remember that Joseph G. Glaser, Chicago's Largest Used Car Dealer, has always on hand over 100 guaranteed rebuilt used cars at prices that cannot be compared with those of any other dealer in town. Remember that we are the largest concern of that kind in town, and that every car in our stock is our own personal property; that we do not handle cars on consignment. Therefore our vast buying power enables us to offer you these rare bargains. All of our cars offered for sale have been thoroughly overhauled and rebuilt in our shops, which are the largest of their kind in Chicago. Inspection of our mechanical department is open to the public. Every car sold is sold with a written 8 months' guarantee. Demonstrations are cheerfully given, with no obligation to the buyer. All we ask you to do is to call at our salesroom and look over these many bargains, and we are sure you will drive one home. Terms made to suit the purchaser, or your car or diamonds in part payment.
